

ALBUQUERQUE VISITOR ITINERARY

FOR THE ECLECTIC SHOPPER

ONE-DAY VISIT:

Albuquerque's shops overflow with one-of-a-kind finds that are as distinctive as the city itself. Keep an eye out for the "New Mexico True Certified" label, denoting that the product is handcrafted in New Mexico. If you're still craving tastes of Albuquerque after you get home, order a customized gift set from ABQ in a Box Flyby Provisions or New Nuevo.

- Begin the day with a cappuccino and breakfast made with local ingredients at The Grove Café & Market and peruse their collection of gifts, cookbooks and boutique grocery products
- Head to the historic Old Town neighborhood, which is home to more than 150 merchants and is an ideal spot to find a one-of-a-kind gift or souvenir
- Stop at D.H. Lescombes Winery & Bistro for lunch and a tasting of their award-winning New Mexico wines (and even purchase a bottle or two!)
- Shop 'til you drop by visiting Winrock Town Center, a pedestrian-friendly open-air shopping mall, and Coronado Center, which offers more than 150 stores, dining and entertainment options
- Wind down with a stroll among the neon lights of the historic yet trendy Nob Hill neighborhood
- End the day with a visit to Sawmill Market, New Mexico's first artisanal food hall featuring a variety of restaurant and retail options

IF YOU HAVE MORE TIME:

Embark on a shopping scavenger hunt by visiting each of the city's distinct neighborhoods, using this guide to locate the ideal location to find a treasure that will recall the wonderful memories of your visit for years to come.

- Historic Old Town: With more than 150 merchants, this is the place to shop for Duke City essentials
- Downtown/EDo: This neighborhood is home to a handful of fine-art galleries, as well as farmers' markets that spotlight the state's agriculture and artisans
- Nob Hill: At more than 100 years old, Nob Hill is one of the city's hip and happening neighborhoods, due in part to its extensive shopping options
- Uptown: The place to go for a full-day shopping experience, with a variety of brand name and department stores
- North Valley/Los Ranchos: This neighborhood is known for its vintage and antique shopping, as well as local agricultural goods made with ingredients from one of the many nearby farms
