ENVISION YOURSELF IN ANAHEIM!

Visitors of all kinds have returned to Anaheim and Orange County. From families to convention attendees, Anaheim has roared back to life and is once again offering magical moments that can only be experienced in this special place.

In 2023, some once-in-a-lifetime happenings are set to make it a year to remember. The Disney100 Celebration at Disneyland® Resort kicks off in January and lasts all year long. Disneyland® Resort will be the heart of a global celebration to honor the 100-year history of The Walt Disney Company. During the year, new décor, all-new nighttime spectaculars, and so much more will be adding to the magic of your visit. In addition, the Anaheim Fall Festival and Halloween Parade will also be celebrating its 100th anniversary and is a must experience event for the whole family.

In recent years, the hotel offerings in our region have expanded to include more luxury properties. Experience one-of-a-kind views from rooftop bars and restaurants, enjoy all the top-shelf amenities, and let yourself be treated with world-class service.

Of course, Anaheim and Orange County are always places where the year-round Mediterranean climate allows you to enjoy being outdoors every day. It's your choice to take in the views of the Pacific Ocean from one of our many beaches, play some golf on California's famous "golf coast," or soak in the sun while you run around one of our famous theme parks.

We're excited you're planning to visit our one-of-a-kind destination, and we look forward to providing you with memories that will last a lifetime!

MAJOR MILESTONES

Some of the city's most beloved institutions are celebrating big anniversaries in 2023. | By Robin Jones

100 Years of Disney...

► The Walt Disney Company marks its 100th anniversary in 2023, and Disneyland® Resort will celebrate Disney100 with new shows, parades, food and drink offerings, merchandise, and decorations. Starting on January 27, Mickey and Minnie, festooned in new platinum and purple outfits, will welcome visitors to the park shimmering platinum bunting and banners. Two new nighttime shows will commemorate the company's legacy in film: "Wondrous Journeys" will project clips and images from every Walt Disney Animation Studios film to date on facades throughout Disneyland® Park; and World of Color – One at Disney California Adventure® Park will feature inspiring Disney characters and a new song called "Start a Wave."

...and a Century of Halloween Parades

► Another soon-to-be centennial, the first Halloween parade in Anaheim was staged in 1923 with Babe Ruth as the grand marshal. Initially created to deter Halloween night pranksters, the Anaheim Fall Festival & Halloween Parade grew into a major event; in the 1960s, it was broadcast live on local television and drew 150,000 spectators from around Southern California. But by the 1980s, the event had become a smaller affair, and it stayed that way until 2013, when Disney artists and new Anaheim residents Kevin Kidney and Jody Daily decided to revive the parade with re-created floats from historic photos. Today, the festival draws locals and visitors featuring costume contests for kids and pets, live music, puppet shows, a pumpkin art contest, and, of course, the parade, which starts at Anaheim City Hall and heads down Center Street and Broadway. Vintage-inspired floats are still the stars of the show.

30 Years of Entertainment...

► Just two days after Anaheim Arena opened on June 17, 1993, the indoor venue hosted its first show, a sold-out Barry Manilow concert. When the Mighty Ducks hockey franchise took the ice for the first time in October 1993, the arena was called Arrowhead Pond, and it became Honda Center in 2006 after Henry and Susan Samueli took ownership of the Ducks and the arena's management company. No matter the name, the arena has been a favored destination for sports and music fans from across Southern California, hosting college basketball tournaments, stand up comedy tours, and major music bands like the Rolling Stones and Fleetwood Mac. There have also been return engagements to the arena including Disney On Ice, the Harlem Globetrotters, and Ultimate Fighting Championship matches.

...and Three Decades of Hockey

► When the National Hockey League awarded Anaheim one of two expansion franchises in 1993 (the Florida Panthers in Miami were the other team), the Walt Disney Company founded the Mighty Ducks, a nod to Disney's 1992 movie of the same name. Anaheim quickly made its mark on the league, posting the most wins (33) for an expansion hockey team in its inaugural season. With future Hockey Hall of Fame stars Paul Kariya and Teemu Selanne, the Mighty Ducks reached the Stanley Cup Finals in 2003. When the Samuelis bought the team two years later, they rebranded the team as the Ducks and redesigned the uniforms prior to the 2006-07 season, which resulted in the franchise winning its first Stanley Cup.

WHAT'S NEW IN ANAHEIM?

Whether you're planning a day (or two) at Disneyland® Resort, an eclectic foodie experience, or a challenging beer crawl, be sure to include Anaheim's latest additions in your itinerary. Plus, discover the city's plans for ocV!BE, an exciting new chapter for Honda Center and the surrounding area.

Theme Park Attractions

► Since Disneyland® Resort opened its Star Wars: Galaxy's Edge themed area in 2019, Star Wars storytelling has expanded from classic characters like Luke Skywalker and Darth Vader to include new tales from a galaxy far, far away. Check out the stories of legendary bounty hunter Boba Fett and mercenary Fennec Shand—and we can't wait for The Mandalorian and Grogu to make their first appearance on Batuu at Disneyland® Park in November 2023.

TOP OF THE V

Hotels

► The Viv Hotel, Anaheim, a Tribute Portfolio Hotel boasts a rooftop pool and Top of the V restaurant and bar, where you can watch Disneyland® Park's fireworks show. At the nearby JW Marriott, Anaheim Resort, you can relax and indulge in creative libations at their rooftop bar, Parkestry. Some rooms at The Westin Anaheim Resort feature views of Disney California Adventure® Park, and its RISE Rooftop Lounge offers cocktails, tapas, nightly live entertainment, and sweeping city views. The extended-stay Element Anaheim Resort Convention Center is perfect for large family gatherings, with connecting rooms and kids' suites furnished with bunk beds. All hotels are within easy walking distance to Disneyland® Resort and the Anaheim Convention Center.

Dining

► In downtown Anaheim, Center Street Promenade and the Anaheim Packing District saw the opening of several new restaurants within the last couple of years. Poppy & Seed, set in a greenhouse in the middle of Farmers Park, serves a rotating menu of small plates with farm-fresh ingredients (think prosciutto burrata and smoked duck breast with pear and pickled onion). Inside the Packing House at The Stuffed Potato, you can groove to live music while digging into loaded baked potatoes, chicken wings, and cocktails. Upstairs at Le Parfait Paris, the kitchen puts out picture-perfect French desserts, crepes, and croissant sandwiches. Just a few blocks away on Center Street, Promenade Pizza bakes up classic pies and pastas, and Craft by Smoke and Fire offers smoked meats, prime steaks, and specialty cocktails.

Breweries

► Anaheim is the craft beer capital of Orange County, and four new spots recently joined the party. Radiant Beer Co. pours a long list of IPAs, stouts, and lagers, but it might be best known for its beer slushies and soft serve, which you can enjoy on the expansive patio. Rad Beer Co. is the perfect place to catch a game while sampling brews; Angels and Ducks action is featured on the enormous TV screen over the bar. And the newest kid on the block, Monkish Brewing Co., is the second location of a popular Torrance brewery known for its IPAs.

ocV!BE

► Celebrating the diversity of Orange County, ocV!BE will be a one-of-a-kind, mixed-use, master-planned community and entertainment destination that allows residents and guests to create their own experience while offering something for everyone. An endeavor of the Samueli family, the development project is set to debut its first phase at Honda Center and the surrounding area in 2026. ocV!BE will be thoughtfully designed and curated for visitors to enjoy the best of sports, entertainment, food, and hospitality; it will also include office, residential, and public spaces—all connected with an emphasis on walkability and wellness. With accessibility to ARTIC, the city's local transportation hub, and connected to a network of pedestrian bridges and walkways, ocV!BE will be a new kind of place, leveraging technology that connects people to community, culture, nature, and purposeful living.

ANAHEIM REGIONAL TRANSPORTATION

A CITY BUILT ON SUSTAINABILITY

Over the past decade, Anaheim has set a new standard for what it means to be an eco-friendly, world-class destination.

By Keegan Sentner

► One of the most significant investments Anaheim has made toward sustainability begins with transportation. Near Honda Center, you'll find the Anaheim Regional Transportation Intermodal Center (ARTIC), the local hub that brings in visitors, leisure travelers, convention-goers, and daily commuters from all over Southern California via rail, bus, taxi, and other services. With rail options like Metrolink and Amtrak, the unique hub makes it easier to limit driving emissions en route to Anaheim.

From ARTIC, visitors can use several responsible options like Anaheim Regional Transportation (ART), which employs a fleet of electric buses. In the Center City district, Free Ride Around the Neighborhood (FRAN) is an electric vehicle ride service that transports riders to various popular locations around the city, including the famed Anaheim Packing House. Named after renowned Anaheim business owner Francisca Avila-Rimpau, FRAN allows you to request rides using its smartphone app.

Several hotels and restaurants in Anaheim's growing hospitality scene are also taking massive steps towards saving the planet. Clementine Hotel and Suites has started implementing energy-efficient appliances to help conserve energy and water. There are also many dining options that support farm-to-table initiatives, including THE RANCH, an upscale fine dining restaurant and country music saloon that serves sustainability-focused classic American dishes.

These are just snapshots of the city's dedication to sustainability and environmental action, allowing visitors to have a fulfilling and conscious travel experience. In the meantime, Anaheim looks forward to setting more ambitious sustainability goals, and leading the way as pioneers of a healthier and more responsible future.

Making a Plan

In 2015, Anaheim created a greenhouse gas emissions plan, setting a 2020 target to reduce emissions from the city's power supply by 20 percent. Since that time, Anaheim has doubled that goal, reducing emissions by 40 percent. The city has also lessened its reliance on fossil fuels and invested in other renewable options including solar projects, methane capture programs, and even hydropower from Hoover Dam in Nevada.

WONDROUS JOURNEYS AT DISNEYLAND® PARK

MICKEY & MINNIE'S RUNAWAY RAILWAY

Nighttime Spectaculars

► Starting at Disney California Adventure® Park, the all-new World of Color – One show celebrates Walt Disney's storytelling legacy that began a century ago. Featuring the new original song "Start a Wave," the nighttime spectacular showcases how a single action, like a drop of water, can create a ripple that grows into a wave of change. World of Color – One brings some of the most courageous, loving, and inspiring characters to life in new ways.

Over at Disneyland® Park, the Wondrous Journeys spectacular transforms the original magic kingdom into a magnificent artist's canvas at night, taking visitors on a journey filled with artistry, music, storytelling and heart. Building upon Disneyland® Park's state-of-the-art projection effects, characters from Walt Disney Animation Studios films come to life at Main Street, U.S.A., Sleeping Beauty Castle, the façade of it's a small world® attraction, and Rivers of America. On select nights, enjoy fireworks dancing in the sky while savoring the show's incredible new song, "It's Wondrous."

And more exciting news coinciding with Disney100: the long-awaited return of the Magic Happens Parade to debut at Disneyland® Park on February 24, 2023.

Both a Park reservation and valid admission for the same Park on the same date are required for Park entry. Park reservations are limited and subject to availability. Certain offerings may be modified, have limited availability, or remain closed. Park admission and offerings are not guaranteed. Check for performance showtimes. Visit Disneyland.com for important information to know before visiting the Disneyland® Resort, including information about required face coverings.

Reimagined Neighborhoods

► This spring, return to the perfectly playful and animated worlds of Mickey's Toontown in Disneyland® Park. The themed neighborhood that Mickey Mouse and friends call home reopens March 8, 2023 as a vibrant symphony of sights, sounds, and sensations. Mickey's Toontown features all-new experiences, interactive play for guests, and Mickey & Minnie's Runaway Railway® attraction, a new family-friendly adventure that opens earlier on January 27, 2023 as part of the Disney100 celebration.

Meet Superheroes

► Since opening in 2021, more than 35 different characters have made appearances at Avengers Campus in Disney California Adventure® Park, and as the themed land expands into the multiverse, so do its epic possibilities. Watch some of Earth's Mightiest Heroes battle enemies in daily stunt shows with multiple opportunities to encounter and interact with them. Taste the hero-sized meals and tiny treats food options at Pym Test Kitchen featuring IMPOSSIBLE™, an eatery inspired by Ant-Man and The Wasp. Guests brave enough to accept the challenge can help Rocket save the Guardians of the Galaxy at the Guardians of the Galaxy—Mission: BREAKOUT! attraction.

DIGITAL TIPS & TRICKS

We got the scoop on making the most of your visit to Disneyland® Resort with Disney's timesaving digital services, available on Android and iOS smartphones.

Disneyland® App

► For an enchanted (and more efficient) visitor experience, start by downloading the official Disneyland® app, which lets you:

- Purchase and link tickets, navigate the park with GPS-enabled maps, and stay up to date on the latest news and updates.
- Make dining reservations, check-in to restaurants, browse menus, join table-service waitlists, and mobile order food and beverages at select locations.
- Scan and pay for merchandise at select

Insider Tips:

1. Prior to visiting, download the latest version of the Disneyland® app and get familiar with its features.
2. Enable location services and turn on notifications while at each park.
3. Place food mobile orders early in the day and pick it up at your preferred dining time.

stores right from your smartphone.

- Use the Direct-to-Room service at your Disney hotel for mobile check-in and a digital key to your room.

A Genie in the Palm of Your Hand

► Within the Disneyland® app, create your best Disney day with Disney Genie service, a complimentary digital helper for seamlessly mapping out your time at Disneyland® Resort, including:

- A personalized itinerary inspired by what you told Disney Genie service you're most interested in doing and seeing.
- Predictions for the best time to visit an attraction based on current and forecasted wait times, with updated suggestions throughout your day.
- For a next-level experience to maximize your day, you can purchase Disney Genie+ service, which starts at $25 per ticket per day. The upgrade provides:

- Ability to select the next available arrival window for Lightning Lane entrances at select attractions, one at a time, all day long.
- Unlimited digital photo downloads on Disney PhotoPass® service.
- Access to "Audio Tales," a podcast-like experience providing behind-the-scenes information.

Pick a Lightning Lane

► Separate from Disney Genie+ service, you can also purchase Individual Lightning Lane (à la carte entry) to some of Disney's most popular attractions like Radiator Springs Racers attraction at Disney California Adventure® Park and Star Wars: Rise of the Resistance® attraction at Disneyland® Park. This individual option allows Lightning Lane entry for up to two attractions each day, subject to limited availability, and is not included in Disney Genie+ service.

For more details about these digital services, visit disneyland.com/genie.

Attractions with Lightning Lane entrances that are Disney Genie+ and individual purchases are limited in availability, subject to change or closure, may vary by date, and are not guaranteed. Guests are responsible for reviewing all attraction restrictions, health and safety advisories, and accessibility guidelines, prior to purchase as certain experiences may not be appropriate for some guests with health conditions. Price, terms and entitlements are subject to restrictions, and change or cancellation without notice. Disney PhotoPass service is subject to the Disney PhotoPass Terms & Conditions and expiration policy. Online registration required.

Message, data and roaming rates may apply to the use of the Disneyland app. Availability subject to handset limitations, and features may vary by handset, service provider or otherwise. Coverage and app stores not available everywhere. If you're under 18, get your parents' permission first. Wait times are estimates, can vary, and are subject to frequent changes within each day. Guests with Park Hopper tickets and park reservations may begin crossing over between the parks at 1:00 PM on the day of visit, subject to park capacity. Subject to change without notice.

ENCHANTING EATERIES

Be our guest! We've gathered a selection of magically delicious dining options for the whole family throughout Disneyland® Resort. | By Barbara Neal Varma

MACARON AT JOLLY HOLIDAY BAKERY CAFÉ

Disneyland® Park

Jolly Holiday Bakery Café

The café takes comfort food to new heights with its toasted cheese sandwich grilled to perfection on sourdough bread, paired with a cup of tomato basil soup. For dessert, enjoy a macaron, practically perfect in every way.

Rancho del Zocalo Restaurant

Indulge in a classic tostada salad with chicken, served with a twist of cilantro-lime vinaigrette dressing atop Mexican rice, refried beans, chopped lettuce, cilantro, sour cream, guacamole and pico de gallo, all nestled in a crispy tortilla shell. Add hot chocolate as an after-dinner sweet and you've got a meal to remember.

Blue Bayou Restaurant

Set along the waters of the Pirate's of the Caribbean® attraction, Blue Bayou Restaurant is a romantic scene serving New Orleans cuisine. We recommend its roasted mushroom ragu, a plant-based dish of trofie pasta, spinach, and charred tomatoes with fava bean-pistachio pesto. Reservations are recommended.

Disney California Adventure® Park

Wine Country Trattoria

The restaurant serves a traditional Italian lasagna, handmade in-house, with roasted vegetables including mushrooms, eggplant and bell peppers, and served with Bolognese meat sauce.

Young princes and princesses can create their own entrées with a choice of spaghetti, chicken, salmon, or pizza, and two kid-sized side dishes. Reservations are recommended.

Carthay Circle Restaurant

Inside this plush movie palace, inspired by the Golden Age of Hollywood, is an upscale restaurant serving sophisticated cuisine and retro cocktails. The signature thick-cut pork chop is a delicious choice, served with roasted pears, market cauliflower, and toasted almonds. Pair the meal with a delicious wine and for dessert, its Manjari chocolate decadent cake with chocolate mousse and peppermint kiss. Reservations are recommended.

Downtown Disney® District

Black Tap

New to Downtown Disney® District, this New York-style luncheonette serves up award-winning burgers and massive CrazyShake™ milkshakes topped with unforeseen madness. Think frosted, decorated rims and all manner of candy, cookies, and accoutrement—even a cake slice.

Naples Ristorante e Bar

Enjoy an authentic taste of Italy at this Neapolitan-style restaurant. The two-story Italian eatery features an open kitchen where you can watch chefs assemble your pizza, an expansive outdoor dining patio, and balcony views of the promenade. Choose from authentic Italian favorites including Neapolitan pizza, hearty pasta dishes, and seasonal salads.

Disneyland® Resort Hotels

Trader Sam's Enchanted Tiki Bar

Mystery, romance, and adventure await you at this bewitching poolside tiki bar at the Disneyland® Hotel. Settle next to the fire pit to enjoy a pu pu platter filled with pork gyoza, panko-crusted long green beans, macaroni salad, and sweet-and-spicy chicken wings. Make it a party by pairing the platter with a round of Trader Sam's dark rum mai-tais.

Storytellers Café

You'll find hearty, home-style favorites on the menu at this buffet restaurant at Disney's Grand Californian Hotel® & Spa. Breakfast is served Mondays through Thursdays while brunch is offered Fridays through Sundays and on select holidays.

GCH Craftsman Bar

Forget the charcuterie board! GCH Craftsman Bar at Disney's Grand Californian Hotel® & Spa serves artisan charcuterie pizza, a combination of savory Italian cured meats (premium pepperoni, prosciutto, salami, and Italian sausage) topped with arugula, Grana Padano and aged provolone cheeses, and fire roasted tomatoes—all on a fluffy, wood fired crust.

TALKING SHOP

► Matthew Arkin is a jack of many trades. Whether he's acting in shows like Law & Order and Hawaii Five-O, writing suspense novels, or teaching the art of acting at South Coast Repertory and Chapman University, Arkin excels at it all. His latest venture is Batch 22, a spirits brand that he co-founded with two friends, adding to his many creative accomplishments and keeping him even busier.

Could you share more about your involvement with South Coast Repertory?

I've performed at South Coast Rep a lot—I've done six or seven plays there over the past 10 years. Some of my favorites include the West Coast premiere of The Whale and a play called The Siegel, a comedy.

What inspired you to start writing?

Both my mother and father had written, so it never seemed like something you couldn't do. And I'm a huge fan of suspense novels. When I was on tour, I had a lot of time during the day. I was in new cities every two or three weeks and doing the show at night, and you've got your days completely to yourself. So I started writing then to fill the time.

Do you have a preferred genre with writing?

No, I feel like the material dictates the medium. So if I have an idea of a story I want to tell, it may seem to me that the story just fits more as a film, or a novel, or a short story.

Where do you draw inspiration from?

It may be a life problem or an issue that I'm thinking about or grappling with personally. Or something I see out there in the world that interests me.

How did that lead you to your newest venture with Batch 22?

I made batch number one in my kitchen without really thinking about it as a business, and it came out ok. That was going to be the end of it. But then one of my buddies tasted it, and he thought we should market this. Then we introduced it to another friend, who thought it was an interesting idea. We started playing around the recipe more and more, and refining it. Then people started tasting it and really responding to it. And it took off from there.

What type of spirit is Batch 22?

It's an aquavit, a Scandinavian spirit. It's the national drink of Sweden, Norway, and Denmark. We've been winning a lot of awards and getting a lot of good reviews, which has made us optimistic.

What is one of your favorite lesser-known places in Orange County?

The Noguchi Garden that's near South Coast Rep. It's tucked away behind one of the office buildings on the other side of Anton. It's a great place to sit for an hour and relax.

Worth the Journey

Laguna Beach is a mecca for art fairs and festivals, including the Sawdust Art & Craft Festival (sawdustartfestival.org), Laguna Art A Fair (art-a-fair.com), and Festival of Arts Pageant of the Masters (www.foapom.com). There's also Laguna Art Museum (lagunaartmuseum.org), which showcases important California artists, First Thursday Art Walk (visitlagunabeach.com), and you can always walk the boutique galleries along Pacific Coast Highway and intersecting side streets, which comes with a beautiful view of the Pacific Ocean.

You could devote a full week to seeing art in Los Angeles, but start by focusing on three neighborhoods. Take a train from Anaheim to downtown L.A., where The Broad Museum (thebroad.org) and Museum of Contemporary Art (moca.org) are within walking distance. Next, head to Museum Row on central Wilshire Boulevard, where Los Angeles County Museum of Art (lacma.org) houses international art from ancient times to the present; La Brea Tar Pits and Museum (tarpits.org) displays specimens from ancient animal fossils; and the Academy Museum of Motion Pictures (academymuseum.org) dedicates its halls to celebrating film. Finish your day on the westside, where The Getty (getty.edu) combines European art, incredible architecture, and breathtaking views of the city.

PULLING OUT ALL THE STOPS

► The OC's artistic bastion is the Orange County Museum of Art, which moved into its new home at the Segerstrom Center for the Arts in October 2022. Founded more than 60 years ago by a group of female visionaries, the institution's permanent collection of contemporary art is one of the most prominent and important in the region, with more than 4,500 works from artists with ties to California. And thanks to a generous $2.5 million grant by an anonymous donor, admission to the museum is free to the public until 2032. Boasting about 25,000 square feet of exhibition space, there is also a plant-focused restaurant called Verdant that offers a menu of California cuisine with a full bar named after Sweet James, the billboard attorney. 3333 Avenue of the Arts, Costa Mesa; 714-780-2130; ocma.art

ANAHEIM CONVENTION CENTER

By Keegan Sentner

▶ The busy Anaheim Resort area is home to Anaheim Convention Center (ACC), a world-renowned meeting and exhibit space that hosts global meetings, shows, and conventions including The Anaheim OC Home Show, Disney's D23 Expo, Gold Medal Gymnastics, National Association of Music Merchants (NAMM), Natural Products Expo West, Premier Bridal Shows, VidCon, WonderCon, and more. The venue is also a shining example of Anaheim's commitment to sustainability (see page 10), remaining one of the largest convention centers in North America with LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) certification.

The center is outfitted with a 2,000-foot rooftop garden filled with adaptive plants and herbs used to reclaim water and cool parts of the building. In addition, 3,000 square feet of solar panels line the roof and provide roughly 17 percent of the center's energy. The building also has an on-site recycling center that turns food waste and kitchen scraps into nutrient-rich compost used for the gardens throughout Anaheim's resort district.

To take a virtual tour of the Anaheim Convention Center, visit xplorit.com/visit-anaheim.

DINE

ALFRESCO EATS

There's no better place for outdoor dining than in Center City Anaheim, where fantastic weather and historic buildings set the background for enjoying delicious bites and incredible drinks.

Center Street Promenade

► Make your way to Center Street Promenade, where the sidewalks and patios are bustling with outdoor cafes and unique eateries. Start off at Good Food, a trendy food hall with a large patio that's open to all nearby restaurants. Locals swear by K&A Cafe (kacatering.com) for breakfast with its excellent chilaquiles, topped generously with fresh-sliced avocado and either red or green sauce.

Another must-stop spot is Okayama Kobo (kayamakobousa.com), a Japanese bakery and cafe where kawaii (meaning "cute") fresh-baked goodies live up to the hype, especially the sought-after fluffy milk bun. Craft by Smoke and Fire (craftbysmokeandfire.com) mixes California comfort food with traditional Texas-style barbecue. Grab a finely crafted drink with your favorite piled-high meat plate, like the foodie-friendly Mac Rib Sandwich, a monolith of smoked beef rib on top of a crispy smash-burger melt.

On the other side of the Promenade is Pour Vida Tortillas & Taps (pvtandt.com), which serves up modern twists on Mexican street food with a curated selection of local craft brews and cocktails. Local wine enthusiasts frequent Colony Wine Merchant (colonywinmerchant.com), which has seasonal tasty bites matched with curated flights. You can't go wrong with a cheese and charcuterie board paired with a seasonal sommelier suggestion. W. Center St., Anaheim, centerstreetanaheim.com

Anaheim Packing District

► The Anaheim Packing District is a unique food hall experience that encompasses four historic landmarks. Start your culinary adventure at the MAKE Building (anaheimmake.com), once a marmalade factory built in 1917, that now houses comic book-themed Unsung Brewing, newcomer Tacos El Gringo, California-grown Pali Wine Co. as well as an artfully arranged patio to relax on.

Across the train tracks lies the Packing House, a former Sunkist orange facility dating back to 1919, now home to over two dozen acclaimed small restaurants and a charming backyard. If you crave a juicy burger and beer, dine on the deck of a real vintage train car at The Iron Press. Kids will love the soul food sides at Georgia's Restaurant, grilled cheese sandwiches at Black Sheep GCB, fried chicken sandwiches at Sweetbird, and fresh tacos at Urbana, for starters.

Stop by the Packard Building, once a 1925 car dealership, where you can imbibe at Monkish Beer Co., (monkishbrewing.com), an outdoor beer garden with a spacious patio. Next door at Farmers Park, brunchaholics gravitate to Poppy & Seed (poppyandseedoc.com), a glass-greenhouse where you'll be seated among trees and an herb-vegetable garden that's the source of most of Chef Michael Reed's innovative creations.

PARKESTRY ROOFTOP BAR

ROOF WITH A VIEW

These four sky-high restaurants and bars combine gorgeous vistas and sumptuous menus for an experience that's authentically Anaheim. Plus, they're all prime viewing spots for Disneyland® Resort's fireworks show.

(But you didn't hear it from us.)

Parkestry Rooftop Bar JW Marriott, Anaheim Resort

► JW Marriott's 11th-floor watering hole is the highest rooftop bar and lounge in Anaheim, serving light bites, creative libations, and a fun, social energy—day and night. Gourmet specialties served by cart and house-made meatball options make for invigorating culinary offerings. Stay cozy with plush seating and fire pits as you watch the sunset through the glass walls. 1777 S. Clementine St., Anaheim; 714-294-7800; parkestryrooftopbar.com

The FIFTH Grand Legacy at the Park, Anaheim

► The first sky-high, open-air restaurant in Anaheim. The FIFTH quickly became a local favorite for its spectacular panoramas and proximity to Disneyland® Resort. Dig into shared plates and reinvented classics like chorizo mac and cheese on the 5,000-square-foot rooftop. The drinks menu features local craft beers and wines, plus inventive cocktails and rotating seasonal selections. Fun heats up at sunset with live music and inviting fire pits. 1650 S. Harbor Blvd., Anaheim; 714-772-0899; thefifthoc.com

Top of the V The Viv Hotel, Anaheim, a Tribute Portfolio Hotel

► Savor a breathtaking view paired with Spanish cuisine at Top of the V. Head to the 12th floor of the The Viv

Hotel, Anaheim, where master chefs in the exhibition kitchen bring Basque-inspired dishes to life. Enjoy the fish of the day, pintxos (small snacks), or a seven-course tasting menu in the private dining room or on the outdoor terrace. The menu also features libations, wine and beer, plus a selection of tequila and mezcal. 1601 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 657-439-3289; topoftheviv.com

RISE Rooftop Lounge The Westin Anaheim Resort

LITTLE ARABIA

Anaheim's vibrant 2.5-mile ethnic enclave brings a feast of foods and culture from the Levant and Middle East.

By Danielle Bauter

► Along Brookhurst Street between Interstate 5 and Katella Avenue, you'll find Little Arabia, a newly designated district in Anaheim made up of Arab-run businesses including bakeries, restaurants, hookah lounges, and Arab markets.

Aleppo's Kitchen

Founded by refugees, Aleppo's Kitchen shares its owners' native Syrian food, which incorporates Turkish and Armenian influences thanks to geographic proximity. Order a creamy muhammara dip, made with walnuts and Aleppo pepper paste, before moving on to lamb kibbeh and kebab entrees. 513½ S. Brookhurst St., Anaheim; 714-790-1484; alepposkitchen.com

House of Mandi

Opened in 2001, House of Mandi specializes in Yemeni cuisine and specifically the namesake mandi, a massive dish of flavorful meats and rice accented with sides of yogurt and chutney. This is a place to slow down and savor every bite. 518 S. Brookhurst St., Anaheim; 657-220-5272; houseofmandi-yemenirestaurant.com

Le Mirage Pastry

Le Mirage Pastry offers a selection of French treats such as eclairs, mille feuille, and creme brulee as well as trays of baklava, blurren, and binannare. But the real star here is the bouza, an authentic Damascene ice cream sweetened with rosewater and chewy in texture—it isn't easily available elsewhere. 100 S. Brookhurst St., Anaheim; 714-491-3855; lemiragepastry.com

Little Arabia Restaurant

Little Arabia Restaurant aims to take diners on a journey through Lebanon with an array of dishes that range from Lebanese-style flatbreads, kebabs, and shawarma. Order one of the pizza-inspired bakery pies that come with toppings like kafta and cheese, and soujuk, a spicy lamb and beef sausage. 638 S. Brookhurst St., Anaheim; 714-833-5760; littlearabiarestaurant.com

Zait & Zaatar

Another jewel in the Little Arabia neighborhood, the family-run Zait & Zaatar's Lebanese cuisine is the real deal. All dishes are authentic recipes from the owner's native Lebanon, including beef or chicken shawarma wraps, falafel, and fresh-baked breads and pastries from the on-site bakery. 510 N. Brookhurst St., Anaheim; 714-991-9996; zaitandzaatar.com

Q&A WITH RASHAD AL-DABBAGH

► Rashad Al-Dabbagh is the founder and executive director of the Arab American Civic Council, an Anaheim-based grassroots organization that empowers its community through civic participation. We spoke with him about the Little Arabia District.

Little Arabia was recently recognized as an official district within the city of Anaheim. Could you share more about that?

For more than two decades, the Arab American community has been advocating for a formal designation of Little Arabia. On August 23, 2022 the council voted in favor of [this]. It was a historic and empowering moment for us. We've had more than 30 meetings with elected representatives, conducted dozens of meetings and training workshops within our community to educate and engage them on the importance of this designation.

What does this mean for Anaheim's Arab American community?

This decision gives the Arab

American community the recognition it deserves. It also means that the city will put more resources into this part of Anaheim, which was historically neglected. Since the designation we've already seen improvements, such as planting olive trees and palm trees in Little Arabia. We are looking forward to continuing to work with the city to make improvements and build together.

Why do you think it's important for people to know about this district and to visit it?

Empowering small immigrant-owned businesses is important. We have amazing small businesses and authentic Arab restaurants and dessert shops in Anaheim that created a thriving business and cultural destination in Little Arabia. It's important that people experience this part of Anaheim, a part that was built by immigrants to make the city a better place for all. Little Arabia can serve as a place where we can build trust and create understanding between the diverse communities in Southern California.

What will you find in Little Arabia?

You can find falafels and kebabs anywhere in Southern California but what Little Arabia offers is authentic regional dishes that you will not find elsewhere. For example, you can go to El Mahroosa and have authentic Egyptian-stuffed pigeons, or you can go to Altannour and have an Iraqi-style fish entree called masgoof.

DISCOVER GARDEN GROVE

On the border of Anaheim, Garden Grove offers authentic Vietnamese cuisine, outdoor urban eating, as well as intriguing shopping excursions. | By Robin Jones

Little Saigon

► Brookhurst Street serves as one of the main thoroughfares for the district, and that's where you'll find Tan Hoang Huong (thhsandwiches.com), known for its banh mi, or French baguettes stuffed with meat, shredded carrots and radishes, hot peppers and cilantro. Diners dig into phở, a traditional Vietnamese soup, and sip Vietnamese iced coffee at Pho 79 (pho79.com), a longtime local favorite that won a James Beard Award in 2019. Van's Bakery offers French pastries and baguettes and traditional Vietnamese sweets, and the upscale Brodard Chateau (brodard.net) is famous for its Vietnamese spring rolls.

At the Asian Garden Mall (asiangardenmall.com), you can shop at more than 200 stores selling all kinds of things, from jewelry, handbags and clothing to beauty supplies and stationery. And you can pay your respects at the nearby Vietnam War Memorial, which features bronze statues of a South Vietnamese and American soldier standing together and an eternal flame commemorating those who lost their lives in the war.

SteelCraft

► One of the latest additions to Garden Grove, SteelCraft is an outdoor urban eatery named after the repurposed shipping containers used to unite local eateries with a communal dining space. The food court offers creative fare from small, indie food vendors. Come in the morning for a latte or espresso from Dark Horse Coffee Roasters and a blueberry pancake or cinnamon bun donut from Duck Donuts, or grab Mexican food for lunch at Barrio or La Taqueria. The Penalty Box, owned by former Anaheim Ducks superstar Teemu Selanne, offers burgers, hot dogs, and fries, and Bird Talk serves up gourmet wings and chicken sandwiches. Beachwood Brewing pours craft beer made in Long Beach, and Al Dente specializes in flatbreads and build-your-own pasta dishes. The complex often hosts live music and family-friendly events, but even if there's nothing special on the schedule, there are plenty of cozy spots to hang out and enjoy the company of family and friends. 12900 Euclid St., Garden Grove, CA 92840; steelcraftlb.com/steelcraft-garden-grove

Nova Kitchen & Bar

► An innovative and exciting dining experience, Nova Kitchen & Bar draws its inspiration from the 5 Element Theory. It is an experiential destination that explores wood, fire, earth, metal, and water to tantalize the five senses. For a special treat, ask for the secret cocktail menu. 12361 Chapman Ave., Garden Grove; 714-696-0888; novaoc.com

AZULES COFFEE CO.

DESSERT FIRST

Everything's sweeter in Anaheim, starting with the sweets themselves. From refreshing shaved ice to towering milkshake creations, dare to do dessert differently here.

Global Sensations

► If you find yourself craving a mid-afternoon pick-me-up, head to Azules Coffee Co. (azulescoffee.com) for horchata- and cinnamon-flavored coffees, ice cream sandwiches made with conchas or churro “buns,” or a slice of flan. Oh, and if you have something to celebrate, the cakes are something else.

Famous for its generous portions (the crepes are practically the size of Paris), Crêpe

Coop (crpe-coop.square.site) in the Packing House rolls its signature desserts into cones and tops them with fruit, ice cream, nuts, and sometimes cereal. Customize your crepe, or try the “OG Crepe” if you’re feeling adventurous.

House of Chimney Cakes (thehouseofchimnycakes.com) in Center City is a purveyor of the eponymous rolled pastries and national dessert of Hungary. Try one of the towering signature creations, or get yours filled with organic soft serve or vegan Dole Whip.

JOE'S ITALIAN ICE

Keep It Cool

► New York City-bred and new to Downtown Disney® District, Black Tap (disneyland.disney.go.com) serves up massive CrazyShake™ milkshakes topped with unforeseen madness. Think frosted, decorated rims and all manner of candy, cookies, and accoutrement—even a cake slice.

One of OC's best for frozen treats since 1972, Hans' Homemade Ice Cream (hanshomemade.com/anaheim) has opened a second location in the Packing House. Choose from 45 homemade flavors plus hand-dipped drumsticks, sundaes, shakes, and ice cream sandwiches.

Salt & Straw (disneyland.disney.go.com) is the Portland, Oregon-based ice cream shop revolutionizing the West Coast—starting with its Downtown Disney® District location. Stretch your palette with creative, chef-driven flavor combinations or trick your taste buds with can't-believe-it's-not-ice-cream vegan options.

For a one-stop dessert shop known for its creative shakes, cakes, sundaes, and more, look no further than Sugarbuzz (sugarbuzzinc.com). Little ones will love the brightly colored, candy-topped treats and famous “unicorn hot chocolate,” while adults will appreciate a buzz from inventive coffee concoctions.

Classic Treats

► Joe's Italian Ice (joesice.com) is a Philadelphia-style Italian ice outpost and an Anaheim institution. More than 100 flavors of syrup and “Joe Lattis”—soft serve-Italian ice combinations—make for a refreshing end to a hot, sunny day.

Take a number at Marceline's Confectionery (disneyland.disney.go.com) in Downtown Disney® District before taking in the myriad of handcrafted Disney-themed candies, made daily in-house and beautifully arranged in glass cases up and down the walls. Chances are the treats you loved inside the parks are also available here to take home. Fun fact about the store: it's named after Walt Disney's hometown of Marceline, Missouri.

Don't underestimate the humble popsicle as you navigate the dessert options at Packing House. Not too filling and endlessly customizable with gelato flavors, chocolate dips, and toppings, Popbar (popbaranaheim.com) holds its own against over-the-top treats.

GOLDEN ROAD BREWING

SIPS & SUDS

Anaheim was founded by brewers and winemakers in the mid-to-late 1800s, so it's only natural that the city would return to those roots. There are now 20 award-winning breweries to choose from, making it easier than ever to spend an afternoon beer tasting. And for wine connoisseurs and cocktail lovers, we have you covered too.

RADIANT BEER CO.

New in Town

Rad Beer Co.

Opened in May 2021, the '90s skate shop vibe and soundtrack are (dare we say it?) rad, but the rotating and inventive beers on tap are the real draw. Don't be afraid to try a style outside of your usual preference; every brew—from the pilsners to the stouts—is lauded by amateurs and aficionados alike. 1301 S. Lewis St., Anaheim; getradbeer.com

Radiant Beer Co.

Winner of the coveted "Best Small Brewery" and "Brewer of the Year" awards at the much-hallowed 2021 Great American Beer Festival, we suspect that's due to the brewery's gold medal-winning "Second That Emotion" hazy and innovative offerings like beer slushies and soft serve beer. 1566 W. Lincoln Ave., Anaheim; 714-661-5790; radiantbeer.com

Historic Downtown

Monkish Brewing Co.

Recently opened in the Anaheim Packing District, this L.A. original features an outdoor beer garden in which to enjoy its popular brews. In addition to serving the ubiquitous IPAs the West Coast is known for, Monkish specializes in Belgian styles like saisons, Belgian pale ales, and dark strong ales. 336 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; monkishbrewing.com

Unsung Brewing Company

The tasting room and pilot brewery at Unsung in the MAKE building serves a distinct lineup of small-batch beers with superhero names, including Lumino—a Mexican lager—and cold brew coffee on tap. 500 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 714-406-3098; unsungbrewing.com

Brew Pioneers

Ballast Point

Sit down at the bar and sip one of the world's most famous IPAs, the Sculpin. Other go-to beers from the San Diego-based brewery include Longfin, a Helles-inspired lager, and Calico, a California amber. Some small-batch beer is made on-site and check the tap list for recommendations. 540 S. Disneyland Dr., Anaheim; 714-687-9813; ballastpoint.com

Sports-Centric Platinum Triangle

Brewheim

The experienced beer makers behind this neighborhood brewery are pursuing modern flavors using time-honored techniques. Expect a rotating menu of barrel-aged beers, sours, hazy IPAs, and other easy drinking options. 1931 E. Wright Circle, Anaheim; 714-453-4346; brewheim.com

Golden Road Brewing

The L.A. brand expanded its Anaheim taproom into a full-service restaurant and brewery in 2017. Across the street from Angel Stadium, the bustling indoor-outdoor venue opens daily, selling cans and growler fills to go. 2210 E. Orangewood Ave., Anaheim; 714-363-3537; goldenroad.la

Karl Strauss

A force in San Diego's beer scene since 1989, this Anaheim brewpub is a beast of a building with an appropriately large tap list and generous happy hour menu. Tour the facilities with an advance reservation. 2930 E. Orangewood Ave., Anaheim; 714-940-1772; karlstrauss.com

Lopez and Lefty's

There's always something happening at this sports bar—whether that's a trivia night or a paint and sip night. Dogs are welcome on the outdoor patio and pre-game or post-game entertainment is always an option. With 25+ beers on tap and a full bar, they also offer brunch on the weekends. 1759 S. Claudina Way, Anaheim; 714-300-0000; lopezandleftys.com

Noble Ale Works

After winning the world's best brewery award at the 2016 World Beer Cup, Noble Ale Works continues to get better year after year. Be sure to stop by the tasting room en route to Angel Stadium or Honda Center for free event parking and the perfect pregame pint. 1621 Sinclair St., Anaheim; 714-634-2739; noblealeworks.com

Hanging with Superheroes at Unsung Brewing

By Danielle Bauter

► We talked beer backstories with Mike Crea, the owner of Unsung Brewing Company. An award-winning comic book brewery in Anaheim, he specializes in crafting IPAs, lagers, and other delicious beers for all heroes alike.

Could you share how your background inspired the brewery's theme?

I was born and raised in Midwest suburbia. Ever since I can remember, I was always fascinated with comic book characters. When I got older, they started taking the genre seriously in books and movies and now it's this gigantic fan friendly universe. What was truly inspiring to me about comics was the character development and creation. When I began brewing, I realized there was a similar creative process and recipe development involved. I thought it would fit well with what we were trying to accomplish beer-wise and allow us to give some identity to the beers from a creative perspective.

What are your specialties?

We began brewing styles that I love to make and drink. I'm a big fan of West Coast IPAs and any lager. But we've also found a huge niche with the fruited sours. I'm a flavor person and I like creating flavors specifically using different hop combinations for our IPAs. Ultimately, we aim to make clean, crisp, and full-flavored beers. I'm passionate about making beer regardless of the style, and it's important that the beer is the best version we could do.

Why did you choose MAKE as the home of Unsung Brewing?

I knew the community of Anaheim was a beer community early on. I also knew there was a renaissance happening in the area with the remodeling of the Packing House next door. I really wanted to be a part of creating something the area could be proud of. So I luckily was on board at a very early time. We were the first spot open in the building and it was like that for over a year. There were some rough days early on because the building was pretty vacant besides us. But ultimately it helped us because we began to create this underground, cult following.

What are some of your favorite breweries in Anaheim?

That is such a hard question to answer because there are so many that are doing amazing things. I'm a fan of our neighbors at Radiant Brewing. Then if you go cross town, Bottle Logic has been such an important influence and help to us that I'd be remiss not to mention them. They have consistently made exceptional beers and really are so great for our local industry.

THE MAVEN OF ANTI-MALLS

An interview with Orange County's retail visionary Shaheen Sadeghi

Laguna Beach resident Shaheen Sadeghi is the founder and creator of The LAB Anti-Mall, The CAMP, and the Anaheim Packing House, among other projects. But before he became a real estate developer, Sadeghi worked in the action sports industry, eventually becoming president of the Quicksilver brand. We spoke with him about his first retail development, The LAB, and how keeping an eye on cultural shifts has informed his future projects.

What sparked your desire to transition from a fashion executive to building The LAB in 1993?

With each of my experiences in the action sports industry, I learned that size wasn't necessarily better. And as the story goes, size can be the enemy of cool. I recognized that so much of the newness, the innovation, and the excitement was coming from smaller companies. At the time, I was running a public company and recognized that this next generation of customers were not necessarily mall shoppers. The next generation of brands and products also didn't want to be in a mall. Many of the small companies started to realize the fact that there's a dichotomy with their brands and what's out there.

It was through this process that I wondered if I could put together all of these small companies that don't want to be in a mall and that's how The LAB was originally founded. The LAB stands for Little American Business, and I felt it was an opportunity to create a platform for smaller companies to gather. I decided to go beyond fashion—I brought in hair salons, a coffee shop, and we were surrounded by like-minded, complementary products. I didn't want this project to be all about consumption. From there, it evolved into other projects.

What about your decision to open The CAMP 10 years later?

I'm a musician by passion, and the best way I can compare it is it's like writing new songs, or putting out a new album. By the time I started working on The CAMP, I felt there was even a further cultural shift. While The LAB was anti-establishment in the 1990s, by the time 2000 came around,

I felt there was another shift. I had this vision to do something that was good for the environment. At the time, being green was not part of the vocabulary.

But I wanted to build something within that ecosystem and bring in brands that were all outdoor oriented. The three elements of that project were the body, soul, and the mind. We wanted to hit all those notes, and we built this sustainable project which eventually became the first green retail center in the country. The world shifted at the same time, with organic foods becoming more popular and more of a focus on sustainability. Every project that I've done has a story and a purpose. So if I feel that there's something we can say or do to make a difference, then we spend the time to build it. But I don't necessarily build for the sake of building.

With the Anaheim Packing House, what is the story and purpose behind that?

I'm a foodie and have been all my life. I recognized that the artistic expression is beyond fashion or beyond certain trends, and culinary arts really hadn't been explored in America since we all grew up with national chain restaurants. We go through this tunnel of developing a new project every 10 years; as I see the shift, then we build a project. America fell in love with artisan food and street food, and things that had a purpose, with products that met their needs whether that was vegan or organic, or something else.

This was a multi-layer shift that wasn't measured by demographics. I think it was a massive opportunity and in the same format that we built The LAB, where we wanted to give small operators a place. The Packing House allows people to showcase their food without having to go through the traditional channels. So we curated all of those businesses with the focus on food. Things just sort of worked out, and the city of Anaheim was very supportive with the project.

What have you learned from these projects?

One of the things I've recognized is that we can't move the needle from a cultural standpoint or a new product standpoint in a small space. So I think in some ways we have organically become community builders. I recognized that if the Packing House was going to be successful, then it needed more room to grow. By the time I got to Anaheim, I was able to option a lot of the surrounding space. In Anaheim, it was urban planning for the most part, and I give the city credit for trusting our vision. But it all goes back to my formula that we need a big enough canvas to pull off what we do.

What other projects are you working on right now?

I'm working on three fairly-significant residential projects—in Long Beach, Corona, and San Marcos. They each have a different flavor and tap into different local community opportunities. We're also working with Cal State Long Beach to build an off-campus tech facility. I think the mentality these days is that everybody is cool, not only cities like New York or L.A. I call it the evolution of localization, personalization, and customization as opposed to homogenization. I think it's not just happening here but across the country.

SHOP

ZERO WASTE GAME

Thea Merritt, owner and founder of Eco Now, is on a mission to help people make sustainable choices. | By Danielle Bauter

Founded in 2018 by Thea Merritt, Eco Now is the first zero-waste retailer in Orange County, selling household and personal care items. She currently operates stores in Anaheim, Costa Mesa, and Laguna Beach, with plans to open two more stores in Riverside and Garden Grove by spring 2023.

What made you decide to start Eco Now?
I wanted to build a community for sustainable living and have people understand the resources and cultivate connections. The goal was to recognize that as a group, we're doing our part so that we can motivate others to do so as well.

How did your business evolve from farmers markets to multiple retail storefronts?

When I initially started out, I was working at a school district and had received feedback from my coworkers and friends asking me why I bike to work, or why I pack my lunches with my own utensils. I explained that it was something I did because I had a passion for creating zero waste. This set off a lightbulb inside my head. I wanted to see if there would be any interest in the things I make for myself like reusable paper towels. So I brought them to a farmers market and although I didn't sell much initially, it was inspiring to see the way members of the community responded to the products.

What happened once you decided to market your business?

I started an Instagram account, which got a good response. The time between when I started selling at farmers markets to when I opened my first store was about a five-month span. So it happened really quickly. I started in the summer of 2019 going to farmers markets, and then opened in a tiny airstream trailer in October. After three months, the demand was so high that I moved to an actual storefront at The LAB in Costa Mesa.

What have been some of the biggest challenges with starting your business?

I think there were a lot of questions at first about how we could be a zero waste store. We had to be very transparent about how we source products because we don't make them in house, and how we deal with waste on our end. So I've been able to create solid relationships with local makers and through that process I closed the loop with the makers. We buy our products in five-gallon buckets up to 55-gallon drums, and we return those buckets and drums to the maker to refill them.

What are your tips for how to be sustainable while visiting Anaheim?

I would say the biggest thing is bringing your own, especially while traveling. This idea of bringing along your own set of reusable utensils, or water bottles, really makes a big difference in the day-to-day. I always bring a tote with me and produce bags if I'm going to pop over to the farmers market so that I don't have to use the plastic bags. When you're traveling, it's helpful to bring these items with you. It ends up not only being a zero-waste thing, but also a convenience thing.

LOS ANGELES ANGELS OF ANAHEIM

HOMETOWN HEROES

Experience excitement at the ballpark and the ice rink whenever Anaheim's two professional sports franchises, the Angels and Ducks, are in town. | By Jonathan Andrade

Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim

► Founded by country crooner Gene Autry in 1961 in L.A., the Angels moved to Anaheim in 1966 and opened Angel Stadium, now the fourth-oldest active ballpark in Major League Baseball (MLB).

Regular season:

March 30 - October 1, 2023

Highlights:

The Angels won the 2002 World Series as a wild card team by defeating the San Francisco Giants in a thrilling seven-game series. The team has collected nine American League West division titles in their franchise history.

Anaheim Ducks

► The Ducks were formed in 1993 when the National Hockey League (NHL) granted an expansion franchise to the cities of Anaheim and Miami (now the Florida Panthers). The Walt Disney Company took ownership in Anaheim and promptly named the team after its film, The Mighty Ducks.

ATHLETES TO WATCH

SHOHEI OHTANI

It's always SHO-TIME! Ohtani is a phenomenal two-way player whose elite performance as both a hitter and a pitcher has not been seen since baseball legend Babe Ruth pitched more than 100 years ago. In 2021, he joined Ichiro Suzuki as the second Japanese-born player to win the Most Valuable Player (MVP) award.

MIKE TROUT

Trout, 31, has already put together one of the greatest careers in baseball history. The New Jersey native's accomplishments include three American League (AL) MVP Awards, 10 All-Star selections, nine Silver Slugger Awards, two AL Hank Aaron Awards, and a Rookie of the Year Award.

TREVOR ZEGRAS

Zegras was the ninth-overall selection in the 2019 NHL Draft for the Ducks. The center from New York tallied 23 goals and 38 assists in the 2021-22 season. Zegras is now the biggest hockey name in Anaheim since the retirement of Ryan Getzlaf.

TROY TERRY

During the 2021-2022 season, Terry emerged as a rising star on a young Ducks roster. The Colorado native posted career-highs in goals (37), assists (30), and games played (75), forming a dynamic duo with Zegras. In 2023, Terry was selected to represent the Ducks in the NHL All-Star Game for a second consecutive year.

HUNTINGTON BEACH

TURN UP THE SUNSHINE

While we can't promise perfect weather while you're in Anaheim, we're willing to bet you'll enjoy plenty of fresh air while you're here.

► Orange County's fair-weather climate and easy access to outdoor activities gives visitors from anywhere, at any time of year, the opportunity to stay active while traveling. Whether you want to play hard or take things easy, Southern California's sun-soaked attractions await.

Best of OC Beaches

Located about 21 miles southwest from Anaheim, Huntington Beach (surfcityusa.com) has wide-open, sandy beaches that make it a paradise for families, couples, dogs, and surfers. Take a surf lesson at Corky Carroll's legendary school if you are feeling adventurous, or simply watch surfers ride the waves—there's a reason this place is called Surf City USA®. Bring your pup along too, especially at 1.5-mile Huntington Dog Beach.

Drive a little further south and you'll be in sophisticated, charming Newport Beach (visitnewportbeach.com), home to 10 miles of ocean-facing coastline, two piers, a lively boardwalk, and hours of fun activities for any age. Helm a Duffy boat, venture out on a stand-up paddleboard, or cast a line while enjoying the largest recreational harbor on the West Coast.

Keep going down the coast and you'll hit Laguna Beach (visitlagunabeach.com), which has arguably some of the most beautiful spots in Southern California. With seven miles of marine-protected beaches, this artist haven is renowned for pristine waters and abundant sea life. Spend the day exploring turquoise tide pools, beach caves, and coastal views—Crystal Cove State Park, Heisler Park, and 1,000 Steps Beach are among the must-see locales.

GETTING HERE AND AROUND TOWN

Our tips for navigating Southern California and making the most of your Anaheim adventure.

With four major airports nearby, convenient public transportation, and super-simple shuttles, getting to Anaheim is a breeze. And once you arrive, exploring the city and its surrounding areas is just as straightforward, with plenty of car rental options, rideshares, eco-friendly buses, and walkable paths.

Airports

John Wayne Airport-Orange County (SNA)

~14 miles from Anaheim

The closest airport to Anaheim, SNA is the gateway to everything Orange County has to offer. The airport has more than 20 nonstop destinations in the U.S., Canada and Mexico and more than 250 arrivals and departures each day. SNA prides itself on providing a convenient and easy travel experience, featuring four adjacent parking structures, valet parking, and self-service ticketing kiosks to expedite the travel process.

18601 Airport Way, Santa Ana; 949-252-5200
oair.com

Long Beach Airport (LGB)

~20 miles from Anaheim

Featuring only one terminal and four commercial airlines, LGB makes air travel to Anaheim a breeze. Known for its Streamline Moderne architecture, the terminal is a historic landmark, as well as home for Alaska, Delta, JetBlue, and US Airways. 4100 Donald Douglas Dr., Long Beach; 562-570-2678; longbeach.gov/lgb

Ontario International Airport (ONT)

~32 miles from Anaheim

Ranked as the "Fastest Growing Airport in the U.S." for five straight years by Global Traveler, ONT offers 65 daily nonstops to 25 major destinations throughout the U.S., Mexico, Central America, and Taiwan. ONT boasts fast lines, convenient amenities, and plenty of space to spread out. Easy freeway access to and from the airport allows travelers visiting Anaheim to skip the traffic and hassles of other Southern California airports. 2500 & 2900 E. Airport Dr. (Terminal 2 & 4); 2222 International Way (International Terminal), Ontario; 909-544-5300; FlyOntario.com

Los Angeles International Airport (LAX)

~34 miles from Anaheim

LAX's West Coast location makes it a gateway to international destinations, particularly Asia and the Pacific. One of the most popular airports in the world, LAX offers about 700 daily nonstop flights to 113 destinations in the U.S., and about 1,200 weekly nonstop flights to 91 markets in 46 countries (per LAX stats in 2019). 1 World Way, Los Angeles; 855-463-5252; flylax.org

Rails

The 351-mile Los Angeles-San Diego-San Luis Obispo (LOSSAN) Rail Corridor Agency travels through a six-county coastal region in Southern California with service to 41 stations and more than 150 daily passenger trains. Two passenger railways stop at Anaheim Regional Transportation Intermodal Center (ARTIC), making it easy to get to Anaheim, as well as explore beyond our fair city:

Pacific Surfliner

Amtrak's train service travels from San Diego through the OC, Los Angeles, Ventura, Santa Barbara, and up to San Luis Obispo, with beautiful ocean views to gaze at along the way. 800-872-7245; pacificsurfliner.com

Metrolink

The regional rail system transports riders in nearly every direction: north to L.A., southwest to the beaches, and east to metropolitan areas near the San Bernardino Mountains. 800-371-5465; metrolinktrains.com

Car Rentals & Rideshares

Circulating around hotels and airports, the shuttles create a convenient and cost-effective network of transportation, making arrivals and departures easy. While many hotels offer complimentary shuttles, here are a few local names to know:

Another convenient way to explore Southern California is by taking a sightseeing tour.

Anaheim Tour Company (714-817-9733; anaheimtourcompany.com) offers exclusive, small group tours in climate-controlled passenger vans from Anaheim to the beaches, theme parks, shopping outlets, Hollywood, and more. Go even further by chartering a boat cruise with Prince Charters, LLC (714-642-9711; princechartersllc.com) to set sail from Huntington Beach on a private Duffy, classic wood boat, or luxurious yacht.

Buses

Anaheim Regional Transportation (ART)

Every year, over 9.5 million visitors, residents, and employees use ART to connect with local destinations, employment centers, theme parks, sport venues, shopping centers, hotels, restaurants, and ARTIC—a direct benefit in reducing Anaheim's carbon footprint. The hop-on, hop-off service has flat one-way or daily rates. Download the A-Way WeGo app to plan your trip and buy passes in advance, or hail rides while you're here. rideart.org

Free Rides Around the Neighborhood (FRAN)

Using energy-efficient vehicles, the "microtransit" service covers key areas of the Anaheim Packing District, starting with

Center City. Request your free ride from within the A-Way WeGo app. rideart.org/fran

OC Bus

Since 1970, the bus service from Orange County Transportation Authority (OCTA) has carried passengers all over the county with comprehensive routes. Riders can now receive mobile alerts that notify them about the next bus coming to their nearest stop. octa.net

ORANGE COUNTY

TRICK QUESTIONS

Some can sing opera's stirring "Nessun dorma." Some can escape a straitjacket. Orange County magician and entertainer Naathan Phan can do both—at the same time.

By Barbara Neal Varma

What sparked your interest in magic?

My grandfather. He loved practical jokes and magic. He knew only two tricks, but that's all it took. I knew whatever I ended up doing, I'd be performing in some way. So far I've been on Penn & Teller: Fool Us, America's Got Talent, and Masters of Illusion. I'm grateful for the many incredible things that have happened to me.

Favorite way to pay it forward?

I usually have a deck of cards in my pocket; it's standard for magicians. Often, I'll be sitting somewhere—maybe at the airport, shuffling or practicing—and someone will come up and ask me if I'm a magician. Then it's like, here we go. It's fun when people gather round and look so amazed, especially the kids. With great power comes great responsibility, right? Or with great personal skills comes a great need to show off at all times!

What other talents do you have up your sleeve?

Singing, acting, writing—I majored in creative writing at the Orange County School of the Arts. I've also done stand-up comedy and improv. It's important to practice in front of live audiences as much as possible—more stage time, more time to get the feeling of the words in your mouth, to feel the timing of it. The more you do it, the more bulletproof the act gets.

Advice for would-be wizards?

Any magician will tell you that there are only eight kinds of magic tricks. At the end of the day, you have to find a way to make it original, make it yours. We already have a David Copperfield. We already have a Lance Burton. But what we don't have is you.
