GREETINGS FROM ANAHEIM!

HOUSE OF CHIMNEY CAKES

ARTIC

We are proud to say our city welcomed 24.4 million visitors in 2019. Whether you come for work or play, we invite you to experience our world-renowned attractions, dine like a foodie, sip award-winning craft beers and specialty cocktails, revel in our vibrant nightlife, and choose your own sun-soaked Southern California adventure. For one day or several, you'll find plenty to do.

We created our official Visit Anaheim Destination Guide to help you discover a playground geared towards you and your family. Our website, visitanahaim.org, is an even better resource for when you're on the move.

Anaheim is best known as home to Disneyland® Resort, featuring Disneyland® Park and Disney California Adventure® Park, and there are many more unique places and activities to explore after a visit to the Magic Kingdom. Inside this guide, you'll find many only-in-Anaheim experiences worth having.

Anaheim continues growing, evolving, and flourishing as a dynamic destination with its own cultural footprint in the arts, cuisine, entertainment, sports, and recreation. Be sure to visit Anaheim GardenWalk—the unique “eatertainment” destination for dining, nightlife, and outdoor art. It's also home to House of Blues' flagship location. For sports fans, year-round options include Major League Baseball games at Angel Stadium or the National Hockey League's Anaheim Ducks at Honda Center. Thrill-seekers can test their mettle at Flightdeck, a military flight simulator taking pilots to 600 knots for aerial maneuvers and air-to-air combat.

Let ARTIC—Anaheim Regional Transportation Intermodal Center, connecting trains, buses, taxis, and Anaheim Resort Transportation (ART)—help you make your way around Anaheim and Orange County. With its central location, Anaheim is a convenient gateway to O.C.'s 42 miles of Pacific Ocean coastline, luxury shopping, championship golf courses, and the ideal terrain for hiking, biking, running, and sunning.

Your adventure is just beginning. Experience Anaheim. And have some fun!

NEW TO DO

In the city where imagination reigns, new discoveries are waiting around every corner.

By all means, revisit last trip's highlights—then use this list to create your next standout memory. Whether that starts with top-notch hospitality, an unusually delicious pint, or an unexplored galaxy, add it to your itinerary this year and for years to come.

Get a Free Ride

The revitalized downtown area around city hall and the Anaheim Packing District, known as CENTER CITY, is fairly walkable. Still, if you're bar hopping or have already been on your feet all week, we've got you. Anaheim Resort Transit developed a friendly little transportation system with stops at Center Street, Farmer's Park, the Packing House, and more. It's called FRAN—an acronym for Free Rides Around the Neighborhood. rideart.org

STAR WARS: GALAXY'S EDGE

Explore a Whole New Land

In 2019, Disneyland® Park opened its ninth land, STAR WARS: GALAXY'S EDGE, giving fans an all-new reason to return. As of Jan. 17, 2020, the highly anticipated ride, STAR WARS: RISE OF THE RESISTANCE, will recruit guests for a top-secret mission on behalf of General Leia Organa, only for them to be intercepted by a Star Destroyer and placed in the middle of a climactic battle between the First Order and the Resistance. One of Disney's most ambitious attractions, it also employs four different ride systems, immersive technology, and never-before-experienced effects. disneyland.disney.go.com

CAMBRIA INN & SUITES

Upgrade Your Stay

There are so many inviting places to stay in Anaheim that it's worth researching our offerings anew every time you visit: the hotels are constantly improving and expanding. Expect to see three new properties within walking distance of the resort area this year. Marriott will add an all-suite ELEMENT BY WESTIN, perfect for extended stays. Meanwhile, their JW MARRIOTT and WESTIN ANAHEIM RESORT will place new levels of high-end hospitality and a wellness focus near Anaheim's GardenWalk and the Anaheim Convention Center, respectively. marriott.com

Sip Something Special

Anaheim has long been a city full of sports, sights, and attractions, but when's the last time you had a taste of what we're all about? Modern Times' LEISURETOWN in the Anaheim Packing District taps into 1950s Americana with poolside beer tasting. On the La Palma Beer Trail, BREWERY X has opened Anaheim's largest brewery. It's simultaneously cozy—there's plenty of room to relax indoors and out—and energized by live music most nights. In town for a game? Take a short walk from Platinum Triangle to RED BEARDS TAPROOM, where over 40 taps of local beer and eight wines on draft are waiting. moderntimesbeer.com, brewery-x.com, redbeardstaproom.com

BUCKET LIST

Every trip is different. Include at least one activity from each of the below categories to make yours a uniquely “Anaheim” experience. Look around, and you’ll find it’s not at all hard to do. Consider this the checklist to our city, complete with once-in-a-lifetime opportunities, must-do thrills, extraordinary eats, and world-class entertainment.

Suspend Disbelief

Between Disneyland® Park, Disney California Adventure® Park, and Knott’s Berry Farm, we’ve mastered the theme park. But even beyond park gates, you can step into well-designed otherworlds. Expand your reality by way of VR technology at Downtown Disney® District’s THE VOID. GO VR GAMING and flight simulator FLIGHTDECK are both at Anaheim GardenWalk. Or be transported by one of many themed restaurants and bars, from fantasy coffeehouse REQUIEM to tiki bars new and old. We cover it all in the pages of this guide. aliendescent.com, thevoid.com/locations/ anaheim.govrgaming.com, flightdeck1.com, requiemcoffee.com

THE VOID

Reach New Heights

Bottom line, we want to get you off the ground. From trapeze at local circus school SWINGIT to indoor trampoline parks BIG AIR and SKYZONE, there are plenty of ways to fly high. You can also climb to thrilling heights on as many roller coasters as you can handle. If you dare, free-fall from the 150-foot peak on Knott’s Berry Farm’s HANGTIME, the first dive coaster on the West Coast. It features a 96-degree drop and loops that take riders into negative Gs. swingittrapeze.net, bigairusa.com/buena-park, skyzone.com/anaheim, knotts.com

SWINGIT

Knott's BERRY FARM®

California's Original Theme Park

What started as a small berry farm soon began to grow into a family destination thanks to famous fried chicken dinners, boysenberries and an Old West Ghost Town. Knott's Berry Farm now bursts with attractions and entertainment for all ages, including thrill rides, live shows, delicious food, plus Snoopy and the Peanuts Gang. In Summer 2020, Knott's will commemorate its 100-year anniversary with our largest celebration ever, all paying tribute to the Knott family's rich history and legacy of family fun for all.

Located just 10 minutes from Anaheim, getting to Knott's has never been easier.

BLACK TAP CRAFT BURGERS & SHAKES

Indulge Extravagantly

Our food and beer scenes are definitely worth exploring, but you haven't "done" Anaheim until you've had dessert. Look for shareable, over-the-top creations everywhere you go, like milkshakes stacked with cake slices at BLACK TAP CRAFT BURGERS & SHAKES in the Downtown Disney® District, rice balls dipped in liquid nitrogen from Korean shaved ice shop I AM in the Packing House, soft-serve ice cream served in rolled Hungarian pastry instead of cones at HOUSE OF CHIMNEY CAKES, the show-stopping "Ridiculous Sundae" at ZOV'S, and so much more. blacktap.com, anaheimpackingdistrict.com, thehouseofchimneycakes.com, zovs.com

Root for the Home Teams

Anaheim is the proud home of not one, but two professional sports teams—MLB's ANGELS and the NHL's DUCKS. With Angel Stadium of Anaheim and the Honda Center across the street from each other, not only can you catch a game all year round, you might even score a double-header when the seasons overlap in April, May, and October. Pro tip: many of the breweries, bars, and restaurants near Platinum Triangle will comp your parking during the game, so head out early for a pre-game celebration. angels.com, anaheimducks.com

RECOMMENDATIONS

For simple meals, special occasions, and every bite in-between, these establishments offer something extraordinary.

We find ourselves recommending and revisiting these restaurants again and again, whether it's the local lunch joint or somewhere you'll sit down for a family-style feast. Make your way from the Packing District to the resort area to Anaheim Hills and enjoy one of these Anaheim go-tos. With so many options, and so much diversity among them, we recommend considering this only a starting point.

18 FOLDS

Occupying a farmhouse building in the famous Packing District, their dim sum concept focuses on a secret soup dumpling recipe. Local brews flow from 18 taps, while each dumpling—deep-fried or steamed—requires a precise 18 folds. 430 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 714-386-5768; 18finc.com

ADYA

Winner of Food Network's "Chopped" and named 2019 Rising Star Chef of the Year by the Golden Foodie Awards, chef Shachi Mehra serves refined Indian street food from an upstairs outpost at the Packing

House. Lunch on the boxcar patio is a must, or you can attend one of Mehra's regular cooking classes there. 440 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 714-533-2392; adyaoc.com

ANAHEIM WHITE HOUSE

This high-end Italian homestead reopened in 2018 after a fire closed its doors; now guests can enjoy a brand new cocktail lounge, beautifully restored dining room, and the same impeccable service known to locals. With every order, chef and owner Bruno Serato provides meals and services to youth through their sister charity, Caterina's Club. 887 S.

Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 714-772-1381; anaheimwhitehouse.com

JAV'S BBQ

If 16 hours in a smoker means something to you, then get in line over at MAKE opposite the Packing House. That's where founder and Anaheim native Javier Gomez' meats, sides, and sandwiches are 'cued up in the Central Texas tradition. 500 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 657-208-3587; javsbbq.co

MODERN FILIPINO KITCHEN BY AYSEE

Make an advance reservation for family-style Kamayan service, a $40 prix fixe menu of spiced meats, dipping sauces, rice, and other ingredients you'll eat with your hands over spread-out banana leaves. Hint: stop at the liquor store next door if you plan to BYOB. 2620 W. La Palma Ave., Anaheim; 657-337-5288; mfkaysee.com

NAPA ROSE

This Disneyland® Resort signature restaurant at the Grand Californian has bloomed under the leadership of chef Andrew Sutton. Let your experience be guided with a custom tasting menu and wine pairings at the Chef's Counter; or, indulge in moderation at the indoor-outdoor Napa Rose Lounge, where reservations are not required. 1313 Disneyland Drive, Anaheim; 714-635-2300; disneyland.disney.go.com

THE RANCH RESTAURANT

This rustic California establishment takes its farm-to-fork ethos a step further by harvesting produce at peak ripeness from its own farm in the Santa Ana Mountains. The talented culinary team and surprisingly accessible wine cellar—with over 10,000 bottles on hand—makes for memorable evenings. 1025 E. Ball Road, Anaheim; 714-817-4200; theranch.com/restaurant

REUNION KITCHEN + DRINK

Locals love its relaxed atmosphere and craveable menu of soups, salads, and sandwiches, all prepared from scratch in an open, exhibition-style kitchen. You'll enjoy the remove from the crowds and thoughtful table and bar service. 5775 E. Santa Ana Canyon Road, Anaheim; 714-283-1062; reunionkitchen.net

ROSINE'S

Order the freshly-roasted rotisserie chicken and a spread of hearty Middle Eastern mezzeh for the table. A family-owned establishment tucked into a strip mall, Rosine's started out in 1995 with only six tables and has expanded to the spacious restaurant it is today. 721 S. Weir Canyon Road, Anaheim; 714-283-5141; rosines.com

UMAMI BURGER

Each creation at this now-international chain triggers that mouthwatering fifth taste we can't quite describe. With exclusive-to-Anaheim patties and pints from next door (Anaheim Brewery), this restaurant in a repurposed garage is a neighborhood joint done right. 338 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 714-991-8626; umamiburger.com

FAMILY OUTING

Switch up the restaurant routine and let the kids choose their own adventure at a food hall.

For at least one lunch or dinner, bring the family to one of the fast casual food halls that continue to open throughout Orange County. The restaurants at these properties tend to be both high-quality and affordable, and the variety of options means that everyone, picky eaters included, will find something they love. Divide and conquer or do a walk-through altogether, then come back to communal tables to relax, refuel, and share bites of what each person ordered.

ANAHEIM PACKING HOUSE

Occupying a refurbished citrus-packing facility, this popular market is an essential stop for locals and visitors alike. Kids love the soul food sides at GEORGIA'S, grilled cheese sandwiches at BLACK SHEEP GCB, fried chicken sandwiches at SWEETBIRD, and tacos at URBANA, for starters. Eat on one of the open patios or take your food to go and picnic on the green next door at FARMER'S PARK. 440 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 714-533-7225; anaheimpackingdistrict.com

GOOD FOOD HALL & CENTER STREET

Southern California is famous for authentic Mexican food, and you can get your fill at CERVANTES MEXICAN KITCHEN in Good Food Hall. For American fare, there's traditional diner K&A CAFE and vegan food disguised as junk food at HEALTHY JUNK. After eating, explore the welcoming storefronts and things to do on and around West Center Street Promenade, including comic book shop POP! COMICS, open skate at THE RINKS, and nearby historic museum and cultural center, MUZEO. 201 W. Center St. Promenade, Anaheim, 714-776-8398, anaheimpackingdistrict.com

STEELCRAFT

Last year, after the success of their flagship location in Long Beach, SteelCraft opened this additional shipping-container food court. Each of the vendors operates out of side-by-side steel containers. NHL Hall of Famer Teemu Selanne and Kevin Pratt serve hockey-themed beef burgers and topped hot dogs at THE PENALTY BOX. You'll also find all-day breakfast at THE NEST and comforting, Asian-inspired chicken and rice at CHICK 'N SHACK. Parents can recharge at DARK HORSE COFFEE ROASTERS or unwind with brews from BEACHWOOD BREWING. 12900 Euclid Street, Garden Grove; steelcraftlb.com/steelcraft-garden-grove/

THE DISH

Greg Nagel chats with Anaheim's own Shachi Mehra of Adya.

After handily winning the hit Food Network show, “Chopped,” and being voted the Rising Star Chef at the 2019 Golden Foodie Awards, there’s no hotter chef right now in Anaheim, neither figuratively nor stylistically, than Mehra.

BEGINNINGS

“I was born in India then grew up in New Jersey, where I went to medical school, until I found my real passion: cooking,” Mehra said. At the time, she worked two jobs, one in a doctor’s office, the other in a kitchen, sometimes driving over 100 miles a day between them. “I knew I had found what I was ‘supposed’ to do when I stepped in a kitchen,” she continued.

After a few restaurant jobs on the East Coast, Mehra took a year off to travel the world, including a return to her birthplace in India, before landing in the Bay Area. Then, she hit it big when she opened Newport Beach’s Tamarind of London as executive chef. As excited as she was, “I always wanted to open something on my own,” she confessed.

CREATING ADYA

“When we first saw the Packing House, it wasn’t at all like it is today,” said Mehra, referring to Adya’s first location prior to renovation. “We had a good feeling about what it could grow to be, and we really saw Adya flourishing there. The sense of community, love, and real support from the people of Anaheim has been amazing.”

Mehra’s dishes at Adya are more than a modern take on Mumbai-style street food. They add vibrance to the Packing House with dishes like gooey goat cheese naan, fresh curries, and hearty pav sandwiches, which roughly translate to sloppy Joes. There’s even a secret menu item: the chicken tikka masala burrito that’s as satisfying as it sounds.

LEARN FROM THE BEST

“My cooking classes range from Curry 101, to The Perfect Cup of Chai, to Holiday Entertaining. Each class includes the interactive demonstration, recipes to take home, a full lunch, and beverage of choice (wine, beer, lassi, or chai).” Regular classes are open to the public with a reservation and take place on the covered boxcar patio outside Adya.

RECOMMENDED ORDER

“The shrimp curry. Ours is a coconut-based curry with fennel, curry leaves, and ginger. Folks who try it, love it. It’s warm, flavorful, and overall wonderful, without being too spicy.”

FAVORITE ANAHEIM EATS

“I always take friends from out of town to The Ranch Restaurant. It’s a beautiful space and the Rossi brothers, who oversee the menu, are always on point. Their care for the product shows up in every dish. The restaurant is known for steaks, but I love their vegetable and seafood dishes, and you absolutely must save room for dessert!”

ORDER THIS

Upgrade your meal to a thali—a traditional Indian platter with assorted sides—to complete your Adya experience.

Black lentils and tomatoes simmer for 24 hours to achieve dal makhni's craveable, creamy texture.

Basmati rice is known worldwide for its signature fragrance and long grain.

Ginger and mustard seeds build heat, while the bright color comes from turmeric. A curry leaf tree grows in a corner of the restaurant.

Raita, a cooling yogurt sauce, can be eaten on its own or as a topping.

Tossed in lime, honey, and 13-spice blend chaat masala, the salad offers a bright, crunchy element.

A glass of dry, crisp sauvignon blanc balances the hearty plate.

DINING FOR BUSINESS

With 1.8 million square feet of functional space, the Anaheim Convention Center is the largest such venue on the West Coast. It ranks as North America's most flexible convention center, attracting business travelers from all over the world. For those attending trade shows or conferences, read on for our top picks for refueling throughout the day—be it caffeine, food, or drink. When dining with clients or catching a quiet moment between meetings, your meals should both satisfy and serve a purpose.

Breakfast + Coffee

For the ultimate sweet and savory pastry selection, all made with an exclusive flour sourced from Hokkaido, stop by OKAYAMA KOBŌ BAKERY en route to your first work session of the day. The shop also serves fresh Groundwork coffee, roasted locally in Los Angeles. 155 W. Center St. Promenade, Anaheim; 714-603-7332; okayamakobousa.com

Fuel up properly for the day ahead at THE SCRATCH ROOM, a neighborhood restaurant run by a family of breakfast enthusiasts. Their comprehensive menu focuses on benedicts, omelettes, and pancakes; it's available for table service or takeout promptly at 7 a.m. 2415 Lincoln Ave., Anaheim; 714-236-5613; thescratchroom.com

Located in an 1888 Craftsman building, URTH CAFE can be the ideal meeting place or the perfect setting to help you refocus on your agenda. With organic coffees and teas, a huge selection of made-to-order breakfasts, and an eye-catching pastry case, you'll leave feeling completely satisfied. 100 W. Chapman Ave., Orange; 949-329 5755; urthcafe.com

Lunch and Dinner

Next to the Anaheim Convention Center, Marriott's NFUSE BAR AND KITCHEN offers well-crafted cocktails, reasonably-priced wines by the glass, the obligatory long list of local brews, and even whiskey flights. Enjoy sophisticated snacks and entrees as you while away the hours, thanks to Wi-Fi and hidden outlets in the bar area. 700 W. Convention Way, Anaheim; 714-750-8000; marriott.com

Located in a greenhouse in the Packing District, CULTIVATION KITCHEN is a new eatery that grows many of its ingredients on site, serving hearty salads, sandwiches, bowls, and more. Order a drink from their menu of teas, coffees, beer, and wine. 400 S. Anaheim Blvd.; cultivationkitchen.com

Dine comfortably with clients at THE CATCH, an upscale landmark establishment within walking distance of Angel Stadium, City National Grove of Anaheim, and ARTIC. Try hearty seafood soups followed by the catch of the day, or enjoy their steakhouse offerings paired with your choice of roughly 50 kinds of whiskey. 2100 E. Katella Ave., Anaheim; 714-935-0101; catchanaheim.com

Happy Hour

This is perhaps the most opportune time to stop by MCCORMICK & SCHMICK'S GRILLE, when craft cocktails and an assortment of starters and burgers go for under $10 in the bar area. Specials like dollar oysters rotate by day, but service is consistently quick and friendly. 321 W. Katella Ave., Anaheim; 714-535-9000; mccormickandschmicks.com

Take the elevator up to THE FIFTH, Anaheim's only rooftop bar and lounge, for happy hour with a view. For two hours after it opens at 5 p.m., "bites" are nearly half price, with portions that are substantial enough to soak up a boozy cocktail or two. 1650 S. Harbor Blvd., Anaheim; 714-772-0899; thefifthoc.com

Come for work; stay for the beer. Based in San Diego, brewer KARL STRAUSS has been on the scene since 1989. During happy hour, their Anaheim location offers a $5 menu of pints and house wines, with deals on pub snacks like chili-lime sweet potato fries and pretzels served with house-made beer cheese. 2390 E. DISNEY FOOD FAVORITES

Disneyland® Resort captures all the senses, especially taste. And while it's been scientifically proven that vacation calories don't count, there are limits to how much a person can take in and still feel like taking on Space Mountain. We look for these menu items throughout the resort to stay satiated, revisit our all-time favorite dishes, and leave room to indulge in what's new.

Disney California Adventure® Park

LOBSTER NACHOS LAMPLIGHT LOUNGE

Disney foodies breathed a collective sigh of relief when it was announced that Pixar Pier would continue the tradition Cove Bar started. With tender lobster pieces, house-made chips, black beans, and a cheddar-Oaxacan cheese sauce, this decadent snack is still a worthwhile splurge. $21

COZY CORN ELOTE COZY CONE MOTEL

Speed over to Cars Land for this take on Mexican street corn, which comes coated with butter, spicy lime mayo, and your choice of cotija cheese, cheese puffs, or spicy cheese puffs. $6.49

BREWHEIM

DISCOVER WHAT'S BREWING

Anaheim was founded by brewers and winemakers in the mid-to-late 1800s, so it's only natural that the city would return to those roots. Now 20 award-winning breweries deep, and with several spots bundled near each other, an afternoon of beer-tasting in Anaheim is a worthwhile endeavor. Whether you find yourself downtown in the Anaheim Packing District, around the stadiums for a game, or you're the adventurous type in search of some of the world's best brews, let this comprehensive listing be your guide.

Historic Downtown

ANAHEIM BREWERY

With its pre-Prohibition name, cozy indoor bar, and 100-seat beer garden, this Packing District destination is a vibrant local standby. The flagship beer, Anaheim 1888, is inspired by the brewery's century-old roots. 336 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 714-780-1888; anaheimbrew.com

MODERN TIMES' LEISURETOWN

San Diego's Modern Times has set down roots in Los Angeles, Portland, and Santa Barbara, but their Anaheim location hopes to be the best yet with a backyard swimming pool, outdoor movie nights, and beers ranging from the haziest of IPAs to the boldest of stouts. 554 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; moderntimesbeer.com

TOWNE PARK BREW CO.

Born in the foothills of Orange County's Saddleback Mountain, this west-end tasting room serves mostly ales with regular community-centric events, like Taco Tuesdays and trivia nights. 1566 W. Lincoln Ave., Anaheim; 714-844-2492; towneparkbrew.com

UNSUNG BREWING CO.

This tasting room and pilot brewery at

MAKE serves a distinct lineup of small-batch beers with superhero names, including Buzzman—a "mutant American ale"—and cold brew coffee on tap. 500 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 714-406-3098; unsungbrewing.com

BALLAST POINT

After touring Disneyland® Park all day, sit down at the bar and sip one of the world's most famous IPAs, the Sculpin. Some small-batch beer is made on site; check their tap list for recommendations. 1540 S. Disneyland Drive #201, Anaheim; ballastpoint.com

Sports-centric Platinum Triangle

BACKSTREET BREWERY

Unlike its pop music counterpart, this BSB has remained relevant since 1998— we credit their lineup of crowd-pleasing blondes, IPAs, saisons, and reds. Go for the friendly service, communal tables, and cigar nights, which are always packed with smoke aficionados. 1884 S. Santa Cruz St., Anaheim; 657-236-4050; backstreetbrew.com

BREWHEIM

The experienced beer makers behind this new neighborhood brewery are pursuing modern flavors using time-honored techniques. Expect a rotating menu of barrel-aged beers, sours, hazy IPAs, and other easy drinking options. 1931 E. Wright Circle, Anaheim; 714-453-4346; brewheim.com

GOLDEN ROAD BREWING

The L.A. brand's Anaheim taproom expanded into a full-service restaurant and brewery in late 2017. Across the street from Angel Stadium, the bustling indoor-outdoor venue opens daily, selling cans and growler fills to-go. 2210 E. Orangewood Ave., Anaheim; 714-912-4015; goldenroad.la

JT SCHMID'S RESTAURANT AND BREWERY

This Platinum Triangle eatery brews six of its own beers in-house. The best time to try them could be after an Angels home game, when a special late-night happy hour commences. 2610 E. Katella Ave., Anaheim; 714-634-9200; jtschmidrestaurants.com

KARL STRAUSS

A force in San Diego's beer scene since 1989, Karl Strauss' Anaheim brewpub is a beast of a building with an appropriately large tap list and generous happy hour menu. Tour the facilities with an advance reservation. 2930 E. Orangewood Ave., Ste. 100, Anaheim; 714-940-1772; karlstrauss.com

LEGENDS CRAFT BREWERY

Located in an industrial park, this large warehouse-style brewery gives a warm welcome to guests, dogs, and rotating food trucks. Their Oreo cookie-inspired Double Stuff stout is also on tap at Disney California Adventure® Park. 1301 S. Lewis St., Anaheim; 888-327-0202

NOBLE ALE WORKS

After winning the world's best brewery award at the 2016 World Beer Cup, Noble continues to get better year after year. Be sure to stop by their tasting room en route to Angel Stadium or the Honda Center for free event parking and the perfect pre-game pint. 1621 S. Sinclair St., Ste. B, Anaheim; 714-634-2739; noblealeworks.com

La Palma Beer Trail

ASYLUM BREWING

One of the smaller beer makers on the trail, Asylum packs a punch with its Mexican lager infused with lime, called Scurveza. Locals swear by their signature West Coast IPA, Monsters We Breed, which is packed with fruity Mosaic hops. 2970 E. La Palma Ave., Anaheim; 949-396-2099; asylumbrewingcompany.com

BOTTLE LOGIC BREWING

A darling of the craft beer world, Bottle Logic releases small batches of beers that earn high praise from beer geeks. From their Campy Creatures can releases to the quintessential, ever-evolving hazy IPAs, pours are priced from 4 ounces to growlers, so stock up or taste them all. 1072 N. Armando St., Anaheim; 714-660-2537; bottlelogic.com

BREWERY X

With its huge building, cozy indoor-outdoor vibe, and regular live music, Brewery X is an instant classic, serving beers in authentic glassware no matter the style. Grab a liter mug of their Munich-style Helles, try the Incredible IPA, or sip fresh fruit seltzers. 3191 E. La Palma Ave., Anaheim; 657-999-1500; brewery-x.com

BRUERY TERREUX

Over 45 taps of wild, sour, and farmhouse ales are produced on site. A few miles away, the Bruery location that started it all remains responsible for the company's hazy IPA brand, Offshoot, as well as bourbon barrel-aged beers and delicious dessert ales. Gourmet food trucks are scheduled regularly. 1174 N. Grove St., Anaheim; 714-996-6258; brueryterreux.com

HONEY POT MEADERY

Fruity ciders and infused honey wines make for extraordinarily decadent drinks. Try their Stonefruit Temple Pilot, made with luscious nectarine and pineapple, or Plum Surprised, a plum wine made with Red Phoenix plums. 5120 E. La Palma Ave. #104, Anaheim; 714-312-0911; honeypotmeadery.com

ALL AMERICAN BREW WORKS

The 16 taps at this patriotic-themed tasting room are stocked with year-round and seasonal beers, plus craft sodas. Their biggest hit, Liberty or Death Brown Porter, is made with roast malt and a touch of peanut butter for a nutty finish. 5120 E. La Palma Ave., Anaheim; 657-549-2140; allamericanbrewworks.com

PHANTOM ALES

This hybrid brewery and home brew shop also offers dishes that are specially prepared to pair with your pour. Staff members are on hand to answer any questions visitors may have about brewing their own beer. 1211 N. Las Brisas St., Anaheim; 714-225-3206; phantomaless.com

THE BEER CO.

This small family brewery opened in 2019

with plenty of interesting beer on day one, but the real draw is their selection of beer cocktails, from spicy micheladas to dessert floats, served around a U-shaped bar. 3910 E. Coronado St., Ste. G, Anaheim; beercobrewery.com

Not Beer

TRADER SAM'S TIKI BAR

Try the Shipwreck or Shrunkn Zombie Head at this Disneyland® Hotel lounge that feels like its own attraction. A spacious outdoor patio features heaters and romantic lighting, while seats at the bar unexpectedly drop out from under you. 1150 Magic Way, Anaheim; 714-778-660; disneyland.disney.go.com

THE BLIND RABBIT

Following the tradition of the speakeasy, this cocktail bar has a covert entrance, crafty mixologists, and a menu of eclectic dishes to go along with your drink order. Make a reservation to ensure a spot inside. 440 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; theblindrabbitt.com

STRONG WATER

Anaheim's newest cocktail hotspot comes by way of the Blind Rabbit owners, where the interior is reminiscent of a marooned shipwreck. Grab classic cocktails in front or try botanicals offered out of the gin hideaway in the back. 270 S. Clementine St., Anaheim; strongwateranaheim.com

LAG BAR

Gamers who crave a well-crafted drink can find solace here with a game controller in one hand and a tumbler in the other. If you have the skills, sign up for one of their Nintendo tournaments. 211 W. Center St. Promenade, Anaheim; thelagbar.com

THE FIFTH

Anaheim's only rooftop lounge offers a good view of the resort area, especially snuggled up next to a fire pit during Disneyland® Park's fireworks show, complete with the music to go along with it. 1650 S. Harbor Blvd., Anaheim; thefifthoc.com

PALI WINE COMPANY

In the historic MAKE building, discover wines made from grapes sourced around the Santa Barbara and Sonoma regions. Take your time with a flight or grab a bottle to go. 500 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; paliwinco.com

BXCR WINE

Located on the lower level of the Packing House, BXCR has the vibe of a rustic train car, only with classic cocktails, wines on draft and by the bottle, and food pairings. 440 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; bxcrwinebar.com

COLONY WINE MERCHANT

Colony pays homage to the Anaheim Mother Colony Historic District, which is why you might find yourself sipping alongside local historic homeowners. Try a featured flight or any of their mostly California-originated pours. 280 S. Lemon St., Anaheim; colonywinemerchant.com

MAMA COZZA'S

AZULES COFFEE & ICE CREAM

IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD

Our diverse local population translates to food options in a variety of global cuisines, all of which are simply too numerous to name here. Rather than let the options overwhelm you, visit one of these restaurants when you find yourself craving something home-cooked and authentic. Bonus: they're also reasonably priced and will fill you up, with leftovers to spare.

Asian

THUYEN VIEN is Anaheim's completely vegan Vietnamese restaurant, where soy "meats" and an abundance of vegetables star in traditional soup, salad, and curry recipes. Top off your meal with a fresh coconut, or iced coffee sweetened with condensed soy milk. 1740 S. Euclid St., Anaheim; 714-490-0242; thuyenvien.weebly.com

Koreatown outpost MYUNG DONG KYOJA is known in Los Angeles and Anaheim alike for no-fuss home cooking, exemplified by its popular chicken soup. The juicy pork dumplings, hand-cut noodles, and barbecued meats are all worth trying. 1000 N. Euclid St., Anaheim; 714-533-7789; tastezip.com/restaurant/myung-dong-kyoja

Mexican

If you find yourself craving a midafternoon pick-me-up, head to AZULES COFFEE & ICE CREAM for horchata- and cinnamon-flavored coffees, ice cream sandwiches made with conchas or churro "buns," or a slice of flan. Oh, and if you have something to celebrate, their cakes are something else. 732 N. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 714-495-3450; azulescoffee.com

EL FAROLITO, or "the little lighthouse," is a beacon in a sea of choices, but few others have been around for over 40 years under the same trusted family ownership. Parking can be a challenge, so it's worth taking a rideshare service for the reasonable prices, generous portions, and variety on the menu. Plus, the margaritas will go down that much easier. 201 S. Bradford Ave., Placentia; 714-993-7880; elfarolitomex.com

Middle Eastern

OLIVE TREE RESTAURANT is a "Little Arabia" institution, highly recommended for lamb shanks with meat that falls off the bone. Most dishes hail from the founder's home country of Palestine, while others are evocative of Jordan, Syria, and Egypt. 518 S. Brookhurst St., Anaheim; 714-535-2878

Founded by refugees, ALEPPO'S KITCHEN shares its owners' native Syrian food, which incorporates Turkish and Armenian influences thanks to geographic proximity. Order a creamy muhammara dip, made with walnuts and Aleppo pepper paste, before moving on to lamb kibbeh and kabob entrees. 513 1/2 S. Brookhurst St., Anaheim; 714-790-1397; alepposkitchen.com

Italian

The selection of pastas, pizzas, and sandwiches at CORTINA'S ITALIAN MARKET AND PIZZERIA makes decision-making difficult. Take the opportunity to satisfy a comfort food craving, like spaghetti and meatballs or a sandwich on pillowy bread. Locals have loved this institution, with its full bakery and attached specialty market, for over 50 years. 2175 W. Orange Ave., Anaheim; 714-535-1948; cortinasitalianfood.com

It's hard not to love a good bowl of pasta or slice of pizza, but this Italian diner is the real deal. Foodies should know that MAMA COZZA'S comes recommended by The Food Network's Guy Fieri and rocker Gwen Stefani, who grew up frequenting it in its 45-year history and still returns regularly. 2170 W. Ball Road, Anaheim; 714-635-0063; mamacozzas.com

HANS' HOMEMADE ICE CREAM

DESSERT FIRST

Everything's sweeter in Anaheim, starting with our sweets themselves. From refreshing shaved ice to towering milkshake combinations, dare to do dessert differently here.

NYC-bred and new to Downtown Disney® District, BLACK TAP serves up CrazyShake™ milkshakes topped with unforeseen madness. Think frosted, decorated rims and all manner of candy, cookies, and accoutrement—even a cake slice. 1540 S. Disneyland Drive, Anaheim; 657-276-2498; disneyland.disney.go.com

Sold at CHURROS CARTS located throughout the Parks, our sources say that the cinnamon sugar-dusted pastry qualifies as “its own food group” within Disneyland® Resort. Select from rotating flavors and dipping sauces as the seasons and attractions change. disneyland.disney.go.com

One of O.C.'s best for frozen treats since 1972, HANS' HOMEMADE ICE CREAM has opened a second location in the Packing House. Choose from 45 homemade flavors plus hand-dipped drumsticks and ice cream sandwiches. 440 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 714-520-0445; hanshomemade.com

Center City's HOUSE OF CHIMNEY CAKES is a purveyor of rolled Hungarian pastries that are crunchy on the outside and soft and doughy inside. Get yours filled with organic Straus soft serve or vegan Dole Whip. 173 W. Center St. Promenade, Anaheim; 714-603-785; thehouseofchimneycakes.com

JOE'S ITALIAN ICE is a Philly-style Italian ice outpost and an Anaheim institution. Over 100 flavors of syrup and “Joe Lattis,” soft serve-Italian ice combinations, make for a refreshing end to a hot, sunny day. 2201 S. Harbor Blvd., Anaheim; 714-703-2100; joesice.com

Take a number at MARCELINE'S CONFECTIONERY before taking in their myriad Disney-themed goods, all beautifully arranged behind glass cases and up and down the walls. Chances are, the treats you loved inside the Parks are also available to take home here. 1580 Disneyland Drive, Anaheim; 714-300-7922; disneyland.disney.go.com

Don't underestimate the humble popsicle as you navigate the options at the Packing House. Not too filling and endlessly customizable with gelato flavors, chocolate dips, and toppings, POPBAR holds its own against over-the-top treats. 440 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 714-215-4679; pop-bar.com

SALT & STRAW is the Portland, Oregon-based ice cream shop that's revolutionizing the West Coast—starting with its new Downtown Disney® District location. Stretch your palette with creative, chef-driven flavor combinations or trick your tastebuds with can't-believe-it's-not-ice-cream vegan options. 1550 Disneyland Drive E., Anaheim; 714-855-4321; disneyland.disney.go.com

From Hawaiian shave ice to tableside s'mores stations, SNOWOPOLIS puts an entertaining spin on novelty sweets—including a $15, 24-karat gold-coated soft serve cone that's every bit as Instagrammable as it sounds. 400 Disney Way, Anaheim; 714-746-7300; snowopolis.net

For a one-stop dessert shop known for its creative shakes, cakes, sundaes, and more, look no further than SUGARBUZZ in Anaheim Hills. Little ones will love the brightly colored, candy-topped sweets and famous “unicorn hot chocolate.” 6386 E. Santa Ana Canyon Rd., Anaheim; 714-941-9059; sugarbuzzinc.com

SWEET STREET On April 4, 2020, West Center Street Promenade in downtown Anaheim will be dubbed Sweet Street for a day. The city-wide dessert festival offers free admission, where a variety of vendors all hope to satisfy your sweet tooth. 714-956-3586; downtownanaheim.com/events

ANGELS BASEBALL

THE HOME TEAMS

Both of Anaheim's professional sports teams got their start in the entertainment industry. The Angels arrived in 1961, founded by "Singing Cowboy" Gene Autry when Major League Baseball's American League (AL) expanded west. And you might remember the 1992 Disney film, "The Mighty Ducks," which inspired The Walt Disney Company to create the real-life National Hockey League (NHL) team now known simply as the Anaheim Ducks. These days, both teams hold their own as part of the second-largest sports market in the country. See them at the stadium, arena, or any of the nearby sports bars.

Anaheim Ducks

HOME ARENA: Honda Center, 2695 E. Katella Ave., Anaheim

FOUNDED: 1993

SEASON: October through April

HIGHLIGHTS: The Ducks took home the Stanley Cup in 2007. They have six Pacific Division titles to their name, and they've entered the playoffs 11 times in the past 14 seasons.

NAME TO KNOW: Goaltender John Gibson. The Pittsburgh native finished last season with a 26-22-8 record, including 2.84 goals-against-average and a .917 save percentage.

ABOUT THE COACH: Dallas Eakins became head coach in June 2019 after four years of heading up the Ducks' American Hockey League (AHL) affiliate team, the San Diego Gulls. He had an extensive playing career in both the NHL and AHL that lasted from 1985 until 2004.

TICKETS: Visit anaheimducks.com or call 877-945-3946.

Angels Baseball

HOME STADIUM: Angel Stadium, 2000 Gene Autry Way, Anaheim

FOUNDED: 1961

SEASON: March through September

HIGHLIGHTS: The Angels took the World Series away from the San Francisco Giants in 2002. They've won six AL West titles since.

NAME TO KNOW: Outfielder Mike Trout tied the American League with his third career MVP Award in 2019. He was also named to the AL All-Star team for the eighth consecutive season and won his seventh Silver Slugger Award.

ABOUT THE MANAGER: Joe Maddon returns to the Angels, where he spent 30 seasons as a minor league player, coach, scout, and interim manager. Maddon has reached the World Series twice as a Major League manager, including in 2016 for the Chicago Cubs' victory.

TICKETS: Visit angels.com or call 888-796-4256.

2019 YONEX US OPEN FINALS

TOKYO 2020

Visit Anaheim's partnerships with USA Water Polo, USA Badminton, and USA Volleyball make Anaheim a home base for teams preparing to go for gold in Japan during the 2020 Summer Olympics. Meanwhile, the Anaheim Convention Center hosts a junior championship match.

USA BADMINTON

USA Badminton selected Anaheim as its headquarters after a competitive nationwide search in 2016. With assistance from Visit Anaheim, they secured office space and the use of eight courts at American Sports Centers through the end of 2024. Beiwen Zhang, currently ranked 11th in the world in women's singles, is likely to be the team's best chance for their first medal since badminton became an Olympic sport in 1992.

USA VOLLEYBALL

Anaheim is the official host city—and American Sports Centers the home training facility—of USA men's and women's national teams. Once qualified, they'll compete in indoor, beach, and sitting volleyball in the Olympic and Paralympic games. Volleyball was first added to the Olympics agenda in Tokyo in 1964; the teams look forward to coming full circle, now with 10 gold, seven silver, and seven bronze medals to their name.

USA WATER POLO

Based in Irvine, the USA women's national team is ranked first in the world and will defend two consecutive Olympic gold medals in Tokyo. Going into the Summer Games, the world will be watching the young USA men's team for a rebound after poor performances at the Rio Games and 2017 world championships.

USA FENCING

This is the first year that all six weapons—men's and women's epee, foil, and saber—will be included in both individual and team competitions, and Team USA should have contenders in each category. But you don't need to travel to Tokyo to see world-class fencing this year: Anaheim Convention Center will host the 2020 USA Fencing Youth Regional Championships, March 13 through 15.

SHOP 'TIL YOU DROP

Luxury brands and small boutiques alike make Anaheim an incredible destination for shopping. Get ready to score major deals at nearby outlets, splurge on a souvenir that will last for years at one of Orange County's most influential malls, or spend the afternoon gazing over the Pacific from oceanfront properties.

Luxury Collections

SOUTH COAST PLAZA

The fashion mecca is anchored by upscale department stores alongside top-name designer boutiques like Chanel, Dior, and Valentino. The various buildings of the multi-level shopping mall are accessible via a footbridge across Bear Street. 3333 Bristol St., Costa Mesa; 800-782-8888; southcoastplaza.com

FASHION ISLAND

With views of Newport Beach's pristine coastline in the distance, shoppers can enjoy high-end shops, live music in the outdoor plazas, and celebrated cuisine from restaurants like Fig & Olive and True Food Kitchen. Kids are free to romp on the manicured lawns, and dogs are welcome. 401 Newport Center Drive, Newport Beach; 949-721-2000; shopfashionisland.com

CRYSTAL COVE

Most impressive may be the expansive ocean view that runs parallel to this plaza of storefronts. After a relaxing morning perusing, stop for lunch at Newport favorite, Bear Flag Fish Co., with the surf in sight. 7845-8085 E. Coast Highway, Newport Beach; shopirvinecompany.com/centers/newport-beach/crystal-cove-shopping-center

SOCO/THE OC MIX

This indoor-outdoor collective brings its design focus to a variety of boutiques and epicurean shops. Venture to the larger retail shops via the main parking lot for high-end home goods and furniture. 3313 Hyland Ave., Costa Mesa; 949-760-9150; shoptheocmix.com

CATALINA ISLAND

MAKE A DAY OF IT

California is vast and varied. Four major ecoregions coexist within the state, and there are many exciting sights and experiences you won't want to miss. Whether you decide to travel by land or sea, take an iconic California road trip, or you prefer public transit, the itineraries below will fit the bill. Most of these can be done in a day, but an overnight trip is another possibility worth exploring—and your home base in Anaheim makes it all easy to do.

Arts and Culture

LA BREA TAR PITS

Among the 40,000-year-old saber-toothed cats and woolly mammoths on display, the majority were actually discovered on site. Watch bones being cleaned and repaired through big observation windows in the paleontological workspace, then head next door for a completely different experience at the L.A. County Museum of Art. 5801 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles; 213-763-3499; tarpits.org; lacma.org

LAGUNA BEACH

Take state route 1 (Pacific Coast Highway) to this world-renowned arts colony, home of the annual Pageant of the Masters living pictures show. After browsing the local boutiques, galleries, gelato shops, and ocean-view restaurants, make it a beach day. Escape to secluded coves; explore tide pools; or grab a skimboard, surfboard, or snorkeling kit to add to the adventure. visitlagunabeach.com

RICHARD NIXON LIBRARY & MUSEUM

Located a few minutes from Anaheim, the Richard Nixon Library and Museum includes interactive exhibits showcasing Richard Nixon's life and political career, a Watergate room, oval office, and more. The grounds include exquisite gardens, the home where Nixon was born, the Presidential Helicopter, and the final resting places of both Richard and Pat Nixon. 18001 Yorba Linda Blvd., Yorba Linda; www.nixonlibrary.gov

Oceanic Adventures

CATALINA ISLAND ON CATALINA EXPRESS

Operating four catamarans and four additional vessels, departing from three different ports, and making up to 30 round trips each day, Catalina Express is your best bet for a visit to the pristine city of Avalon. Book a 2-hour bison-watching expedition or a zip line eco tour in the island's interior, relax in a cabana at the Descanso Beach Club, or wander the Catalina Island Museum before your return trip boards. 800-613-1212; catalinaexpress.com

DANA WHARF

Jump aboard a charter that departs from Dana Point Harbor for daily, two-hour rides. The summer season sees 100-foot-long blue whales, while winter travelers are likely to spot a migrating gray whale. Sightings of dolphins, sea lions, sea-faring birds, and the occasional shark are standard year-round. 34675 Golden Lantern, Dana Point; 888-224-0603; danawharf.com

HORNBLOWER CRUISES

With weekend jazz brunches, sunset cocktail hours, and four-course seated dinners, there is a cruise for every occasion. In Newport, you can sail on John Wayne's yacht, Wild Goose, or float down the bay in lights as part of their 112th annual Christmas boat parade. 2901 W. Coast Highway, Ste. 170, Newport Beach; 949-650-2412; hornblower.com

LONG BEACH

In this coastal city, visit the Aquarium of the Pacific to get to know over 500 species of marine life from various regions of the Pacific Ocean. Afterward, board the historic Queen Mary, the midcentury ocean liner, for a tour and casual or fine dining options. Though many say the ship is haunted, you can also stay overnight. 100 Aquarium Way, Long Beach, 562-590-3100,

Desert Getaways

JOSHUA TREE NATIONAL PARK

With traffic, you may be looking at a three-hour drive, but the otherworldly landscape will be well worth it. Hike, climb, or boulder through more than 1,200 square miles of desert, dotted with native, spiky Joshua Trees. The quaint town near the park entrance is the perfect pit stop for a meal before or after. 6554 Park Blvd., Joshua Tree; 760-366-1855; www.nps.gov/jotr/index.htm

PALM SPRINGS

An oasis for golf and '50s Hollywood glamour in the Coachella Valley, this escape offers world-class spa resorts and casinos, hot springs, and gorgeous hikes. Tour the city to see some of its best midcentury modern homes and buildings, ask for a dirty martini at one of Frank Sinatra's famous hangouts, or simply lounge by a pool in the dry heat. visitpalmsprings.com

Parks & Attractions

KNOTT'S BERRY FARM

Located just minutes from Anaheim, you'll need a full day to enjoy California's first theme park and adjacent Knott's Soak City waterpark. The property, which grew out of a humble boysenberry farm and Mrs. Knott's famous fried chicken dinners, now offers 40 rides and roller coasters in addition to stage shows, games, and activities for the whole family. 8039 Beach Blvd., Buena Park; 714-220-5200; knotts.com

LEGOLAND

Just an hour south of Anaheim is a park that's built for fun. This spring, be the first to experience "The LEGO® Movie World," complete with a flying theater ride that puts you in the middle of the movie universe. 1 Legoland Drive, Carlsbad; 760-918-5346; legoland.com/california

SAN DIEGO ZOO AND SAFARI PARK

Balboa Park's 100-acre zoo was among the first to create natural, cageless habitats and is internationally known for its conservation efforts. Its newest exhibit, Africa Rocks, features six areas that showcase the diversity of the continent. Another milestone: a southern white rhino calf, a threatened species, was born in late Nov. 2019, marking the Safari Park's 100th rhinoceros birth. 2920 Zoo Drive, San Diego; 619-231-1515; sandiegozoo.org

SEAWORLD

Experience the sea's most extraordinary creatures at the world-famous bayside theme park, which prides itself on blending entertainment with education and awareness. Plan your day around their lineup of aquarium exhibits, shows like documentary-style "Orca Encounter," and exciting rides. 500 Sea World Drive, San Diego; 619-222-4732; seaworldparks.com

SIX FLAGS MAGIC MOUNTAIN

Daredevils should look no further than the "thrill capital of the world"—it holds the record for most roller coasters in a park, and several of them are record-breaking in their own right. Take a breather between inversions with Looney Tunes characters and the Justice League, as well as other mellow, family-friendly attractions. 26101 Magic Mountain Parkway, Valencia; 661-255-4100; sixflags.com

UNIVERSAL STUDIOS HOLLYWOOD

In addition to their popular studio tour or the ultimate VIP experience, visitors can fly through Hogwarts or climb aboard a Hippogriff in the Wizarding World of Harry Potter. Or risk everything on Jurassic World—The Ride, featuring new dinosaurs from the film, lush scenic design, and groundbreaking immersive technology. 100 Universal City Plaza, Universal City; 800-864-8377; universalstudioshollywood.com

WARNER BROS. STUDIO TOUR HOLLYWOOD

Go behind the scenes to explore the magic of filmmaking, from sound stages and famous sets to original props, costumes, cinematic automobiles, and more. Consider this your all-access pass to your favorite films and television shows, from "Batman" to "Friends." 3400 W. Riverside Drive, Burbank; 877-492-8687; wbstudiotour.com

Engaging Experiences

DISCOVERY CUBE

Budding scientists aren't the only ones who will enjoy this interactive museum. Sneak in some education through exciting exhibits that allow kids to feel the heat of a rocket launch, experience historic earthquakes, and step into the skates of an NHL goalie. 2500 N. Main St., Santa Ana; 714-542-2823; oc.discoverycube.org

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM AT LA HABRA

This hands-on museum is housed in a 1923 train depot and features an outdoor dinosaur topiary, a 1942 caboose kids can climb inside of, and a variety of changing exhibits. All make the world within reach for even the littlest explorers. 301 Euclid St., La Habra; 562-905-9793; lhcm.org

MUZEUM

Exhibits and events at this downtown Anaheim gem keep students in mind. Look for shared programming with Fullerton cultural center, The Muck, emphasizing STEAM and the fine arts. 241 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 714-956-8936; muzeo.org

For the Fearless

BALBOA PARASAIL

Boats depart daily from Newport Harbor, where kids as young as 5 can fly hundreds of feet in the air on an exhilarating parasailing adventure, riding tandem or triple. $80 per person; non-flying passengers can ride on the boat and take photos for $25. 600 E. Bay Ave., Newport Beach; 949-485-4665; balboaparasail.com

FLIGHTDECK

New to Anaheim GardenWalk, this local simulation center has been providing kids with flying experience for 14 years. If your pilot is at least 11 years old, call to reserve either a fighter jet package with 30 minutes of instruction prior to the mission or a commercial flight in the cockpit of a Boeing 737. 400 W. Disney Way, Ste. 196, Anaheim; 714-937-1511; flightdeck1.com

K-1 SPEED GO KART RACING

Another Side of Nature

TAKE A BAT WALK

From July through September on select Fridays and Saturdays, the Sea & Sage Audubon Society takes visitors of at least 7 years of age to see the nocturnal residents of the San Joaquin Wildlife Sanctuary—bats feeding off insects in the marsh. The bat walks last two and a half hours. Advance registration is required. 949-261-7963; seaandsageaudubon.org

SURFRIDER'S ACADEMY SURF SCHOOL

Visit Surf City, a mecca for enthusiasts of the sport. An hour-and-a-half lesson at this school will help "groms" ages 5 and up get to their feet, but not without learning ocean safety and helpful techniques on land first. Private and group sessions are tailored to first-timers. 224 5th St., Huntington Beach; 714-782-4510; surfridersacademy.com

SANTA ANA ZOO

The 20-acre grounds at Prentice Park is a sanctuary for primates, according to a unique stipulation of 50 monkeys at a time in the initial land transfer agreement. It's also one of 10 U.S. zoos to provide a home for ocelots, the endangered Brazilian cat that looks like a small cheetah. 1801 E. Chestnut Ave., Santa Ana; 714-836-4000; santaanazoo.org

Fun with Food

FIRE AND ICE

This all-you-can-eat restaurant is the answer to having adventurous and picky eaters all in one group. Its focal point is the huge Mongolian-style grill where chefs prepare meals—with a range of Asian, American, Latin, and Italian flavors—in full view. Each person chooses their own fresh ingredients and sauces from a continually-replenished buffet. 400 Disney Way, Anaheim; 714-808-9757; fire-ice.com

MEDIEVAL TIMES

Storm the castle to cheer on a knight in shining armor. Kids will love using their hands to dig into a feast fit for a king while watching an epic battle of jousting, live falconry, and extreme horsemanship down in the arena. 7662 Beach Blvd., Buena Park; 888-935-6878; medievaltimes.com

PIRATE'S DINNER ADVENTURE

DISNEY TIPS & TRICKS

Make the most of your visit with these insider secrets.

GO DIGITAL

- Download the Disneyland app to check wait times, locate characters, make dining reservations, review menus and park maps, and even order food.
- Purchase your ticket online or from inside the Disneyland app to avoid long lines at the ticket booths.
- The Play Disney Parks app offers hours of games and trivia to enjoy with your group while waiting in line or during downtime, plus official Disney playlists for your flight or on longer drives during your stay.
- Using the Play Disney Parks app, you can also interact with areas of the park, including Galaxy's Edge.

GET PASS SAVVY

- Consider planning your visit for a value day instead of a regular or peak day. Prices can vary by over $40.
- Get the best of both worlds—and 16 Disney and Pixar-themed lands—when you purchase a Park Hopper® ticket for an extra $50.
- Going for more than a day? Buying multi-day tickets can save you a bunch.
- Upgrade your ticket with MaxPass for $15 more per person to reserve digital FastPasses on your smartphone and access photos taken by Disney photographers.
- Purchase your ticket online, at your hotel, or on the Disneyland app to avoid long lines at the ticket booths.

GET PERKS FOR YOUR STAY

- If you have at least a three-day pass and you're staying at one of the three on-site hotels, take advantage of an Extra Magic Hour to gain admission an hour before park gates open to the general public.

SCORE FREEBIES

- Buttons to celebrate special occasions from City Hall, info booths, and most stores
- Mickey Mouse stickers from employees
- Sample sourdough bread from The Boudin Bakery tour
- Keepsake artwork at Animation Academy
- 2-hour locker rental near Grizzly River Run
- Drinking water from quick-service locations

DISNEYLAND® SALUTES YOUR SERVICE

- Active and retired U.S. military personnel can purchase three-day ($184) or four-day Park Hopper® ($204) tickets through Dec. 18, 2020.

BUENA PARK A HIDDEN GEM IN SOCAL

When the SoCal sun beckons, book your getaway to the under-the-radar town of Buena Park. Where you'll find world-famous entertainment, award-winning dining and accommodations for every budget. The lively city is just 20 miles from Los Angeles, 15 miles from the beach and 5 miles from Disneyland®, making it the perfect home base location for your Orange County adventure.

Enjoy over 40 exhilarating rides like the brand-new dive coaster, HangTime and meet Snoopy at California's First Theme Park - Knott's Berry Farm. Seasonal celebrations like the Boysenberry Festival, Knott's Merry Farm and Knott's Scary Farm provide a unique experience each time you visit. In the summer cool off at Knott's Soak City, a 15-acre waterpark packed with slides, a lazy river and wave pool.

It's a well-kept secret that Buena Park has some of the best food in the area and its culinary roots date back to the 1930s when the boysenberry was created here. Today you can taste where it all began at Mrs. Knott's Chicken Dinner and try new favorites like the authentic Cuban cuisine at Porto's Bakery and Cafe (named Yelp's #1 restaurant). You can choose from over 60 craft beers at Rock & Brews, dine on divine soufflé pancakes at Basilur Tea and sip bewitchingly- tasty cocktails at The Cauldron.

Those looking for some entertainment with their dinner will find the swashbuckling family-friendly favorite Pirates Dinner Adventure and the jousting and swordplay of Medieval Times. Even adults can get in on the action at Buena Park's newest dining experience - Teatro Martini.

In Buena Park you'll get the best of both worlds—small town charm that you can find at the many seasonal events and the big city ease of having everything you need within a very short drive. With over a dozen options to choose from, Buena Park hotels have some of the best amenities in the area with many offering free parking, shuttles to Disneyland® and local attractions and no resort fees.

A GALAXY NOT FAR, FAR AWAY

For over 40 years, “Star Wars” fans have known of a time and place both “long ago” and “far away.” Finally, in 2019, Disney Imagineers brought the fictional planet, Batuu, into the here and now. Inspired by old Romantic paintings of the Middle East as well as modern-day Istanbul and Marrakech, Star Wars: Galaxy’s Edge is the ninth and largest land at Disneyland® Park. Epic in its own right, things only get more impressive when the highly-anticipated attraction, Star Wars: Rise of the Resistance, opens on Jan. 17, 2020.

MILLENNIUM FALCON

LOCAL IMPACT

A RECENT STUDY BY THREE CAL STATE FULLERTON ECONOMISTS SHOWED THAT THE RESORT CREATED $8.5 BILLION IN ECONOMIC IMPACT IN 2018, INCLUDING 3.6 PERCENT OF ALL O.C. JOBS.

BLACK SPIRE OUTPOST MARKETPLACE

Fly the Millennium Falcon

Docked in the Black Spire Outpost Spaceport, the infamous aircraft is hard to miss at over 100 feet long. Enter the cockpit through the same starboard airlock used by Han Solo and Chewbacca in “Star Wars: The Force Awakens.” Then, take the controls as a pilot, gunner, or flight engineer as you embark on the ride, Millennium Falcon: Smuggler’s Run.

Rise up and Fight

Whether you claim your allegiance to a side within the Play Disney Parks app or purchase merchandise from First Order Cargo or Resistance Supply, the good guys are still the ragtag group under General Leia Organa’s leadership. Explore the vast outpost alongside Rey, Chewbacca, and newcomer Resistance spy Vi Moradi. First introduced in Delilah S. Dawson’s 2017 book, “Phasma,” she reappeared in the follow-up, “Galaxy’s Edge: Black Spire,” and is one of the land’s main characters.

Guests brave enough to take on Star Wars: Rise of the Resistance will enter a massive building that houses two full-sized AT-AT walkers, a Star Destroyer hangar bay, and a TIE fighter—not to mention the garrison of stormtroopers who will intercept your task force. Walt Disney Imagineering has outdone itself with multiple ride systems, immersive simulations, and reactive drones to put guests at the center of a battle aboard a Star Destroyer.

Batuu for a Day

Become part of the story when employees who call themselves “inhabitants of Batuu” greet you with local slang. Reply with the phrase, “bright suns” (good morning), or “rising moons” (good evening). Then use your “data pad” (cell phone) to interact with the land via the Play Disney Parks app. Reserve a table at Oga’s Cantina*, where you can try the same frosty blue milk that Luke Skywalker first tasted in “Star Wars: A New Hope.” Later, peruse Dok-Ondar’s Den of Antiquities at the Black Spire Outpost Marketplace for a selection of otherworldly souvenirs; for an additional cost, try your hand at building a custom Jedi lightsaber at Savi’s workshop or a mechanical pal at the Droid Depot*.

*Requires 60-day advance reservation.

ANAHEIM CONVENTION CENTER & ARENA

ANAHEIM BY DESIGN

Anaheim may not be known beyond city limits for its architecture, but these buildings reveal a unique history.

CARNEGIE LIBRARY

COMPLETED: 1908

THE ARCHITECT: John C. Austin

ALSO DESIGNED: Los Angeles' Shrine Auditorium and Griffith Park Observatory

THEN: Andrew Carnegie funded the construction of five public libraries in Orange County after the turn of the century, but only this one remains standing. The building fulfilled its role as a public library until 1963, then served as an office for the City of Anaheim. It joined the National Register of Historic Places in 1979.

NOW: The Carnegie Library is an annex of Museo Museum and Cultural Center. Admission is complimentary for its permanent historical display of 19th-century agricultural tools, fossils, and memorabilia from the early days of Disneyland® Park and Angel Stadium of Anaheim.

VISIT: 241 S. Anaheim Blvd., Anaheim; 714-956-8936; museo.org

ANAHEIM CONVENTION CENTER & ARENA

COMPLETED: 1967

THE ARCHITECTS: Adrian Wilson and Associates

ALSO DESIGNED: The now-demolished dome of the Las Vegas Convention Center

THEN: Designed in the spaceship-inspired "Googie" style popular in the Southland at the time, the structure was futuristic not only aesthetically, but for its built-in amenities. The venue possessed 100,000 square feet of exhibition space, a huge parking lot, and the largest door available to convention attendees in California, at 40 feet wide by 25 feet tall.

NOW: ACC North, the Center's most recent expansion, opened in Sept. 2017. The $190 million addition includes a 10,000-square-foot balcony that overlooks Disney California Adventure® Park. From the outdoor Grand Plaza courtyard area, the complementary designs of ACC North and the original building are striking, with a winding walkway made to resemble the Santa Ana River.

VISIT: 800 W. Katella Ave., Anaheim, 714-765-8950, visitanahaim.org/meetings

ANAHEIM ICE

ANAHEIM ICE

COMPLETED: 1995

THE ARCHITECT: Frank Gehry

ALSO DESIGNED: The Guggenheim Museum in Bilbao, L.A.'s Walt Disney Concert Hall

THEN: Commissioned as a practice rink for the Anaheim Ducks by then-owner The Walt Disney Company, this sculptural outlier was initially christened Disney Ice. The facility has been said to resemble midcentury military-surplus quonset huts; its inverted nautical shape also feels continuous with the Walt Disney Concert Hall. But the nostalgic wood interior, baring crossed beams and braces, probably recalls Gehry's childhood in Toronto, Canada.

NOW: Henry Samueli—Broadcom, Inc. chairman and co-founder and a well-known Orange County philanthropist—purchased The Ducks in 2005 and Anaheim Ice along with it. Now that his team trains in Irvine, Anaheim Ice is booked solid with public skating, youth programs, tournaments, and more.

VISIT: 300 W. Lincoln Ave., Anaheim; 714-535-7465; anaheimice.therinks.com

ANAHEIM REGIONAL TRANSPORTATION INTERMODAL CENTER (ARTIC)

COMPLETED: 2014

THE ARCHITECT: Global architectural firm, HOK

ALSO DESIGNED: Atlanta's Mercedes-Benz Stadium

THEN: Designers planned for nothing less than to usher in "a new era of public transit." Their LEED Platinum-certified landmark promotes natural ventilation and energy efficiency, while advanced modeling helped to determine its diagrid structure and inflatable, LED-lit siding.

NOW: ARTIC is a hub for Amtrak, Metrolink, OCTA bus service, Anaheim Resort Transportation (ART), Megabus, and Greyhound; in the future, it will accommodate California's high-speed rail system. The forward-thinking, holistic design left plenty of room for retail, Wi-Fi, charging stations, parking, bike racks, lockers, community space, and specialty dining.

THE HILBERT MUSEUM OF CALIFORNIA ART

QUITE THE CALIFORNIA SCENE

Disneyland® Resort isn't the only place to admire works by Disney artists during your stay. The Hilbert Museum of California Art in nearby Orange—a five-minute, $2.50 train ride from ARTIC—is the first museum that is wholly dedicated to the mid-20th century art of California Scene and California representational painting. The museum's permanent collection and rotating exhibits are culled from the extensive, $7 million personal collection Mark and Janet Hilbert gifted to Chapman University in 2014.

Many of its noteworthy artists worked for Disney

Studios, including Eyvind Earle, Mary Blair, Ralph Hulett, Phil Paradise, and Phil Dike. Although their independent fine art was what originally intrigued the collectors, the Hilberts eventually did purchase their Disney concept paintings, sketches, and movie poster artwork as well.

Together, the works paint a picture of Los Angeles during and after the Great Depression, when movie studios were among the few places still hiring. "The artists never got the credit they deserved for making American cinema what it was," Mark Hilbert told The Orange County Register. Now, he's helping to change that.

Through May 2, see the exhibitions, "L.A. Area Scene Paintings" and "A Fine Romance: Images of Love in Classic American Illustration." The museum recently announced plans to expand its space in order to accommodate more of its permanent collection, as well as more visitors, which already number over 100 per day. Admission is free. 167 N. Atchison St., Orange; 714-516-5880; hilbertmuseum.com

BOWERS MUSEUM

From March 7 through Aug. 30, don't miss "Inside the Walt Disney Archives: 50 Years of Preserving the Magic." The traveling exhibition made its debut at the 2018 D23 Expo Japan and includes more than 400 objects from "Fantasia" through "Frozen"—including original artwork, costumes, and props. 2002 N. Main St., Santa Ana; 714-567-3600; bowers.org

CHUCK JONES CENTER FOR CREATIVITY

Classes, exhibitions, lectures, film festivals, and more illuminate the works and philosophy of the artist behind more than 300 animated films. He also created some of Warner Bros.' most famous characters—Bugs Bunny, Daffy Duck, Elmer Fudd, Porky Pig, Road Runner, Wile E. Coyote, Marvin the Martian, and Pepe le Pew, to name a few. 3321 Hyland Ave., Ste. A, Costa Mesa; 949-660-7793; chuckjonescenter.org

ORANGE COUNTY MUSEUM OF ART

While awaiting the completion of their permanent home at Segerstrom Center for the Arts in 2021, this contemporary art institution continues to curate six exhibitions at a time out of their temporary location, OCMA Expand. The artists are primarily from around the Pacific Rim and work in a variety of media. 1661 W. Sunflower Ave., Santa Ana; 714-780-2186; ocmaexpand.org

3 DAYS IN ANAHEIM

KNOTT'S BERRY FARM

DAY 1

MORNING

With only three days, try to see as much of the DISNEYLAND® RESORT as you can in one day. To enter Disneyland® Park right when it opens, be at the gates 45 minutes before then—check the park schedule in advance to find the exact time. Use the morning to check off all your must-do rides, like the Matterhorn Bobsleds and Space Mountain. Then, either proceed to the afternoon itinerary or, if you purchased Park Hopper® tickets, skip ahead to Day 4.

AFTERNOON

Break for lunch in the shade or see a live performance to get off your feet for awhile. Next up is STAR WARS: GALAXY'S EDGE, Disneyland® Park's newest and largest land. Use the Disneyland app or a FastPass to plan for long lines at the newly-opened Star Wars: Rise of the Resistance. Leave plenty of time to locate Rey, Chewbacca, and Vi Moradi; sip an adult alien beverage or nonalcoholic blue milk at Oga's Cantina; and select a souvenir from the bazaar-like Black Spire Outpost Marketplace.

EVENING

If you're ready to head home for the night, Disneyland® Park's fireworks can be seen from many vantage points throughout the city, including several hotels. Still going strong? Check the events schedule online to find colorful parades and other spectacular shows, or strategize by saving for last the areas that light up dramatically after dark, like Tomorrowland and Sleeping Beauty Castle. disneyland.disney.go.com

MORNING

Chances are, you came to Anaheim to experience the world's greatest theme parks, so don't stop before you visit Disney's predecessor, KNOTT'S BERRY FARM. With unrivaled coasters like HangTime and Camp Snoopy, a land designed especially for young kids, it's sure to satisfy any customer. knotts.com

AFTERNOON

Don't skip lunch at Mrs. Knott's Chicken Dinner Restaurant for the same recipe that first attracted crowds to the area back in 1934. Then, after the requisite 45 minute wait for digestion, let the kids unleash their wild sides at KNOTT'S SOAK CITY. 23 slides, a wave pool, lazy river, and interactive beach house for kids comprise O.C.'s largest water park. knotts.com/play/soak-city

EVENING

Back in Anaheim, you'll want to keep dinner simple. Why not order takeout from one of the restaurants on p. 28 to eat in your suite? Or, stop by The Anaheim Hotel for a pie to go from The Pizza Press and a cocktail in the lobby bar while you wait. theanaheimhotel.com, thepizzapress.com

DAY 3

MORNING

By all means, sleep in. But we do recommend setting off for a scenic nature hike before the heat of the day. Choose between easy trails at OAK CANYON NATURE CENTER or SANTIAGO OAKS REGIONAL PARK and the moderately difficult loop at PETERS CANYON REGIONAL PARK. Trust us: you'll want to build up an appetite for what's coming next. anaheim.net, ocparks.com

AFTERNOON

In CENTER CITY, head straight to the Anaheim Packing House, a multi-level, open-plan warehouse stocked with food vendors in a variety of cuisines. After eating your fill, take FRAN (a free microtransit ride service you can call from the Center City app) or walk to Center Street Promenade. Mosey through Muzeo, Pop! Comics, and other unique storefronts. When you're ready for dessert, go for a soft serve-filled "chimney cone" at House of Chimney Cakes, or refuel with a Groundwork coffee and unimaginably light pastries from Okayama Kobo Bakery. ctrctcityanaheim.com

EVENING

Hop on ART, or Anaheim Resort Transit, to reach the final stop on the itinerary: PLATINUM TRIANGLE. Many new and established breweries can be found in this part of town, and stopping at one or two of them would make a fine segway to dinner at ZOV'S, a popular Mediterranean restaurant with an extensive menu. From there, it's an easy walk to Angel Stadium or the Honda Center to see our pro teams play a home game. rideart.org, zovs.com, angels.com, anaheimducks.com

5 DAYS IN ANAHEIM

DAY 4

MORNING

Your multi-day ticket doesn't have to be used on consecutive days as long as you return to Disneyland® Resort within 13 days of your first visit. Why not have breakfast with Donald Duck and friends at Disney's PCH Grill at Disney's Paradise Pier® Hotel?

AFTERNOON

DISNEY CALIFORNIA ADVENTURE® PARK carries the theme of its home state to epic proportions, from Cars Land's colorful desert landscape to adventures under the sea with Crush, the talking sea turtle from "Finding Nemo" and "Finding Dory." The eight-land theme park is famous for its Pixar storylines and characters, with attractions based on "Toy Story," "The Incredibles," "Monsters, Inc." and more.

EVENING

With or without a park ticket, end the day with a whole new world of shopping, dining, and entertainment at the revitalized DOWNTOWN DISNEY® DISTRICT. Try on outfits inspired by guest trends and beloved characters at The Disney Dress Shop, share a viral CrazyShake™ from New York City export Black Tap Craft Burgers & Shakes, and venture into The Void for a virtual reality walk-through adventure. disneyland.disney.go.com

DAY 5

MORNING

This year, we're embracing the staycation vibe—yep, even if you traveled thousands of miles to get here. Use our guide on p. 68 to choose your hotel wisely and enjoy it for more than just sleeping. After a morning workout at the fitness center, enjoy a leisurely breakfast, spend hours at the pool, and explore kids' activities until everyone feels fully recharged.

AFTERNOON

Did we say fully recharged? Don't let the relaxation end there. This is your day to book a spa treatment—bonus points if you can make it to the appointment without leaving your hotel—or schedule a round of golf for the whole group at one of the nearby courses.

EVENING

As happy hour approaches, head to the Anaheim Packing District's MAKE BUILDING. Order a brew inspired by underrated superheroes from Unsung Brewery or glass of Central Coast wine from the tap at Pali Wine Co. The two businesses share a landscaped patio with lots of seating areas. Everyone can order what they like, then head back out to enjoy the atmosphere, including live music on Saturdays. anaheimmake.com

7 DAYS IN ANAHEIM

DAY
6MORNING

With seven days in SoCal, we'd be remiss not to include at least one beach day. Start out in Huntington Beach, where you can break from the sand and sun for lunch and shopping across the street at PACIFIC CITY, an outdoor, ocean-facing mall near Main Street. gopacificcity.com

AFTERNOON

Rent bikes and ride from Surf City to the Newport Beach pier. Stop at one of the seaside hotel restaurants for a drink with a view or watch longboarders slide down the beach break known as Blackie's. If you can time getting back to your car before dark, continue down the boardwalk as far as the Balboa Pier. Find the BALBOA FUN ZONE for a Ferris Wheel ride and arcade games. balboaferriswheel.com

EVENING

After putting your very tired kids to bed, go out for an upscale experience you'll remember at either THE RANCH RESTAURANT or ANAHEIM WHITE HOUSE. We talk to chefs each year when we put together this guide, and they consistently recommend both places. theranch.com/restaurant, anaheimwhitehouse.com

DAY
7MORNING

Dedicate a full day to choosing the perfect souvenir. Spend a few hours at SOUTH COAST PLAZA or THE OUTLETS AT ORANGE, where you'll be sure to find a special something (or multiple somethings) to bring home. southcoastplaza.com, simon.com/mall/the-outlets-at-orange

AFTERNOON

We're sending you to ANAHEIM GARDENWALK for the evening, but arrive earlier to see the shops there, or check out that new release you've been wanting to see at the AMC Anaheim GardenWalk 6 with recliner seating you can reserve in advance. Afterward, have dinner at Grasslands Meat Market, which specializes in Southern BBQ and Brazilian-style churrasco. anaheimgardenwalk.com

EVENING

The hearty meal should set you up nicely for a night out at the famous House of Blues, founded by Hard Rock Cafe co-founder Isaac Tigrett, Blues Brother Dan Aykroyd, and the Belushi family. After it reopened at Anaheim GardenWalk, this location was granted flagship status, picking up where the original Harvard Square venue left off. With four different performance areas, expect to hear genres as diverse as country, folk, hip-hop, soul, electronic, and jazz. houseofblues.com

ANAHEIM HALLOWEEN PARADE

First led by Babe Ruth in 1924, this annual pageant attracted 150,000 spectators and was televised across Southern California at the height of its popularity. Although the tradition began to falter in the 1980s, a new generation has taken up the mantle of organizing, float-building, and performing down the parade route. downtownanaheim.com/events/

NOV. THROUGH JAN.

MUZEIO EXPRESS

At the end of each year, Muzeio Museum and Cultural Center teams up with the Train Collectors Association and the Toy Train Operating Society to create elaborate model train displays. Then, they zoom out to include life-sized railway history unique to Southern California in an interactive exhibit for all ages. muzeio.org

THE RANCH SALOON

ENJOY THE SHOW

Set aside at least one evening to take in a performance at one of Anaheim and Orange County's world-class concert venues.

HOUSE OF BLUES

Their new flagship location at Anaheim GardenWalk offers four dedicated areas: a 2,200-capacity music hall, the VIP Foundation Room, an intimate new performance space, and the expanded restaurant and bar. All reflect the brand's 25-year-strong passion for music in the Southern tradition. 400 Disney Way, Anaheim; 714-778-2583; houseofblues.com/anaheim

HONDA CENTER

When the world's top-billed musical artists—think Ariana Grande and Journey—pass through Orange County, they perform here. Though the indoor arena is home to the Anaheim Ducks, it also plays host to several concerts throughout the year, accommodating over 18,000 viewers. 2695 E. Katella Ave., Anaheim; 714-704-2400; hondacenter.com

CITY NATIONAL GROVE OF ANAHEIM

Just around the corner from the Honda Center, this intimate, stately venue channels old Hollywood. Everyone will find something they love, from contemporary jazz and easy listening to pop ballads and family-friendly entertainment. 2200 E. Katella Ave., Anaheim; 714-712-2700; citynationalgroveofanaheim.com

THE RANCH SALOON

Orange County meets Nashville at this intimate venue that gives country singers a place in the local music scene. Reserve a table or join the crowd around the stage to two-step or line dance the night away. Live music brings down the house every Friday. 1025 E. Ball Road, Anaheim; 714-817-4200; theranch.com/saloon

TEATRO MARTINI

Dinner theater gets an upgrade at this cabaret- and burlesque-inspired adult show. Rotating variety acts include comedy, cirque, music, and magic, while a four-course menu and signature martinis add to the enjoyment. 7600 Beach Blvd., Buena Park; 844-249-7865; teatromartini.com

SEGERSTROM CENTER FOR THE ARTS

The dynamic performing arts center features an exciting 2020 lineup. Highlights include musical acts in jazz, cabaret, and chamber music; an impressive roster of international ballet companies; and a lively Broadway series featuring "Les Misérables," "Chicago," and more. 600 Town Center Drive, Costa Mesa; 714-556-2787; scfta.org

ANAHEIM RESORT TRANSPORTATION (ART)

WAYS AROUND

Everywhere you want to go in SoCal starts right here in Anaheim.

With four airports a short drive away, plenty of public transportation, and super-simple shuttles, it's never been easier to get here—and once you arrive, exploring the city and its surrounding areas is just as straightforward. Choose between car rental options and rideshares, the convenience of ART and ARTIC, and greater walkability around town than ever. Let this be your definitive guide to getting around and making the most of your Anaheim adventure!

Catch a Shuttle

All around Anaheim, shuttles create a convenient and cost-effective network of transportation.

AIRPORT SHUTTLES

Circulating between hotels and airports, these make arrivals and departures easy. Many hotels offer complimentary shuttles, but a few local names to know are Mickey's

Space Ship Shuttle, mickeysairportbus.com; Super Shuttle, super-shuttle.com; Prime Time Shuttle, primetimeshuttle.com; and Karmel Shuttle, karmel.com

ANAHEIM RESORT TRANSPORTATION (ART)

Connecting all the major destinations within and around Anaheim, ART is a hop-on, hop-off service with flat one-way or daily rates. They recently introduced their Center City/Platinum Triangle line. With rides beginning at 6:00 a.m., it's now a quick commute from Center City to Anaheim Regional Transportation Intermodal Center (ARTIC), which is within walking distance of Honda Center and Angel Stadium. rideart.org

MEET FRAN

In 2019, ART introduced FRAN, a.k.a. Free Rides Around the Neighborhood. Using energy-efficient vehicles, the "micro-transit" service covers key areas of Anaheim, starting with Center City. Request your free ride from within the Center City app. rideart.org

Ride the Rails

Two passenger railways stop at ARTIC, making it easy to explore beyond Anaheim.

AMTRAK

The Pacific Surfliner line runs from San Luis Obispo to San Diego with oceanfront views along the way. Riders can look for savings on Disneyland® Resort tickets at pacificsurfliner.com/disney.

METROLINK

Useful routes transport riders in nearly every direction: north to L.A., southwest to the beaches and east to the metropolitan areas near the San Bernardino Mountains. metrolinktrains.com

Take a Bus

Orange County Transportation Authority carries passengers all over the county with comprehensive routes. Riders can receive mobile alerts that notify them about the next bus coming to their nearest stop. octa.net

Get in the Driver's Seat

In addition to car rental agencies at airports, there are many within the Anaheim Resort district catering to all budgets. Enterprise Rent-A-Car and Avis Car Rental are great options for one- or two-day rentals when you only need a car for part of your trip. enterprise.com; avis.com

Disneyland® Park-ing

Whether or not you drive to the park, recent developments at Disneyland® Resort are improving pedestrian safety and traffic flow. A new 6,500-space parking structure and pedestrian bridge over Magic Way now allows visitors to reach Disneyland® Park's main entrance via the Downtown Disney® District, reducing foot traffic at the intersection of Disneyland Drive and Magic Way.

Call a Car

If you aren't renting a car, hiring a taxi or driver is a great option for seeing more of the city. Yellow Cab of Greater Orange County and VIP Limousines & Coaches are two reputable organizations, or you can connect with Anaheim's network of rideshare apps, Uber and Lyft. yellowcab.com; viplimos.us; uber.com; lyft.com

KNOTT'S BERRY FARM

A SWEET SUCCESS STORY

As one of the top ten most-visited theme parks in North America, Knott's Berry Farm's humble-pie beginnings make its present-day success that much sweeter. This year marks a full century since the Knott family first settled on their 20-acre plot on Highway 39, or Beach Boulevard, in Buena Park. To celebrate their centennial, we collected the park's historic milestones into a ten-part timeline by the decades.

1920s: After moving onto his farm in 1920, Walter Knott helped a USDA employee revive several mysterious berry plants found on Mr. Boysen's abandoned farm nearby.

1930s: A cross between a raspberry, blackberry, and loganberry, the boysenberry was the main ingredient of preserves and pies the Knotts sold at their roadside stand. When Cordelia Knott started serving fried chicken dinners, customers kept on coming.

1940s: With wait times averaging several hours, Walter Knott brought entertainment to their customers. His Ghost Town was comprised of upcycled buildings from other Old West towns.

1950s: Taking his interest in American pioneer history a step further, Walter Knott purchased and restored the real silver mining ghost town of Calico, California.

1960s: It wasn't until the late '60s that the Knotts fenced their farm, began charging admission, and officially became an amusement park.

1970s: The family business had its ups and downs. Within the decade, Cordelia Knott passed away and the park's first two roller coasters were built.

1980s: The family said goodbye to its 92-year-old patriarch, Walter Knott. Six acres of the park were set aside as Camp Snoopy, the first area of any amusement park designed solely for kids under the age of 12.

1990s: When Cedar Fair Entertainment Company acquired Knott's Berry Farm, the park made its New York Stock Exchange debut.

2000s: Mrs. Knott's Chicken Dinner Restaurant turned 75.

2010s: Introduced in 2018, HangTime remains the first dive coaster in California. Its brave riders experience gravity-defying inversions, midair suspensions, and the steepest drop statewide at a beyond-vertical 96 degrees.
