Venue Overview

The covered flex facility at EverBank Stadium is a unique 94,000-square-foot indoor practice area, originally for the Jacksonville Jaguars. It includes a regulation-size football field and a climate-controlled enclosure.

Surrounded by auxiliary space and massive hangar doors, it can be used independently or opened up to the amphitheater. The space is versatile for various events like athletic competitions, festivals, recitals, graduations, and more.

The flex field can be expanded with hangar-style doors for additional amphitheater seating. Daily's Place, sharing the roof with the amphitheater, stands out with its first-use laminated PTFE fiberglass panels for more daylight.
