Boulder is known for its eco ethic, so there was no better place for the state’s first all-organic brewery, Asher Brewing Company. The brewery also runs on 100-percent wind power. Cheers to that!

Boulder is home to the Brewers Association, which represents the nation’s small and independent craft brewers, and the American Homebrewers Association. This is a town full of beer geeks!

One cannot subsist on beer alone. Luckily, Boulder has a wealth of incredible cuisine—there’s Food Network’s “Food Year” by Alton Brown, the “Best of Boulder” by Bon Appétit, and more. With a constant stream of talented, local chefs, who creatively use Boulder County’s fresh bounty to craft sumptuous dishes. You’ll also find some of the largest craft brew houses in the country, well over 100 beers to taste. And nervous flyers can rejoice: there’s also a Boulder airport, 21 miles from downtown Boulder.

Boulder is known for its eco-ethic, so there was no better location to launch our state-of-the-art brewing facility and pub than here. The soon-to-open Boulder Beer Company is still going strong today. Their first beer, Boulder Red Lager, is a classic, but the world-class pilsner, hoppy pale ales and robust stouts offer a wealth of incredible cuisine — it was named “America’s Best Brew Town” for 2014 by Bon Appétit magazine.
