THIS WAY to Sip-able Boulder Trivia

Colorado's first microbrewery was founded in 1979 in Boulder. Started by two University of Colorado professors, Boulder Beer Company* is still going strong today. Their first brew house was actually a goat shed! But don't worry — today's state-of-the-art brewing facility and pub is livestock-free. And nervous flyers can rejoice: there's also a Boulder Beer Tap House at Denver International Airport.

*Boulder Beer Company recently closed.

Boulder has one of the highest concentrations of breweries per capita in the country. In fact, much of Colorado is teeming with breweries, and the area between Boulder, Loveland, Fort Collins and Denver is considered the "Napa Valley of Beer."

© Alex Witkowitz

One cannot subsist on beer alone. Luckily, Boulder has a wealth of incredible cuisine — it was named "America's Foodiest Town" by Bon Appétit. Nosh on delights from dozens of talented, local chefs, who creatively use Boulder County farms' fresh bounty to craft sumptuous dishes. You'll also find gourmet food trucks parked outside many a brewery.

Boulder is known for its eco ethic, so there was no better spot for the state's first all-organic brewery, Asher Brewing Company. But owner Chris Asher didn't stop there; the brewery also runs on 100-percent wind power. Cheers to that!

Big Red F Restaurant Group

BookCliff Vineyards

The Great American Beer Fest represents the largest collection of U.S. beer served each year, with more than 4,000 beers from over 800 breweries. Today, it takes place in Denver, but GABF was started in Boulder in 1982 by a nuclear engineer. Boulder has kept a number of outstanding beer festivals local, too. These crazy-popular events happen throughout the year and can be found in this brochure under "Beer, Wine and Spirits Festivals" or at BoulderColoradoUSA.com/Events.

North Boulder's boozy block on Lee Hill Drive lets you spend an afternoon sipping wine at BookCliff Vineyards or Settembre Cellars, tasting cider at BOCO Cider and sampling beer at Upslope Brewing Company. They are all next door to one another. How convveeeeeenient.

Boulder is home to the Brewers Association (which represents the nation's small and independent craft brewers) and the American Homebrewers Association. This is a town full of beer geeks!

BRU Handbuilt Ales & Eats

Get your medieval on at Redstone Meadery. Mead, or honey wine, is history's oldest fermented beverage. Raise a goblet in Redstone's Mead Hall, or grab some cans and enjoy it at home or on a picnic.

Stretch your muscles on the mat, then work your biceps sipping a beer at Sanitas Brewing's Brewhouse Yoga class every Tuesday evening. In warmer months, keep the post-yoga zen vibe going on the patio, which has a truly refreshing view to complement your brew.

Colorado's vineyards are earning major cred. BookCliff Vineyards produces award-winning wines using grapes sourced 100 percent from Colorado's Western Slope, where the state's two officially recognized American Viticultural Areas (AVAs) are located. Settembre Cellars also uses exclusively Colorado grapes.
