Wind Up the New Year by Winding Down on North Carolina's Brunswick Islands

Spend a relaxing holiday by the beach

BOLIVIA, N.C. (Dec. 5, 2012) – When the clock strikes 12 on December 31, where will the party be? Amidst noisy revelers in a high-rise above the frigid city below? In a hotel ballroom full of couples dancing to the latest rock band? Or how about by the shore, surrounded by friends and loved ones? If the last option sounds best, then head for North Carolina's Brunswick Islands.

The holidays are a favorite time of year for many beach visitors. Bright sunny days are followed by cool evenings under a sky blanketed with winter stars. There's no place more calm, hopeful or inspiring to welcome in the new year.

About North Carolina's Brunswick Islands

In the southernmost corner of North Carolina, stretching from the Cape Fear River to the South Carolina border, lie North Carolina's Brunswick Islands. Five barrier islands provide secluded spots on six pristine beaches for families and nature-lovers, while quaint island and mainland towns beckon with family-owned B&Bs, restaurants and shops. Forts, lighthouses, historic architecture, boating, fishing and 34 golf courses offer plenty to do and see on a trip that harkens back to a simpler time.
