SPECIAL EXHIBITS - ARTIST DEMOS - GALLERY RECEPTIONS

MAY 2 - 4, 2025 • CANNON BEACH

House of Orange celebrates Spring Unveiling

House of Orange, the dynamic midtown Cannon Beach gallery will be alive with activity and new art for May's Spring Unveiling Festival. Home gallery for Cannon Beach artist of the year, Greg Scott, House of Orange has become known for its colorful collection of art from across the region and the country.

This year, Scott will debut new works from his Kindred collection as well as his original painting for the 2025 Sandcastle poster. Gallery artist Dianne Aoki will unveil a new series of oil paintings, "Birds, Sing of Spring." Carol Ross will unveil new impressionist paintings from her Coastal Collection. Sculptor Phil Seder will introduce the newest member of his sculpted creatures family.

Activities will kick off with a Friday 3:30 – 6:00 pm artists' wine and dessert reception featuring wine from award-winning Saffron Fields Vineyard. During the reception, new work will be unveiled by Greg Scott, Dianne Aoki, and Carol Ross. The fun will continue on Saturday with artists' demonstrations from 10:00 am to 1:00 and complimentary coffee and scones from Elk Creek Coffee. Demonstrating artists include Carol Ross, Susan Walker, Susan Curington, Dianne Aoki, and Greg Scott.

Chava Wolin takes the stage Saturday from 1:00 – 2:00 pm when this nationally known ukulele master will play a mix of original songs and classic mashups paired with her phenomenal vocals. From 3:00 – 6:00 pm, artists including Beth Andersen, Kerstin McKee, Phil Seder, and Christina Soderquist will mingle with visitors, answering questions and custom signing purchased work.

Sunday's highlight is Dianne Aoki's 10:00 am to 1:00 pm bird painting workshop.

Featured New Work
• Greg Scott will unveil a new animal-themed painting from his Kindred Collection on Friday, May 3rd, and will reveal his annual Star Wars-themed work of art on Saturday, May 4th.

• Dianne Aoki will Unveil

new work from her collection "Birds, Sing of Spring" on Friday, May 3rd. She will be demonstrating her painting process live in the studio from 10:00 am to 1:00 pm on Saturday, May 4th, and teaching a bird painting workshop from 10:00 am to 1:00 pm on Sunday, May 5th.

• Susan Walker will introduce a new collection of Oregon coastal landscapes and will demonstrate her oil painting process on Saturday, May 4th from 10:00 am to 1:00 pm.

• Carol Ross will unveil a new painting from her Coastal Collection on Friday, May 3rd, and be demonstrating the process she uses for ink on clay board paintings on Saturday, May 4th.

• Internationally collected Swedish artist Kerstin McKee will be bringing new happiness-inducing ceramics.

Kirsten handbuilds ceramics with a modern Swedish illustrative style that includes colorful folk art florals, positive affirmations, and contrasts of glossy and mate glaze adorned with real gold touches.

• Oregon artist Susan Curington will bring her latest collection of soft palate tidepools and will be demonstrating her painting process on Saturday, May 4th. Susan is known for her large-scale paintings of the natural world from florals to uplifting seascapes.

• Oregon sculptor Phil Seder will be introducing 'Norville, Son of Lucy, Brother of Jason.' Frequent gallery visitors may recall Jason as a delightful guest last year before his adoption by a Portland collector. Norville adds to a whimsical creature lineage spanning back to the 2023 Frogwood Collaborative.

Cannon Beach's Spring Unveiling Arts Festival 2025

Each spring, Cannon Beach Gallery Group collects the latest works from their featured artists to showcase at the Spring Unveiling Arts Festival. That tradition continues this spring over the weekend of May 2-4. The galleries will welcome some of their most popular artists as guests in the galleries during the weekend or will curate special exhibitions of their latest works.

At this year's event, attendees can stamp a "passport" at each gallery they visit to be eligible for prize drawings. Passports are available at each participating gallery.

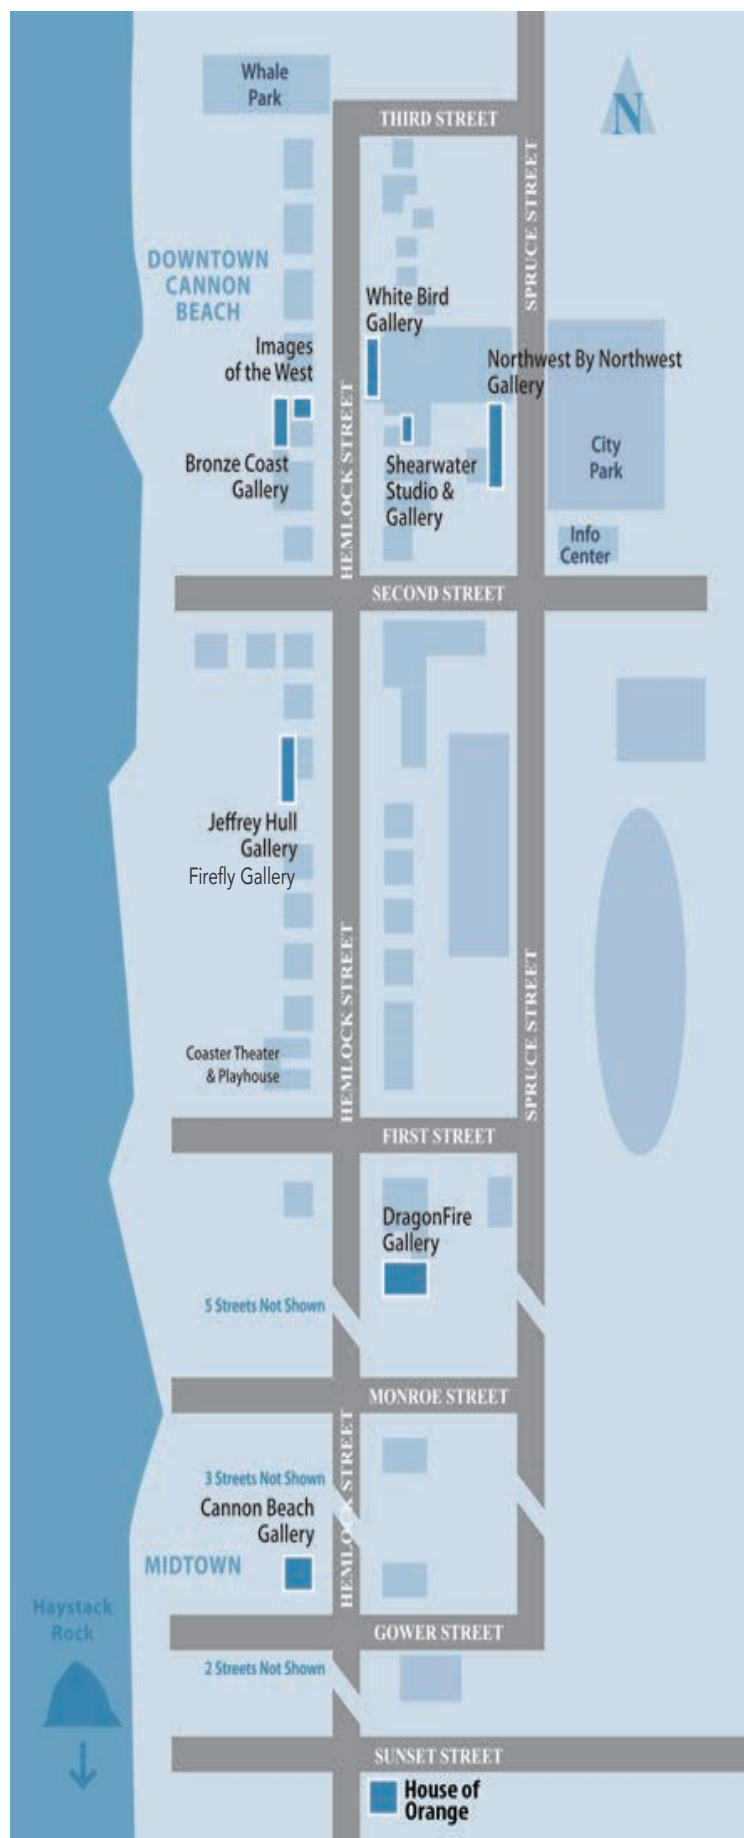

See the schedule of Spring Unveiling 2025 Gallery Events on pages 8-9.

Spring Unveiling Art Festival Weekend

Alexandra Boyden

New pastels based on a road trip across country seeking beautiful barns, which the artist sees as symbols of home. Alex continually experiments with color, form, gesture and an intuitive approach to creating imagery. A love of travel and hiking inspire her imaginative style. Alex uses landscapes, both real and imagined, as frameworks for an ongoing exploration toward abstraction.

Christopher Mathie

Mathie's new collection of expressive seascape paintings focuses on immediacy and intentional mark making. As he states, "There's an idea of transformation happening, the paint hits the canvas and the mark left implies splashing water. It happens quickly and with little thought. It's like the rushing water is pounding the rocks, the sea spray is hitting your face, the sea sounds fill your ears."

New Artist Thomas Haddy

Introducing a new medium to our gallery offerings, stone turned vessels by Tom Haddy. Based in Northern California, in the foothills of the Sierras, he works in a variety of stones, including alabaster, talc, soapstone, and brucite to create unique turnings. Inspired by ancient Egyptian, Greek and Chinese vessels, Tom's pieces are made of both a single stone and of multiple stones fused and then turned. His experience in sculpture and murals led him to turning stone vessels in 2013.

Joshua Rodine

Presenting a new collection of glass vessels and sculptures by long-time gallery artist, Josh Rodine. Inspired by the natural processes of growth and decay prevalent in the Pacific Northwest, he uses molten color glass rods to spin glass threads around his blown forms. Josh enjoys finishing his pieces with cold-working techniques like sandblasting and battuto, giving his artworks a smooth surface and elegant carved textures.

Jeffrey Hull Introduces New Work

The Jeffrey Hull Gallery will highlight Jeff’s new work and host receptions during the Spring Unveiling Arts Festival, May 2-4. Jeff started painting in his teens but focused on watercolors over 50 years ago. His command of painting and love for the Pacific Northwest Coast invite the viewer into scenes of frothy waves, sandy beaches, wind-sculpted trees and dramatic cliffs draped in coastal mist.

For 38 years, Jeff and his wife Carol have been offering his paintings to collectors in their spacious second-floor gallery at Sandpiper Square in the heart of downtown Cannon Beach. Looking back fondly, he remembers ‘we were just kids’, when he speaks of opening the tiny 350-square foot space back in 1987. Over time, both the gallery and Jeff’s works have grown in size; he’s added oils into his repertoire; and he also now proudly produces his own high-quality reproductions. If you haven’t been to the gallery (or haven’t been lately), stop by over the festival weekend to enjoy the Hulls’ warm hospitality and see new originals and prints by this wonderful artist.

Leon Lowman's abstract acrylics are influenced by the bold natural environment of the Pacific Northwest and the Caribbean. His vibrant compositions reference the experience of strong sunlight, open spaces and the joyous freedom of ocean breezes.

Spring Unveiling 2025 Gallery Events

Seth Vandable
Bronze Coast Gallery

Bronze Coast Gallery

Featured Artists: The gallery will host and feature the works of artists Cary Weigand, Margret Short and Seth Vandable. Cary Weigand is a sculptor working in clay whose work captures the engagement between human and animal characters with a muted color palette of glazes. During Spring Unveiling, she will unveil new work and introduce the publication of her first book. Margret Short specializes in still life and floral subjects in oils using an old-masters style and is known for her use of pure pigments, many of them historical and hand ground in resin and oil mediums which allow the paint to take on a certain glowing quality. Seth Vandable is a sculptor who captures the human form with elegant detail. His knowledge of human anatomy allows him to work without the need for models. His sculptures can be found in private and corporate collections worldwide.

Schedule of Events: FRIDAY, MAY 2: 4pm - Cary Weigand Unveiling and Book Launch; SATURDAY, MAY 3: 1pm - Margret Short Unveiling; 4pm - Seth Vandable Unveiling; 5-7pm - Artists' Reception
