Hamlet by William Shakespeare, Directed by Vivienne Benesch; Madness in great ones must not unwatched go. Something is rotten in the state of Denmark. A vivid reimagining of one of the world's best psychological thrillers tells the tale of a courtly world turned upside down. The king is mysteriously killed. A brother has stolen his crown and bride. Young Hamlet, usurped heir, is thrust into a morass of intrigue, treachery, madness and revenge. Performed by PlayMakers Repertory Company Jan 25-Feb 11, Tue-Sat at 7:30pm and Jan 29-Feb 12 Sun at 2pm. <https://playmakersrep.org/show/hamlet/>

Hybrid LUNCHBOX Talk at the NC Botanical Garden Jan 26, Noon-1pm A Gardener's Guide to Botany, It's a jungle out there! Your beautiful, tranquil garden is a battlefield in which plants wage war against predators and struggle to outcompete one another for light, water, and nutrients. In this seminar (and in his new book by the same name), Dr. Scott Zona looks at how plants fulfill the five functions necessary for life: growth, nutrient acquisition, defense, reproduction, and dispersal. This is a fascinating look at how plants grow—not how to grow plants. <https://ncbg.unc.edu/>
