

STARTING Tail GATE

MASTERING THE MODERN MIX THAT IS THE CHESTER COUNTY HORSE RACE

A happy medium of style and celebration.

At steeplechase and point-to-point events, racing fans show up by the droves for a full-day tailgate. They may be wearing a hat, but it's totally fine if it's of the baseball variety. And while there is beer (but no kegs allowed), there's also champagne and perhaps a killer cheese plate. It's a mix of class and casual that families of all ages and sizes are drawn to and make annual traditions and rites of spring.

RESERVED PARKING: (PRICED PER CAR)

For the full experience, go tailgate. This will allow you to pull your vehicle onto the grass adjacent to the race course for the best view. Tailgaters usually come prepped with folding chairs and tables, tablecloths, and a full spread.

GENERAL ADMISSION:

General admission tickets require you to park in a lot and then walk to the course, where you can take in the racing from spectator areas. Bring picnic or purchase food and drink onsite.

*Note: Event offers food and drink for purchase onsite.

THINGS TO KNOW

Yes, you can leave your car. Even if you spring for the tailgate parking, take sometime to stroll the grounds. There are often tents through out for shopping, snacks, and kids activities.

Bring the dogs! While horses are the stars of the day, you'll often see dogs relaxing in the sun and enjoying the festivities. Some events even have dog-specific activities!
