OFFICIAL CHAMPIONSHIP PROGRAM

NJCAA Division I Women's Volleyball Championship Attendees,

As Mayor of Montgomery County, it is my distinct honor to welcome all of you to our community! As someone who was born and raised here and attended Austin Peay State University, I can confidently say you're visiting one of the best places in the nation.

Montgomery County is a community defined by its people—diverse, hardworking, and welcoming. With Fort Campbell, Kentucky, in our backyard—home to the 101st Airborne Division, we are fortunate to share our hometown with military families and individuals from around the world. Our community continues to grow, and Montgomery County remains one of the fastest-growing areas in Tennessee, proud home to the City of Clarksville.

Located just 40 minutes north of Nashville, Montgomery County offers a unique mix of opportunity, education, leisure, and entertainment. During your time here for the tournament, we hope you get to explore the area and experience the warmth and energy that make this community so special.

From live music to community programs to family fun and local dining, there's always something happening in Clarksville. During your stay, be sure to make a stop to visit Christmas on the Cumberland at McGregor Park and check out the Awakening Tour at the F&M Bank Arena.

We're thrilled to have you in town and wish you an enjoyable and memorable stay. Thank you to Visit Clarksville and Austin Peay State University for their continued partnership and dedication to showcasing our community.

Welcome to Montgomery County—and best of luck to all the athletes competing!

NJCAA
OPPORTUNITIES START HERE

“Winning is not everything, but making the effort to win is.”

- Vince Lombardi

On behalf of the NJCAA, congratulations on earning your place in the NJCAA National Championship. Reaching this stage is a remarkable achievement — one that reflects your hard work, perseverance, and unwavering commitment to excellence both on and off the field of play.

The National Championship is more than just a competition; it is a celebration of your journey, your dedication, and the countless hours you've invested to represent your college and community with pride. Your presence here means you have risen to the challenge — overcoming adversity, pushing your limits, and setting a powerful example of what it means to be a student-athlete.

As you compete at the highest level of NJCAA athletics, I encourage you to embrace the moment. Trust your preparation, support your teammates, and perform with integrity and heart. Regardless of the outcome, know that your efforts have already made an impact — on your team, your college, and yourself.

The NJCAA is incredibly proud of you. You are part of a legacy of student-athletes who define what it means to lead, to compete, and to achieve. We look forward to seeing all that you will accomplish — not only in this championship but in the future ahead.

Best of luck, and thank you for representing the very best of two-year college athletics.

Welcome to Clarksville, Tennessee!

Our beautiful city, now with more than 185,000 residents, warmly welcomes the National Junior College Athletic Association's Division I National Women's Volleyball Championship!

We take great pride in being the host city for this major sporting event, on the Austin Peay State University campus which is one of the crown jewels of Clarksville, and centrally located to all of our rich history and culture.

We know you are coming to our area from many different states, and for some of you, this might be your first time to visit and experience Clarksville. To everyone representing all 16 volleyball teams visiting our city from all across the nation, as well as your families and supporters, we hope that you find your stay here to be one that you will fondly remember – so much, that you'll come back often, and think of Clarksville as your second home.

Our population growth rate is on a soaring trajectory that the nation is noticing. Many people are drawn to our expanding range of urban conveniences, surrounded by outdoor recreational opportunities in a scenic environment.

They are attracted to our award-winning schools, our competitive economy and cost of living, our central location in the U.S. mainland, and our overall quality of life.

But we are mostly recognized as a welcoming city because we encourage wide-ranging, multi-faceted diversity within our population. We are home to a mix of many races, ethnicities, and nationalities. We are uniquely youthful, and we combine a mix of military and civilian lifestyles and perspectives as the home of Fort Campbell, a major U.S. Army installation.

Ask folks what makes Clarksville great, and the responses will vary. But these general attributes should give you a strong sense of the foundation of who we are.

I hope you thoroughly enjoy your time with us, and will never hesitate to let us know how we can make your Clarksville experience the very best it can be.

Sincerely,

Joe Pitts
Mayor
Clarksville, Tennessee
