

DESTINATION OF INNOVATION

Welcome

Between the extraordinary landscape and outdoor adventures, small towns that have been called the “Coolest” and the “Most Fun” in America, world-class museums, award-winning wineries, an exceptional brew scene and fabulous food, unique shops, exciting hands-on fun, and the unpretentious vibe that distinguishes the region’s personality, it’s difficult to find anywhere quite like Corning and the Southern Finger Lakes.

Why You'll Love Us

Here is what people who visited have to say about why you'll love us.

A LAND OF LAKES, GORGES, AND WATERFALLS

"The natural beauty will blow you away. This amazing slice of America . . . is located in the midst of stunning natural beauty. It's obvious that you'll see some really pretty lakes, but did you know that the area is also renowned for it's waterfalls?"

—Karissa Klee, Flirting With The Globe

KEEPING THE DREAM ALIVE

"Just a short jump from the Pleasant Valley exit of the Finger Lakes Trail is the charming Brewery of Broken Dreams. Based in an historic stone farmhouse, this craft brewery has a broad range of styles, all of which are high quality. The brewery is strongly committed to the local community, producing all of their beers with 100% New York State hops and base malts. So you can rest assured that not only will you be served a world class brew, but it will have a low carbon footprint and a positive impact on the Finger Lakes region." —Arlo Hemphill, The Green Gatsby

“Yes, paradise has been found again!”

—Heidi Siefkas

DISCOVER PARADISE

"There is not much I enjoy more than a good walk in the woods . . .

That's why I chose to spend a bit of time on the region's longest hiking trail, the Finger Lakes Trail . . ."

—Heidi Siefkas, HeidiSiefkas.com

DEFYING GRAVITY

"He gave the first public demonstration of the airplane, invented the seaplane and was the first to prove the commercial potential of a lighter than air machine. Basically, if you've been in a plane, then you have Curtiss to thank and he grew up and did much of his work in the beautiful Finger Lakes region of New York."

PRESERVING THE PAST

"Those interested in living history (and live blacksmith demos) should beeline for the Heritage Village of the Southern Finger Lakes, with nearly a dozen buildings including an 1850s log cabin and the historic 1796 Benjamin Patterson Inn that capture what area life was like during the 19th century."

—Laura Kiniry, Smithsonian.com

MORE THAN WINE

"If wine isn't your thing or you're just craving a scenic drive, head out to Cider Creek for a hard cider tasting. Enjoy live music on Saturday nights, a cool vibe inside their tasting room and bar, or hang out around the fire ring outside. They've got plenty of their own ciders on tap, craft beers and wines from New York State, and a small food menu."

—Naomi Figueroa, Roaming the Americas

NEW YORK'S WINE COUNTY

"Located five hours outside New York City... sits the most exciting wine region on the East Coast, the Finger Lakes."

—Adam Teeter, Vine Pair

THE GREAT ESCAPE

"If you've been to New York City, but have never been to upstate then you are missing out! It's a totally different experience and something I would recommend to everyone.

It's so beautiful and such a vast difference when compared to the hustle and bustle of New York City."

—Kami Nelson, Wander With Kami

WE'VE GOT YOU COVERED

"In addition to an abundance of boating, fishing and water sports, the Finger Lakes offer challenging hikes through stunning state parks that boast dramatic rocky gorges and cascading waterfalls. But the region also provides plenty of opportunities for relaxation, with scenic drives through wine and farm country. If it's culture you're after, the area has you covered there, too . . ."

A Mecca for GLASS

There is nowhere else quite like
The Corning Museum of Glass.
Anywhere!

When you create the world's largest museum devoted to glass, a museum that sees nearly a half-million visitors each year, in a small town with less than 11,000 residents, you get an experience unlike any other.

With an expansive collection of glass art and artifacts dating back 35 centuries, remarkable contemporary exhibits, live glassblowing demonstrations by master artists, an innovation center that sheds light on just how much of our daily lives are influenced by glass, and special Make Your Own Glass opportunities, it's no wonder so many people are blown away every day by The Corning Museum of Glass.

The Roots of Wine Country

First bonded winery in the country? You'll find it in the small town of Hammondsport.

Plucky scientist, farmer, visionary behind the Vinifera Revolution which forever changed winemaking in the Eastern United States? Yep! Four generations later, his legacy continues to grow.

Small town winemaker who stood up to a beverage giant and turned a seemingly insurmountable challenge into marketing brilliance and a philosophy of wine with laughter? Indeed!

The genesis of "America's Best Wine Region" (USA Today)? That's right. It all started here!

To learn more, visit
 "The Best Wine Destinations Are Grown Over Time"
 at CorningFingerLakes.com

What you won't find here, however, is pretension. When you've had to claw your way back from near extinction and convince the world it can be done, you don't have time to be full of yourself. You work hard and chase your dream with an unyielding determination to do what you love regardless of who or what gets in the way. Not by resting on past laurels. Not by being satisfied with excellence. But by always striving to make something better and by unlocking the possibilities of the grapes and the unique Finger Lakes soil (or terroir) in such a way that you turn a sprawling rural area into one of the premier wine destinations in the world.

“Morten Hallgren was trained at France's prestigious wine school at Montpellier; his wife Lisa is a chef. Together they offer one of the Finger Lakes' premier stops for wine and food lovers.”

“You wouldn't expect the genesis of European wine production in the Eastern United States to be so off-the-beaten-path.”

“A pilgrimage spot for northeastern wine buffs, this was the winery that helped pioneer the planting of European vinifera grapes in the region back in the 1960s. The winery’s famous Rieslings, along with traditionally made sparkling wines and some worthy curiosities like Rkatsiteli can be enjoyed at the cozy Keuka Lake tasting room.” —Food & Wine

Step into History

When small-town folks like Glenn Curtiss use their ingenuity to become the fastest man on earth and, later, Father of Naval Aviation; when visionaries like Dr. Konstantin Frank won't take no as an option and revolutionize the wine industry as a result; when scientists in Corning pave the way for the Information Age by inventing fiber optics, Gorilla® Glass and other glass wonders that are now part of our everyday lives . . .

Some of the biggest innovations take place in the smallest, most out of the way locations.

You may have heard how one night in 1879, inventor Thomas Edison transformed an entire street into a spectacle of light. You may have even heard that Edison received a second patent for his incandescent lamps in 1880 after he changed the filament, allowing his lamps to burn much, much longer.

But have you heard the story of what happened next? How Edison sent someone to a small town in upstate New York for help making his vision of spreading light into every home a reality? How it was a mysterious young boy and not a master glassblower who created the glass bubble that would change the course of history for the town of Corning and for the world?

The Legend of the Gathers: Protectors of the Light is a fictional story inspired by real events, specifically the role Corning Flint Glass Works played in creating the special glass envelopes for Thomas Edison's incandescent lamps. It's also a supernatural tale about The Gathers, phantom folk who, according to legend, return each October in search of something. Or perhaps simply to make sure the light has found its way into the world.

“... an Edison assistant, visited Corning in 1879 or 1880 with a sketch of the bulb he wanted. ... Edison's representative watched a boy blowing a glass bubble.”

FINGER LAKES UNIQUE

America's Crystal City

When a small glass company from Brooklyn moved to Corning in 1868, the original plan to get glass into every household was to make special colored glass blinds.

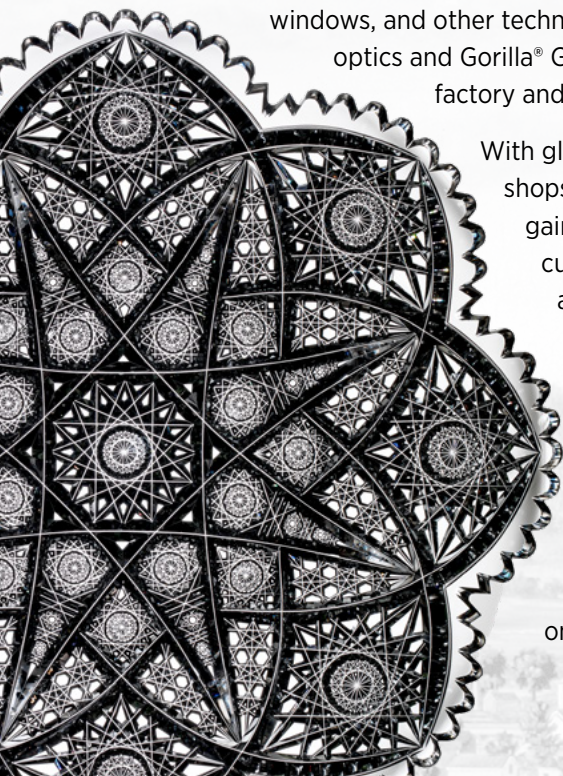

You've probably never heard of them. That's because they never really caught on.

Fortunately, that company has long had the ability to create spectacular glass which is why, at one time, there were as many as 20 glass cutting shops transforming this former lumber town into "America's Crystal City."

While stunning cut glass by John Hoare and T.G. Hawkes gained worldwide renown, it was Corning Flint Glass Works' role in making the special heat-resistant glass containers for Thomas Edison's incandescent lamps—and later innovations including Pyrex® and CorningWare®, space shuttle windows, and other technological breakthroughs like fiber optics and Gorilla® Glass—that have allowed the factory and the town to thrive.

With glass studios, art galleries, antique shops, unique boutiques, restaurants gaining a reputation for their culinary offerings, and exciting annual events, the Crystal City's charm resonates with visitors from around the world.

To learn more about America's Crystal City and the culture of glass found here, visit "Goodbye Brooklyn" and "America's Mecca for Glass" on CorningFingerLakes.com

“Corning’s early efforts to produce bulbs for Edison represented a crucial breakthrough, something it would achieve time and again throughout the next century. The works had come up with a new application for glass as an indispensable, though frequently overlooked, industrial material.”

“While glassworking is a mainstay of the city’s tourism, its restaurants, museums, wine and spirits scene—and incredible residents doing incredible things—are the real draw.”

Cradle of Aviation

This might come as a surprise, but in tiny, unassuming Hammondsport—which feels almost tucked out of the way at the southern tip of Keuka Lake—you'll find a marker declaring Pleasant Valley the “Cradle of Aviation.”

When Glenn Curtiss set the land-speed record on a motorcycle in 1907 becoming the “Fastest Man on Earth,” he had no intention of taking his love for speed to the skies. But Curtiss had the power aeronautical pioneers needed—his engines—which is why several airplane and balloon companies set up shop in Hammondsport. At the time, it seemed as if everyone was seeking out Curtiss, including Alexander Graham Bell who, along with the small-town hero who never even made it past the eighth grade, started the Aerial Experiment Association, a group of scientists, tinkerers, and innovators focused on getting man into the air. The rest, as they say, is history!

Craft Your Adventure Beverage Trail

There is something special brewing in upstate New York! Boasting over 30 craft beverage producers—including breweries named “Best in New York State,” the most awarded farm cidery in the United States in 2017, a small-batch distiller that won double-gold at the 50 Best World Gin Competition, and others—the Craft Your Adventure Trail isn’t just bursting. It’s also steadily establishing New York’s Wine Region as a craft beverage destination.

While paying homage to tradition, the tastemakers on the Craft Your Adventure Trail are constantly finding new twists on classic styles. For them, “small” means a focus on craft, on producing small batches of exceptional quality, and “independent” means self-sufficient, but with a passion for innovation and collaboration.

An Unexpected Gift

Serenity. Tranquility. Equanimity. Those terms don't quite capture the essence of what makes Corning and the Southern Finger Lakes so special.

It's almost indescribable: the sudden and often unexpected relief you feel when you arrive. The sense of calm that slowly settles into your bones. The release of all that stress you hold inside day-in, day-out.

We hear it time and time again. The utter astonishment. The sense of wonder. Not just in awe of the incomparable landscape, but over the unexpected perks of spending time in a place dotted with small towns, in an environment where there's no hurry, where you can finally just slow down and catch your breath and reconnect with the world around you, with the people who matter most, with yourself.

“It begins with the natural beauty of the Finger Lakes, a series of deep, slender bodies of water formed by glaciers many thousands of years ago at the end of the ice age.”

—Frommer's

“Although you aren't aware of it, you stockpile these experiences. . . . they fill you with a quiet contentment and deep down happy that although it may not always be at your surface, you may always draw upon it.”

THE REST OF THE STORY

Fabulous FLX Food

Our chefs get it! Food is no longer taking a back seat to other travel experiences. Enhance your getaway or build your own exceptional culinary excursion. One thing's for sure, you're going to want a bigger belly.

Arts and Culture

A woman is performing on a stage, wearing a large, voluminous white dress made of many small, folded paper flowers. She has a matching headpiece with white flowers and is holding a long, thin stick with a small object at the end. She is also holding a large, colorful, and textured object that looks like a piece of art or a prop. The background is dark with blue stage lighting. In the foreground, a woman is sitting and watching the performance, holding a smartphone.

Whether it's our world-class museums, intimate studios and galleries, unique art-centered events, or fun opportunities to create a masterpiece with your own hands, Corning and the Southern Finger Lakes is an art-lovers dream.

Small-Town Charm

Small towns, like those found in the Southern Finger Lakes, are much more than a testament to the past and a way to connect to another time. They also help us connect to a way of life that is built around community and fellowship, where neighbors support each other and celebrate together, and where strangers are treated as friends.

In this hurry-up, hectic world that often feels a bit upside down, a little time spent in a small town can help you feel right-side up again.

Enjoy the best of small-town life without having to give up on world-class experiences.

Solo Travel

For all the wonder that comes from going somewhere with family or friends—with the ones you love—traveling on your own can often be a transformative experience.

For some, solo travel pushes them out of their comfort zone just enough to inspire them to grow. For others, it's the perfect opportunity for self indulgence. Go at your own pace, see exactly what you want to see, skip sights that don't appeal to you, savor your favorite foods and drinks.

The small towns that make up the Southern Finger Lakes offer more than charm and a slower pace. They also provide a safe setting without holding back on the exceptional experiences you're looking to enjoy.

In 2017, Glamour Magazine identified the Finger Lakes as one of “8 U.S. Solo Travel Destinations You Probably Haven't Thought Of.” Eight “cool, unexpected American destinations to consider this year.”

Multigenerational Adventures

Travel can rekindle the spark of adventure in weary bones and inspire youth to make new discoveries.

Explore museums or the great outdoors. Learn new skills or make your own keepsakes to take home. Strike up a little friendly competition or enjoy some downtime in nature.

The Southern Finger Lakes has an assortment of kid-tested, family-approved experiences sure to bring you together!

Hands-On Experiences

Imagine getting away for a few days to explore a new place and also having the chance to discover a whole new you.

There's something about learning a new skill or craft—about making something, shaping something with your own hands—that is exhilarating and empowering and that ends up shaping you in the end. Throw clay, blow glass, paint, cook, work an anvil, make teas and tinctures . . . there are so many ways to tap into your inner-artist and discover the magic of learning a new skill.

We've been offering unique hands-on activities for decades.

Finger Lakes Farm Country

With dozens upon dozens of small farms focused on everything from microgreens and wheatgrass to honey and maple products, from dairy farms and cheese producers to those specializing in meats, corn, grains, and hops, as well as grape growers and wineries, the Finger Lakes has long been an agricultural region.

In recognition of the strong and varied agritourism offerings, a special multi-county collaboration is underway called Finger Lakes Farm Country in an effort to explore more ways local agricultural producers might make their wonderful products and experiences available to the public, including special events like the annual Taste FLXpo which provides food lovers a chance to learn about, sample, and purchase delicious locally-grown food, wine, and craft beverages.

Get Lost In the Finger Lakes

One of the best ways to get an intimate look at the heart of a place is by getting off the interstate and exploring the country roads and byways that connect the small towns and the people who live there. Believe it or not, several local entrepreneurs are intentionally pursuing their dreams away from the fanfare of established wine trails and the lakes that give the region its name. No wonder the experiences they're creating feel so authentic, so much like going home.

Along Route 36 and on the many simple roads winding their way through and near the Canisteo Valley, you'll find a stunning landscape of deep gorges and breathtaking waterfalls (including Letchworth, New York's #1 state park), fun outdoor adventures, old school country stores, roadside farm stands offering a variety of locally-made products, as well as rustic wineries, breweries, and the most awarded farm cidery in the U.S. in 2017.

For a detailed look at what's happening in the western reaches of Corning and the Southern Finger Lakes, check out "Get Lost in the Finger Lakes" on CorningFingerLakes.com

Steuben Sportsman Hunting

With more deer per square mile than any other county in the state, Steuben County is the perennial chart-topper and New York State's #1 County for white-tailed deer, offering some of the best hunting for big and small game to be found in the Finger Lakes Region.

To learn more about the awesome hunting options in Steuben County, including hunting seasons, licenses, and places to hunt, visit **SteubenSportsman.com**

Steuben Sportsman Fishing

Love fly-fishing, using spinners, spoons, or other bait and tackle? The fish are waiting—smallmouth bass, largemouth bass, walleye, brown trout, rainbow trout, wild brook trout, landlocked salmon. Need we say more?

Whether you're looking to simply cast from a dock, get out on a kayak for some peaceful angling, or you're looking for a more full-fledged fishing excursion, Steuben County offers a number of wonderful, scenic locations for outdoor recreation, including some of the top places to fish in Region 8.

Women-Only Weekends

Told the guys before we left, every now and then it's Pamper Mama Time! Sorry! Not sorry! Had to give them something to talk about while we were away.

Made Hammondsport our home base. Started with a little lake time. Only not the way I expected. I'm not a fan of heights, but when a seaplane ride is on your bestie's bucket list, you go. Thanks, Finger Lakes Seaplanes. What an awesome adventure! And the views were amazing!

Gave the craft beverage scene a try. That's right, #womenlovebeertoo! Enjoyed the outdoor space at Keuka Brewing. And the beers. My fave was the Bluff Point Brown.

But Local Mocha Stout was a close second. Not that we tried them all. Okay, we did.

Explored the charming Village Square. Antique shops, collectibles, lake-life memorabilia, and some great food.

Day two, we decided to move a bit before hitting the shops in Corning's Gaffer District. Our guided river kayak excursion with STK Tours was serene. Burned so many calories, we had to make up for it with all that incredible food, wine, chocolate. Okay, maybe we did paddle with the current, but still.

Made our annual stop at The Corning Museum of Glass. Did flame-working this time. Made a pendant. Turned out beautiful. And every time I wear it, I'll think of the three of us. With all the food prep at home, a Mozzarella-pulling workshop at Cugini's might sound almost cruel, but it was so cool. And so delish!

Day three brought a morning walk beside breathtaking waterfalls before heading home. Now that's something to talk about. Don't tell the boys, but we're already planning our next girls' getaway.

For help crafting your own wonderful women only weekend experience, visit WomenOnlyWeekends.com

WOW!

Craft Beverage Lovers

The Craft Your Adventure App helped us pick the ultimate combination of tastemakers and fun outdoor adventures.

Day One included this hidden hilltop gem in Corning called Spencer Crest. With seven miles of trails, it was ideal for a casual hike through the woods. Even had a picnic by the pond with some serious southern BBQ from Slammin' Jammin'. Then it was time for an afternoon of smooth brews at Liquid Shoes. Clever names and top-notch beers like Big Abe's Brown, Mud Bean Stout, and the aptly named Liquid Gold. These guys are crushing it.

Dinner at Hand + Foot. Tostones and fried buttermilk chicken sandwich. Still salivating! And a ridiculous drink menu, including craft brews from around the world. Spent the night at Staybridge Suites. Lots of room, but the best part was being next door to Iron Flamingo. Did we plan it that way? What do you think?

Day two, we decided to make some waves on Keuka Lake. Rented Jet Skis and ripped across the calm, clear water. Then took a scenic drive along the west side of the lake for lunch at Waterfront Restaurant. Could have spent all afternoon on the huge deck. Monster portions and the food was awesome. Next stop, Krooked Tusker. Yeah, we're talking vodka, moonshine, and crazy good gin. Perfect blend of botanicals.

Steuben Brewing

Three minutes away, Steuben Brewing.

Gorgeous views, corn hole, outdoor patio, award-winning beers, and this great Local Liquids series made with all NYS ingredients.

So many great options, we added a day to our stay to fit in another hike, only this time on the Keuka Outlet Trail. The payoff are these breathtaking waterfalls. Okay, the real payoff were the libations afterwards.

Wine Connoisseurs

This trip was all about surprising our palates and exploring unusual wines found here. A few of them were tough to say even before we tasted. Like Dr. Frank's Rkatsetelli, a unique dry white that might just be my new go-to wine. Fun to say and sooo tasty. And the deep purple-red Saperavi. Yum!

Some of the young winemakers are nailing the region's flagship Rieslings, but they're also being bold. Making wines even more labor intensive. That means an even bigger payoff. Boy, do Weis Vineyards' port and ice wine pay off! And right next door is Domaine LeSeurre. Don't be misled by the sweetness of the owners. The wines here are dry and fabulous. It's not their vintages so much, but their techniques that are unusual, as they transform the complex characteristics of the Finger Lakes soil (terroir) into bottled gems.

Trés Bien
Indeed!

Château Renaissance

Tucked in the valley a few minutes from Keuka Lake, we discovered Château Renaissance. We may have stopped for the fruit wines, but how many places make a rose petal wine, lavender wine, or violet wine? They're not made each year, which makes them even more of a find. What a pleasant surprise!

Speaking of away from the lake, Wild Brute is half-an-hour from the wine trail, but don't let that fool you. Rustic? Totally! But the unfiltered, wild-fermented vintages are unlike most wines you'll find in the region. We sat outside and shared a bottle (or two).

Next year we're going to try the Experience! The Finger Lakes "Keuka Tour" for a VIP excursion.

Foodies

Wanna know a secret? The Finger Lakes has amazing food. Well, they did. Before we ate it all!

Sure, we visited the incredible Corning Museum of Glass. And glassblowing was so much fun. But we spent most of our time exploring the rest of Corning's historic district. You know, Market Street, where you'll find a chocolate trail (yep!) and some flat out fabulous food. We kept lunch simple. That's right, pizza. Only not just any pizza.

Atlas Brick Oven Pizza! That's what we're talking about!

Speaking of the chocolate trail, we may have had a chocolate martini at one end of Market Street and a chocolate and craft beer tasting at The Source, located near the other end. Talk about a balanced meal. Or something like that! ;-)

Yum!

For dinner, we chose Three Birds. You might wonder what happened to the rest of the flock. With Chicken Roulade and Maple Leaf Duck Breast on the menu, they ended up in our bellies, that's what.

Pleasant Valley Inn

Day two included some of that famous Finger Lakes wine, then a little Tuscan Style Calamari, Pan-Roasted Norwegian Salmon, and Cider Braised Pork Mac & Cheese for lunch at Timber Stone. Even got a little lake time in before dinner at Pleasant Valley Inn.

Quaint setting. And the food was divine! Forget sharing, we both went for the Tenderloin Chesapeake. The filet was melt-in-your-mouth tender. The crab cake light and flavorful. Perfect way to end the day.

"For the ultimate foodie weekend, stay in the adorable Pleasant Valley Inn in Hammondsport. Newly renovated, with just four small but charming rooms . . . it's got one of the top restaurants two steps from your bed."

Just the Two of Us!

Between work, taking care of the house, the endless to-do lists, we don't always get the chance to just focus on us. So, getting away for a few days was exactly what we needed. The suite at Corning's new Hilton was like having our own love nest for the weekend. Great location. Lots of space. And the mini-fridge came in handy for local wine, cheese, and chocolates.

Made a heart paperweight at Hands-on Glass Studio. You don't know what hot is until you're working with molten glass. But our instructor made it safe and fun. What a great memento of an unforgettable trip.

Dinner at The Cellar was amazing. Shared sweet potato gnocchi with maple bourbon butter and pecans, and two half portions of local pastured pork ramen, and chicken and waffles. Forgot how great food can put you in the mood for love. Oh, and the best part was dessert. S'mores right at our table.

Moments to Remember!

Day two included another hands-on experience. Texted my friends that we threw pottery. They thought we got in a fight. Just the opposite. Worked clay on a wheel at Betelgeuse (it's okay to say this Betelgeuse three times). Her bowl may have turned out less lopsided than mine, but that's not the point. Just making something beside her was special. Don't tell her I said that, though. Would totally blow my cover.

She called us Lady and the Tramp when we got to the Union Block for a romantic dinner. Caught some acoustic music in the wine grotto downstairs. And their pasta dishes were incredible. Okay, the whole trip was!

Art Aficionado

Sure, we had heard of The Corning

Museum of Glass,

but are you kidding?!

Never seen glass like this! The art actually changed while we were standing there,

thanks to the way

daylight plays with glass. And, the size of some of those pieces. The colors and textures and intricate details. Mind blown!

What we weren't expecting, though, was the other museum across the river.

The Rockwell. World-class

Western art in upstate

New York? Wow! Love how the museum tells the story of America through art.

Especially how it gives a voice to people who have often gone relatively unheard. Such a cool dynamic! And the art itself, amazing. The Buffalo Hunt.

The Buffalo Hunt

The tower of blankets, each with its own story. They even have art in the alleyways here.

You can tell art is part of the local culture with events like the Palettes of Keuka and GlassFest.

In nearby Hammondsport, murals depict local history on a grocery store (that's right) and on the Boating Museum. Last year, we discovered Arts in Bloom, a springtime county-wide arts event. Behind-the-scenes glimpses of artists at work at Pullman Paintings and Filomena Jack Studio.

This year, we explored the Tiffany & Treasures Trail.

The Bath Presbyterian Church and the Episcopal Church in Corning had beautiful Tiffany stained glass windows and mosaics. Took a pottery class at Rocky Hill Pottery. You can tell John was a teacher in a former life. So patient and encouraging. He had me believing I could do it.

And, I did!

Rocky Hill Pottery

Between the art galleries, glass studios like Vitrix, and the many antique shops throughout the county (one of them even has Tiffany windows), we sculpted a weekend full of art.

Family Fun

Nothing compares to the feeling you get when your child's face lights up. Travel allows us to be together, to learn about different parts of the world, and about ourselves. We're always discovering new things we love. Like glassblowing, kayaking, or going for a seaplane flight.

GlassFest

Usually, we avoid big events, but we gave GlassFest a shot.

Downtown is full of vendors, magicians, live glassblowing demonstrations. I mean, there's an entire museum of glass. The kids loved the music and the fireworks and the face painting and the food.

Found a whole new place designed especially for kids. The Kids Rockwell Art Lab.

Great space for hands-on projects and activities. Coolest part is how it's all inspired by the art and architecture of The Rockwell. So kids experience art and respond to it in their own creative ways.

We followed up the art with a laser tag adventure at Park Ave Sports. Couldn't get over the outdoor obstacle course. Like stepping into a live-action video game. Mini-golf was fun, too.

Day two included a little morning fishing from the dock at Depot Park. The water was so clear and warm for swimming. Talked the fam into renting a pontoon boat for the day from Keuka Watersports. We found a quiet spot out on the lake and had a blast. Wasn't just the young ones splashing up a storm! Every year, it's the kids who remind us to make a little time for play.

Surprise highlight? Alpacos at Heavenly Sunset Farms! Might just be the cutest ugliest animals ever. No one wanted to leave.

"... your kid's brains will get quite a workout because art, history, science and innovation are all rolled into this one impressive museum." —Angela Tiffin, Traveling Mom

History Buffs

Cannons! Musket fire! Stumbling across the Battle of Lain's Mill reenactment was a happy accident!

Afterwards, we swung by Christ Episcopal Church in nearby Hornell to view stunning Tiffany windows before heading to Hammondsport.

With all these lakes, no wonder boating was huge in the region. Still is. That's why they created the Finger Lakes Boating Museum. Learned about all the steamboats that used to transport locals (and grapes) from Hammondsport to Penn Yan, and travelers to lakeside resorts. Even coal and troops during the Civil War. The handcrafted wooden trout boats on display are works of art.

"The oldest canoe is an actual birch bark Indian craft."

—Don Knaus, Mountain Home

Finger Lakes Boating Museum

Ever hear of Glenn Curtiss? Fastest man on earth? Motorcycle pioneer? Aviation innovator? The guy who developed seaplanes and invented the flying boat on a lake in tiny Hammondsport? Now you see why we had to visit the Curtiss Museum. Vintage planes, motorcycles, cars. So much eye candy. And what a story!

Spent the night at the Park Inn, oldest building on the Village Square. Newly renovated rooms. Talk about charm. Turned out to be a great spot for dinner, too.

Next day started with a short drive to Corning. Heritage Village of the Southern Finger Lakes is this wonderful collection of historic buildings, like the Benjamin Patterson Inn, a one-room log cabin, and a one-room schoolhouse.

Still had plenty of time to explore The Rockwell Museum—housed in the old City Hall, this museum blends art and American history—and Corning's Gaffer District, which is full of wonderful historic buildings and varied architectural styles.

Outdoor Enthusiasts

Mother Nature worked her magic here (!)

Sometimes it's the unexpected discovery that stands out most. Like how we've travelled to the Finger Lakes for years exploring waterfalls yet only just found Stony Brook State Park. The three main falls were stunning. And what a refreshing dip in the stream-fed swimming hole. Not far away, we stopped for some fly fishing on the Cohocton River. Talk about relaxing.

Spent the night at Amber Waves Farm B&B. Gotta love wide open spaces. Sitting outside on the massive porch with a glass of FLX vino was the perfect end to the day.

Day two started with a morning hike through the forest. The Mitchellsville Gorge Trail ambles its way downhill (we had two vehicles and left one at the bottom) about two-and-a-half miles with a deep gorge to the left, and ends in a beautiful vineyard which seems only fitting. After the excursion, we were a little parched (excuse not needed) so we stopped by The Brewery of Broken Dreams, which is just a couple miles from the trailhead. Recon pays!

Brewery of Broken Dreams

That afternoon, we rented a pontoon boat and headed out on the open water. Almost felt like we had Keuka Lake to ourselves. Did a little swimming off the boat (which even had a slide for some slip-sliding fun). Docked at The Switzerland Inn for lunch. Yum!

After we dropped off the boat at Depot Park we visited Cider Creek's tasting bar on the Village Square.

We're so hooked on this place, we made sure to fit in a little paddleboard adventure the next morning before hitting the road. Scenic, accessible, and affordable. What's not to love?

Agritourism

Each year, we stay somewhere that offers an authentic taste of farm life. In the past it's been Button's Creekside and Amber Waves. This year, Taylor Farm Bed and Breakfast. A 300-acre farm. Talk about a great setting. Walking trails, wildlife, even a couple ponds for fishing. And that breakfast—eggs, bacon, sausage, blueberry pancakes, homemade grape juice—mmm! So good!

Took a short drive to Healing Spirits. They make and sell a variety of wellness products, like essential oils and tinctures. Even have workshops identifying edible and medicinal plants. Making teas. Just missed one called "Everything Mushrooms" where you learn how to make mushroom teas, soups, tinctures, and candies.

Down the road was Savor Vineyards. Big, beautiful barn-like tasting room and unexpected wine styles. Ever heard of a dry Catawba? It's not just different, but good! The Merechal Foch had delicious black cherry notes. Can you say, Pear Wine?! Right next door is Wild Brute. Won a NYS Agricultural "Next Generation Farmer Award" for its artisanal wines. Doesn't get much more country than this.

We discovered Stewart's Family Farm Creamery by accident. Delicious goat cheese. Sourdough bread. The creamy maple ice cream never had a chance. Gone before we got back to the car.

Of course, not all farm-friendly experiences are away from town. Take Four Fights for example. The measure of good moonshine and the name of a cool little farm distillery in Corning. Vodka put them on the map with good reason. But the Bowers

Bourbon is the real deal. A flavorful FLX take on a Kentucky classic.

Bison Ranch

A bison ranch, goat yoga, awesome farm breweries and wineries, and events like Taste FLXpo. Every year we find new ways to experience farm life.
