Take a “Walk To Remember” Along North Carolina’s Crystal Coast

The sweeping Lowcountry marshes of North Carolina have long served as the inspiration for authors from Nicolas Sparks’s tear-jerking romance A Walk To Remember to Elin Hilderbrand’s The Island to Delia Owen’s murder-mystery thriller Where The Crowds Sing. Pay a visit to the nearby Rachel Carson Reserve to see wild horses freely gallop and graze the marsh, book a room at the romantic Beaufort Hotel overlooking Taylor Creek, and indulge in some local cuisine like crabcakes with Lowcountry gumbo at 34° North Restaurant.
