ALLENTOWN

The Allentown of 2021 is much more than Billy Joel depicts in his famous tune. Today, the city sees a resurgence with massive development in the downtown area, bringing thousands of employees into new Class-A office space, welcoming residents to newly-constructed apartments, and ushering in new businesses to fill the needs of new clientele. But the city also stays true to its roots with classics like the Allentown Fair & Fairgrounds Farmers Market, the expansive grounds of Lehigh Parkway, impressive cultural collections at the Allentown Art Museum, and more. >>

Historic Bethlehem Guided Tours

THE LIVING HISTORY OF BETHLEHEM

A LOOK AT THE UNIQUE CULTURE GAINING NATIONAL RECOGNITION

Step back in time to explore Moravian culture in historic downtown Bethlehem. A community founded in the 1700s, the grounds of Historic Bethlehem Museums & Sites feature more original structures than Colonial Williamsburg. In fact, the 1741 Gemeinhaus is believed to be the largest 18th-century log structure in continuous use in the United States.

Historic Moravian Bethlehem's footprint is 14 acres of the original 18th-century Moravian settlement that served as the center of Moravian activities in America. The region is recognized as a National Historic Landmark District, one of eight in Pennsylvania and about 200 in the United States, and it recently was named to the U.S. Tentative List for World Heritage Designation.

Today, visitors can get a glimpse of what life was like as a member of the Moravian community through a variety of guided tours led by docents in period 1700s-era Moravian dress. The Moravians believed that people of all races, genders, and ethnicities should receive the same education and health care—a mindset that was quite radical for the times. Europeans, African-Americans, and Native Americans lived, worked, worshipped, and went to school together, and then were buried side by side right in this historic community.

The 1762 Waterworks

1810 Goundie House

More than 20 historic sites are preserved and maintained within the community including:

- The 1810 Goundie House
- The Moravian Museum of Bethlehem & Gemeinhaus [National Historic Landmark]
- The 1750 Smithy
- The 1762 Waterworks [National Historic Landmark]
- The 1752 Apothecary
- Kemerer Museum of Decorative Arts
- Burnside Plantation

In addition to year-round offerings, a number of special tours are available throughout the year including the Death & Dying Cemetery Tours, the Christmas City Stroll, the Bethlehem by Night bus tour, and more.

Historic Bethlehem Museums & Sites is a not-for-profit institution that brings to life three centuries of American history. The story of Historic Moravian Bethlehem follows a community rich with European influence as it makes its mark on colonial America and grows into a city embracing tradition and life. Learn more about the sites and available tours at HistoricBethlehem.org.

And if you happen to talk with any locals, you'll quickly learn the secret to the success of Lehigh Valley: it's made possible by the people.

People are the reason the area continues to grow in terms of economy, cultural offerings, and quality of life. Check out these tips from local residents and why they love living, working, and playing here. »

A SPECIAL SECTION SUPPORTED BY
LEHIGH VALLEY ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT CORPORATION

Carol Obando-Derstine, Regional Affairs Director, PPL Electric Utilities

Carol and her husband moved to Lehigh Valley 17 years ago and haven't looked back.

Best Way to See Lehigh Valley

The Wildlands Conservancy has a sojourn down the Lehigh River. For three days in June, you whitewater raft, canoe, or kayak. It's just such a beautiful opportunity to see the Lehigh Valley from another angle: on the river.

Why She Loves Living Here

There are so many opportunities to enjoy the activities and events in Allentown, Bethlehem, and Easton. I am really big into festivals. One day I could visit VegFest, and the next I could be at PA Bacon Fest.

Advice to Newcomers

For people that are new to the area, my advice is to explore, explore, explore the region!

Carol Obando-Derstine, PPL Electric Utilities

STAYING POWER

Sure, Lehigh Valley is a great place to visit, but have you ever thought about living here? Imagine enjoying our festivals, attractions, eats, and events all the time, instead of just for a long weekend.

Companies and people are choosing to relocate in Lehigh Valley and start a new venture in a growing region that's famous for its makers. With more than 15,000 businesses calling the region home, there is no shortage of opportunities for professionals of all skill levels and backgrounds.

You'll find world-class health care: outstanding education, affordable housing options in urban, suburban, and rural settings, and more than enough things to do, places to eat, and people to meet.

Sam & Gina Masotto, Bonn Place Brewing

After moving from Manhattan to Bethlehem, Sam and Gina opened Bonn Place Brewing in 2016.

Favorite Hangout

If we get out, it's Molinari's or Social Still on our night off. They're both within walking distance in South Bethlehem.

Favorite Outdoor Activity

Running around here is awesome. There are so many trails, between the Greenway and D&L Trail, or running the city's bridges and historic districts.

Favorite Thing About Living Here

We used to live in Manhattan, which is like adult Disney World. We were used to really cool things like museums, art, and music, and Bethlehem has all of that on a more manageable scale.

Ekom Uko, Design and Development Engineer, Lutron Electronics

Ten years ago, Ekom came from Nigeria to Lehigh Valley to attend Lehigh University. Now she calls Bethlehem home.

Favorite Date Night

A dinner at ZEST would be a perfect place for a date night. It's new, has good food, and has a great view overlooking Bethlehem.

Why She Stayed After College

I love the Bethlehem feel—the small town but big city vibe. It's small enough that you'll see people you know from work or church when you walk down Main Street, but big enough that there's a lot to do in the area.

Favorite Evening Activity

Anything with friends, whether it's dinner at the Promenade Shops, hosting a bonfire, going to any of our great festivals like Musikfest® or Celtic Classic.

Take it from them: the best way to enjoy the community is to join it. If you love visiting Lehigh Valley, you might just enjoy living here, working here, and playing here too. Learn what opportunities are made possible in Lehigh Valley at LVMadePossible.com.

 AMERICAN VITICULTURAL AREA

RAISE A GLASS IN LEHIGH VALLEY

LEHIGH VALLEY AMERICAN VITICULTURAL AREA (AVA)

An AVA is a federally designated wine grape-growing region in the United States, providing an official appellation for the mutual benefit of wineries and consumers.

Established: 2008

Square Mileage: 1,888

Counties: 6 • Total Acres: 1.2 Million

Planted Vineyards: 230+ acres

Wineries: 30+

Signature Grapes: Chambourcin, Riesling, Vidal Blanc, Cayuga White

The rolling hills of Lehigh Valley supply more than just stunning backdrops for photographs. It's the undulating landscape — and the soil underneath — that make this a special place to grow wine grapes. So special in fact that a section of the region has been designated an American Viticultural Area [AVA].

That means that since 2008, wine produced in the designated AVA, made using at least 85 percent grapes grown locally, can carry a "Lehigh Valley" appellation on its label. It's a sign of legitimacy for an ascendent wine region, putting Lehigh Valley on the same footing as famous AVAs such as Napa Valley, Willamette Valley, and the Finger Lakes.

"We felt as the Lehigh Valley that it was really important to go after that AVA," says Kari Skrip of Clover Hill Winery. "It adds clout to your growing area. We wanted to define our region — what makes us unique and what makes us special."

Covering 1,888 square miles, including portions of Lehigh, Northampton, Berks, Schuylkill, Carbon, and Monroe counties, the Lehigh Valley AVA's distinguishing factors include those rippling hills, shale-and-sandstone soils, morning fog from the Delaware River, and plenty of sunshine. The first two characteristics are especially important for providing excellent drainage: dry vines are happy vines.

While there's a tremendous diversity of wine varieties grown in the AVA, a few have become signatures. Riesling thrives in the Lehigh Valley's steep pitches, rocky soils, and cool nights. It's a similar climate to the variety's native Germany.

"With cooler-climate Riesling, you tend to get some more of these minerally, lemony, citrusy type of characteristics," explains Skrip. "As you get into a warmer climate, you tend to get more peach, apricot, and honey from the grape itself. In Lehigh Valley, we tend to get a really nice blend of those characteristics.”

Meanwhile, Chambourcin is a grape grown by most of the wineries in the AVA. The French hybrid—dubbed “the jewel of the Lehigh Valley”—is a versatile variety, but the resulting wines tend to exude notes of berry and cherry and boast balanced tannins.

“At Vynecrest Vineyard and Winery, we use most of our Chambourcin for a dry wine aged in oak,” says winemaker John Landis, who has operated his family-run winery since 1974. “But we’ve also made a sparkling Chambourcin and a lot of wineries make a rosé from Chambourcin.”

No matter what you’re looking for—an oaked Chardonnay, an off-dry Cayuga, or a French-style red blend—there’s a winery for you in the Lehigh Valley. Or two. Or three. Spend a weekend discovering your perfect fit.

“There is so much diversity, which is part of our unique experience,” says Skrip. “You have a lot of different options as far as great varieties that you’re going to get to see and taste.”

Bogert's Bridge

HISTORIC COVERED BRIDGES

A SELF-GUIDED TOUR

Lehigh Valley is home to seven of the 200 covered bridges in Pennsylvania and this self-guided Covered Bridge Tour offers an opportunity to journey back in time to a quieter, more idyllic way of life. Approximately 50 miles long, plan for a leisurely drive, which includes time to snap photos and enjoy the scenic beauty surrounding the bridges. The route is marked with red signs on the side of the road.

DiscoverLehighValley.com/coveredbridges

Start here!

BOGERT'S

The tour starts at this pedestrian-only span, built in 1841. The bridge, located within Lehigh Parkway, is arguably one of the most recognizable covered bridges in the area and is thought to be one of the oldest in the state.

Allentown

MANASSES GUTH

Just a five mile drive north on Cedar Crest Blvd., you'll find Manasses Guth Bridge at the eastern edge of Covered Bridge Park. The 108-foot span that dates back to 1858 is the first of five bridges on the tour that spans Jordan Creek.

South Whitehall Township

WEHR'S

This 128-foot, two-lane bridge located at the western end of Covered Bridge Park was built in 1841. Families enjoy picnicking and quiet recreation in the nearby areas. This section of the Jordan Creek is popular for anglers.

South Whitehall Township

KREIDERSVILLE

The pedestrian-only span built in 1839 is the oldest covered bridge in Lehigh Valley and one of the oldest in the state. It's the only remaining covered bridge in Northampton County. The adjacent park is the perfect picnic setting for the end of your tour.

Allen Township

SCHLICHER'S

Listed on the National Register of Historic Places, you'll pass over Schlicher's Bridge as you make your way toward the Lehigh Valley Zoo. This bridge was reconstructed in the early 2010s utilizing repurposed original materials. Nearby, you'll find scenic hiking trails.

Schnecksville

GEIGER'S

This bridge is located on the eastern side of the Trexler-Lehigh County Game Preserve and is easily recognizable by its unique "stepped portal" design. At one time, a pipe, which was used to pump water from Jordan Creek to nearby orchards and farms, ran from end to end across the bridge.

North Whitehall Township

REX'S

This 116-foot span was built in 1858. Unlike many of the bridges on the tour, this structure was not built in conjunction with a grist mill, as many of the other local bridges were. Rex's is the first of three historic covered bridges in North Whitehall.

North Whitehall Township
