The Morton Arboretum

Its beauty is seasonless. The landscape contains open spaces as well as quiet cathedrals of trees. With opportunities for young and old, athletes and amblers, The Morton Arboretum attracts over one million visitors annually to its 1,700 acres, including a four-acre Children's Garden.

For trail suggestions, download The Morton Arboretum's free app, which provides eight tour suggestions based on interest and distance, and details each trail's attributes. The Morton Arboretum features several interconnected trail loops on the East Side and West Side, and nine miles of paved road for biking. The 16 miles of pedestrian-only, mulched trails are well tended all year to facilitate safe hiking, cross-country skiing, or snowshoeing among scenic vistas, woods, prairies, and wetlands. Be sure to check out the Arboretum's calendar of activities, classes, exhibits and special events for all ages.
