BRIDLINGTON OLD TOWN

YO16 4QA

Areas of Westgate, High Street and St. Johns Avenue were transformed for filming into Walmington-on-Sea.

Street furniture that would look out of place in the 1940s was removed and the roads had a temporary surface laid to remove any sign of modern day road markings.

Businesses and homes became film sets and everyone worked together to keep life as normal as possible during filming.

BEMPTON

YO15 1JF

The stunning white cliffs of Bempton doubled as the white cliffs of Dover.

Private Jones nearly met his end when he fell over the cliff edge, clinging on for his life before being rescued by the troops.

FLAMBOROUGH

YO15 1BJ

The action packed scenes involving the German submarine, gun fire and explosions happened at Flamborough's North Landing. The boathouse doubled as Private Walker's secret den for his black market trade and a cave down on the beach as Rose's secret communication hub.
