Getting to Amish Country? It's as easy as pie!

Using a network of scenic highways, your group can arrive in the serenity of Elkhart County and Northern Indiana's Amish Country with less than a day's journey from the Midwest's major metropolitan areas.

It's easily accessible from the Indiana Toll Road (I-80/90), State Road 120, State Road 19, US 6 and US 20.

Elkhart and LaGrange counties, home to the very popular group tour destinations of Nappanee, Middlebury and Shipshewana, are conveniently located just 100 miles east of Chicago in Northern Indiana.

Hundreds of groups from all over the country spend an average of two to three days enjoying the sites and sounds of Amish Country.

Traveling on I-80/90?

Amish Country's highlights include nationally recognized destinations and off-the-beaten-path surprises. But one thing they all have in common - year-round - is easy and convenient easy-on, easy off access from the Indiana Toll Road (I-80/90).

The Indiana Toll Road, the Midwest's major east / west artery, skirts the northern edge of Amish Country. The convenience and concentration of attractions en route offers an ideal break for group tours passing through.

Whatever your destination, I-80/90 Exit 92 is the best location for a stop along the Indiana Toll Road. It offers the largest selection of franchise lodging and dining on the Indiana Toll Road with more than a dozen restaurants and over 1,600 hotel rooms with names you know and trust, including Cracker Barrel, Olive Garden, Staybridge Suites and Hilton Garden Inn.
