
Pies, Pies and More Pies

Northern Indiana Desserts Satisfy All Tastes

Northern Indiana should be known as “pie country.” Wherever you go, you can always count on homemade pies to be within reach.

Curious about sweet molasses Shoo Fly Pie? Visit Amish Acres in Nappanee for this Midwest favorite. Craving Raspberry Pie? Das Dutchman Essenhaus in Middlebury is famed for this delight, just one of their dozens of varieties. Want an Amish specialty? Travel to backroad bakeries to find moon pies, small crescent-shaped desserts with flaky pastry on the outside and mincemeat on the inside.

Whatever your tastes, wherever you are in Northern Indiana, you can easily find a pie that will satisfy your tastebuds.

Points of Interest:

- More than 80 Shoo Fly Pies are consumed each week at Amish Acres.
 - Das Dutchman Essenhaus produces up to 1,700 pies a day during their busy season.
