YORK COMMUNITY HIGH SCHOOL ELMHURST, ILLINOIS

Dashing across the inner court, students daily attempt to reach their classes with seconds to spare.

Each trying to force his way through the crush of seething bodies, students regularly endanger their lives, fortunes, and sacred honor.

Students momentarily interrupt their conversation, before the second bell sounds, to dump overdue books under threat of receiving costly yellow slips.

YORK STOOD SILENTLY WAITING AS IF ASLEEP in the chilled early morning sunlight. The traffic on St. Charles Road scuttled by, the tail pipes sending up little trails of vapor. Slowly, a few trickles of people began to turn towards the school. Three cars wound up the drive; two fellows walked briskly across the front lawn, and from the east, a group of girls chattered their way around the building. An oblong, yellow box separated itself from the St. Charles traffic, roared up the drive, and flung open its doors. Then out they piled, happy and fearful, reluctant and confident, bright-eyed and more than half asleep—a few of the thousands of attitudes of York. For the first of nearly two hundred times, York began to breathe and throb; York became a living thing, the myriad of diverse attitudes which joined together under one roof. For us to see a true picture of York, we must look very closely at that one factor which gives York its unique life: the attitudes of York.

School engulfs the heterogeneous student body, and a tomblike hush falls over the grounds.

"Three ..."

... Blind ...

... Mice."

IN THE HALLS BEFORE SCHOOL THE KIDS SEEM TO GROUP THEMSELVES with those of similar attitudes. The original urge in high school is to become associated with a group; in this, all students are the same. There are many groups to become a part of: social, interest, athletic, to mention a few broad areas. Yet, York is a school, whose purpose is education. Do our lives in the halls have anything to do with our work in the classroom? As in several other departments, we all have a basic English requirement; will anything spoken of in that class help us to become accepted by one of the groups?

During the course of every game, students disperse throughout the crowd to see and be seen.

Among the conglomerate of classifications, is there room for two more?

"I think it's II-641: 6-26-17."

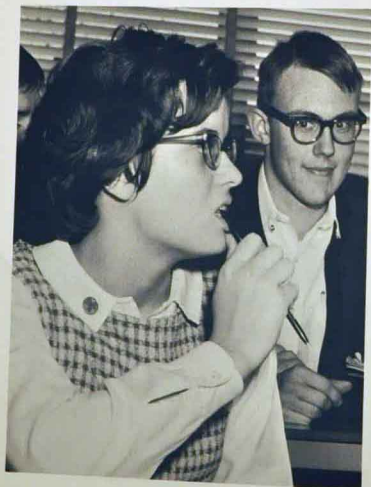

Perhaps if we listened more there would be more to hear.

Involvement in educational drama stimulates delighted response.

Hungry for knowledge...

Expression united with thought clears an obscure position.

WE STUDY SHAKESPEARE, SOUL OF AN AGE, not because all the English teachers have ganged up to make us study this fellow, but because his genius for expression of real life helps us to see ourselves in his centuries-old plays. Through striving to speed up our reading rate and to construct a grammatically sound sentence, we become better able to understand and to communicate with our friends. If we want to become a part of an established group, we must be able to understand the group and to make our views clear to the group through a mastery of the basic English skills.

Retiring into solitary study, a student divorces himself from class activities.

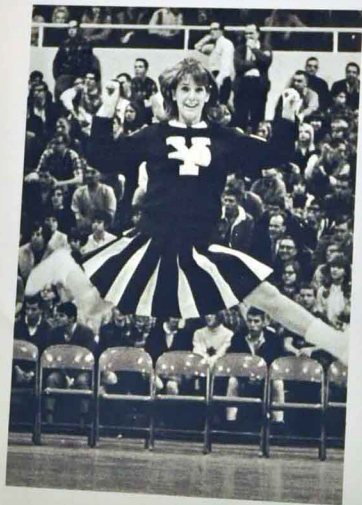

After the top has been reached, what then?

How nice it is to have a group to follow home.

The apex of the emotions of the crowd . . .

. . . is embodied in the actions of the cheerleaders.

Elected by their classmates to be the leaders of the school ...

... Student Council members fulfill their duty by attending weekly meetings.

VARIOUS SCHOOL ACTIVITIES AFFORD US WITH OCCASIONS TO ACTIVELY PARTICIPATE within a group of prominence. Cheerleaders, Student Council members, class officers, and Pom Pons are kids who have worked to achieve the goal of acceptance.

After long hours of practice, Pom Pon girls dress in their traditional uniforms to perform before their peers.

Seminar courses present an opportunity for students to research areas of their interest and report on them to the class.

The teacher supplements discussions by offering comments and guidelines to the students.

YORK HAS ALWAYS TRIED TO FIND THE EDUCATIONAL TECHNIQUES MOST BENEFICIAL and intriguing to the student. This year, seminar American history offered a new approach to students interested in learning concepts rather than facts. They spent most of their time in the library, seminars, and discussion groups. It is in this way that the required subject, such as American history or physical science, is constantly being modified and improved to capture the topic's essential principles.

There are various . . .

. . . degrees of . . .

5 minutes ...

... 15 seconds ...

... too late!

... 5 seconds ...

The Soc. Department's philosophy: "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

Yet we occasionally suffer a lapse of interest.

OUR FIRST FLAME ALWAYS COMPELS US TO LOSE SIGHT of some of the goals we have previously set for ourselves. Though at the moment, slamming through the doorway with less than ten seconds to spare, or better yet, nonchalantly making our entrance ten seconds too late, seems a small price to pay for the anticipated bliss, which somehow never quite materializes.

Merged identities are the result of social pressures.

We inch our way along the tightrope of social life, fearing most of all to slip.

IMPLEMENTING A NEW PROGRAM OF SOCK HOPS after many of the football and basketball games, the administration provided a social opening for the entire student body. In addition to the numerous mixers, Pep Club and Girls' Club held their annual semi-formal dances. Whether or not the occasion called for heels or loafers, the success of the event was mainly determined by the prior weeks of planning and plotting within our immediate social structure.

Searching to find the answer within each other . . .

Who lies behind this bespectacled anonymity?

There comes that time when great decisions must be made . . .

Happiness is hairspray that isn't stiff.

"I'm in with the 'in crowd' . . ."

O.K., now what?

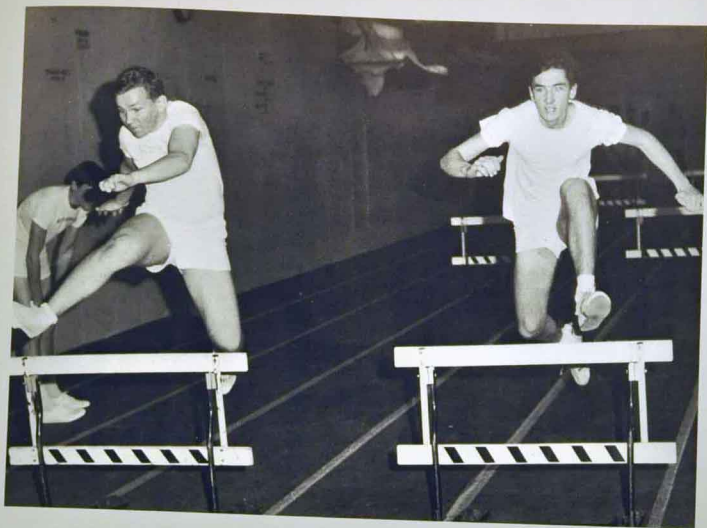

Creations express abstract concepts through animated body movements.

Unleashing frustrations on the basketball court, girls plunge savagely into every second of the game.

Their's not to reason why;
 Their's but to do or die.

Offering a challenge with chalk dust, muscles, and sweat, P.E. classes develop coordination and skill.

"YES, WE ARE HAVING SHOWERS TODAY."

"But there's only five minutes left!"

"Why, you could drown in that time if you aren't careful."

With the completion of this ten second exchange, the mob bolts to the locker room door with words and suits flying. We growl and howl about running and the exercises, but there is a certain satisfaction to be had from spending a short time each day letting off steam and slowly improving ourselves physically.

Contagious cheer pervades the stands.

"United we stand, divided we fall."

ASIDE FROM THE COMMON ACADEMIC BASIS WHICH WE ALL SHARE, there are school-wide activities which provide us all with a common social basis. After having become a small strand in the vast web of group politics which pervades the high school life, we subconsciously set all our expressions in the direction of becoming a major supporting line for the entire structure. But there is something beyond becoming accepted; there comes a moment when we realize that we must build a personal foundation upon which we will be able to stand when the group no longer is capable of meeting our personal demands.

And then, in the midst of the crowd, we realize that we are looking for something not found in the crowd.

"Blowin' in the wind"?

Confident readiness at the rise of the baton reveals that five o'clock sectionals and seven o'clock p.m. rehearsals have not been in vain.

Band members achieve personal satisfaction through success both individually and as a whole.

GROWING OUT OF THE SOCIAL PROTECTION AFFORDED BY THE GROUP, our self-expression begins to flourish when we realize we are the only ones capable of making our lives meaningful; nobody can do that for us. Through such activities as band and orchestra, York provides numerous chances for the development of the talents which most satisfy us. The enthusiastic response after half-time shows and concert performances proves that this year's band and orchestra members were willing to devote the hours of practice before, during, and after school necessary to attain excellence.

Before the curtain rises apprehension prevails ...

... but the spotlight galvanizes our separate talents ...

... into a complimentary unit.

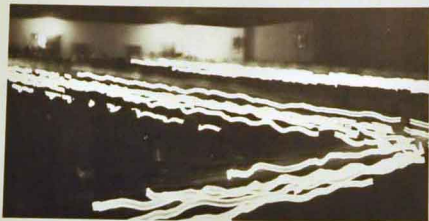

TO RAISE OUR VOICES IN SONG is one of the most moving and natural expressions of life. The York choirs combined with the band and orchestra to present the most outstanding musical performance of the year, the Christmas concert. Music ranging from the grace of "Adeste Fideles" to the gaiety of "Winter Wonderland" filled the auditorium with a language common to all men.

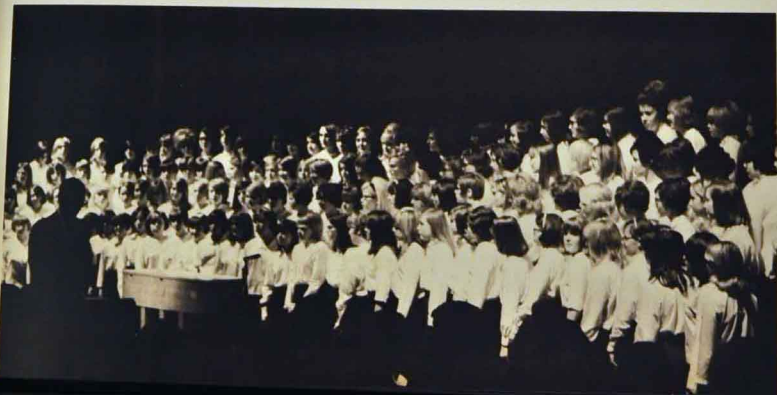

"O holy night, the stars are brightly shining . . ."

The world assumes an air of continuity as time passes.

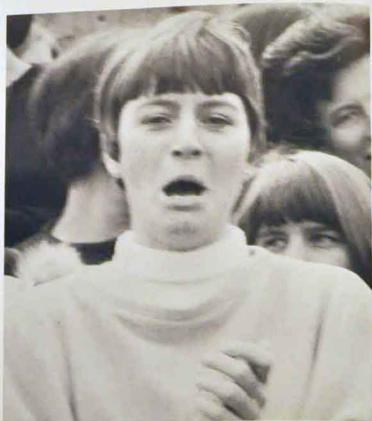

"Yet in thy dark streets shineth, the everlasting light . . ."

"It came upon the midnight clear, that glorious song of old . . ."

All our inspiration . . .

. . . entreaty . . .

. . . apprehension . . .

. . . concentration . . .

UNTIL WE LEARN BETTER, OUR HIGH SCHOOL LIFE IS GOVERNED BY THE CRISIS METHOD. All our apprehensions, joys, and sorrows rest on great feats. Each game, each concert, and each test looms before us like an insurmountable wall; yet, the scaling of each wall reveals but another wall. Wouldn't it be better to learn how to cope with the barriers rather than fostering the hope that there will be no more walls?

... pensiveness ...

... and joy ...

... rests on great feats.

"He thinks he's got me in a bind!"

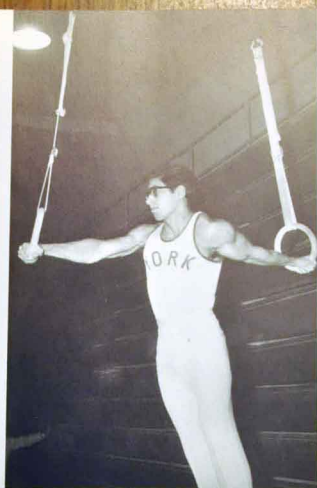

SKILL, COORDINATION, AND SWEAT ARE THE ESSENTIAL QUALITIES of a good wrestler or gymnast. Olympic crosses, double branies, and a pin in the first period are the goals toward which the musclemen and matmen strive. Though in the past, these two sports were given little mass spectator recognition, this year was the advent of a new attitude on the part of the school at large toward them. A special gymnastics-wrestling pep rally and increased attendance at the meets indicate that the other members of the York student body have finally become aware of the excellence of self-expression attained by these guys, their peers.

"It's a free country, and I'll sing if I wanna sing."

It's a bird; it's a plane . . .

Smooth and powerful coordination is truly magnificent to behold.

Right through to the dismount, every motion of the routine must be honed to perfection.

These are the beauties, elected by the beasts.

For those who heard them, the Mitchell Trio effectively key-noted the success of Homecoming 1966.

WE HAD CHICKEN WIRE, PAPER NAPKINS, AND SPRAY PAINT ON THE BRAIN by the Wednesday before Homecoming. Cut hands, mountains of paper work, hours on teetering ladders, headcracking practices on the frozen field, iced-up mouth pieces, and brain wracking sessions for the half time show, heralded the oncoming of the weekend of mass self expression. It is interesting to note than an extraordinary number of Yorkites contributed to and, perhaps thereby, enjoyed the success of Homecoming, 1966.

FIRST PLACE FLOAT—SENIORS. WHO ELSE?

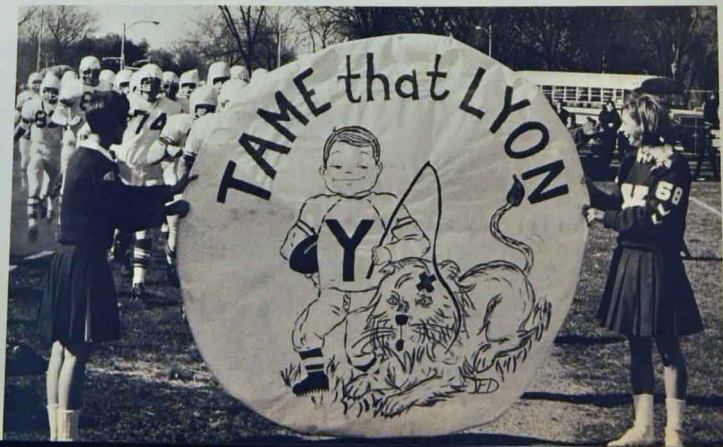

"Happiness is a warm puppy."

No assignments were done for a week while we worked night and day to finish before "The Great Pumpkin Cameth."

When the Dukes go marching in . . .

Male prerogative usurped.

Reigning over all the homecoming activities from coronation to the royalty dance, Betsy and Mike added an air of distinction to the festivities.

All our material work was in vain by half time of the varsity game.

DATES ARE SET FOR THE PROM AND HOME-COMING DANCES two months, two weeks, or two days in advance. All the personal attitudes, from a careful strategist to an indecisive speculator, certainly come to life in the preparations made for the major social events.

No parking this side of street.

"I have to have this for my scrapbook."

"Star light, star bright, first star I see tonight. Wish I may, wish I might have the wish I wish tonight."

Garçon—please.

1966 Citizenship winners: Bill Pech, sophomore; Pat Parks, sophomore; Ann Simonini, freshman; Bob Butters, freshman.

AND ALL THE PERSONAL EFFORT DOES NOT GO UNRECOGNIZED. At the annual Awards Assembly, eight representatives of outstanding citizenship, the math contest winner, and one of this year's successful athletic teams were honored. Still, we must not lose sight of the fact that all achievements cannot be formally recognized; there is a general standard of excellence maintained at York from which only these few students, characteristic of the whole, were selected.

Karen Haptas, senior, won the privilege to play with the Dupage Symphony Young Artists.

Doreen Couch and Doug Russell, better known as Doe and Dougie, were chosen as the outstanding area leaders by the local Elks Club.

Nancy Pile and Bill Pech were chosen as AFS finalists. Now all they have to do is wait for the word.

Ken Kraft, junior, spent three months this fall working with such men as Congressman, John Erlenborn, in Washington, D. C.

Satisfaction is no one asking you if your suit is homemade.

Be sure you are sewing only two layers, not four.

Experience at the annual Christmas tea helped the girls develop the poise needed to be a model hostess.

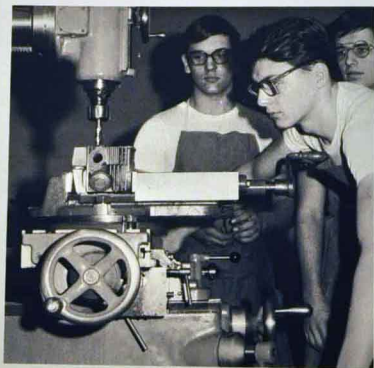

The successful automotive engineer must be an electrician as well as a mechanic.

HAVING DEVELOPED SKILLS IN VARIOUS AREAS THROUGH LABORATORY TRAINING, home economics students designed the fashions for their annual spring style show and prepared the refreshments for the faculty at their Christmas tea. Students who desired just a semester of intensive area study enrolled in family living, home management, and commercial food service.

Development of a course of automotive study with cut-aways of different systems provided a new attack on teaching of the ever-changing field of automotive mechanics. Architectural drawing, another of the six fields of industrial arts offered at York, calls for the blueprinting and actual construction of miniature buildings which have previously been designed by the students.

With the aid of immense and precision tooled machines, industrial arts students are even able to overhaul a car.

The first step towards a dream come true.

Data processing techniques save students months of calculations.

The usefulness of any machine is bounded only by our ignorance.

BUSINESS EDUCATION PROVIDES A WIDE RANGE OF COURSES for students preparing for business careers or merely seeking basic skills such as shorthand and typing. One semester and two semester classes provide the student with the opportunity to delve into an area to any extent which he desires. A comprehensive view of business may be obtained by taking business exploration, while the more specialized skills are acquired through various selective courses such as bookkeeping, clerical practice, salesmanship, psychology, and data processing.

The Mathematics Department initiated a five year program designed to give advanced mathematics students a better college background. Calculus and other college sophomore mathematics material was the basis for this course. The now extensive use of transparencies in the entire math program has saved valuable class time in the last year. Transparencies also give the mathematics student opportunities for outside study.

Is it cosine A plus B over two sine A minus B over two, or is it sine A plus B over two cosine A minus B over two?

It has been said that a slide rule makes a lazy man. Math, physics, and chemistry, however, demand this degree of laziness.

Every muscle and agonized grimace mirrors one hundred and one percent effort.

COME RAIN, SLEET, HAIL, OR SNOW THE LONG GREEN LINE RUNS ON. Over hill, through state meet, over hill again, and back down into the Rockford Relays, York perennially smashes its way through the track and cross country seasons.

The gargantuan shot-putters and discus throwers display a burst of strength and grace with each toss.

In York's cross country tradition . . .

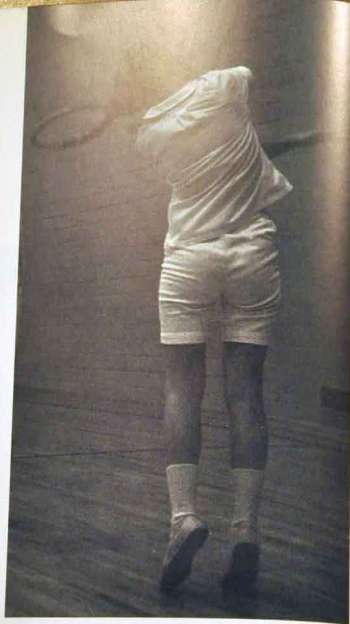

. . . there is a pride . . .

. . . which does not allow for defeat.

Ready ...

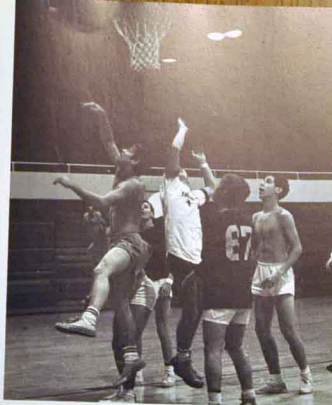

... aim ...

... fire!

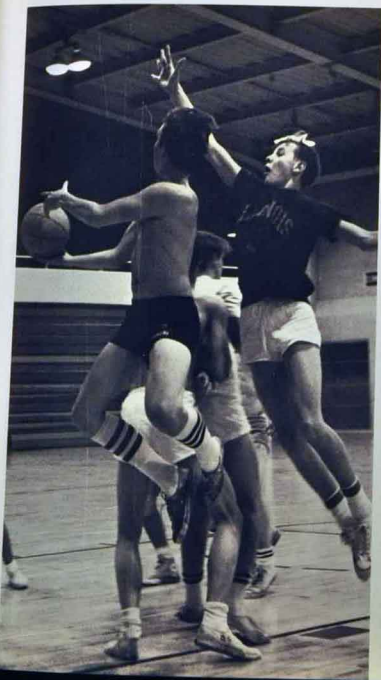

THE STUDENT WHO HAS AN INCLINATION TOWARDS SPORTS PARTICIPATION but does not or cannot spend the hours demanded by interscholastic competition, expresses himself through basketball intramurals. The various degrees of ability exhibited on any Tuesday or Thursday night at intramurals is truly amazing. There are those who try hard and others who are really good, but we all enjoy the thrill of competition.

The almost ...

... Dukes ...

... of York.

Directed actions become living emotions when performed by the student actors.

"Which is hungrier . . . my body or my soul?"

Cooperation within a large group does not destroy the opportunity for individual expression.

SELF-EXPRESSION—WHAT COULD BE MORE NATURAL THAN DRAMATICS? Yet, not only did the cast practice the many nuances of one way communication, but the supporting crew's work was vital to the overall effect of York's recent productions, "Inherit the Wind," "Antigone," "The Frogs," and "UTBU."

Comedy . . .

drama . . .

. . . and entertainment.

Theory and practice combine into useful knowledge for students.

FRESHMAN LIBRARY ORIENTATION AND DRIVER'S EDUCATION enabled students to acquire the rudimentary knowledge and attitudes from which they developed skill and confidence in these two areas, which soon occupy a good part of their time. The library provided juniors and seniors with an extensive supply of reference materials, supplementary to their class works. In much the same way, brave teachers gave sophomores in-the-car training which supplemented their driver's education class requirement and family driving instruction.

The basic library unit supplies knowledge essential to all.

Readers Guide and York's magazine section place the most current information at the students' disposal.

Pamphlet files and card catalogs place concise information at students' fingertips.

Present library knowledge and experience will make later life easier for Yorkites.

Maintenance of all equipment is essential.

WITH A FIFTEEN PER CENT INCREASE IN THE NUMBER OF PROJECTORS and other equipment, one hundred and seven visual aids assistants were able to schedule and run an estimated seventy-two hundred showings of films this year. Teaching the operational and maintenance skills of the vast expanse of visual aids equipment, while also offering photographic work to the entire school, the Visual Aids Department played an important role in York's educational plan.

Whether we are actors, athletes, musicians, scholars, politicians, or any combination thereof, we slowly realize that life does not end with graduation. In a mad rush we begin preparing ourselves to face and conquer the fast approaching new obstacles of life.

Photographic services enable the entire school to see itself in better perspective.

The audio as well as visual field supplements our senses.

What lucky math class gets to use the overhead projector today?

Film splicing keeps everything together in the Visual Aids Department.

Analytical balances are used by advanced placement chemistry students to correct for variances in the law of gravity.

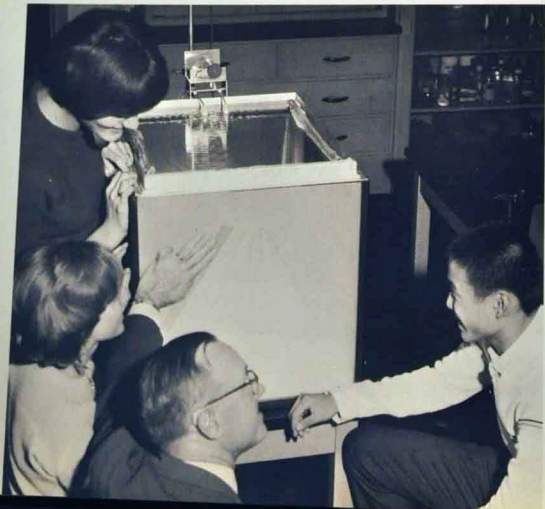

Attention all girls: the odds are ten to one in A.P. chemistry.

WE HAVE FINALLY REACHED THE LEVEL WHERE WE CAN BEGIN TO DEVELOP along lines almost entirely free of the group's influence. Realizing the necessity of this level of development in high school students, the Science Department, in 1963, implemented an advanced studies program. This year's senior class is the first to have completed biology, chemistry, and physics in their first three years and continued with advanced placement biology and/or chemistry in their senior year. The department chairman felt that this program has greatly strengthened the Science Department.

Similarly an air of freedom, self-reliance, and creativity has reigned in the Art Department. Artistic endeavors begun in art 9 and 10 were followed by specialized courses, such as commercial art, ceramics, print making, and painting, in the junior and senior years.

Is there truly a direct parallel relation between microcosm and macrocosm?

In this field our freedom is limited only by the nature of the materials with which we work.

We are often shy . . .

. . . to mold our inner thoughts into visible art forms.

"But, what are my chances of getting in?"

The successful planning of each of our yearly schedules will determine our final direction after graduation.

Now that the auditorium homeroom no longer exists, counselors are able to inform small groups of students about routine college and career application procedures.

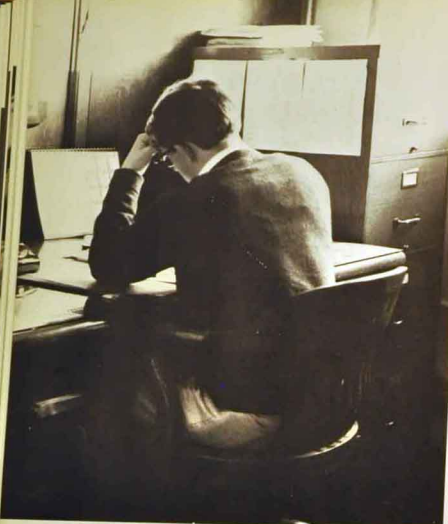

The Guidance Department initiated a new system of alphabetical student grouping.

"What are you delinquents doing running around the halls without a pass?"

FOCUSING ON THE FUTURE, THE GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT attempts to give students aid in course selection and career choice. Individual conferences provided the student with an opportunity to discuss personal questions and future plans with a trained counselor. Along with the private meetings, home room counseling sessions formed another strong link between the administration and the student. First hand information from college representatives is another service which this vital department provided.

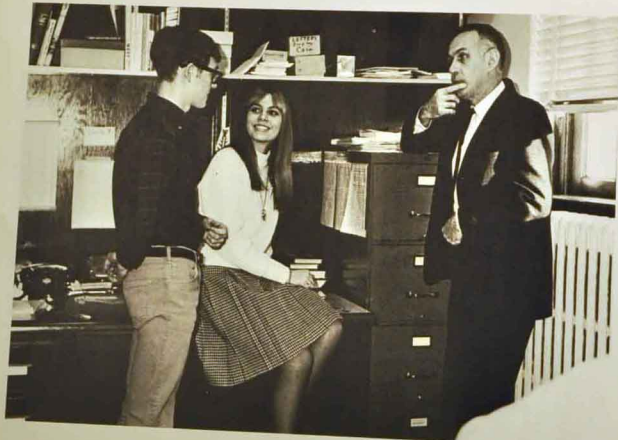

FOR THOSE WHO CHOOSE TO GRASP A RESPONSIBLE ROLE IN STUDENT GOVERNMENT there often results an experience which tempers them in a way unattainable through formal education. Learning how to create, organize, and complete a project of significant effort, such as the Greek clothing drive, brings a thrill to all involved. Through working with the administration, planning on the West Suburban level, and attending state and national conventions, the student government advocate gained an invaluable perspective of his present and possible future roles in the representative society.

Leadership involves more than fifty-five minutes a week of visible effort.

One of the roles of student representatives is to learn how to deal with people of all positions.

We learn to wrest order . . .

. . . from CHAOS!

While we're actively participating in current world affairs, we learn about their backgrounds in our academic courses.

AFS STUDENTS ANNIE DOMINÉ - France AL IOHANNING - Germany

The community met Annie and Al for the first time in the homecoming parade.

It's a rare opportunity to hear a real French accent.

IN THIS RAPIDLY SHRINKING WORLD, the educated person must be fluent in a language other than his own. To better implement teaching of foreign attitudes, the Foreign Language Department developed team-teaching, invitational lecturing, and literature oriented, fourth year Spanish and French classes.

Yet, the well rounded student must also grow to understand the background of his native language and its effects upon the people of a different culture. The students of Mr. Stowers, the English exchange teacher, have found his use of and attitude towards the English language quite different from their own. The English Department offered seniors the opportunity to choose from a wide variety of courses all focusing on a different aspect of the use of the language.

Students travel to Spain by way of situation interpretation.

With Mr. Stowers, we found that there is a distinct English outlook.

Oh no you don't; that's a false syllogism!

As we sat listening to the bank representatives, we realized Mr. Hitt was right; the economics we studied is really put to use.

Student interpretation is a primary facet of honors social science.

The overhead projector enables us to improve our writing styles through group criticism.

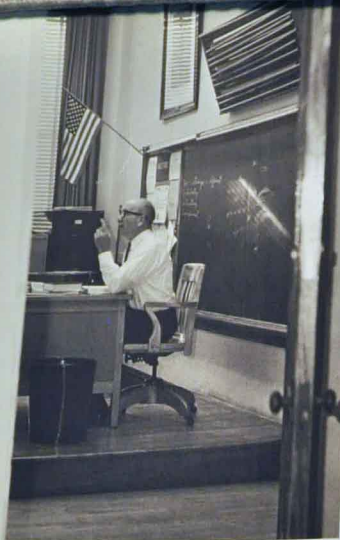

THE NEXT PHASE OF LIFE FOR A MAJORITY OF YORK STUDENTS is coping with the college campus. A solid basis of college preparatory courses was offered to all capable and college bound students to help them in their forthcoming change. Honors English and honors social science gave the outstanding scholars opportunities to explore these two broad fields in greater depth than the regular classes. York's college courses are highly regarded by many college representatives; this was reassuring to the senior class.

Because of the cooperation of IBM personnel, advanced mathematics students were introduced to the rapidly rising field of computer programming.

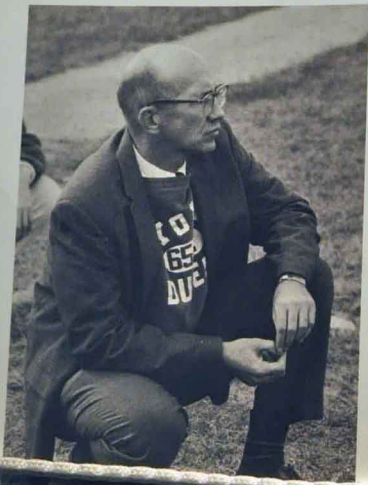

York is education on many levels.

We are always ...

... willing ...

... ready ...

"BUT WE CAN'T MAKE IT ALONE, JOE."

"Yeh ... I know."

"I'm really sweatin' out that D in math."

"Yeh ... I know."

"I guess I better go in for some help."

"Yeh ... it's getting late."

... and able to help all Joes in need.

When we strive for excellence . . .

... we should appreciate . . .

... all assistance and suggestions given.

"FORE! ... FIVE ... SIX ... SEVEN ..." 15 love ... 30, love ... 40, love ... game." "Ball one ... ball two ... ball three ... ball four."

Regardless of the score, the experience gained in golf, tennis, and baseball puts these team members a bit closer to the elusive match sweep, sub-par game, or four hundred and fifty foot grand slam. Even though these immediate goals may escape the players, the carry-over interest within these sports is great.

We can do no more than put everything behind each pitch; it's up to the rest of the team after that.

We share each others' superior individual achievements.

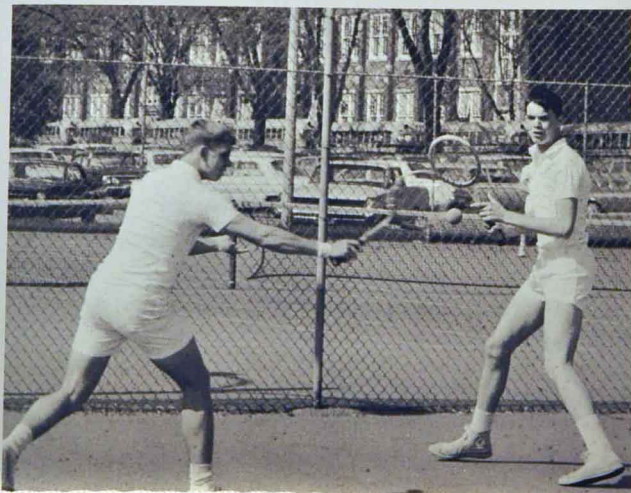

If only we took as much time lining up our lives as we do each shot.

In these four years we form habits which will last a lifetime.

There is a distinct satisfaction in developing your skill to complement another's.

Every fabulous touchdown catch is thrown by somebody.

WE'D RATHER BE DEAD, THAN RED."

"Down Downers!"

"Bombard Glenbard."

"Lions, and tigers, and bears—oh my!"

"Dam the Brook."

"Cork York? Just TRY IT!"

Whether by air or by land . . .

Throughout the season the Dukes scored . . .

WEST SUBURBAN CONFERENCE

EXIT

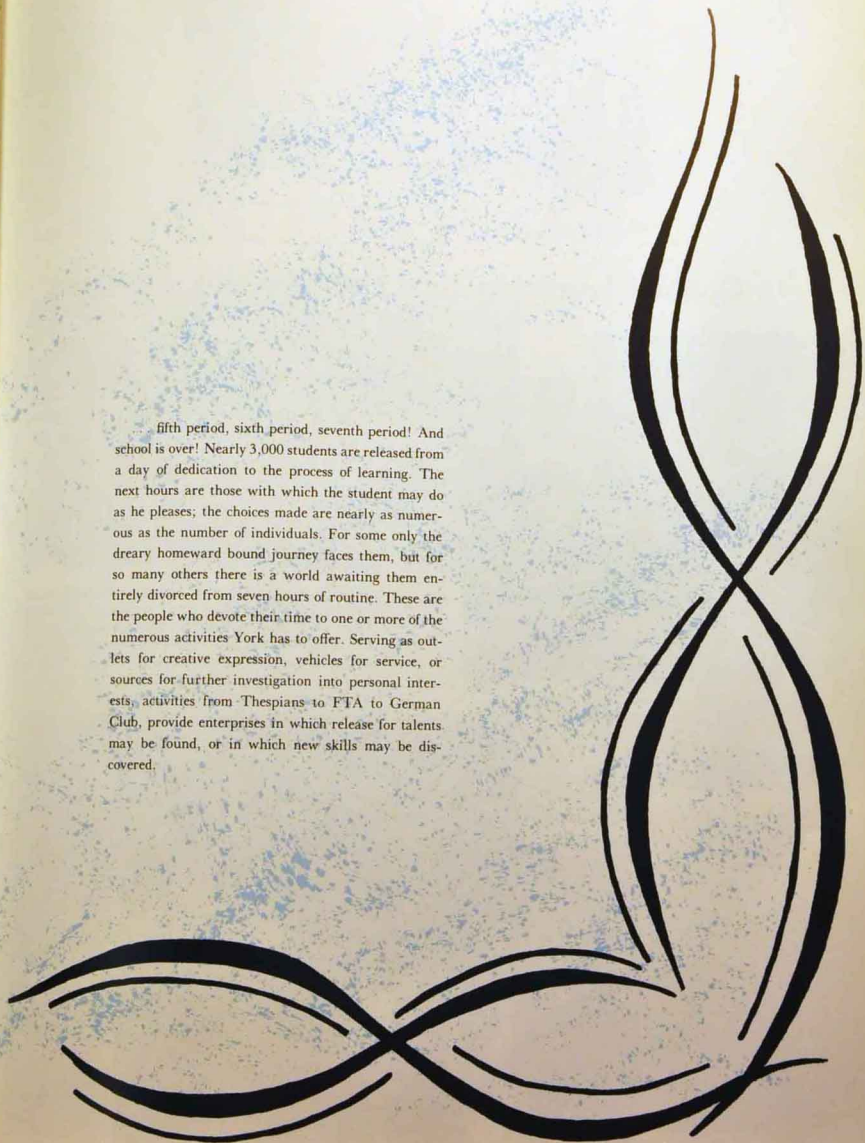

THE BEGINNING of the end of the beginning.

Activities

... fifth period, sixth period, seventh period! And school is over! Nearly 3,000 students are released from a day of dedication to the process of learning. The next hours are those with which the student may do as he pleases; the choices made are nearly as numerous as the number of individuals. For some only the dreary homeward bound journey faces them, but for so many others there is a world awaiting them entirely divorced from seven hours of routine. These are the people who devote their time to one or more of the numerous activities York has to offer. Serving as outlets for creative expression, vehicles for service, or sources for further investigation into personal interests, activities from Thespians to FTA to German Club, provide enterprises in which release for talents may be found, or in which new skills may be discovered.

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS: Doug Russell, President; Mark Anderson, Treasurer; Beisy Karstens, Recording Secretary; Doreen Couch, Corresponding Secretary; Bill Pech, Vice-President.

Council Launches New Homecoming Activities

STUDENT COUNCIL HOLD-OVER-MEMBERS: Debbie Lyng, Tom Parr, Andy Pachner, John Doolittle, parliamentarian.

Student Council inaugurated several new programs this year in its effort to promote a better understanding between the students, the administration, and the community. Homecoming '66 was supplemented by the introduction of a Friday night activity, "Shades of Pumpkins." In addition to new projects, Council continued to sponsor its annual events including Homecoming, officer elections, and the Greek clothing drive.

The York Student Council, sponsored by Miss Joann Tomsovic and Mr. T. Leitz, is a member of the Northeast District Association, and sent representatives to its annual convention to exchange ideas concerning student government with other delegates and adults.

Student participation was an aspect of Council that was greatly stressed this year. In addition to elective offices, there were committees composed of students not in Council. Homeroom representatives reported every week to the students on the progress of Council. Students made suggestions to their representative and their ideas were brought before Council for consideration.

AFS EXCHANGE STUDENTS: Annie Domine, Alvaro Johanning.

Two foreign students, Annie Domine from France and Alvaro Johanning from Costa Rica, came to York this year through the sponsorship of the American Field Services Committee. The committee sent one student, Doug Russell, abroad to Helsinki, Finland, last summer. Funds were raised for this by the AFS candy sale last February, the mixer after a basketball game, the mistletoe sale last December, and also through civic donations. Jean Rosback was chairman of the AFS Committee this year. Student suggestions were the main concern of the Research Committees, under Bill Pech. These committees, composed of over 100 members, considered each idea referred to them by Council. The promotion of "Shades of Pumpkin" was the main project of the year for the Publicity Committee, whose chairman was Carol Seidensticker. The Elections Committee, headed by Amy Harwell, took charge of all class and Student Council officer elections as well as organizing voting on the constitutional amendments. The Safety Committee, with Nancy Pile as chairman, sponsored a car safety check in cooperation with the Elmhurst Police Department.

Departing from Troupe 1933, the group presented its fall performance of the ancient Greek comedy "The Frogs" with a light-hearted twist. The troupe included several new members and held two banquets. At these times, those who had labored 150 hours on productions were initiated, outstanding members were honored, and new officers were inducted.

Thespians, York's chapter of the National Honorary Dramatic Fraternity, under the supervision of Mrs. Yvonne Lundquist, served to advance the role of dramatics in the high school and provided an opportunity for interested students to learn about the techniques of play production behind the scenes and on stage.

Lined with plaque upon plaque, the walls of York's band room reflect the standard of the concert band—excellence. This standard is not merely an occasional one, for from the first football game of the season, to the Memorial Day Parade, to the Summer Band Program in Champaign, members of the band are active. On November 19, Cathy Shikora, Cynthia Lorimer, and Bob Woeller represented York at the District Music Festival at Downers Grove, one of the highlights of the Music Department's year. The responsibilities of a band member range from attending sectional band practices after school to listening to drum major Tim Doherty's commands while marching. The dedication of Mr. LaVerne Reimer, director and chairman of the Music Department, and of the band members themselves, has brought top honors to York's concert band.

Judges and Audiences Honor Orchestra

Consistently winning superior rating in the state contest with many additional honors won by ensembles and soloists describes the quality performance of the concert orchestra. The fall string concert and the spring concert by the entire group were among the public appearances of the orchestra. Participating in the Christmas assembly and the holiday concert with all the music groups is a tradition of the orchestra. Mr. Leo Pondelick returned to York this year as director of this group after a year's sabbatical during which time he studied in Vienna, Austria.

Senior Choir, under the direction of Mr. Jack Witmer, is the goal of every student in the choral department at York. This year the group is composed of 66 members. Outstanding vocalists are selected to participate in one of the many ensembles featured at concerts and choral competitions.

Senior Choir presented a concert with the orchestra which received a standing ovation for artistic performance. This concert was recorded and broadcast over radio station WILL. During the Christmas season, Senior Choir performed at the Borg Warner Building and went caroling at the Oakbrook Shopping Center. Mr. Witmer also conducts Junior Choir, Glee Club, and Freshman Chorus, which are prerequisites to Senior Choir. Mr. Pondelick directs Girls' Chorus.

Miss Eleanor Davis, winner of the Wall Street Journal's "Journalism Teacher of the Year" state and national awards.

Miss Eleanor Davis, director of York's newspaper, York-Hi, was awarded $500 this year as "Journalism Teacher of the Year," in a contest sponsored by the Wall Street Journal Newspaper Fund. She was judged the best journalism teacher in the state and second best teacher of journalism in the nation. The York Hi staff continued under the guidance of Miss Davis to produce a student newspaper of superior quality which once again received the George H. Gallup Award.

York-Hi published informative accounts of school activities and expressed editorially the opinions of the students. Not only did the paper provide a vehicle for creative expression and constructive criticism by the students, but it also gave a first-hand opportunity for the staff to experience the challenge of producing a quality piece of journalism while working against the pressure of deadlines.

"Motivations" was the theme the Y's Tales Staff chose to present in the 34th edition of the York yearbook. Careful planning of photography, constant writing and rewriting of copy, and skillful sorting of material on the part of all staff workers were combined to reflect this theme. Editors Dave Bemis and Jean Rosback outlined diverse influences exerted upon high school students, while the staff described the stages of transformation a student experiences as he progresses through school. Discussion about the effects of academic studies, extracurricular activities, and newly-formed friendships upon an individual led to the formation of concepts fundamental to all work done for the yearbook. Under the guidance of Mrs. Lucile Albert, the staff worked each day during the seventh period to produce a book that would be a tangible expression of these concepts. Through this organization's efforts, York students were provided with a record of the year 1967.

'67 Y's Tales Focuses on Student as Individual

"Who wants to write copy for this organization?" question co-editors-in-chief, Jean Rosback and Dave Bemis, as section editors Cheryl Larsen, John Shupe, Lynne Bertalmio, Janet Zütz, and Farida Kasab look on.

In the spring of 1960, Mr. Rene Allegretti, the French Cultural Attache of Chicago, delivered a talk to York's French Club. Impressed with both the club and the school, he suggested to his government that they present the club with some money to be used in furthering its activities. Last fall the club received the award of $50. Mr. James Berger, the sponsor, applauded it as "a great honor and the first of its kind in the schools of this area."

Among the activities this year, French Club included a trip to the Art Institute of Chicago where the group took a guided tour of the museum. At a meeting before the trip a few of the members delivered talks and showed slides about the prominent French impressionist painters.

The annual Christmas party was highlighted by an original play—written, directed, and produced by the students themselves. The rest of the program consisted of singing Christmas songs, listening to a talk by Annie Domine, the French foreign exchange student, on Christmas in France, and eating the traditional yule log. Canned goods, brought by each member to this meeting, were donated to the Little Brothers of Notre Dame, a French charity organization in Chicago. One night during vacation the group went caroling at homes in Elmhurst and afterwards met for a party at a member's house.

In the French tradition of celebrating the Epiphany, the members exchanged inexpensive gifts at the January meeting. At this time they also elected the king and the queen of Mardi Gras, the annual initiation banquet held in February. For this occasion the group dressed in festive costumes and were served an authentic French dinner by the initiates into the club. French Club ended its year of activities by heralding in the spring with its sale of daffodils.

Feasting once again in royal Germanic luxury, German Club, with Mrs. Aldona Smulkstys, sponsor, dined at one of Chicago's majestic restaurants which was a bit of the Old Country here.

The members tempted their palates with German cuisine made with ancient recipes which have been passed down through the generations. The authentic atmosphere transported the members back to the grandeur of old Germany and enabled them to experience nearly firsthand the climate in which intellectuals from Wagner to Goethe produced their masterpieces.

German Club also enlivened the Christmas season with its annual "Weihnachtsfest," or Christmas festivities, in which the members and guests watched enraptured as a German band, a quartet, and folk dancers entertained in the classic German manner. Beating out the rhythms to the emotional music, everyone was filled with an international spirit of Christmas.

Yorkshire Hall Invaded by Ancient Romans

Peter D. Arnott returns for his annual marionette performance of classic Greek and Roman plays.

The rituals of Ancient Rome came alive at the Latin Club's grand banquet fit for emperors. Complete with Roman slaves, robe-length togas, and imperial fun, the banquet had all the authenticities of a Roman victory celebration. The underclass Roman slaves, clad in brown, "loyally" served the upperclass nobility, whose word was law all in a spirit of joviality. The nobles wore "laurel" wreaths signifying their superiority. In a moment of solemnity the imperial emperor, Nero, offered sacrificial rites to the sacred gods. A moment later, the Vestal Virgins performed the ritual of the eternal flame. And then the festivities continued. Seated by the flowing fountain in the grassy "courtyard," minstrels crooned the songs of Ancient Rome. The atmosphere of Rome filled Yorkshire Hall.

Ancient Romans, members of Latin Club, held their annual spring banquet conquering Yorkshire Hall for a big night. Participants still remember the fun they had donning Roman robes and sandals and wreaths for those few short hours. The Eternal City lived on.

Under the auspices of the winged Venus, Latin Club members dine in Ancient Roman splendor.

The climax of a week's dedicated labor came as the Spanish Club Homecoming float snatched first place among the club floats. The float theme "Shake 'Em Down," was carried out with the cartoon character "Snoopy" shaking a pair of brightly colored maracas in front of his dog house. The spirit which Spanish Club members displayed during Homecoming pervaded the air once again at their annual Christmas celebration as each student struggled to be the first to break the classic pinata. When it was broken, shouts of joy rang through Yorkshire Hall as the members scrambled to get the candy which had fallen from the broken pinata.

In order to better acquaint members with the customs and culture of Spanish-speaking countries, Mr. Allen Jacobson, sponsor, and Marilyn Wright, club president, led the club to Chicago where they enjoyed an authentic meal of Latin America at La Margarita restaurant. At this dinner pins and guards earned by members were presented and the new club officers were initiated.

One of the most perplexing problems for society today is foreign aid. There is a question concerning the amount that we should spend and how we should best use our money. The Debate Club delved into this problem. Formally stated, Resolved: The Foreign Aid Program Should Be Limited To Non-Military Assistance. The debate team pored over hundreds of volumes of material, jotting important facts on notecards which were later used in handling the stiff competition from other schools. The students enjoyed battling in the many heated discussions and raising different points of the question. Their competition on the various levels of beginning, junior varsity, and varsity debate opened at Niles West High School in Skokie. Under the sponsorship of Mr. Donald Juday, York kept up its winning record at Evanston High School where the team tied for second place in a field of thirty-eight schools.

Erlenborn Defines Students' Political Role

As guest speaker at the initial meeting of the Historical Society, Representative John Erlenborn expressed views on the student's role and future in politics, a topic that introduced the club's theme for the year. "This is a knowledgeable and alert group," commented the Congressman during his speaking appearance. Members tried to measure up to his commendation by continuing research of the political field. To encourage this concern of its membership, the club sponsored a mock election and opinion poll one week previous to statewide elections. Results of each were analyzed and contrasted at subsequent meetings. Other speakers, movies, and a field trip furthered interest in knowledge of political science as the historical and foreign aspects of the subject were explored. Supervised by Mr. Steven Gerlach, each student advanced individual interests in the broad divisions of government, culture, and history encompassed by the club. These projects were financed by the sale of candy bars and refreshments at games.

"Your Future and Politics" was the theme of Representative John N. Erlenborn's address that opened an involved discussion of current political issues.

MATH CLUB OFFICERS: Lyane Bertalmio, Treasurer; John Meisner, Vice-President; Pam Pratt, Secretary; Andy Pachner, President.

Computer programming by students became possible this year when the Brunswick Corporation office in Oak Brook offered the use of their computers. Computer Club, a subsidiary of Math Club, was the result of the efforts of Math Club members, Mr. Donald Peterson of the Math Department, Mr. Keith Olson of the Science Department, and Mr. Harold Randol of the Business Department. The computer course began with an orientation to computer mechanism, computer language, and key punch operation. The students were then divided into groups to learn either business or scientific programming. At this time the advanced students began guiding the groups, hoping that the club would become self-perpetuating.

Organizational changes were also noted in Math Club. Equipped with a new constitution providing for freshman membership, a Math Club board, and a revised points system, the group began a series of programs given by speakers or members. The programs ranged from Mr. Benson's explanation of "Probabilities" to Donald Duck's explanation of "The Golden Rectangle." According to Miss Janice Flake and Mrs. Carol Ropp, Math Club's new sponsors, these programs allow the members to look more fully into the different phases of mathematics than time allows in the classrooms.

Placing emphasis on competition, Chess Club held tournaments within the school and took part in interschool meets. Under the direction of Mr. Richard King, members competed against each other during the first part of the year. The top competitors from these tournaments then were designated as "first board" and "second board" players. The club finished the year by participating in meets with schools in the suburban area; one of these schools was St. Francis of Wheaton.

Chess Club, designed to broaden the intellectual aspects of members' minds, served to give interested students the opportunity to play regularly. The members also benefited from improving skill in playing and learning the skill of reasoning in a logical and systematic manner. The tournaments throughout the year provided an extra incentive and spirit of competition.

Serving as tray girls or candy strippers at the hospital, members of the York Future Nurses of America engaged in activities which helped them to select the health career best suited to their ability. Meeting the first Thursday of each month with their sponsor, Miss Lela Sutter, they were encouraged to contribute to the community's welfare. Informative speakers from the Red Cross, St. Luke's Presbyterian Hospital, and Cook County Hospital described the various programs available in the field of nursing. These programs included the Baccalaureate degree, the hospital three-year program, and the associate degree in nursing.

In time for distribution during the holidays, FNA completed place mats for Hines Hospital as part of this year's project. The members also made stuffed toys which were given to a children's home.

Future Teachers Investigate College Opportunities

More than fifty students received individual help this year at York through the Future Teachers of America tutoring program. The project, started three years ago, enables tutors to gain knowledge and experience in the field of teaching. Any student may request assistance in a subject to be tutored by a student who has passed the course with an A or B. A traditional York project, that the club sponsors, is observing National Education Week by giving apples to all the teachers at York.

The club, sponsored by Mrs. Mary Kirby, Mr. Dan Kane, and Miss Janice Flake, started off the school year by selling book covers as their money making project. A college visit was also included among their activities. Speakers this year included instructors and counselors who addressed the members concerning scholarships and the various fields of teaching.

Home Ec Club Cooks Up Christmas Special

Representative of Northern Illinois Gas Company demonstrates cooking technique before Home Ec Club.

Does cooking rice spectacular, stuffed apples, dream bars, and a salad wreath sound difficult? Home Ec Club's Christmas meeting featured a "Foods for Christmas" demonstration put on by a representative of the Northern Illinois Gas Company. The representative showed the members how to prepare these and other holiday dishes. She demonstrated ways to cook the food efficiently and arrange it attractively. This year's program included several other meetings at which the various professions in the field of Home Economics were observed and studied by any interested student. A beautician spoke to the group and demonstrated the essentials of hair styling. Three guests spoke on "Home Economics as a Profession."

Selling candy and working at concession stands helped the club raise funds to finance their annual Christmas project. For this project, each member made and stuffed a stocking to be sent to an orphanage for Indian children in Chicago. The year's meetings were brought to a close by dinner at a famous restaurant and the installation of next year's officers.

Members Act, Perfect Dramatic Techniques

Making its debut this year was York's Drama Club. Advancement of standards of excellence in dramatic arts was stressed. It encouraged students to develop poise, mastery of our language, self-control, and self-discipline. Meetings, held twice a month, were presented in a workshop-like atmosphere. All members were given chances to act, direct, and work on crews. This was done by participating in short plays, improvisations, and pantomimes. Trips were made to several professional productions. Participation in meetings and viewing plays presented by professional groups and other schools created an appreciation of dramatic techniques in both acting and technical aspects. Joint sponsors were Mrs. Margaret Lamon, Mr. Donald Juday, Mrs. Ann Deem and Miss Mary Falkner. They created a point system on a double basis. Points were given toward Drama Club Awards and toward Thespian hours. The ultimate goal of most members was to become a member of Thespian Troupe # 1933.

To provide information about many careers, speakers from varied fields appeared on the program of the York Business Career Club this year. In April a field trip enabled the members to see firsthand the houses of business and the opportunities they offer to them as students.

Miss Arlene Ries, club sponsor, helped to guide each member in discovering his own field of interest in business more completely. To involve themselves in, and experience the methods of today's business, the members of YBCC made stuffed animal pillows which were sent to Dixon State Hospital as a Christmastime service and an introduction to serving the public.

Radio Club received a twenty year old transmitter as a gift from a fellow radio operator. The club members have been working on this transmitter and other equipment, putting them in good operating condition during the year. Directing the boys in this work was the sponsor, Mr. Richard Davis.

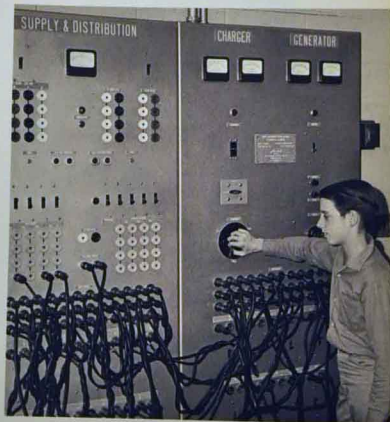

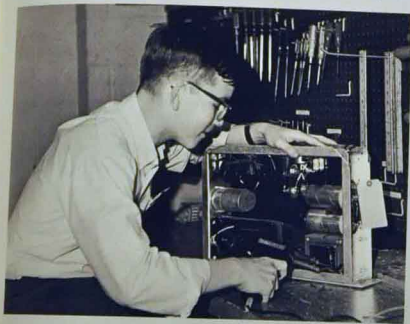

The club station, WA9IHK, participated in an on-the-air contest last November. The contest, known as Sweepstakes, was held by the American Radio Relay League. The object was to contact as many other amateur radio stations in the United States as possible in a thirty hour period. The licensed operators at the club station were WA9NXV, WA9JNU, WA9PPD, WA9SIU, and WA9QJM. Those who had not earned their licenses worked toward them during the meetings and were helped by those who already had them.

Members of the York service groups participated in many of the voluntary activities available to the students. Assistants in the health, general, guidance, and attendance offices were on the job delivering messages, filing, and picking up attendance slips during their study halls all year. The student librarians were also busy aiding the students, faculty, and librarians in choosing and checking out books.

The laboratory assistants were present during laboratory science periods to offer their help to the students and teachers performing experiments. Students taking part in the music and drama productions were provided with ushers to aid their audience in finding seats. Sound and light for all the productions were made available by the members of sound and light crews.

In keeping with the Christmas spirit, Green Key Club members sought to bring some of the joys of the season to underprivileged and mentally retarded children. In addition to making gay ornaments and colorful Christmas stockings, the club sponsored an all-school toy drive. The items were wrapped by the members and sent on to the various needy institutions.

In an attempt to extend the Christmas spirit throughout the rest of the year, Green Key gave a party for an orphanage at which they presented the children with coloring books and puppets which the members made themselves. This project was in addition to the usual meaningful services which the group provides for the school, such as guiding at Open House and PTA meetings, and hosting the various conventions and contests which take place at York. The members also worked with interested girls from Addison Trails in starting their Blue Key Club.

The group undertook two money-making projects this year to finance their activities. They sponsored a lively mixer after a basketball game and sold yearbook covers. The officers, along with their faculty sponsor, Miss Myrna Magnuson, prepared an informative booklet so that the selected junior and senior girls in the club would understand the purpose of Green Key in bringing service and hospitality to the school and community.

Beginning the new year with a full night of entertainment and fun, "Ice Palace," the semi-formal dance held on January 7, was one of the biggest events of this year's Girls' Club.

The girls who planned and created this night of festivities were the same ones who had acted as big sisters at the beginning of the school year. Volunteers from the club organized small parties consisting of one sophomore and four or five freshman girls. Here they answered questions, offered advice, and in general assured the new girls that there is no real terror to York High School. This and the mother-daughter tea held on May 8 were a couple of the activities that helped to develop stronger relationships among the girls at York.

Other club projects included sponsoring Bow Week February 13-17, organizing the freshman mixer, and making stuffed animals for the orphans at the annual Christmas party. The girls were assisted in all these activities by their sponsor, Miss Nancy Ray, and co-sponsors Mrs. Marie Wyatt, Mrs. Barbara Hendershott, and Miss Leona Kowalski. Their meetings were held on the second Monday of each month in Yorkshire Hall.

Girls Display Prowess in Powder Puff Game

Concluding the year with an evening of music, Pep Club held its annual semi-formal dance honoring the Dukes of York. This affair rounded out the activities which were initiated with the Kick-Off Soc Hop. Between these two evenings of merriment there was an entire year in which the members of Pep Club, under the guidance of Mrs. Ellen Braun, dedicated themselves to the purpose of promoting school spirit. Many hours of hard work were poured into the preparation of banners for the cafeteria, selling pins and sweat shirts, and building the float for the queens of Homecoming. In contrast to these activities, the members of Pep Club took time out to joyfully battle against one another in their annual game of Powder Puff basketball.

The annual father-daughter volleyball game, a Christmas party, and a bake sale were the special events of the Girls Athletic Association, directed by Miss Margaret Lacey, this year. A mother-daughter tea at which awards were presented was the last event.

For the second consecutive year, GAA won first place in the Homecoming parade for having the best decorated car. Many sports were played at GAA's meetings on Tuesdays after school. These sports included tennis, softball, bowling, volleyball, basketball, tumbling and apparatus, and archery.

GAA is an organization in which girls can develop better sportsmanship, increase athletic skill, and broaden their field of sports knowledge as well as have fun.

The tragedy of Joan of Arc and the fable of Snow White were this year's annual spring presentations by the members of Orchesis. The group sponsored by Mrs. Louise Nettleton and the officers made up a variety of dances to present in this program.

Studying the history and different techniques of modern dance, participants in Orchesis strive to develop poise through perfection of timing and co-ordination. Every Wednesday after school Orchesis members met to exercise, to limber their bodies and to practice modern dances. For attending these meetings and appearing in the spring presentation, the girls received points towards their pins.

Striving for excellence and unison, the Pom Pon squad performed three routines this year, one at Homecoming and two at basketball games. They also participated in four pep rallies and sponsored a soc hop after one of the home basketball games. During half time at the Homecoming game the two-year girls performed their traditional routine and the entire squad performed two more. Supervising formation and routine steps, Mrs. Gwen Tveter, the new sponsor this year, met with the twenty-eight girls every Monday for an hour long practice. The two-year girls created all three routines. In the spring they also selected next year's squad on the basis of timing and performance. For the first time the girls adopted some Pom Pon formations demonstrated at universities and colleges.

For the first time, York's Cheerleaders sponsored a pep week this year. A prize was awarded to the Senior class for fostering the most pep during the week. Seven new cheers were invented by the squad to help promote enthusiasm. Because cheerleading requires many long hours of practice and much skill, the varsity and frosh-soph squad practiced every Tuesday and Thursday for one hour under the supervision of Miss Karen Ellis, Cheerleading sponsor. New opportunities were opened to the varsity cheerleaders. The squad spurred a professional basketball team, the Chicago Bulls, on to victory. Cheering alternately with two other schools, the girls were part of an experiment to test whether or not high school cheerleaders could successfully capture and direct the spirit of an audience for a pro basketball game.

Coach Newton's top man, Al Janulis, streaks to 1st place finish in 440 yard dash in District Meet.

As the 1966 season progressed, winning and setting records became routine with York's Varsity trackmen. The Dukes reached the summit when they placed 4th in the State Meet and captured the WSC Outdoor Championship on successive weekends to complete the season. During the indoor season, Coach Joe Newton's thincads won the West Suburbs Indoor Meet and their second consecutive WSC Indoor Championship. When the outdoor season arrived, the Dukes continued their championship form by triumphing in the DuPage County Meet, Rockford Relays for the sixth year in a row, WSC Meet for the second straight year, and tying for first in the Palatine Relays.

Besides accumulating championships and compiling a 9-3 dual meet mark, the Green-and-White broke fifty-two records. Among these, the mile relay team set a new State record of 3:18, John Mauzey established a new school standard of 174 feet 1/4 inch in the discus throw and Al Janulis broke the school 440 record with a 48 seconds clocking. Janulis, Most Valuable and Dukes leading scorer, was named co-captain along with Jeff White.

York's Frosh-Soph cindermen won ten and lost three in addition to taking the Glenbard West Invitational, placing 2nd in the WSC Indoor Meet, and 3rd in the WSC Outdoor Meet. Gary Pierce broke the old York soph 440 record held by Al Janulis with a :51.5 timing. Pete Miller led Coach Newton's Barons in points.

Led by low-average man Ken Creighton, York's Frosh-Soph golfers swept to the WSC Championship by winning all seven conference meets and walking off with the conference tournament. Creighton took 3rd place in the tournament by carding an 81, while Rick Burns, Darl Tellefsen, and Bob Rex tied for 7th with scores of 83 to give Coach Tom Nelson his third championship in four years. The Barons compiled an 11—1 overall mark.

With a 3—4 WSC record and a 3rd place finish in the conference tournament, York's varsity linksters had to settle for 4th in the WSC standings. Coach Nelson's Dukes engaged in some tough battles and suffered losses by one, three, four, and five strokes. Nevertheless, they managed to end with a 5—6 overall mark and to finish 3rd in the district meet.

Senior George Rosenhagen tied the school record of 74 and also shot a 69 to establish a new practice record. In a meet that was limited to fourteen holes, Captain Steve Engebretson registered even par.

Varsity Netmen Place 4th in District Meet

York's Varsity tennis squad started the season by grabbing the first seven meets. During the next few weeks, however, the Dukes did a complete turnaround and dropped seven straight before winning two final contests for a 9-7 record. The Varsity's WSC record, coupled with its performance in the conference meet, put the Dukes in 6th place. Out of a field of twelve in the District Meet, Coach Robert Paddock's netmen battled to a 4th place finish.

Juniors Andy Pachner and John Meixner, sophomore Walt Koenig, and freshmen Jeff Dawson and Mike Rozboril paced the team to its winning slate. Pachner was named captain, Dawson received Most Valuable honors, and Meixner was voted Most Improved.

Roy Kallstrom and Glenn Cunningham led Coach Del Meitz's Barons to a 9-5 season mark and a 5th place conference tie.

York's Varsity diamondmen fought for 2nd place all season long, but lost three out of their last five games to finish 3rd with an 8-6 WSC slate, one game behind the 2nd place team. Senior Scott Fiene and Junior Randy Meyer smashed thirteen hits apiece, with Meyer running up a .310 average and Fiene posting a .260 mark, to pace Coach Erl Ellington's Dukes to a 9-8 won-lost season. John Sonnenberg drove in nine baserunners while Most Improved John Schleizer drilled two home runs, tops in their departments. Gary Schiefer and Mike Stertz led the pitching staff with three wins each and 1.99 and 2.57 ERA's, respectively. Fiene and Meyer tied for MVP honors; Fiene, Reese, and Sonnenberg were voted captains. Catcher Ned Reese was also named to the All-WSC Team.

For the Sophomores, Chris Schweer and Ken Lange led the way in hitting by compiling .389 and .300 batting averages. Schweer rapped out three doubles, one triple, and one home run among his fourteen hits, while Lange and Joe Fleming had six RBI's each, to lead the club. Gene Kabbe's microscopic 0.74 ERA and Bob Wendi's three victories topped the moundstaff. The Soph's WSC record stood at 5-9 while their overall mark was an improved 7-9. Coach Lee Wachenheim's Barons voted Kabbe the MVP award, picked Don Summers Most Improved, elected Jerry Janicek, Captain.

Senior Scott Fiene belts a record-breaking homerun. The ball soared 380 feet from home plate over the 30-foot high left field fence.

Strauch Directs Dukes' Explosive Offense

Defeating four out of their first five opponents enabled York's Varsity Football Team to tie for 4th in the WSC, with a 3-3-1 record, and to finish with a 4-3-1 overall mark. Coach Alex Naidenovich fielded a light squad as no player weighed over 200 pounds. The Dukes' passing and running game, however, made up for lack of size as the Green-and-White started fast. In a non-conference battle, York squeaked past District 88 rival Willowbrook, 14-13. Quarterback Bill Strauch connected on a 77 yard pass play, and Bob Booth ran 60 yards to account for York's touchdowns. Against Glenbard West, York scored on 87 and 82 yard pass plays but lost. Coach Naidenovich's varsity gridders then clobbered Maine East, 45-18, Downers Grove, 12-7, and Proviso West, 26-0, as long runs and passes again characterized the Dukes' offense. York faced three tough opponents during the final weeks of the season and fought Riversdale to a scoreless tie while losing to Lyons and Hinsdale.

Senior quarterback Bill Strauch broke most of York's passing records as he led the Dukes' offense to an eight game total of 140 points. Strauch completed 56 of 150 attempts—good for 1144 yards, a 20.4 yards-per-completion average, and ten touchdowns. These were all records. End Mike Dann also established a few school records as he caught 17 aerials for 374 yards. Halfback Booth, leading rusher, carried the ball 114 times, gaining 562 yards for a 4.7 average. Booth scored 43 points while Dann accounted for 23. Jack Derring, Randy Meyer, and Dave Anderman bulwarked the defense. Derring led in tackles and also recovered four fumbles and intercepted four passes. The team elected Strauch and Derring co-captains, chose Derring as MVP, and voted Wally Rudnick Most Improved. Strauch, Dann, and Derring were selected to the All-WSC and All-DuPage teams.

York's Frosh-Soph Football Team, paced by sophomore Kent Piche on defense and freshman Pat Keever on offense, scrambled its way to a 3rd place WSC finish. The offensive work of Cliff Dyer and Keever, with each scoring six touchdowns, led the underclassmen to a record 174 points. The Baron offense rolled up 1800 yards on the ground and 625 in the air for an impressive 2,425 yard total. The combination of Dyer to Bill Rollow accounted for the success of the soph passing attack, as Rollow grabbed 15 aerials for 197 yards. Piche and Mike Darning led Coach Richard Campbell's stubborn defense with 123 and 94 defensive points respectively. The rugged defensive eleven permitted their opponents 96 points for the season.

After a slow start against Willowbrook and a tough Glenbard West team, the Barons streaked to five straight conference wins before falling to Hinsdale in the season final. The sophs voted Dyer and Rollow co-captains, Keever as Most Valuable Back, and Ron Shade Most Valuable Lineman. Glen Miller was awarded Most Improved honors.

York's defending State Cross-Country Champions came through with another spectacular season, even though they did not retain their title. The Long Green Line outran most of its opponents and compiled a 9-1 dual meet mark. A loss to Glenbard West was the only blemish on their record and caused the Dukes' WSC record to stand at 6-1. This loss was avenged during the conference meet as Coach Joe Newton's Harriers finished 1st for the fifth straight year. The Dukes also placed 2nd in the National Postal Meet, an event which combines the two-mile times of five runners. On their way to 3rd in the State Meet, the varsity runners took 2nd in the District.

Walt Koenig and Gary Goss were the leading scorers for the Dukes. Team members voted John Gisburne, Roger Connelly, and Koenig as captains and named Gisburne and Koenig as Most Valuable.

York's Frosh-Soph Cross-Country Team concluded the 1966 season by capturing 1st place in the WSC. Led by such standouts as Mike Rozboril, Chuck Weigel, and Deane Foote, the Barons romped to their second perfect 10-0 season. While crushing all opposition, they attained victories in both the DuPage County Meet and the St. Charles Invitational. The soph harriers reached the summit when they won in the conference meet. Foote, leading scorer and Most Valuable runner, paced the thinclads in their 36 point victory by taking 1st place.

In dual meets, the Dukes piled up a 5-1 mark to tie Hinsdale. In the conference meet, Hinsdale edged the Dukes 98 1/2 to 92 to take conference honors.

The Dukes were led by co-captains John Dayton and Wayne Marshall on the still rings and side horse and Bill Kennedy on the parallel bars. Ron Quimby and Craig Berg were consistent scorers for the Dukes on the trampoline and in tumbling. In state competition Dayton took third on the rings and Quimby took ninth in tumbling for the Dukes.

Dayton and Berg were chosen Most Valuable while Ron Budde was named Most Improved.

The Sophs finished with an 8-4-1 overall record and took 2nd in the WSC. John Valant was voted Most Valuable while freshman Gary Nauss was named Most Improved.

Behind standout wrestlers Pete Russell, Ed Mielchen, and Tom Brace, Coach Richard Ulrich's Barons muscled their way to a decisive victory in the Addison Quadrangular. Russell and Brace copped firsts at 120 and 145 respectively, while Mielchen, Dave Bomberg, Rick Sterna, Bob Cesario, Wayne Baranowski, Tom Shallcross, and Dave Jacoby finished second. Following this crushing triumph, the sophs won three, lost six, and tied one to end the season with a 4-8-1 record, good for 5th place in the conference. Captain Pete Russell compiled the best record, 11-3-1, while Brace led the team in pins with eight.

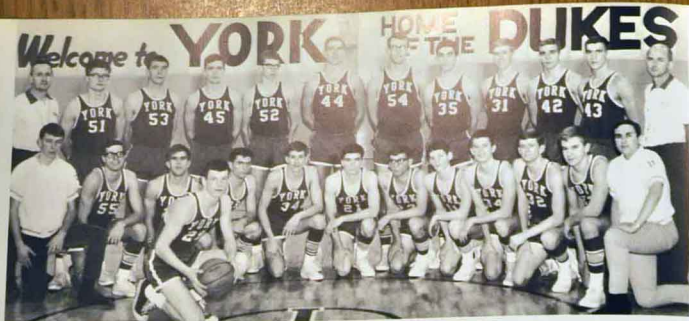

With only one letterman returning, the varsity had a rough season. The Dukes made a fine effort, however, and captured 3rd in the York Quadrangular and 7th in the Prospect Holiday Tournament. Bruce King, captain, and Most Valuable Mark Swenson were Coach Lee Wachenheim's only grapplers to advance in the district.

Amassing twenty-five victories and their second consecutive WSC Championship, the Dukes of York came through with another successful season. After losing their second and third games, the Green Machine produced seventeen straight victories before being upset. The varsity's 13—1 WSC slate earned the 1st place trophy. With a high-scoring attack, York captured the DeKalb Tournament Title. Chris Schweer scored 46 points in one game to set a tournament record.

With Schweer and Derrick Grove leading the way, the Green-and-White offense averaged 77.1 points per game. Against Proviso West, Grove poured in 46 points on 23 field goals, a York and WSC record, as the Dukes set a scoring high of 101 points. Grove also set a season mark with 163 assists. Schweer established new season scoring records with 697 points and a 24 point average. His 978 career points and 555 rebounds were also new marks. John Doolittle helped out on the boards with 355 rebounds. Captain Bill Strauch canned 88 of 114 free throws for a record .772 percentage.

Schweer became Coach Richard Campbell's third player to receive all-state honors. Schweer and Grove were voted to the All-WSC and All-Chicago Area squads. Schweer, Grove and Strauch were selected as MVP's for the Dukes while Schweer was elected captain for next year's team.

Sophs Fight to WSC, St. Ignatius Crowns

Behind Jeff Dawson's outshooting and the rebounding of Walt Teichen and Russ Moug, York's Barons outclassed 21 of 22 opponents this year.

Co-captains Dawson and Cliff Dyer directed the deadly soph offense as the Barons hustled their way to being the best soph quintet in the history of the school.

Dawson, who hit on 42 per cent of his shots from the floor and 69 per cent from the charity stripe, led the Barons in scoring with 362 points. Dyer was second in point production with 218 markers. Russ Moug and Walt Teichen hauled down 164 and 159 rebounds respectively to completely dominate the boards for the sophs.

The stingy soph defense held opposition in check all year. Their best defensive effort of the year came against Glenbard West. The sophs held the Bardlets to just 22 points in defeating them 64-22.

Besides walking off with the WSC title, the sophs won the St. Ignatius Holiday Tournament by defeating St. Pats in the title tilt 52-47.

The frosh, by taking first in their division, gave York a clean sweep of basketball on all levels. The frosh turned back all competition to end the season with a 17-0 mark good for 1st place in the WSC and 1st in the LaGrange Holiday Tournament.

1966-1967 FRESHMAN BASKETBALL TEAM. Front Row: D. Haines, J. Thon, D. Purdom, M. Licht, D. Rose. Second Row: M. McAndrew, J. Mulholland, Mgr., R. Mikal, B. Kirby, M. Cleary, B. Neiderer, D. Captain Bill Strauch starts drive for basket. The York guard poured in his season-high of 23 in "Sweet Sixteen" battle.

Advancing to the "Sweet Sixteen," York's Dukes met Chicago Public League Champion Harlan in a showdown battle for the trip downstate. The Green-and-White found the going rough and never led Harlan for thirty-one minutes and fifty-eight seconds of the game. With two seconds left, however, forward John Doolittle scored to give the Green Machine a 72-70 victory and a trip to Champaign. Reaching the "Elite Eight" for the second time in its history, York ran into foul trouble against the eventual state champions, Pekin, and went down in defeat. Thus, the Dukes and Coach Campbell completed the season with a 25-4 record, the WSC Championship, the DeKalb Tournament Title, and the Regional and Sectional Trophies. See additional pictures on pages 166, 167.

York Community High School—what is it? A mass of bricks and a jumble of additions has never made a school. It takes the people who frequent the structure to make it what it is. Entering as a freshman, each little person scurries down the hallways peering into the faces of those who pass him and sees only unsympathetic upperclassmen. As time progresses each one acquires a distinct personality and assumes his identity as a contributing York student. To form a cooperative unit, individuals engage in the activities which create the school's animate character and give it its atmosphere charged with life. On the following pages can be found the pictures of those who made York a memorable, vibrant mass in which future patterns of social behavior were formed by fraternizing with one's fellow students.

In District 88 the department chairmen are considered to be in a position of significant leadership, and in addition to their recognition as competent teachers are expected to serve in an administrative capacity. The department chairmen, the deans of students, the audio-visual director, the head nurse, and the various administrative assistants to the principal form the Administrative Council for each high school in District 88. This group meets weekly at the call of the principal, studies various administrative matters and traditionally counsels and advises the principal in decisions which he must make for the welfare of the high school. Through the use of this democratic process the problems of students and teachers are brought to the consideration of the administration and given careful and considerate attention. Although various other avenues exist for solving problems, it is obvious that the Administrative Council is a very important part of the democratic process and the administration in District 88 and York High School.

High-scoring guard Derrik Grove lays one in on a fast break against East Leyden.

Tabbed as "one of the toughest regionals in the state," the Glenbard West Regional boasted such powerful teams as Downers Grove North, Hinsdale Central, Glenbard East and York. The Dukes defeated Downers Grove South, 74-66, setting the stage for a third meeting with Downers North. The Trojans fought even with the Dukes into the fourth quarter. With less than three minutes left, however, the Green Machine dumped in nine points for the 64-55 victory. The Dukes put away the regional championship by tripping Hinsdale Central 68-59.

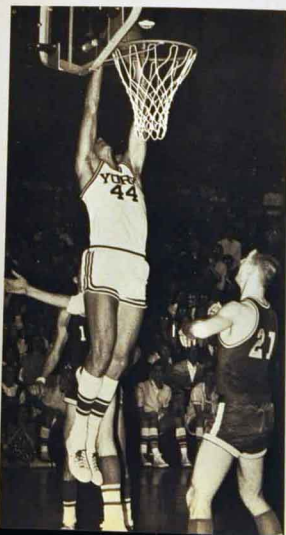

In the sectionals, the Green-and-White disposed of East Leyden, 81-66. The following night the Dukes played some impressive basketball during the second and third quarters to gain a twenty-one point advantage over Elgin. They hung on to win, 69-59, avenging an early season loss to Elgin and capturing a "Sweet Sixteen" berth.

Dukes Roll to Regional, Sectional Titles

In the championship regional game, John Doolittle fights for a rebound with Hinsdale's Parker Wellington.

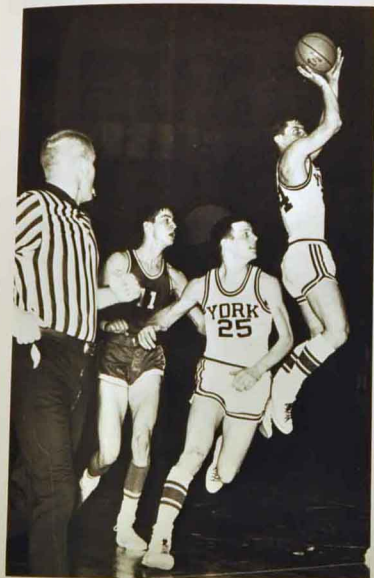

With Hinsdale defenders standing around helplessly, big Chris Schweer stuffs in two more.

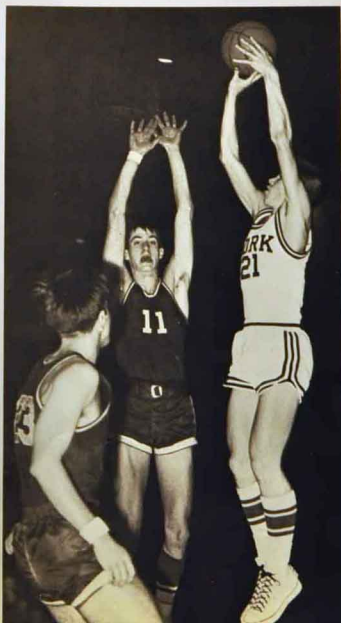

"First Place Cheerleading Squad for the 1967 Illinois State Basketball Tournament: York."

All-WSC Derrik Grove hits for two points on a long jumper.

Brought up to the varsity for tournament play, soph Jeff Dawson contributes to the York attack.

The traditionally fourth place freshman class float pulled a surprise upset by placing third in this year's competition.

It's natural to assume that a Letterman ...

... would find his place with the climbers ...

Senior Spirit of York

... instead of with the grease.

...Sophistication...

Composure...

...Grace.
