From the President and CEO

Dear valued Partners and Stakeholders:

I am excited to present to you the Explore Fairbanks comprehensive Strategic Marketing Plan for 2024.

Over the past year, our team has worked diligently to assess state and national marketing trends; considered feedback from our various committees, board of directors, partners and stakeholders; and engaged in extensive research to develop a strategic plan that we believe will set our destination on the path to success in 2024.

Some of the highlights of the plan are as follows:

- Launch of new community engagement initatives to include a complimentary membership level with a goal of fostering small business growth in the Fairbanks North Star Borough
- Using vibrant new content and marketing materials created in 2023, such as our new destination video, to expand our digital advertising footprint in core domestic markets with a goal of increasing our share of year-round independent travelers.
- Continue our efforts to have a presence in key international markets, to include our long-standing German speaking Europe market, a return to the Australia market for the first time since 2019, and futher exploration of the new international markets on India and Latin America that we launched this year.

The 2024 Strategic Marketing Plan is an ambitious yet achievable roadmap to ensure our destination remains a top choice for travelers while preserving the integrity, beauty and rich culture that make it so special.

Thank you for your trust in Explore Fairbanks. Let's make 2024 a year of growth, prosperity, and unforgettable experiences for all who not only visit our destination, but who live and work here as well.

Sincerely,

Scott McCrea
President and CEO

Brand Pillars

The Fairbanks region is a year-round visitor destination with three distinguishing seasons

Heralding Fairbanks' location on the globe at the 65th parallel of latitude are three seasons that define Fairbanks' style:

- Midnight Sun Season April 22 through August 20. The midnight sun in the summer sky sets Fairbanks apart including 70 straight days of sunshine.
- Winter Season Fairbanks celebrates winter from late-October through the end of March.
- Aurora Season August 21 through April 21. This eight-month period offers some of the world's best northern lights viewing. This season encompasses all four seasons.

Brand Pillars

Fairbanks is the basecamp for Denali, Alaska's Interior and Arctic

Fairbanks celebrates a rich heritage and tapestry of Alaska Native culture and art

Surrounded by wilderness, Fairbanks is just more than two hours from Denali National Park and serves as a leaping off point by air and road to the Arctic Circle, access to villages, towns and parks in Alaska's vast Interior and Arctic. The farthest north city in Alaska and the United States accessible by air, rail and road, Fairbanks' hub-and-spoke positioning is a win-win for the destination and neighboring communities.

Fairbanks takes pride in honoring and acknowledging the first people of Alaska. The Interior and the Arctic regions of the state offer endless opportunities to experience the culture of the Native people of Alaska in ways that are authentic and genuine. Events such as the World Eskimolndian Olympics and the Festival of Native Arts bring the culture to life, while museums and specialty shops feature the works of art of Alaska Native artisans.

Brand Pillars

Fairbanks offers iconic Alaskan experiences

Destinations throughout Alaska assert authenticity but Fairbanks with its "last frontier" feel, reputation for resourcefulness and pioneer spirit makes it the ultimate Alaskan locale. Fairbanks has an isolated location with proximity to remote villages, a large population of log cabin dwellers and cold, snowy winters that allow for distinctive sports and events like dog mushing. The often nature-inspired artistic spirit of the residents is expressed in all forms of performing and fine arts, while handcrafted food, drinks and gifts are created from locally sourced produce and materials.

Fairbanks is renowned as Alaska's Golden Heart

Fairbanks is known throughout the state and beyond as Alaska's Golden Heart. The triple meaning refers to its gold rush history, the city's location in the center or "heart" of Alaska, and more importantly, to the friendliness of its inhabitants. Hospitality programs such as the Golden Heart Greeter volunteers and the Golden Heart Meeting Ambassadors capitalize on this golden reputation to offer one of the most Authentic Alaskan experiences and visitors often remark about helpful locals.
