RENAISSANCE

See the arts & culture resurgence of the capital region.

The Workhouse Arts Center at Lorton — Once a reformatory, the Workhouse Arts Center is a truly unique setting that is home to more than 90 of the region's finest professional and emerging artists offering essential visual and performing arts studios and exhibition spaces as well as engaging programs for people of all ages and artistic abilities.

Wolf Trap — As the nation's only national park dedicated to the performing arts, Wolf Trap offers three unique venues. Wolf Trap's majestic Filene Center features a magical outdoor venue for world-class performances of every genre. The Barns feature amazing acoustics in the cooler months. And the beloved Children's Theatre-in-the-Woods has entertained families for generations.

Galleries — Lovers of Visual Arts will not be disappointed with dozens of galleries from which to choose, ranging from the National Portrait Gallery in Washington, DC to boutique galleries like the Greater Reston Arts Center.

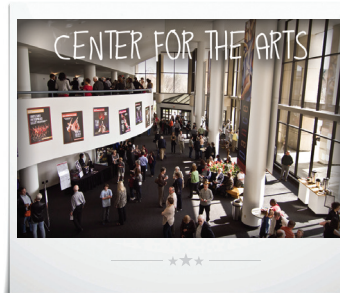

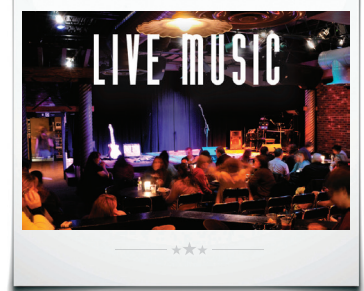

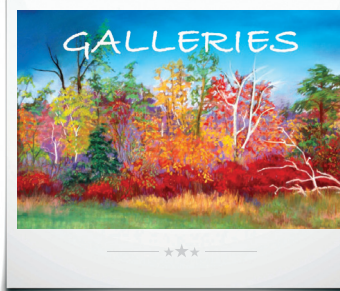

Center for the Arts — Presenting world-class entertainment and a diverse collection of performances, George Mason University's Center for the Arts attracts renowned artists and ensembles from across the nation and the globe.

Symphony Orchestra — Visitors to Fairfax County have the opportunity to enjoy the Fairfax Symphony Orchestra, the McLean Symphony, and the Virginia Chamber Orchestra.

Museums — Some of the most famous art museums in the world can be found in the Capital Region including the Hirshhorn and the National Museum of African American Art.

Live Music — From intimate, boutique venues like Jammin' Java to the sweeping outdoor setting of Wolf Trap's Filene Center, music lovers enjoy a huge range of music and artistic styles.

Culture — The Capital Region is well-known for its broad range of cultural experiences ranging from historic homes to galleries and museums to theatre and live music. There is literally something for everyone.
