It's all about Magnolia in Fort Worth & Waco

Where old finds a new life thanks to young entrepreneurs.

Magnolia Market at the Silos - Christmas at the Silos & Fairmount Festivus

The popular HGTV Stars, Chip and Joanna Gaines, own several businesses in Waco including the Magnolia Silos and the Magnolia Table restaurant. Due to the popularity of their TV show, the Magnolia Silos became an instant attraction as soon as their doors opened in October 2015. Thirty thousand visitors make the trek to the Silos each week hoping to catch a glimpse of Chip and Joanna, or visit some of the places featured on the show such as Harp Design and JDH Iron Works. In addition to the Magnolia Market, visitors can play games on the lawn, grab a bite to eat in the food truck park, have a tasty cupcake at Silos Baking Co., or take a stroll through the garden and shop at Magnolia Seed & Supply. And it's Christmas at the Silos that day, which includes a free vendor market.

Is there any place in Fort Worth that's more fun, funky, and pedestrian-friendly than Magnolia Avenue? Nestle in the Historic Fairmount district is the largest historic neighborhood in the southwestern US. If you love Christmas lights in Historic Districts you will truly enjoy Fairmount Festivus.
