AN ELEGANT COMBINATION OF

history & sophistication

Our founders knew this was someplace special when they planted roots here in 1846. Behind the elegant shops and fine dining, you can feel the authentic German soul and see reminders of a by-gone era cemented into history—like the original iron horse rings preserved on the sidewalks of historic Main Street. Come. Explore. Fall in love.

One of the most iconic features of Fredericksburg is our historic Main Street. The mix of architectural styles, including original limestone and signature Basse block buildings dating back to the late 1800s, now house our many boutiques, art galleries, restaurants and tasting rooms.

"Among the Americans who served on Iwo Island, uncommon valor was a common virtue."

— Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz

The First Iwo Flag

On the beach at Iwo Jima, February 23, 1945, the first Iwo Jima flag was raised. The flag was made of 140 pieces of fabric and was hoisted by 28 Marines. EVERY VISIT COMES WITH A rich history lesson

You don't have to work very hard to step back into history here. From the moment you drive into town, you'll notice a sprinkling of historical markers and attractions, not to mention the eclectic architecture and original Main Street buildings. From the beginning, Fredericksburg has had a spirit of friendliness thanks to forward-thinking leaders who crafted a peace treaty with the Comanche, commemorated by a life-size bronze within our Marktplatz in the center of town (a popular photo op, by the way). You might also visit Fort Martin Scott—the first U.S. military post to be established on the western frontier of Texas, where early soldiers helped assure peaceful relations—and its neighbor the Texas Rangers Heritage Center.

Fast-forward over 150 years, and today Fredericksburg and Gillespie County is a mecca of historical significance. Not only have our ancestors preserved structures and artifacts, but also the original aura of the German settlers and the warmth on which this town was built is evident in shops, attractions, restaurants and parks.

To really get a glimpse of what life was like for not only our great-great grandparents, but also lots of American settlers in the 1800s, head to The Pioneer Museum, three acres located on the West end of Fredericksburg's Main Street. This complex of original buildings features a home, blacksmith shop, one-room schoolhouse and a Sunday House—the "in-town" accommodations farming families would have for when they traveled in for church on Sundays.

Want to see a real working early 1900s

▲ See LBJ's "Air Force One-Half" at Lyndon B. Johnson National Historical Park

farmstead? The Sauer-Beckmann Living History Farm in Stonewall operates 24/7/365 thanks to interpreters in period clothing who take care of the animals, work the garden, do the chores and conduct tours for visitors. No electricity. No running water. No problem. As part of Lyndon B. Johnson State and National Historical Parks, this farm is a favorite for families — especially to see kids reflect on a life with no Internet.

▲ Kids can get a taste of chores in the 1800s at the Pioneer Museum Complex.

◀ And see a real working early 1900s farmstead at the Sauer-Beckmann Living History Farm at Lyndon B. Johnson State Park and Historic Site

While you're out there, no trip to this area would be complete without visiting the LBJ Ranch and the Texas White House—home of our 36th President, Lyndon B. Johnson (currently closed for renovation). LBJ was a larger-than-life figure in this area during much of his life and especially during his presidency. His ranch home is a surreal walk through the 1960s complete with a “hotline” to Washington from his dining room table. See his vintage car collection and his airplane fondly called “Air Force One Half.”

Back in town and right in the heart of the historic district is a must-do even for non-history buffs. The National Museum of the Pacific War—and its predecessor, the Nimitz Museum (currently closed for renovation), named after Fredericksburg native, Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz—is a state-of-the-art facility crafted with elegance and sophistication that pays homage to a war never to be forgotten.

Historically speaking, there's so much to see. Visit St. Mary's Catholic Churches, built in 1861 and 1908. Check out the Sunday Houses sprinkled throughout town (many now guesthouses) that stand as a reminder of our past. Get a walking map of our historic district or explore the Gillespie County Country School Driving Trail.

MUSEUMS AND HISTORIC SITES

2 5 CEMETERIES

Fredericksburg has two main historic cemeteries located at the east and west ends of town. Der Stadt Friedhof, located at the 300 block of N. Lee Street, and the Catholic Cemetery, located on Catholic Cemetery Road, are both known for their striking granite markers and headstones, many in German.

CHRISTIAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

602 E. Main
Built in 1887 and formerly called “The Colored Methodist Episcopal Church,” this simple white frame structure, with its small steeple, sits atop a native limestone foundation and has been completely renovated in recent years.

C CROSS MOUNTAIN PARK

On North Milam just at the outskirts of town. Cross Mountain is located on a historic Marl and Limestone hill with an elevation of 1,951 ft. featuring beautiful views, walking trails and picnic area. It was used as an Indian lookout prior to early settlers. In 1847 during the settling of Fredericksburg a timber cross was found on the hilltop. Early Fredericksburg pioneers gave this hill the name “Kreuzberg” or Cross Mountain. In 1946 the permanent lighted cross was raised. Enjoy a walk to the top for the scenic overview.

ABUNDANT OPPORTUNITIES TO visit mother nature

We like to say “Welcome to Fredericksburg. Now get lost!” because there are so many outdoor adventures to be had by all. There’s spectacular golf, amazing back country roads for cycling, hiking and climbing areas, scenic overlooks, parks, pools, birds and bats. Our temps are pretty mild all year round, and every spring you can witness a carpet of our legendary wildflowers, too. They’ve garnered quite a reputation over the years drawing many visitors just to see their blossoming rainbow of colors. The rolling hills of Gillespie County are unmatched. A short drive around the countryside, and you’ll agree—Mother Nature has a sweet spot for the Texas Hill Country.

BICYCLING

The back roads of Gillespie County provide miles of scenic views for road bicycle riding. Although the area roads are lightly traveled compared to big cities, riders are encouraged to obey all rules of the road to ensure their safety. With the hilly terrain, autos can come upon bicyclists without much notice, so please stay as far to the right as possible. Mountain biking enthusiasts will enjoy Hill Country State Natural Area, near Bandera, and Pedernales Falls State Park, near Johnson City. See page 33 for bicycle rentals.

BIRDING

Approximately 300 species of birds occur in the Texas Hill Country, where birding is great all year. The area is an overlap zone of ranges of eastern and western bird species, as well as some north and south species. Be sure to look for the endangered Black-capped Vireos and Golden-cheeked Warblers. An excellent place to view birds in Fredericksburg proper is the Live Oak Wilderness Nature Trail in Lady Bird Johnson Municipal Park. Stop for a bird check-list at the park office. Pedernales Falls State Park, near Johnson City, has wildlife viewing stations, while Enchanted Rock State Natural Area, 18 miles north of Fredericksburg, is also a premier bird-watching location.

FISHING

Fishing opportunities are available in Hill Country state parks and at area lakes. The closest place for kids to drop a line in the water is Lady Bird Johnson Municipal Park on Highway 16 South. Tres Molinos Ranch & Resort in Harper, TX, (830) 992-8783, offers a stocked pond along with bait and tackle. The Country Flyfisher, (830) 990-9453, can also help find places to fish around the area. See city and state parks, pages 10–11.

GOLF

Lady Bird Johnson Golf Course: A beautiful 18-hole, par-71 course that in 2012 underwent a $2 million upgrade and renovation. Located at the Lady Bird Johnson Municipal Park, this 6,686-yard course offers 48 bunkers and water in play at 10 holes. The fairways have been recontoured, and there is Champion Ultra Dwarf on greens. Restaurant in the clubhouse is open to the public. For more detailed information, see page 10.

HIKING

The Hill Country region of Texas offers numerous state parks for hiking. See list of state parks and natural areas in this brochure (pages 10–11).

HUNTING

The Fredericksburg area of the Texas Hill Country is home to many native and exotic species of animals, which allow sportsmen almost year-round hunting opportunities. White-tail deer are the most popular and plentiful quarry pursued by hunters, but there are also turkey, doves and quail. Many ranches in the Hill Country now manage their herds to improve the quality and health of the animals. In addition to the native game, exotics such as axis deer, blackbuck antelope, fallow deer, sika deer and feral hogs are abundant.

ROCK CLIMBING

Estimated to be over one billion years old, the pink granite domes and boulders of Enchanted Rock State Natural Area make it one of the best climbing venues in all of Texas. See State Parks (pages 10–11).

Enchanted Rock State Natural Area is the outdoor lover’s haven—with all levels of hiking, climbing, camping, picnic areas, bird watching and various events. Tip: purchase your Day Pass in advance online to ensure your entry to the park.

texaspeaches.com

Gillespie County produces 40% of all the peaches grown in the state of Texas. Roadside stands line many of the roads leading into Fredericksburg, with a major concentration along Highway 290 between Fredericksburg and Stonewall and along Highway 87 South. The peach season runs from mid-May through the first week of August in a normal year. The Hill Country Fruit Council produces a listing of its members in a brochure titled Fredericksburg-Stonewall Peaches, which is normally available at the Fredericksburg Visitor Information Center.

WILDFLOWERS

Over 5,000 wildflower species make their home in the State of Texas, products of the state's different ecosystems. The Texas Hill Country is defined by limestone cliffs, granite outcrops and hidden springs, providing diverse habitats for wildflowers.

YOU MIGHT JUST HEAR SOMETHING

calling your name

With over 150 shops and boutiques, shopping remains one of the primary attractions in Fredericksburg. Many of the shops are concentrated on and off Main Street in the seven block area from Elk Street on the east to Milam Street on the west. Don't miss the shops on West Main, past the Marktplatz or central square. Other shopping opportunities can be discovered around every corner in town and along major highways leading into Fredericksburg. And don't forget to check the less obvious! Two excellent sources of books relating to the history of the area are the gift shops at the Pioneer Museum and the LBJ State Park Visitor Center. Numerous antique dealers and interior design studios call Fredericksburg home, as well as craftsmen who create wonderful custom pieces for the home. For a full listing of all shops, or to search by retail category, visit VisitFredericksburgTX.com/shopping.

AROUND EVERY CORNER YOU'LL FIND

priceless inspiration

The Texas Hill Country has a long history of inspiring artistic creativity with its rough and rolling landscape, expansive skies, native plants and abundant wildlife. Classically trained artists from Dresden, Friedrich Richard Petri and Hermann Lungkwitz, were among our earliest settlers.

Named among the "Top Five Western Art Towns" by Southwest Art magazine, Fredericksburg has continued its tradition of artistic collaboration, which in turn draws art lovers and collectors. Plan a visit during First Friday Art Walk Fredericksburg and you'll experience it all up close.

OUR HILLS ARE ALIVE WITH jaw-dropping talent

Our German settlers brought more than their accordians with them. Their love of music remains a strong thread woven throughout the area. So hang onto your cowboy hats, and prepare to be blown away by some of the best performers in Texas. Every weekend, countless stages, restaurants and dance halls feature an array of musical genres, including Rockbox Theater's tribute band lineup.* For 80 years, the Fredericksburg Music Club has hosted classical musicians from across the globe. And for 20 years, the Fredericksburg Theater Company has been "wowing" audiences with award-winning dramatic, comedic and musical productions like South Pacific, Les Miserables and Beauty and the Beast. It's truly an entertainment cornucopia with events like the Luckenbach Blues Festival, Van Der Stucken Festival, Maifest German Chorale Concert, Hill Country Film Festival and—of course—the three days of polka at Oktoberfest.

all things edible

Our local chefs are true culinary artists. From authentic German to gourmet Texas Hill Country cuisine, there is more variety here per capita than most large metro areas.

YOU'LL ENJOY THE CUISINE AND

savor the memories

From authentic German to traditional slow-smoked BBQ, we Texans take our food pretty seriously. The variety of edibles to be found in and around Fredericksburg is astounding, and the sophistication level of its preparation is nothing short of inspiring. Our talented chefs (who we like to call “culinary artists”) have built a loyal following for themselves—and the area. Many use fresh ingredients sourced locally including meats, cheeses, vegetables and of course, wine.

If the casual nature of a backyard picnic or family gathering is more your style, we certainly have the venues to satisfy. But if you’re in the mood for something a bit “higher-end,” you can choose from an impressive array of sophisticated and elegant dining options designed with meticulous detail and surprisingly modern creativity.

Homemade ice cream. Fresh-baked bread. Spirit-filled chocolates. Jams and jellies. Gourmet coffee. Brick oven pizza. Farmers Market. Food festivals. Peaches in the summer. Cooking classes. The list goes on. And of course, we have the perfect wine to go with it all. Take your taste buds on vacation with you this time.

AWARD WINNING AND SIMPLY SCENIC

we'll toast to that

The Texas Hill Country is home to over 50 wineries and vineyards, and Fredericksburg is the epicenter of the Texas Hill Country wine region. There are 40 wineries and tasting rooms located in Fredericksburg and Gillespie County. Our Gillespie County wineries have been producing a variety of quality wines that have won both state and national honors.

Believe it or not, wine production in Fredericksburg dates back to the original settlers who used the native mustang grape to produce wines. Modern winemakers realized the landscape and climates in the Texas Hill

Country were conducive to expanding on the idea and a booming industry was reborn.

Now it is a bustling business drawing visitors from all over the globe. Each winery and vineyard has its own distinct personality. From quintessential Tuscan to simply modern, some feature courtyards with spectacular views while others offer quiet patios with lush shade.

While the wine gets all the glory, don't forget we have a first-class bourbon distillery nearby, as well as craft breweries getting rave reviews.

Enjoy responsibly. See transportation services and tours on pages 27 and 33.

WINERIES

Tours and tastings available at most wineries in Gillespie County. Tasting fees apply. Tour groups must call to make reservations for a tasting.

Note: These facilities have a winery "G" permit from the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

THE PERFECT ACCOMMODATIONS COME WITH real sweet dreams

Have you ever looked at a magazine and said “I want to stay THERE!”? Well, Fredericksburg is chock-full of those kinds of accommodations. From romantic cabins to luxury Main Street lofts to plantation-esque mansions in the countryside, you will be astounded at the variety of lodging available—no matter the age, taste, budget or size of your group. Prefer name brand hotels? No problem. We have plenty of those, too.

CHOOSE FROM:

- Hotels
- Motels
- B&Bs
- Guesthouses
- Inns
- Lodges
- Vacation Rentals
- Campgrounds
- RV Parks

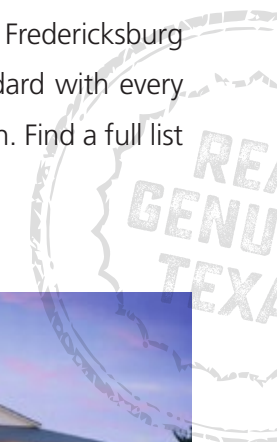

Our accommodations have grown over the years as people realize that Fredericksburg is simply not a day trip anymore. But, not to worry. We have experienced travel planners at the Fredericksburg Convention and Visitor Bureau’s Visitor Information Center to guide you in the right direction, as well as several lodging reservation services in Fredericksburg.

While the actual number remains somewhat of a mystery, there are more than 1,200 B&B/guesthouse units in Gillespie County. Many are historic homes which add to the nostalgic charm some travelers seek. Rest assured, Fredericksburg is known for its warm Texan hospitality, and that comes standard with every night’s stay, no matter where you choose to lay your head down. Find a full list of accommodations at VisitFredericksburgTX.com/lodging.

The only thing more plentiful than the things to do in and around Fredericksburg is the abundant variety of places to stay.

SO FUN, YOU DON'T EVEN NEED A reason to celebrate

Get ready to enjoy some time with hundreds of your closest friends! With a festival or event just about every weekend, there's always something going on. Keep in mind, this listing isn't even the tip of the iceberg. There's music, food, art, flowers, nature, holidays, history ... events for every interest!

Spring is blooming with events: The spring months include fun events like the Hill Country Film Festival, LBJ 100 Bicycle Tour, and annual Crawfish Festival.

Summer is a hot time for fun: Our summer months include the Stonewall Peach Jamboree and Rodeo, Gillespie County Fair, Luckenbach Food Truck Festival, a myriad of July 4th festivities, grape stomps at several wineries and so much more.

Fall is a season of festivals: Of course, Oktoberfest is "the big one," but the fall season also brings the Fredericksburg Food & Wine Fest, the Mesquite Arts Festival and others.

Are you a Christmas Connoisseur? Then November/December is the time for you. German traditions, special seasonal events and timeless holiday décor abound for four weeks of festive holiday entertainment. Go ice skating. Marvel at our 30-foot Christmas tree and 26-foot German Christmas pyramid. Watch our lighted parade. Shop Main Street. Revel in Fredericksburg—the perfect Old World getaway.

Make your first stop in town the Visitor Information Center. Brochures, maps and local “know-it-alls” to help plan your visit.
