Seaside and urban center, home and history: All find a harmonious balance in the cities of Hallandale Beach, Pembroke Park and West Park.

ith dynamic entertainment, shopping destinations, historical points of interest and quiet residential spaces, these neighborhoods provide the perfect foundation for well-rounded living.

Explore Hallandale Beach, complete with a stunning coastline of lively dining and entertainment. Head to the city's boardwalk and grab selfies by the iconic beach ball water tower. Further inland, exciting attractions like Gulfstream Park — featuring world-class thoroughbred racing, slots, restaurants, night clubs and luxe shopping — and The Big Easy Casino await.

Next door, the small town of Pembroke Park sees its population of fewer than 7,000 double each winter as seasonal residents seek warmer climates, many settling into one of the city's four RV parks. The neighboring city of West Park is a close-knit, kid-friendly haven with multicultural Black roots.

In these pages, we'll introduce you to favorite places, providing an inside look at what makes these areas truly special. Whether you're a Greater Fort Lauderdale native looking to reconnect with your community or a first time visitor searching for memorable experiences, discover unique attractions in Hallandale Beach, Pembroke Park and West Park to add to your itinerary.

PEMBROKE PARK

Measuring just 1.6 square miles, Pembroke Park's natural charm makes it a sought-after destination for vacationers. While there are no conventional hotels within the town, vacation rentals and RV facilities abound. Pembroke Park is not only a fun-in-the-sun location, it also proudly holds the title of "The Small Town that Means Big Business." Numerous Fortune 500 offices, including Coca-Cola Bottling, Royal Caribbean Cruise Lines and Home Depot, have called this town their home.

WEST PARK

In 2005, four neighborhoods merged and incorporated to create West Park, Greater Fort Lauderdale's youngest city. Back in the 1940s, it was home to the first and only Black planned community in the area. Memories and artifacts from these first residents are on display at The Bowles-Strachan House, housed in one of the last original West Park homes standing. Today, this small city is filled with beloved momand-pop eateries that reflect the city's diversity, and it revels in local celebrations like the annual Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Parade.

HALLANDALE BEACH

The small town blossomed, incorporating in 1927. Later, in 1947, the city expanded its boundaries by annexing the stunning coastline. Even before this, Hallandale had earned its reputation for entertainment, with Greater Fort Lauderdale's oldest betting establishment, now known as The Big Easy Casino, opening in 1934. Gulfstream Park soon followed in 1939. The historic Million Dollar Palms nightclub, since demolished, became one of the few premiere venues during the segregation era where African-American legends like James Brown, Marvin Gaye and Etta James could perform.

Today, Hallandale Beach is a vibrant mix of young families and active retirees. Gulfstream Park has evolved into a thriving shopping, dining and entertainment complex where places like Carousel Club will sweep you away with 14,000 square feet of open-air space to enjoy food, live music and deliciously crafted cocktails along their round carousel bar. Amid all of this development, the city still respects its natural environs, like South City Beach Park, where you can soak up the sun, enjoy live music, or find inner peace during beach yoga. The city is home to more than a dozen public parks, ensuring plenty of outdoor fun beyond the beautiful beaches.

The new District 8, previously referred to as the Fashion, Art and Design District, has become a major tourist attraction and local art and foodie hub of Hallandale Beach. In 2019, the city partnered with ArtServe, Greater Fort Lauderdale's historic arts incubator, to enhance the local cultural experience. These initiatives included trendy new restaurants, beautification projects and community activities.

VIBRANT HYDRANTS

To mark the beginning of "ArtWay," a roadmap to the public art experiences throughout the city, 35 hydrants were transformed with everything from tie dye to whimsical folk art to Harlem Renaissance designs.

COMMERCIAL BUSINESS MURAL PROGRAM

Contemporary outdoor murals enhance the neighborhood's sense of community and attract more art-related activities and businesses. The first of these projects was the Foster Park Mural. Five local artists transformed surfaces with dynamic artwork. District 8 also previously partnered with ArtServe to produce "12 Months of Art" at key locations, along with monthly art programming.

PAINT THE TOWN

A first for the state of Florida, "Paint the Town" is a program aimed at beautifying neighborhoods and rehabilitating dilapidated buildings. More than 60 homes have undergone beautification, and the services are free.

RESTAURANTS AND RETAIL

Eateries like KAO Bar and Grill, Hallandale's first shipping container restaurant, and Icebox Cafe, an iconic South Florida brand, offer trendy design aesthetics and innovative fare. Activities like art and ceramics classes at Mercado Art Studio and dance lessons at Estudio 35 offer a fun break from the day. Pro tip, mention "Be Local!" when out and about in District 8 for special discounts!

ESSENTIAL

HALLANDALE BEACH OCEANFRONT

▲ The oceanfront at Hallandale Beach is a bustling but relaxed setting, open to locals from surrounding Greater Fort Lauderdale neighborhoods, as well as visitors staying in the towering resorts that line the shore. Under the shadow of the beach ball water tower, take a stroll along the white sand at the water's edge from North City Beach Park to South City Beach Park.

Dip your toes in the Atlantic Ocean or kick around a soccer ball with new found friends. Hotel guests can rent umbrellas and beach chairs along the strip, while locals are invited to bring their own. The beach is clean and open from dawn until dusk.

2800 E. Hallandale Beach Blvd.

STRIKE 10 BOWLING

► Strike 10 Bowling was added to The Village at Gulfstream Park in 2015 and has become a family fun center. By day, the alley is ideal for birthday parties, casual bowling or corporate events. By night, it's beloved by adults for its full bar, outdoor seating, live DJs and bowling under neon lights. Challenge your friends, family or date to a few rounds. Visit the restaurant and enjoy wings and tacos among more sophisticated options like grilled mahi mahi and tostadas.

GULFSTREAM PARK CASINO

■ With more than 800 Las Vegas slot machines, Poker, Blackjack, roulette and other classic table games, Gulfstream Park Casino is the place to be if you're feeling lucky. Located within the massive Gulfstream Park complex, the state-of-the-art casino has two floors of games, from the classics like Wheel of Fortune and Triple Diamond, to new and innovative games like Tree of Wealth. The payout was more than $600 million in 2022 alone. The casino is open year round, with 24-hour play on weekends.

XAVIER'S CIGAR LOUNGE

▼ Xavier's Cigar Lounge was founded in 2014 by two friends who loved cigars and wanted to create a welcoming space for others. It quickly became a top destination for cigar connoisseurs. With a wide selection of well-kept cigars, gourmet coffees, and premium beers, wines and soft drinks, they cater to a cross section of guests. The lounge offers a unique experience with five TVs for catching sports and indoor and outdoor seating in a beautifully landscaped courtyard. Open seven days a week, this lounge invites you to relax, unwind and enjoy your favorite smoke in a friendly and inviting ambiance.

PEMBROKE PARK

RAYMOND P. OGLESBY PRESERVE

► Expect to see stunning vistas at this community park. Formerly Pembroke Preserve Park, the name was later changed to honor former Pembroke Park Mayor, Raymond P. Oglesby. The Preserve is home to an expansive green space, shaded walking trails, community exercise equipment, open barbeque grills for picnics and a large pavilion that can be rented for events. Stroll the on-site Pembroke Park Community Farm and see flourishing sunflowers, strawberries, jalapenos, broccoli and other fruits and vegetables growing in the garden. Raymond P. Oglesby Preserve is open from sunup to sun down.

3115 S.W. 52nd Ave.

▶ In operation for more than 50 years, Aqua Golf Driving Range is one of the last free-standing golf options left in the Pembroke Park area. Famous as the setting for golf scenes in the movie "There's Something About Mary," the range sits on a 20-acre lake that provides a graceful canopy of shade so you can hit a bucket in the sun or rain. The range also includes a short game center for putting practice and chipping. Located 15 minutes from the beach, it is open 9a.m. - 9:30p.m.

JAVELLANA
Hallandale Beach

Stats: I'm a lifelong resident of Hallandale Beach. I was the city's youngest ever and first Asian American and openly LGBTQ+ elected official. I love trying new foods, yoga, spending time with my dogs, the beach, happy hour and coffee with friends.

Where to chill: My recommendation for unwinding includes the yoga classes at Om'echaye Wellness Center and a little treat from the Juice Mafia for delicious smoothies.

Hot spot: Visiting our gorgeous beach is an absolute must! If you're looking for the perfect meal and view of the ocean, Etaru is your spot. I recommend going for happy hour, weekend brunch on the terrace or a special celebratory occasion.

For here or to-go: For takeout, The Krazy Vegan has to be No. 1. It's a Black-owned, award-winning, gourmet, plant-based burger joint. The krazy kowboy burger and krazy Philly cheezesteak paired with their signature lemonades is life changing. For dining in, my go-to is Doggi's Arepa Bar for Venezuelan cuisine. My favorites are the arepa llanera, pabellón empanada, tajadas, tropical burger and desayuno criollo.

Hallandale Beach

Stats: I am CEO of the Hallandale Beach Chamber of Commerce. My friends and family call me the "people magnet" for helping people make meaningful connections. I'm passionate about giving back to my community, self-care and FOOD!

Where to chill: After a good workout, I head to Melanated Beauty Spa for a relaxing facial or massage followed by a bite from CAO Bakery.

Play time: Hallandale Beach's family-friendly, beautiful state-of-the-art OB Johnson Center offers a Teen Zone program, computer lab and fitness gym. For adults, the Carousel Club is the perfect backdrop to a fantastic horse racing weekend at Gulfstream Park. This spot is ideal for eats, cocktails and entertainment. One of my most memorable moments at Carousel Club was watching El DeBarge live in concert!

Local bites: I love supporting small eateries in the city of Hallandale Beach. My go-to is a hidden gem called Tasty G Spot known for its multicultural cuisine. My favorite is the delicious chicken and waffles. After, I head to Land of a Thousand Hills Coffee for a vanilla chai freeze.

Mayor Ashira MOHAMMED Pembroke Park

Stats: I'm a native of New York City and mother to a rambunctious 8-year-old. I made Pembroke Park my home in 1999 and later acquired my law degree while serving as the Town of Pembroke Park's youngest mayor ever.

Where to Chill: For a quiet stroll or outdoor workout, visit Raymond P. Olgesby Preserve, a beautiful 20-acre park with a community garden, fruit orchard and a half-mile trail.

Grown folks' business: For the grown and sexy, there's Henney Tyme Bar and Lounge for its hot wings and The Polo Club, a nightclub open until sunrise on weekends. Try your hand at our Aqua Golf Driving Range.

Diverse dining: One of my favorite spots for breakfast is Untoasted, a family restaurant that serves delectable pancakes. For lunch and dinner, the chic Berny's Kitchen & Bar offers diverse cuisine.

Bonus share: A fun fact is that several movies were filmed here: "Striptease" with Demi Moore, "There's Something About Mary" and "Hoot."

Kitchen & Bar.

Mayor Felicia BRUNSON

West Park

Stats: My hunger for change drove me to become instrumental in incorporating the city of West Park as Broward County's 31st city. Now I'm the mayor. Eighteen years later, the city that no one thought could survive is still here thriving!

Where to chill: West Park is a small, close-knit community with generations of families. On any given day, our parks are consistently filled with residents of all ages.

Never a dull moment: Our city is providing numerous resources for all ages — a year round senior citizens program, fitness bootcamp program, youth athletic program, tennis lessons for kids, youth advisory council, summer youth program, after school program, basketball camp, partnership with Broward college, entrepreneurship program, police explorers program, and we're starting a business training program, to mention a few.

Traditional eats: Hands down Chef Tally World Famous Jerk Chicken is my favorite place to eat. You can feast on the most amazing chicken and ribs.

nchored by a 100-foot, bronze and steel statue of Pegasus killing a dragon, The Village at Gulfstream Park is an exciting destination for upscale shopping, art, live music and dining.

Two miles east of Interstate 95, between Fort Lauderdale and Miami International Airport, Gulfstream Park serves as an ideal midpoint between the beaches and vibrant downtowns. Rooted by its historic racetrack and casino, this multifaceted entertainment locale caters to a diverse range of interests.

Gulfstream Park also provides excellent facilities for corporate events, weddings and baby showers. Valet service and complimentary self-parking is available.

FLORIDA DERBY

The world's best horses and jockeys gather for the biggest race day in South Florida, the Curlin Florida Derby, hoping to get closer to the famed Triple Crown. The competition draws moguls, celebrities, famed actors and actresses for a week of horse racing, wagering, and socializing. In 2023, the purse was $1 million. Winners often go on to be successful in the Kentucky Derby. Bring your Derby hats and seersucker, and enjoy the spectacle.

PEGASUS WORLD CUP

The Pegasus World Cup was launched in 2017 to bring championship horse racing to the next generation.

This event provides the winner with automatic entry into the Saudi Cup, the world's richest race purse.

ROMANCE

A visit to Sher Gallery can be the perfect date. The gallery features glass and metal sculptures, photography and paintings by artists such as Lena Luckey, Hessam Abrishami and others.

Next, a repertoire of musical genres greets you three nights a week in The Village at Gulfstream Park for your dancing and listening pleasure.

For dinner and drinks, try Bissaleh Kosher Steakhouse, serving Israeli-style dishes prepared by expert chefs. On the menu are Mediterranean appetizers, Moroccan flatbreads, fish and vegetarian options. In the mood for Asian cuisine? Make a reservation at Christine Lee's for prime steaks and sushi overlooking Gulfstream Park's Walking Ring. You can even wager on a race right from your seat.

NIGHTLIFE

Gulfstream Park Casino features almost 800 Las Vegas-style slot machines, a live action poker room and table games throughout two floors. Head over to Yard House for an enormous selection of tap beers, and dine on traditional game-watching food like wings and tacos, along with specialties like truffle fries and Nashville hot chicken. Enjoy a view of the race and some classic rock.

Let loose with cocktails, music and live entertainment at Carousel Club, or cap the night off at PlugIN Karaoke, with 18 private karaoke rooms, 35,000 tracks, plus gourmet dining.

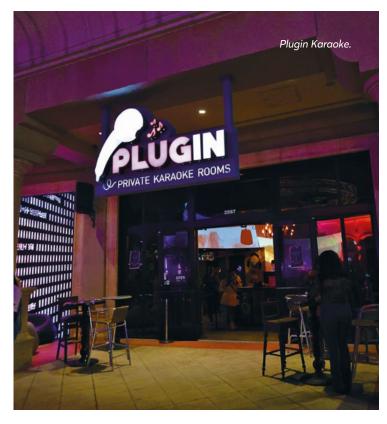

FAMILY FUN

What could be more fun than an evening bowling? Strike IO Bowling has the answer with II professional bowling lanes equipped with touchscreen technology, two smaller lanes designed for younger children, 30 HD TVs, pool tables, air hockey, an arcade room, a 50-foot bar and a menu with more than just the usual alley fare. For a more artsy activity, families can enjoy pottery painting at Color Me Mine. They glaze and fire the creations to be finished, non-toxic, lead-free and food-safe.

Need a refreshing dessert? Try Häagen-Dazs for decadent ice cream with flavors from vanilla to coconut macaroon.

No day here is complete without a visit to Pegasus and Dragon. This iconic statue is the second tallest in the mainland U.S., behind the Statue of Liberty. Visitors can dine al fresco at the Pavilion adjacent to the enormous beast and enjoy a view of the battle brought to life with fire, water, fog, lights and music.

HOMEWARE

Gulfstream Park has a variety of home shopping options. Looking for a Dutch oven or Vitamix blender? Get lost in Williams Sonoma. West Elm has you covered for those Mid-Century modern and minimalist furniture pieces. Pottery Barn always brings classic luxury furniture and home accessories. Visit Crate & Barrel, offering options for every room. Then there is the unique Z Gallerie, a lifestyle retailer with global flair.

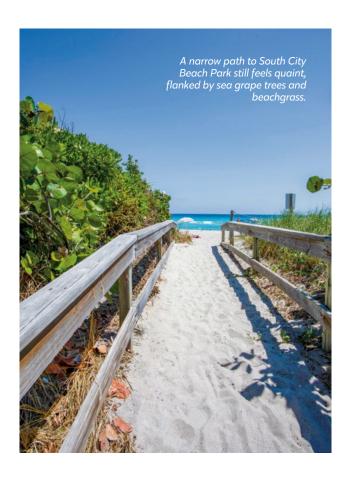

ith pure white sand and crystal clear waters, for an impromptu day by the seashore or an extended getaway, Hallandale Beach has it all. Visitors to the city's oceanfront enjoy the meeting of modern luxury and pure Florida beach life in a city where skyscrapers meet the sand. Glazed facades allow uninterrupted panoramic views of blue ocean waters, and hotel guests are treated like royalty, with exclusive property access and premium amenities.

Locals can visit the ocean by way of North City Beach Park, home to the colorful beach ball tower and a sand volleyball court. Or they can enter through South City Beach Park, which offers a children's play area and two bocce courts.

While sunbathers and swimmers bask in the salty ocean air, further inland, explorers can set sail on the expansive Intracoastal. Those who enjoy the thrill of small water vessels can have fun boating through these man-made waterways, leaving wakes along the otherwise quiet surfaces between the lavish hotels to the east and the waterfront homes to the west.

When you dock for the evening, try the local fare at popular seaside restaurants like ETARU and Juniper on the Water, serving the freshest catch of the day along with other extravagant contemporary cuisine. Whether you desire a dip in the warm ocean, waterfront dining or a day on the boat, you're sure to enjoy the endless summer sun and seaside glory of Hallandale Beach.

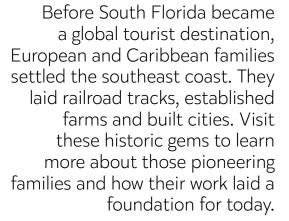

CURCI HOUSE AND HISTORIC VILLAGE

A Early city official Frank Curci and his wife, Rosina, built "Villa Providence" in 1924 on a citrus and avocado farm tended by their 11 children. The mansion provided shelter for many residents from the great hurricane of 1926. Architecture buffs will appreciate the Italian Renaissance design with Dade pine floors and Cuban tile details throughout. The house gleams because of pieces of imported Italian color glass embedded in the exterior stucco. The city saved the home from demolition in 2004, and it joined the National Register of Historic Places in 2013 after restoration. Tours are available the first Saturday of every month.

THE BOWLES-STRACHAN HOUSE

▲ Teenager Ethelyn Bowles left The Bahamas for Florida and bought a model home at Carver Ranches subdivision with a $50 down payment. The community was marketed exclusively to Blacks, which was unusual in the 1940s. The historic shotgun home remains in its original location. Ethelyn's granddaughter now owns the house and has collected dozens of oral histories from the community. That research filled a book, inspired a play and fueled a weekly talk show. The historical resource center archives the history of South Florida's Black communities. Tours are available by appointment.

HALLANDALE BEACH CITY HALL CANNONS

While city hall may not be your typical attraction, Hallandale Beach's complex holds history, with six cannons and an anchor believed to be the remains of the HMS Wolf, a British naval ship wrecked off the shore around 1741.

400 S. Federal Highway, Hallandale Beach | hallandalebeachfl.gov

THE HISTORIC HALLANDALE SCHOOLHOUSE

▲ The community's first school was built in 1906 then leveled by the 1910 hurricane. When the nearest county school board only offered lumber as assistance, residents rallied to build a two-room schoolhouse themselves. Now part of the city's historic village, the schoolhouse reopened in 2015 with a complete restoration that includes a classroom and a small museum. Still standing after more than a century, it is one of the county's oldest buildings. Contact the city's Parks and Recreation Department for information about tours offered the third Saturday of every month. The schoolhouse also can be rented for special events.

TEN PALMS RESTAURANT

▲ The spectacular menu puts a new spin on traditional racetrack favorites. After all, the restaurant is housed in the exciting Gulfstream Park complex. Whether you go with the less traditional hamburger, a gourmet ribeye or the Maine lobster roll with Japanese mayo, you can wager right from your table, enjoying your meal and the extensive drinks menu with live racing and real-time simulcasts on your own personal TV.

JUNIPER ON THE WATER

■ Nab a seat on the waterfront patio, ideal for sipping cocktails and indulging in raw oysters while taking in the stunning sunset view. This spot on the water also makes the perfect choice for either a brunch with friends, starting with bottomless mimosas, or a romantic evening, with sophisticated decadent dishes like seafood pasta packed with mussels, clams, shrimp and calamari. With family? No worries, it is extremely childfriendly and whips up an equally decadent grilled cheese sandwich for the kiddies!

MARASH TURKISH CUISINE

Delicious, juicy grilled kebabs are an obvious choice for the main course when partaking of the authentically prepared Turkish dishes at Marash. However, if you've never had it, this would be the place to try kiremitte köfte for the first time. Meatballs and a blend of onion. garlic, tomato and green pepper are slow cooked in a sand pot and paired with cacik and pita, providing a delicious blend of flavor that explodes onto your palate.

WOODONE RAMEN

 Choose from dumplings, ramen, chicken katsu and other Japanese delicacies. Adventurous appetites should order the unagi donburi made with grilled eel, while those sticking to the basics can find comfort in the pork tonkotsu ramen, and enjoy a generous portion of chewy noodles in a bone broth topped with scallions, corn, snow peas and an egg. Vegans enjoy a special menu of options, including the sapporo miso with tofu, seaweed salad and steamed edamame.

KOSHER BAGEL COVE

► Early risers should head straight to Kosher Bagel Cove, where you can grab a coffee, a fresh bagel and a schmear. The toasty bagels, from sesame to poppy seed and onion, pair with a range of other toppings. All can be ordered in bulk. Challah French toast, pancakes and signature egg dishes enhance your breakfast options, but soups, sandwiches, burgers, fish and chips, and a great kids menu make it the perfect family choice for lunch as well.

668 W. Hallandale Beach Blvd. kosherbagelcove.com

ETARU

In the days of the samurai, an open fireplace, or "robata," was central in a Japanese house. Similarly, ETARU revolves around the robatayaki grill, and, being a beachfront location, grilled seafood is a specialty. Signature raw dishes include yellowtail sashimi with yuzu truffle dressing and yellowfin tuna tataki. The restaurant is suited for dinner throughout the week, while on weekends before 5 p.m. the beach bar brings light, healthy fare directly to you as you dine on the sand.
