Spoil Your Kids and Your Pup

POSH MOUNTAIN TOWN STAYS WHERE K9S AND KIDS ARE KING.

By Lisa Blake

Traveling with the smallest members (two- and four-legged) of your family can be challenging. But it doesn't have to be. Check into these Colorado mountain town hotels and watch your babies revel in the spoils they deserve.

Check-In: Hotel Maverick, Grand Junction

Perks + Spoils: Snap adorable selfies with your pup in a plush dog bed, chomping on homemade treats and wearing their cute new bandana (all courtesy of this mod, stylish boutique hotel). Two dogs—no breed or size restriction here—are welcome in each room and the hotel's location on the Colorado Mesa University campus means open grassy areas right outside. Kids love dining in the magical gondolas and snow globes at the onsite Devil's Kitchen rooftop restaurant.

Check-In: Park Hyatt, Beaver Creek

Perks + Spoils: Call ahead for the Little Adventurers Hideaway experience and surprise your tyke with a personalized welcome treat and in-room tent, cozy sleeping bags and plushie s'mores firepit setup. Arrange for a Pampered Paws

Welcome where canine guests receive the VIP treatment with a luxury Hyatt dog bed, fancy dog bowl, and house-made artisanal treats crafted by executive chef Jonah Friedmann. Bring the whole crew to fireside après-ski cocoa on the patio.

Check-In: The Little Nell, Aspen

Perks + Spoils: Settle into a wealth of kid-friendly comforts, including cribs, strollers, car seats, highchairs, kids' bike rentals, and 24-hour children's room service options (hello, banana-chocolate-chip pancakes!) The hotel also provides child-sized robes, slippers, stuffed animals, and, upon request, in-room Playstation entertainment systems. Dogs of all sizes are welcomed and upon arrival receive a branded leash and peanut butter chews prepared by the pastry team, while rooms await with specialized beds, silver bowls, and a gourmet pet menu available for in-room dining. Bonus: Aspen's only Five-Star, Five-Diamond ski-in, ski-out hotel offers dog walking and dog and childcare services.

Check-In: The Hotel Telluride, Telluride

Perks + Spoils: Well-behaved four-legged guests are always greeted with a smile, homemade organic treats, bowls, and a bed at The Hotel Telluride (sorry, no cats). Enjoy a welcome bag filled with local pet info (where to patio dine, run off-leash, shop for new squeaky toys) and feel good knowing a portion of your $25 per-night pet fee goes to Second Chance Humane Society. The hotel's downstairs lobby—dubbed Telluride's living room—delivers on live music and fresh-baked cookies. A good time for kiddos and pups, Telluride's free gondola lets leashed dogs ride between the village and town.
