SECTION FOREMAN HOUSE

The Section Foreman House was built in the 1890s to house railroad workers and store maintenance equipment. By the 1970s, section houses were being slowly phased out and the Cotton Belt Railway deemed the Grapevine Section Foreman House unnecessary. But the old house was not ready to die. The structure was moved to 3036 Hall Johnson Road in south Grapevine and was used as a residence until 1990. On June 7, 1991, the Grapevine Heritage Foundation purchased the house and on January 12, 1993, it was moved back to its original location near the Cotton Belt railroad tracks. Today it is part of the self-guided walking tour of the Cotton Belt Railroad Historic District and is used for special events.
