EMPLOYEE SPOTLIGHT

Jody Dance

LABORER
STREET DEPARTMENT

Jody Dance is a lifelong Greensburg resident and has worked for the City of Greensburg for nearly two years as a Laborer with the Street Department. For Jody, one of the most rewarding parts of his job is working outdoors, particularly when it comes to mowing and snow removal. He enjoys the variety of the work and takes pride in helping keep the community looking its best.

Jody's commitment to Greensburg extends beyond his work with the City. He has lived in the community his entire life and has raised a family here. Jody has been married to his wife, Brenda, for 38 years, and together they have three sons—Jeremy, Justin and Jacob. Two of their sons currently serve in the military.

Jody and Brenda are also proud grandparents to five grandchildren, with another on the way, as well as four step-grandchildren. When he's not working, Jody enjoys spending time with his grandchildren, working on projects around his home or helping others with their projects. He also enjoys watching dirt-track racing.

Jody's dedication and work ethic have made a strong impression on his colleagues.

Street Department Commissioner Mark Klosterkemper and Deputy Street Commissioner Louis Moore shared:

"Jody is a dependable and dedicated part of our team and has worked diligently to learn the details of our wide array of jobs and responsibilities. In less than two years, his willingness to learn and attention to detail provides a degree of comfort to Louis and myself, as we know any task he is given will move forward without delay and be completed correctly. His low-key personality and upbeat attitude adds a positive dimension to the entire team."

We're grateful for all that Jody does for the City of Greensburg and proud to have him as part of our Street Department team.
