RDEN

6280 Hollywood Blvd., Los Angeles

The timeless glamour of Hollywood is celebrated in RDEN, located within the historic Taft building just across from the street from the Pangea Theater. A staple of pre-theater dining, RDEN is quickly becoming a must-visit spot in Los Angeles. Sip signature cocktails while overlooking panoramic views of Hollywood Boulevard. Sample selections from a globally inspired menu featuring sushi and omakase, modern pasta infusions, and a showstopping wagyu tomahawk.

PAPI STEAK AT FONTAINEBLEAU LAS VEGAS

2777 S. Las Vegas Blvd., Las Vegas

Golden Era Hollywood swagger meets modern Miami vibes just beyond the velvet rope at Papi Steak within the newly-opened Fontainebleau Las Vegas. The atmosphere is amplified and the menu is bespoke. Start with the Hamachi crudo and wagyu pastrami, smoked tableside, before indulging in the namesake offering, an impressive glatt kosher tomahawk with secret sauce.

GULAABO

250 W. 47th St., New York City

Chef Paramjeet Singh Bombra brings his deep knowledge of Punjabi cuisine to Gulaabo, located in New York's Theater District. A part of chef Sujan Sarkar's growing restaurant empire, Gulaabo is perfect for a pre-show meal, but it's also a destination in its own right. Start with the aloo tikka chat and an inventive cocktail—the Kesari is made with saffron-infused rum, blood orange liqueur, cardamom, and almond. A kabab is a must (try the red snapper), as is the goat curry, a Bombra family recipe.
