Greenville, South Carolina gathergreenville.com

Gather up your friends and family and head to this outdoor dining destination. Make sure you come hungry—you'll want to try as many of the 13 food vendors as possible. While the vibrant, open atmosphere and live music are fun for everyone, the ambience doesn't outshine the food. While you can't go wrong with any of the options, such as Myami Bites, The Pasta Addict, and The Lob Father, we recommend a Philly Steak Sandwich and Boardwalk fries (made with malt vinegar and Old Bay seasoning) from Mike's Cheesesteaks or the Maple Bacon fried chicken sandwich and dessert from HenDough Chicken & Donuts for a truly memorable meal.

OLD CHICKAHOMINY HOUSE

Williamsburg, Virginia
oldchickahominy.com

Old Chickahominy House is worth the trip to browse their three-story antiques shop and have a meal. Their Country Ham Biscuits are local legends, but any of the Southern eats, from the Old Chickahominy Breakfast to Miss Melinda's Special, featuring a cup of Brunswick stew, Virginia country ham on hot biscuits, fruit salad, homemade pie, and coffee or tea, will be just the fuel you need for a day of exploring Williamsburg.

M. JUDSON BOOKSELLERS

Greenville, South Carolina
mjudsonbooks.com

Housed in the historic courthouse building, M. Judson Booksellers is an unmissable stop in downtown Greenville. You'll be anxious to venture inside and spend hours browsing the independent bookstore's large selection. At the in-house café, Camilla's Kitchen, flip through your newly purchased book while sipping on a literature-inspired signature drink like the Life of Chai and snacking on a scone, muffin, or cookie.

RESTAURANT IRON

Pensacola, Florida
restaurantiron.com

For refined Southern fare, look no further than Restaurant IRON's fresh, scratch-made eats and handcrafted cocktails. You'll fall in love with any of the options on the chef-driven menu, featuring appetizers like the Whole Fried Green Tomato Salad or Jalapeño Cornbread with Sorghum Butter, entrées like the Comfrey Farms 12-oz. Bone-in Pork Schnitzel, tasty desserts such as the Icebox Nutella Pie, and cocktails like the Smoked Old Fashioned.

THE PREACHER'S SON

Bentonville, Arkansas
thepreachersson.com

An exquisite dinner inside this restored historic church is not your average church supper. The stunning interior boasts stained glass windows, original wood floors, beams towering above the dining area, and art all around, but the memorable experience doesn't end with the impressive architecture. "Our food is first-class," General Manager Adam Greene says, "and we make a conscious effort to work with local farmers and vendors to deliver the freshest ingredients on our menu."
