Kettlerock Brewing
Music and community bashes are on the roster year-round. A proud family of Georgia Tech grads founded this winning brewery in Peachtree Corners. Settle in on game day with a crisp Trailhead Blonde or Scottish-style Bear Tracks Ale.

Cultivation Brewing

Named as a nod to the owners' former landscaping business, this Norcross microbrewery offers innovative brews. Staples include Simple Habits Farmhouse Ale, a fruited-style Kettle Sour, and a Kölsch-style brew called The Chancellor. Check out Fresh Beer Friday releases and sunset views from the patio, too.

6S Brewing Co.

Exposed brick adds character to this tasting room housed in a fully restored, 145-year-old building in historic downtown Duluth. This family-run operation pours a variety of beers from Soft Tail Hefeweizen to Duluth Imperial Pale. Bring in some food and the family to play one of the many board games available.

Social Fox Brewing Co.

Outside Norcross's first craft brewery is a mural titled Tumblefield depicting a pair of foxes rollicking together. That playful mood carries over to the newly expanded space. Billing itself as "small, social, and hyperlocal," the brewery hosts fun events, including open mic and trivia nights.

Apparition Brewing

Located in the heart of downtown Sugar Hill's "Shine District," Sugar Hill Distillery is the first in the nation distillery to manufacture and produce both fine spirits and German style beer with the same equipment. Add a full-service restaurant to the mix and you have the perfect place for a relaxing and memorable day or evening of delicious Euro-inspired treats, fine spirits, and delicious craft beers.

Indio Brewing

A Lucha Libre mural featuring a masked wrestler sets the tone at this Latin-owned and operated hotspot in Sugar Hill. Enjoy craft cervezas, from hazy IPAs to sours, stouts, and more. Expect plenty of tropical fruit infusions (we like the Don Ramon New England IPA, with flavors of tangerine, mango, and pineapple), plus comedy, bingo, and karaoke nights.

StillFire Brewing

Brewers here are riding high from championship wins, including a medal for their Black Mask Imperial Stout, judged "Best Strong Beer in Georgia" for 2021. Sample it and at least 25 other selections (craft root beer, too), plus food truck eats, at this dog-friendly brew garden adjacent to Suwanee Town Center Park.

Monkey Wrench Brewing

Located on the edge of Suwanee Creek Greenway Trail, this family business is expanding, and a 200-gallon distillery system means cocktails and a tiki bar will soon be in the mix. Meanwhile, there are up to 15 beers on tap, plus cornhole tournaments, weekend concerts, and food trucks to keep thirsty regulars happy.

Good Word Brewing

Owners Todd DiMatteo and Ryan Skinner, both former employees of famed Brick Store Pub in Decatur, carry on the tradition of quality brewing, curated comfort food, and community building. Fans of the spot's burger, with caramelized onions and special sauce include iconic chef Wolfgang Puck. Wash it down with Any Day Now, an Italian Pilsner.

Blackbird Farm Brewing

Owner Matt Williams is the creative force behind this community hangout in Lilburn. With 20 years of beer-making experience and a slew of recipes in his arsenal, he offers a variety of traditional beers as well as sours and seasonals. The taproom vibe is playful with pinball machines and a one-of-a-kind bowling game.

Ironshield Brewing

Brewmaster Glen Sprouse brings Bavarian traditions to Lawrenceville, exploring authentic German-style lagers as well as Belgian-style ales. The biergarten is a welcoming spot to sample Divine Dubbel ale, or Seven Sisters Münchner, an amber lager, and enjoy musicians, food trucks, trivia nights, and holiday parties.

Slow Pour Brewing Co

The mood is warm and welcoming at this 3,000-square-foot tasting room in Lawrenceville, thanks to a wide patio and string lights galore. Once a garment factory, the interior features a stylish bar, wood tables, and rustic brick walls. Beers on tap, signature brews, limited releases, and seasonal pours fuel game-day parties and nightly events.
