Unlike other courses of its kind, the Koteewi Aerial Adventure experience was custom built to the existing forestry, meaning no outside poles or posts are present in the design. Kids must be 7 years old to complete the trails.

TREETOP OUTPOST AT CONNER PRAIRIE

Conner Prairie's new experience area, Treetop Outpost, reminiscent of Swiss Family Robinson-esque architecture features a 6,000-square-foot exhibit, with a four-story tree house as the centerpiece. This experience aims to educate guests on the bounty of Indiana's natural resources. After viewing the Nature Walk trail and White River vista from above, kids can dig in a recreated archaeology site, build a log cabin like Hoosiers from the past, create art and fill the forest with music with natural materials.

FLAT FORK CREEK PARK

Forget the playground - Flat Fork Creek Park encourages kids to use their explorer sensibilities with three tree houses scattered along a wooded trail. Climb the 60-foot “mountain” (or sledding hill, depending on the season) for more aerial views of fall foliage.

More outdoor adventures await...
