THEATRE

With a rich history of storytelling as a favorite way to pass time on the mountain, Highlands offers two groups to entertain and provide you with an intimate experience that brings a story to life right before your eyes.

MUSIC

The same magic that has drawn artists to Highlands since its inception has worked upon musicians as well. Various businesses around town are known for their musical guests, and their work resonates in hearts and minds long after the venue is closed for the night.

Of course, if hearing live music makes you want to dance make a point to attend the Highlands Chamber of Commerce's Outdoor Summer Concert Series – Friday Night Live and Saturdays on Pine. Or if you prefer to sit back and delight in extraordinary, internationally known musicians performing opera or chamber music, you will enjoy the annual Bel Canto Recitals and the Highlands-Cashiers Chamber Music Festival.

The Arts

We invite you to visit our quaint downtown to see for yourself why Highlands draws makers to the mountains for inspiration.

VISUAL ARTS

The Bascom: A Center for the Visual Arts creates experiences that inspire and empower individuals and communities through seeing, thinking, and doing. Located on the pastoral lands of a former horse farm, The Bascom offers a wide variety of classes, workshops, lectures, and seminars for seasoned and budding artists.

ARTS & CRAFTS

For nearly two decades the Mountain Top Rotary Club has sponsored the Highlands Mountaintop

Art and Craft Show (highlandsartshow.com) to highlight the work of regional artisans. The proceeds from the two days of art, folk art, crafts, rustic furniture, demonstrations, live music, food, and fun go to charitable causes within the community.

PERFORMING ARTS

We are fortunate to have two venues for performing arts in our area.

The Highlands Performing Arts Center (HPAC) offers an array of programs throughout the year on two stages. The HPAC's concert series features nationally recognized singers and bands of all varieties. The HPAC is also home to resident performing arts companies including Mountain Theatre Company, the Highlands-Cashiers Chamber Music Festival and The Highlands-Cashiers Community Players.

Screenings of live performances of the Metropolitan Opera and Britain's National Theatre are shown at the HPAC on the Martin-Lipscomb Stage.

The Highlands Plateau nurtures a longstanding love of the creative spirit. Artists of every genre have homes in the Highlands and the surrounding mountains. The result is a profusion of creativity in the lifestyle that can be found in local shops, galleries, theaters, festivals, and outdoor concerts.
