TULIP TIME FESTIVAL

Centennial Park

Holland celebrates its Dutch heritage with one of America's favorite festivals—Tulip Time. Beginning the first Saturday in May, the festival boasts over six million tulips, Dutch attractions and dozens of events. Enjoy a huge fireworks display, klompen dancers and Dutch delicacies such as Saucijzenbroodjes (pigs in a blanket), Erwtensoepe (pea soup), and Speculaasjes (spiced cookies).

Hire a Dutch-costumed Step-on Guide to escort you through over six miles of Tulip Lanes—streets lined with tulips. While you're downtown, you can explore Holland's roots at the Holland Museum, Cappon House, and Settler's House and explore authentic Dutch architecture and magnificent gardens at Windmill Island Gardens. While on the Island, tour DeZwaan, the only authentic Dutch windmill operating in the United States. Be sure to catch the historic Dutch Trade Fair held in the shadow of DeZwaan during the first weekend of the festival.

For even more Dutch splendor, stroll among five million tulips at Veldheer Tulip Gardens, then watch expert craftsmen carve, mold, and paint their wares next door at DeKlomp Wooden Shoe and Delftware Factory. And don't forget Nelis' Dutch Village, with over ten acres of authentic Dutch architecture, gardens, shops, eateries and special Tulip Time events.

Get in the spirit with two festive parades: the Kinderparade with thousands of children dressed in Dutch costumes; and the street-scrubbing Volksparade.

Throughout the day and evening, you can choose from a variety of entertainment featuring local and national talent in various venues.

SPECIAL SERVICES

DUTCH-COSTUMED STEP-ON GUIDES provide friendly, entertaining tours of historic areas, city parks, Hope College, Tulip Lanes, special tulip plantings, and a view of our famous DeZwaan windmill (Three hour minimum).

TULIP TIME TIDBITS

- Six million tulips bloom throughout Holland each spring.
- There will never be a Tulip Time Queen. The tulip is the "Queen" of the festival.
- If you were to plant a tulip from a seed, it would take 21 years to bloom. The average life of a tulip is 2 to 3 years.
- There is a $50 fine for picking a tulip in Holland.
- Each year, more than 7,000 area children don Dutch costumes to participate in the Kinderparade.

TULIP TIME HISTORY

Who would have predicted that the “Best Small Town Festival” in America, with over 500,000 people in attendance, grew out of a Woman’s Literary Club meeting in 1927? There, Miss Lida Rogers, a biology teacher at Holland High School, suggested that Holland adopt the tulip as its official flower and celebrate it with a festival. The idea caught on, and the next year City Council purchased 100,000 tulip bulbs from the Netherlands to plant in city parks and other areas. Bulbs were also available for Holland residents to purchase for a penny a piece.

In the spring of 1929 thousands of tulips bloomed, and so did the long history of this annual festival. By the mid 1930’s, Tulip Time was nationally known. Big name stars like Dorothy Lamour, Pat O’Brien and George Raft attended the festival.

Except for a brief hiatus during World War II, Tulip Time has continued to thrive. 1947 was a banner year, with the celebration of Holland’s Centennial and the strengthening of our Dutch ties. The Netherlands was so grateful for the aid our citizens provided following the war that the people of Amsterdam presented Holland, Michigan with the street organ that now entertains Windmill Island visitors.

Another big year for Tulip Time was 1976. Holland received tremendous publicity through its float entry in the Tournament of Roses Parade. And that year, the Tulip Time festival climaxed with the appearance of West Michigan’s native son, President Gerald R. Ford, in the Parade of Bands.

We Hope you'll join us in celebration of our heritage!

KLOMPEN DANCE TIDBITS

- In 1933, high school gym teacher, Ethel Perry trained twelve students to perform Dutch folk dances. The dancers were called the “Dutch Villagers” and performed to the tune of “Where, Oh Where, Has My Little Dog Gone?”
- Originally the dancers’ costumes were Delft blue with white organdy caps and aprons. Today’s dancers wear costumes patterned after the traditional dress of the Dutch provinces.
- Each costume is handmade by local seamstresses and carefully inspected before it can be worn in the Klompen Dance performances.
- There are nearly 1,000 Klompen Dancers. Kinder Dancers are 8-10 years old; Alumni Dancers are out of high school and the largest group of dancers are high school students.

HISTORY OF THE TULIP

Surprisingly, the Netherlands was not the first place to grow the tulip. As early as 1000 AD, the Turkish were cultivating tulips in the mountainous region of central Asia that borders Russia and China. Many believe the flower was named for its resemblance to the turbans that were worn in the Middle East. “Turban” in Latin becomes “tulipa.”

The history of the tulips in the Netherlands began in 1593 when Dutch botanist Carolus Clusius discovered tulips growing in Vienna, and began cultivating them in his homeland. A group of “enterprising” Dutchmen stole a portion of Clusius’ collection and cultivated the seeds for sale.

Initially, the tulip was a rarity only the very wealthy could afford. By 1624 the price of one “Rembrandt” tulip reached the equivalent of $1,500. The period between 1634 and 1637, commonly known as “Tulipmania,” is often compared to the Stock Market surge of the 1920’s. In 1637, tulip trading crashed, leaving many of the rich instantly impoverished.

Despite these challenges, the Dutch have managed to maintain a commercial devotion to the tulip. Today the Netherlands produces three billion tulip bulbs yearly, two billion are exported. The U.S. is the top importer of tulip bulbs.

If you are traveling around the lake from Chicago, you will be retracing the old West Michigan Pike, the first paved road between the state line and Mackinaw City, which was recently designated a National Heritage Route and Michigan Byway

Lake Michigan is 307 miles long and 925 feet deep at its deepest point. It is the only Great Lake entirely in the United States. The world's largest freshwater dunes line the shores of Lake Michigan.

Big Red, one of Michigan's most photographed lighthouses, sits along the breakwater of Holland Harbor, where Lake Macatawa meets Lake Michigan. Originally a pale yellow, the lighthouse was repainted bright red in 1956 to satisfy a Coast Guard mandate that all structures on the right side of a harbor entrance must be red. Big Red is best viewed from across the channel at Holland State Park, (2214 Ottawa Beach Road, 49424). For further information, log onto bigredlighthouse.org and click on "visitor info."
