ABOUT THE LUCKY DUCK SCAVENGER HUNT

Launched in 2013, the Lucky Duck Scavenger Hunt is a fun and active introduction to downtown Huntsville's many unique attractions, sights, and activities. An official Healthy Huntsville activity, the original scavenger hunt was 2.5 miles on foot. In 2015, the hunt expanded to include two new ducks – bringing the number of hidden ducks from 12 to 14 and the walking miles to three. Marking the 10th anniversary of the hunt and The Year of Alabama Birding, the 15th duck was added in 2023. The Lucky Duck Scavenger Hunt was created and is maintained through a partnership between the Huntsville/Madison County Convention & Visitors Bureau and the City of Huntsville.

#1 Jeeves

On a street named Church, this duck is ready to welcome you and tell you about all the exciting things to do in Huntsville.

Perched up high, he is in the perfect spot to quack greetings to all "visitors."

On a street with the same name as an Ohio city, this musical ducky is nesting safely among some big stones in front of a lumberyard, now a live music venue.

Find the awning of the deepest blue close to the steps and you'll spy this duck patiently waiting for you.

#2 Rocker

#3 Buddy

Another "Bud" can be found not far away. In a park named for a former Congressman, you will find this duck near a playground.

As you cross the bridge, remember this duck likes to be right!

Sometimes the rattling of these tracks makes this Lucky Duck QUACK. From one of the nation's oldest buildings of its kind, he enjoys listening to the whistle telling him that something BIG is rolling his way.

Hey! This building is even yellow, like a duck!

#4 Quackers

#5 Cash

The 19th century comes alive on the Courthouse Square in Alabama's oldest hardware store where you'll find gifts, toys, and art.

This very Lucky Duck is peering down from a lighted perch outside the double-screened doors.

#6 Mrs. Feathersby

This is the spot where Alabama became the 22nd state. You'll find this duck quacking on and on about our state's rich history.

She'll tell you all about Huntsville's past as she sits atop a column with a great view.

#7 Howard

A nationally famous poet and artist lived here. They called her by her middle name, the name of a fellow. Visitors to her home in the Twickenham Historic District walk under the original fanlight window.

Find the fanlight, and you will find this Lucky Duck outside nearby.

A full-size keel boat, magical bandstand, and a storytelling tree, all behind this big red door?

This seems a little hard to believe, even for a Lucky Duck who spends all his time hangin' out in the shrubbery.

#8 Duckieberry Finn

#9 Splash

There may be no pond, but of this place, Lucky Duck is quite fond. These upside-down waterfalls and dancing fountains behind EarlyWorks satisfy many Lucky Ducks and lucky kids...especially on hot Alabama days!

A very lucky little girl is friends with this ducky.

#10 Vincent Van Duck

Visit the museum with 14 galleries and you will be sure to spot this artsy Lucky Duck.

Climb to the top of the main steps to discover exactly where he creates his own quack-tacular masterpieces.

By a fountain she can "thrash" about in, this little ducky likes watching all the events next door at a building named after a famous German rocket scientist.

Take a seat on a bench and enjoy the view.

#11 Puddles

#12 Bridgette

This little duck likes to play with many others in the big downtown park, home to many baby ducks and their mothers. Some say it's this particular park that inspired the scavenger hunt in the first place!

Look near a red path where you can stand over water.

#13 Huntington

On the historic site of John Hunt's cabin, this duck will wave to you from his perch located high and to the left on the fountain's bluff.

Located in Big Spring Park East, you won't find this duck on the mainland.

#14 Duck Norris

The sun always sets on this side of the square, but this duck is nice and cool hangin' upside down in the shade. Rest on a bench...and look up!

It's rumored that a famous outlaw robbed the building with the colossal columns next door and escaped by jumping in the spring below.

From the shady spot near the ginkgo tree, this duck can see the hall doors for concerts, musicals, and plays of tragedy and comedy.

From its spot in front of this hall, this duck can waddle around the corner to "find my rhythm and feed my rhythm"!
