The building is well-preserved and appears much as it did in 1860. Graffiti on three walls of the upper story is a result of the building's role as a prison for captured Confederate militia, as a billet for Union troops en route to major battles and as a hospital for the wounded from those battles.

PLANTATION TOURS & MORE

Jacque Reeves, Avalon Tours | 256.509.3940 | jacquereeves@avalontours.net | mischiefandmayhem.biz

Murder Mystery Dinner: Elizabeth Dale Gibbons Flanagan Jeffries High Brown Routt, aka the notorious Black Widow of Hazel Green, is on trial for the attempted murder of her neighbor, Abner Tate. The year is 1855, and the court of public opinion is running strongly against her. Join us as she faces her accuser, fortified by the hilarious testimonies of her six husbands who have returned from the grave to support her for this special event! This play is based on a true story, and the audience is invited to participate.

History on the Rocks (historic pub crawl): Our evening begins at Green Bus Brewery where we will sample local beers and appetizers before suffragist/pro-prohibitionist Carrie Nation catches us in the act. Carrie visited Huntsville in 1904, wielding an ax to bust up bars. If she behaves herself, we may invite her to join us at our second venue, Amendment XXI. There, we'll be entertained by Scotsman Neal Rose, who ran a tavern and entertained guests with the pet crow that sat on his shoulder. Mr. Rose served as the quartermaster for General Andrew Jackson during the War of 1812. We'll enjoy sandwiches and a Bloody Mary, named for Mary Queen of Scots, of course!

Our last stop will be SIP, the speakeasy-style bar in the old art-deco Times Building, built by J. Emory Pierce on the cusp of the Great Depression. Mr. Pierce will join us as well for dessert and Irish coffee, and regale us with his elaborate cons that landed him in prison and sent him to the afterworld with a colorful and flamboyant funeral, escorted by 101 of his closest friends. Tell Mr. Pierce "Lucky sent me" and you're guaranteed a fun time!

Sumter and many more. Take the CIVIL WAR BONES TOUR through Maple Hill Cemetery and see the grave of Abraham Lincoln's brother-in-law, "General J," a Union officer who fell in love with a local girl and married her, the man whose dramatic escape from a Union prison was detailed in the secret diary he kept and many more.

Green Mountain in Huntsville, Alabama

No matter where your tour leads, you will find creative cuisine, friendly people, and sites uniquely southern.

Huntsville is a convenient hub for meeting our neighbors in the beautiful North Alabama Mountain Lakes region. Take circle tours that extend to the west to see the Alabama Music Hall of Fame and Ivy Green, Birthplace of Helen Keller and the Rattlesnake Saloon.

Sample cheeses recommended by the Food Network and Southern Living at Belle Chevre Creamery and Humble Heart Farms. Visit Hamilton where potter Jerry Brown created “ugly jugs” at his studio and explore the wonders of “The Dismals.” Tour the newly restored home of Fighting Joe Wheeler and the Blue and Gray Museum.

Frolic in the nation’s first wave pool at Decatur’s Point Mallard. Walk down the shaded streets of historic Mooreville and enjoy a farm to table meal at 1818 Farms. Ride east to Cathedral Caverns and see the world’s largest stalagmite, shop the unique Unclaimed Baggage Center in Scottsboro, and enjoy the scenery and extreme adventures of Little River Canyon.

Go south for the charming Ave Maria Grotto in Cullman and the magnificent Shrine of the Most Blessed Sacrament in Hanceville. The scenic beauty of Lake Guntersville State Park, the covered bridges near Oneonta and Gadsden’s Noccalula Falls are worth the drive.

Head north to the Jack Daniel’s Distillery in Lynchburg, Tennessee and Prichard’s Distillery in nearby Kelso, Tennessee.
