PART 1: INTRODUCTION

1. History

The ICCA Destination Marketing sector holds two workshops per year, one for conferences with more than 500 pax which alternates between one year for European conferences and the following year for International conferences and a small European workshop with less than 800 pax which as from 2018 has become an annual event. This is the bid manual for the International 2025 scheduled to take place in October time. Exact criteria for each are outline below.

The workshops last approximately 2-3 days and have a maximum limit of 15 and a minimum of 10 members and associations so in total there are between 20-30 participants attending the workshop (although if there is high demand we may accept up to 18 members and associations depending on the flexibility of the host).

As the workshop has strict criteria for the invited association executives who accompany the participating members, the event offers the destination not only the opportunity to showcase itself to its fellow colleagues within the meetings industry, but also to senior decision makers of International or European conferences.

Criteria overview for Destination Marketing Business Workshops:

Sector	Workshop versions	Participating Associations' Conference criteria	Frequency	Next open year	Timing	ICCA admin fee	Host location
ICCA Destination Marketing Sector	European	Delegates: > 500 Duration: at least 3 days Rotation: at least 3 European countries Frequency: take place at least once every 4 years (but preferably every 2 years)	Annual	2026	May	€ 19,500	Europe
	International	Delegates: > 500 Duration: at least 3 days Rotation: world-wide Frequency: take place at least once every 4 years (but preferably every 2 years)	Annual	2025	October	€ 19,500	International (could include Europe, but priority for non-European destination)
	European small	Delegates: < 800 Duration: at least 3 days Rotation: at least 3 European countries Frequency: take place at least once every 4 years (but preferably every 2 years)	Annual	2027	May	€ 10,000	Europe

3. Future Events

No future events confirmed.

4. Rotation Policy

Bidding for the workshop is open to all countries. A destination in a country which has not hosted a workshop within the last 15 years has priority over other destination. The destination marketing member bidding for a Workshop must have attended a previous Workshop within the last five years at the time of bidding and be in good financial standing with ICCA. If another ICCA event is taking place in the same country as the bidding destination marketing member, this may be taken into consideration when deciding on the next host.

5. Date and Duration

The International workshop will be taking place in October time. The workshop programme commences on Thursday afternoon and finishes on Friday evening.

6. Timing

When suggesting dates for the workshop, care should be taken not to clash with:

- Major public holidays/school holidays
- Major industry events e.g. ICCA Congress, IMEX America, IBTM World and other ICCA or similar industry events. Please check the events section of the website.

7. Format of the Event

Thursday afternoon – optional city tour

Thursday evening – Start of the Workshop Programme (Networking Evening)

Introduction to ICCA for Association Executives

Networking Reception

Networking Dinner

Friday

Workshop

Member Forum/Debriefing Session

Association Executives Forum/Debriefing Session

Farewell dinner

Saturday

Optional guided city tour or walk

If all 15 workshop slots are filled, it may need to be considered for the Member Forum/Debriefing Session and Association Executives Forum/Debriefing Session to take place the following day on Saturday morning.

PART 2: BID REQUIREMENTS

8. Guidelines for Bids

Any Sector Destination Marketing member in good standing with ICCA is entitled to bid to host the ICCA Sector Destination Marketing Business Workshop provided the representative has participated in a workshop within the last 5 years at the time of bidding. If a member has won the bid to host a Workshop and then the contact person subsequently leaves the company, ICCA has the right to move the destination of the Workshop.

Any Sector Destination Marketing member bidding to host a workshop must ensure that no other similar networking events are held 6 months before or 6 months after the workshop takes place in their destination.

The destination has to have easy accessibility to ensure that travel for both Destination Marketing members and association executives are facilitated. If there is no easy accessibility, transport should be provided by the hosts from the nearest international airport.

9. Hotel Accommodation

All participants should be accommodated in one hotel. The host should negotiate special rates for hotel accommodation for the participant's use, 2 days before and 2 days after the workshop. The hotel should also make sure that all members and especially the association executives are accommodated in the best rooms and are given VIP treatment by the hotel. WIFI should be available free of charge to all participants.

10. ICCA knowledge enhancement contribution

Host venues should include a EUR 19,500 ICCA knowledge enhancement contribution to be paid to ICCA in their budget. This cost can be partly absorbed by increasing the registration fee slightly and partly by raising more local sponsorship. This should be paid in full to ICCA no later than one week prior to the commencement of the workshop. The revenue generated by the ICCA knowledge enhancement contribution fees for workshops and other ICCA events will be reinvested to provide knowledge through events, resources and publications to the ICCA members and associations globally, as part of the charitable objectives of ICCA.

11. Registration Fee

The participation costs of two ICCA representatives including airfare should be included in the overall budget (see sample budget Appendix IV). The flight for the ICCA representative should be a direct flight if possible. This is in addition to the ICCA knowledge enhancement contribution.

Registration fees should be decided upon together with ICCA and aligned with historic rates.

The registration fee should be in euros if possible (inclusive taxes if applicable). The registration fee is to be paid by the participating member and should include accommodation for both venue and association executive (two double rooms, single occupancy, for two nights, including breakfast) at the hotel, all transfers (including transfers from the airport to hotel and from the hotel to the airport in the hosting destination) all meals and networking opportunities as indicated in the preliminary programme and the ICCA knowledge enhancement contribution (see sample budget - Appendix IV).

It is usual for the host venue to absorb some of the costs of the workshop due to the exposure gained from acting as host. Sponsorship of any elements of the programme by third parties should be mentioned in the bid. Sponsors are not allowed to participate in the Workshop programme, business or social events and cannot meet with the associations. It is the responsibility of the host to invoice and collect the revenue from the participating venues.

12. Room Requirements

Thursday, Day 1 – Introduction to ICCA for Association Executives

1 room required boardroom style for up to 20 pax, close to where the networking reception is being held in the hotel.

Friday, Day 2 – Workshop

1 large room required laid out as the sample floor plan (see appendix II). The room must be set out in a hollow square format of +/- two meter long tables; each separated by a gap of three meters. There must be one table for each participating member plus one table for a representative of ICCA and 2 chairs either side of the tables. The ICCA logo should be prominently displayed in the room. The room should be approximately at least 250 sqm (depending on the number of participants).

Tables should be set out in the same order as the Participants List. Each will be identified using a table sign (including ICCA logo). Members from the same country should not be located next to one another. Electrical outlets for computers/laptops should be supplied for each table where the members and ICCA representative are seated. WIFI should be available in the room free of charge. If possible, the room should have natural daylight and easy access to a separate room or outside. Tea, coffee and refreshments should be available in the room continuously. Toilets should be located nearby the workshop room if possible. One cordless microphone should be provided for the ICCA representative and the ICCA logo should be displayed in the room.

Friday, Day 2 –Members Forum & Association Executives Forum

2 rooms for up to 20 pax are required preferably in boardroom style with professional set up (including basic AV: Screen, projector, sound system, lighting and F&B).

13. How to Bid

A written application for hosting a workshop should be sent electronically to ICCA Head Office upon ICCA Head Office calling for bids. The bid should be in electronic format and should include the following information:

- Proposed dates (October time for the ICCA Destination Marketing Business Workshop International)
- Proposed venue
- Proposed hotel
- Proposed budget (using the sample budget in appendix VI) including proposed registration fee incl. VAT/taxes, all costs for both member & association executive, ICCA knowledge enhancement contribution and cost of the flight for the ICCA representative
- Preliminary programme including networking programme based on the sample programme included in this Bid Manual (see Appendix I)
- Suggested activities for a fam trip and discounted hotel rates for adjacent nights
- CSR Policy (how to make the Workshop as 'green' as possible)
- Floor plan, photos and names of rooms where the Workshop, Association Executives Introduction, Members Forum and Association Executives Forum will be held.
- Information on the accessibility of the destination

Bids will only be accepted from ICCA Sector Destination Marketing members in good financial standing with ICCA and who have attended a Workshop within the last five years at the time of bidding. (Please refer to the list of bureaux who are eligible to bid). Bids may not be accepted if they do not comply with the above requirements. If another ICCA event is taking place in the same country as the bidding member, this may be taken into consideration when deciding on the next host.

Factors which will be considered in the decision making process:

- Bid compliance
- Overall quality of the bid
- Value for money – delegate perspective
- What are the cost implications for delegates in addition to the registration fee, e.g. airfare deals; hotel rates?

- Environmental and Corporate Social Responsibility
- Accessibility
- Compliance with COVID regulations
- Location and rotation of other (ICCA) events will be taken into consideration when a decision is taken.

Decision will be made by ICCA Head Office.

14. Deadline for Bids

One electronic copy of the bid must reach ICCA Head Office before midnight (CET) on 4 March 2024. There are no extensions to the deadline. Any bids received after this time will not be accepted.

15. Final Decision

A decision will be made by ICCA Head Office and the Chairpersons of the sector, and the hosting destination will be announced to the Sector Destination Marketing members. The decision is final and there is no appeal process.

16. Time Path

4 March 2024	Fully completed bids to be received at ICCA Head Office before midnight (CET)
8 April 2024	Selection of hosting venue by ICCA Head Office.
After MOU signature	Announcement of hosting venue

PART 3: ORGANISATION OF THE WORKSHOP

17. Registration Fee

The host is responsible for invoicing and collecting the registration fee from the participating members.

18. Cancellation Fee

It is advisable that the host has a cancellation policy, see sample below: The host and ICCA Head Office must be notified in writing of any cancellations. It is recommended that following cancellation fees are applied:

1 month prior to the workshop - 75% of registration fee; 2 weeks
prior to workshop - 50% of registration fee;
1 week prior to workshop - no refund.

In the event that the Workshop has to be postponed or cancelled, ICCA cannot accept liability for the costs incurred but will work together with the host to try to minimize the cancellation costs for all concerned.

19. Invitation

An initial email informing ICCA Sector Destination Marketing members that registration is open should be sent out at least 5 months prior to the workshop and will include the following details:

- Date and venue
- Preliminary Programme
- Guidelines for the Workshop
- Registration form including registration fee, payment arrangements, name of hotel and cancellation policy
- Association Executive Profile
- Bureau Profile
- Exclusion List of conferences participating in Sector Destination Marketing (Small) European/International within the last 2 years.

This mailing is the responsibility of ICCA Head Office.

20. Registration

Before members and association executives are registered for the Workshop, they must complete online registration and include the Association Profile form and the Bureau Profile form respectively. ICCA Head Office will check to see if the association executives meets with the criteria for the Workshop and will ensure that the member concerned will be informed immediately if they are accepted to minimize the period of uncertainty for themselves and their association executive. If the member and association executive is suitable ICCA Head office will follow up with the online registration form to collect accommodation and dietary requirements as well as arrival/departure times (see Appendix V). The host may collect this information directly if they have an online form available.

The registration deadline will be set one month prior to the workshop but to retain flexibility if the maximum of 15 participants has not been reached, the host should be willing to accept participants up to the last moment.

When the registration deadline has been reached, ICCA Head Office will send the host a list of all approved participating members and association executives and the host is responsible for sending the invoices and collecting the registration fee from the participating members. The host may do so electronically if they have an online payment form available.

21. Final Programme

A preliminary programme will be published on the website once registration is opened. The host should send the final programme to ICCA Head Office for approval three weeks before the Workshop takes place. No changes should be made to the final programme after it has been approved by ICCA Head Office unless absolutely necessary. The final programme should include the room numbers/names for each session, the dress code and the name and address of the hotel, restaurants and any key venues that participants will visit in the programme, especially the venues for the first evening.

The host should also give the name, address and contact details including mobile number of a representative from the host for participants to contact if there are any unexpected delays or problems while travelling to the hosting destination.

22. Workbooks

ICCA Head Office is responsible for preparing the electronic Workbook for the participants which should include the following:

- Final Programme
- Contact details (hosting member and ICCA Head Office representative)
- Participants List
- Layout of the Workshop Room
- Order of Discussions during the Workshop
- Bureau Profiles
- Association Profiles

It is the responsibility of ICCA Head Office to email the Workbook to each participant at least two weeks prior to the Workshop. It is the participants' responsibility to bring this information to the Workshop with them.

It is the responsibility of ICCA Head Office to send a copy of the table layout for the Workshop room to the host (which should be in the same order as the Participants List in alphabetical order however members from the same country should not be located next to one another). The layout should take into consideration that association executive should move in a clockwise direction for each session.

23. Name Badges

The host should prepare name badges. The bottom of the name badge should be colour coded with a stripe. Association executives should be blue and members green if possible. They should have the ICCA logo and the name of the event, dates and location. The name of the participants should be in black bold text, Verdana 14/16 (or similar font) and the name of the company and country in black Verdana font 11 (not bold). The most important thing is that the name of the participants should be easy to read. Please see sample. ICCA Head Office will send the host an excel file of all the members and association details to merge with the badges and table signs.

24. Table Signs

The host should prepare the table signs which should have the ICCA logo and the name of the company and country as given on the participants list and the tables should be set out in the same order as the participants list.

25. Transfers

The host should ensure that the following transfers are provided to all participants including the ICCA representative from the airport to the official hotel; to/from all networking functions and to the airport for departures. The person meeting the participants at the airport should have a sign with the ICCA logo, the name of the Workshop and the name of the participant. It is advisable to send an email to the participants prior to the workshop or provide a letter in the hotel room advising them about the time of their transfers and include a contact number for the transfer company.

26. Room Checks

The host should meet with the ICCA representative on the Thursday (first day of the Workshop) to check the rooms and badges etc. and to discuss last minute details for the Workshop.

27. Welcome Package

Each participant at the workshop (Destination Marketing member and association executive) including ICCA representative should receive on arrival, a welcome pack containing:

- Welcome letter from the host
- Name badge
- Information on the destination, for example a map of the area

Hosts may also include other material such as a gift or a city pass for free travel etc. but it is not obligatory. The information given in the welcome packages should not be too heavy and should either be placed in the participant's hotel rooms for when they arrive or be handed to them on arrival at the hotel. Alternatively a welcome desk in the hotel can be set up and the welcome package handed to them when they arrive at the hotel, see 'Best Practices'.

28. Networking Programme

The networking events are very important aspects of the Workshop where networking between members and association executives can take place. There should be no seating plans during sit down meals unless protocol dictates this. The Host should try to ensure that Association Executives and Members alternate at sit down functions. One idea would be to have different coloured napkins for association executives and members, association executives blue and members green if possible during sit down meals so that participants can be seated at the table: member then association executive. This avoids all the association executives sitting next to each other. Buffet networking dinners are advisable rather than sit down dinners especially on the first night.

If music is played during the meals it should not be too loud to enable the participants to talk.

29. Workshop

The room where the workshop takes place must be set out in a hollow square format of +/- two metre long tables; each separated by a gap of three metres. The room should be approximately at least 250 sqm (depending on the number of participants). There must be one table for each participating member plus one table for a representative of ICCA and 2 chairs either side of the tables (see sample floor plan Appendix II). WIFI should be available in the room free of charge and the room should be lockable or secure during lunch time. The ICCA logo should be prominently displayed in the room.

At the commencement of the workshop the members should be seated on the outside of the table layout, sitting opposite their association executive for the first discussion of 5 minutes. After the five minutes is over, on a signal (bell, buzzer etc.), the association executives all move to the next table in a clockwise direction and commence the next discussion which lasts for 15-18 minutes (depending on the number of participants).

The first discussion with the member and the association executive who they invited will last for 5 minutes and then each discussion period after that will be approximately 15-18 minutes. An interval of approximately three minutes between each session should take place for taking notes.

Coffee, tea and mineral water should be available continuously throughout the workshop. A 60-minute lunch break should be scheduled around noon and small 20 minute coffee breaks should also be given after every four discussion sessions.

If at any time an association executive is not participating in the workshop (e.g. arrives late, leaves early) the member who invited him/her is suspended from participation for the time of absence of their association executive. It is not advisable for members or association executives to arrive late or leave early. Immediately following the workshop, a group photograph should be taken to assist in ICCA's PR efforts. Photos should also be taken unobtrusively during the workshop sessions and during the networking events.

The workshop must be heavily branded as an ICCA event. Correspondence, badges, signs, registration forms etc. should all carry the ICCA logo. All signage and displays should include the ICCA logo. The name of each session should be placed outside the meeting room and the ICCA logo should be prominently displayed in the room.

The host member is responsible for the success of the workshop and must provide sufficient resources (human, financial, time) to ensure that it is efficiently organised. If the Workshop is running late, the host should make every effort to get the programme back on schedule however this should not be at the detriment of the Workshop discussions.

30. Accompanying Persons Policy

There is no Accompanying persons programme and accompanying persons are not allowed to attend any part of the programme: the Workshop or any networking events. If participants do bring an accompanying person they should make separate arrangements for them during the whole of the workshop programme including social networking events and it is at the discretion of the host whether they should be allowed to participate in the optional programmes pre or post workshop.

31. Budget

A sample budget for an ICCA Workshop can be found in Appendix IV as a guideline to assist the potential host, it is based on a past Workshop. The budget lists the main items from the bid manual needed to be included to establish the registration fee, this sample budget is a guideline only. Should the host organisation wish to subsidise parts of the programme it should be indicated in the budget.

Participating members are responsible for their own and their association executive's travel arrangements to the host destination.

32. Liability/Insurance

The host must ensure that they have insurance cover for the Workshop.

33. Sponsors

It is usual for the host member to absorb some of the costs of the workshop due to the exposure gained from acting as host. Sponsorship of any elements of the programme by third parties should be mentioned in the bid. Sponsors are not allowed to participate in the Workshop programme and network with the associations, business or social. ICCA reserves the right to refuse any specific sponsors.

34. Visas

The host will be responsible for all visa matters.

35. Data Protection

The host must comply with the data privacy laws and sign a contract and data protection agreement.

36. Best Practices

When planning the programme it is recommended to request all participants to meet 15 minutes before departing for the transfer in case some participants arrive late at the meeting point in order to keep the programme on schedule.

It is recommended to have a welcome desk at the hotel or airport to welcome the guests on arrival and give them their Welcome Package.

It is recommended for the host to make a Transfer List for all the departures of the participants and should be distributed to the participants at the Workshop so that they can see clearly what time they will be picked up and by whom.

For those participants who have early morning departures it is advised to arrange packed lunch or room service for breakfast.
