

Director Strategy & International Development, visit.brussels

Elisabeth Van Ingelgem is the current Director of Strategy & International Development at visit.brussels, a role she has held since June 2020. In this capacity, she oversees the strategic direction and international growth of the organization as well as the Convention & Association Bureau, with a focus on enhancing Brussels' visibility and attractiveness as a global hub for tourism, culture, and business events.

Prior to this, Elisabeth held several key roles within visit.brussels, including leading the Convention & Association Bureau from December 2015 to June 2020. Before that, she served as Meetings & Conventions Manager and managed customer relations within the association sector.

Elisabeth has been instrumental in fostering collaboration and knowledge exchange among international associations in Brussels, notably by organizing the European Association Summit for over a decade. Her extensive experience with international associations has solidified Brussels' position as a premier destination for global events.

From 2016 to 2020, Elisabeth served as ICCA France-Benelux Chapter Chair, where she actively promoted exchange and collaboration among ICCA members in the region.

Throughout her career, Elisabeth has been committed to strengthening the world number one association city's reputation as a dynamic center for tourism, culture, and business events, working closely with international stakeholders to drive the city's global growth.
