

Wendy Martinez, Habitat for Humanity

Wendy Martinez was born in Tlaxcala, Mexico, and was raised in Jackson. She received her Master's degree in Public Administration from the University of Wyoming and returned to Jackson with an interest in serving her community. Wendy now works for Habitat for Humanity of the Greater Teton Area as the Homeowner Services Manager where affordable housing programs and policies are at the center of her work. Additionally, she currently serves on the Teton Library Foundation Board, the Immigrant Hope Board, the Humanities Council of Wyoming, the Town of Jackson Planning Commission and is a member of Jackson Hole Diversity Equity and Inclusion Collective. Most recently, Wendy serves on the Young Professionals of Tetons steering committee, where she hopes to engage with young professionals of our community through mindful conversation and connections that will foster cultural awareness and empathy.

In her free time Wendy enjoys playing soccer, running or hiking with her dog Paco, and spending time with her friends and family
