The Jamaican diaspora is an important part of our national fabric. Thousands of Jamaicans have migrated across the globe and continue to make significant contributions in their adopted lands. But they never forget home and they long to return to "yaad" whenever the opportunity arises.

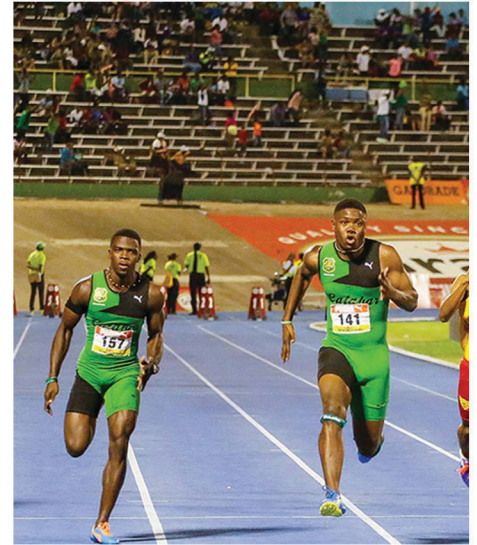

Many are involved in organisations which give back to the homeland in many ways. Their children too, though born in these foreign lands, have developed an affinity to the land of their parents and grandparents. Jamaica is their birthright too and so we extend a warm welcome to the entire Jamaican diaspora and their friends to come home, come home to Jamaica! If only for a short visit.

Many opportunities abound to enjoy Jamaica, from Negril point in the west to Morant point in the east and everything in-between. There is so much to see and do: climb Dunn's River Falls; hike up the majestic Blue Mountains; get a healing experience at a Mineral Bath; have a picnic at the famous Puerto Seco Beach; check out the Green Grotto Caves; or chill on Negril's Seven Mile Beach!

But Negril is not the only public beach: Hellshire or Lime Cay in Kingston; Winifred Beach in Portland; Burwood Beach in Trelawny; Whitehouse Beach in Westmoreland; James Bond Beach in St Mary; Doctor's Cave Beach in Mo Bay; Old Steamer in Lucea; lots of public beaches are available to tame the heat and refresh yourself during your visit home.

Many resorts & attractions at home offer special rates to locals and visiting members of the diaspora, providing you present a Jamaican passport on arrival. Be sure to plan your visit so you can attend any of the many festivals and events happening throughout the year. Some of the popular ones are: The Jerk festival; Reggae Sumfest; National Boys & Girls Champs; National Festival celebrations; Dream Weekend and so many other events you can find listed on our website.

So whether you are looking for some rest & relaxation; planning a family reunion; a boys or girls getaway; a special anniversary or celebration; visiting friends & family or just looking to explore the homeland, there is a vacation experience in Jamaica just for you!
