A brand is how an organization expresses itself to the outside world. It’s far more than a logo. It’s the combination of all communications — visual, written and spoken.

If you were to describe a person to someone, you most likely would talk about their physical features or appearance. And then you would describe their personality, or what makes them unique.

That same relationship of tangible visuals and emotional connections is what makes a brand. Brands are perceptions. Good brands are those that connect those perceptions to reality.

For the Visit Lake Charles brand, that reality is our visitor experience — before, during and after their visit. Presenting our brand consistently in every way we connect to visitors is the assurance that visitors not only remember us, but that they know us.
The Visit Lake Charles brand is the cornerstone for consistent communication in representing our destination to all our audiences.

Using these guidelines will ensure the consistency that builds a long-lasting and memorable brand. It is vital that these guidelines be followed and upheld across all communications and marketing produced by, or representative of, Lake Charles.

If you have any questions regarding the use of the brand or brand guidelines, please contact Visit Lake Charles.

THE VISIT LAKE CHARLES BRAND

1.1 Brand Platform
1.2 Brand Description
1.3 Brand Position
1.4 Brand Voice
The Brand Platform is the establishing foundation for the Visit Lake Charles brand. It serves as the “go-to” reference for what the brand stands for, how it should be communicated and how it should live in the minds of our visitors.

The Brand Description, Brand Position and Brand Voice are the three key components that make up our Brand Platform.

Consistently presenting the style, tone and emotions guided by these three components will help ensure visitors have a clear perception and expectation of Lake Charles’ unique personality.
“A Little Bit Country. A Little Bit Rock ‘n’ Roll.” While certainly not in the genre of Zydeco, this well-known song title just may be the definitive summary of Lake Charles. A blend of contrasts that magically works together in total harmony. A Cajun personality with a Texas flair. A love for big-city entertainment and a relished joy of nature. Bold and outspoken, yet equally laid-back and homey. Stylish and carefree — a little black dress paired with flip-flops.

That odd, enchanting mix of style and settings is experienced throughout Lake Charles. World-class resorts equally allure adults for the thrill of casino gaming as they do families seeking a weekend getaway of luxurious pools and winding lazy rivers. Majestic live oaks adorned in Spanish moss frame elegant homes along the shoreline of Lake Charles, starkly contrasting the mysterious bayous of Louisiana’s Outback and wide-open beaches along the Gulf of Mexico. Po Boys on paper plates — as mouth-watering Cajun as the culinary art prepared by local chefs. Both incredibly delicious. Both equally Lake Charles. It’s where even an afternoon drive can take an unexpected twist — stunning scenery along the Creole Nature Trail becomes a tasting tour of every local’s favorite snack — Boudin. Here, over 75 festivals year-round celebrate all things Louisiana. Even Mardi Gras in Lake Charles brings its own unique contrast as more a family event, celebrating history and meaning.

To visit Lake Charles is to know Louisiana in all its variety. Lake Charles isn’t one flavor — one look. It’s a mixture of cultures and pursuits. Its people, artistically expressive, compassionate about nature, and united in their enthusiasm and eagerness to share. Lake Charles is the best of Louisiana infused into something irresistible. Fresh. A little spicy. And oh, so satisfying.
For those who relish in both “turning it up” and “tuning out,” Lake Charles is Louisiana’s premier resort destination, masterfully blending excitement and world-class luxury with relaxation and unspoiled natural beauty.
