TRAILS FOR ALL

Visiting Letchworth State Park for leaf-peeping season is a must when autumn arrives in Livingston County. And when you visit, don't forget to explore the one-of-a-kind, inclusive experiences on the Autism Nature Trail.

Autism Nature Trail
Wild Big Camp Photography

FALL IS THE PERFECT TIME OF YEAR TO EXPLORE the forests, trails and waterfalls of Livingston County, including at the famed Letchworth State Park. Even if you don't consider yourself much of an outdoorsy traveler, the fall foliage and accessible adventures of the "Grand Canyon of the East" can't be missed. The season's numerous leaf peeping opportunities provide an excellent way to appreciate the great outdoors without any strenuous hiking, and the park's unique Autism Nature Trail (ANT) makes exploring the park's natural features more inclusive and inviting. Intrigued? Here's what you need to know.

EXPLORE ALL THE ACTIVITY STATIONS ALONG THE TRAIL:

SENSORY STATION

Features two different platforms where a collection of leaves, moss, fossils, animal fur, and acorns can be touched, handled, and even smelled.

SUNSHINE SLOPE

A gentle maze that includes a viewing platform, three cocoons, and an "Alone Zone".

MUSIC CIRCLE

Features a variety of nature-inspired musical instruments that encourage creativity, either alone or with others.

CURIOSITY CORNER

An open space with a gliding seat, ant-shaped boulders, and access to a cut-through back to the beginning of the trail.

REFLECTION KNOLL

A quiet point halfway on the trail under a canopy of trees, with etchings of woodland creatures hidden in boulders.

MEADOW RUN & CLIMB

A place with paths to run, jump and balance along serpentine beams and an obstacle course.

DESIGN ZONE

Where visitors can manipulate materials from along the trail into patterns and structures.

PLAYFUL PATH

A place of twisting paths with different surfaces of coarse gravel, log rounds, and sand.

CAROLINE'S NOOK

An area of spaced seating under a natural canopy.

CELEBRATION STATION

The final stop on the trail, this area has a place for visitors to express themselves through writing and drawing about their experiences on the trail.

THE AUTISM NATURE TRAIL MAKES THE OUTDOORS ACCESSIBLE TO ALL

The Autism Nature Trail (commonly known as the ANT) at Letchworth State Park welcomes everyone, but takes considerable care to cater to those with Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) and differing levels of abilities. The trail is an easy, non-strenuous, one-mile long journey through the woods of one of Western New York's most popular state parks. As an ADA compliant trail surfaced with stone dust, the Autism Nature Trail is suitable for most wheelchairs, walkers, and strollers.

As you traverse the trail, which starts just a short distance from the parking lot near the Humphrey Nature Center, you'll encounter tons of activity stations that engage your senses and help you experience the natural world around you in new ways. For example, the Sensory Station features a collection of leaves, moss, fossils and other items for you to touch, smell and otherwise explore.

Stop at the Music Circle which features nature-inspired musical instruments that beckon for a fun and impromptu jam session. Other spots are quieter and welcome visitors for moments of peaceful observation, such as Reflection Knoll and Sunshine Slope. Finally, the last stop on the Autism Nature Trail is the Celebration Station, where visitors are invited to celebrate their experience through personal writings and drawings.

Be sure to check out the Autism Nature Trail's calendar of events before you arrive. Regular, family-friendly programming is provided by trained staff from Camp Puzzle Peace — a nonprofit organization that aims to provide enriching experiences to families with members with Autism Spectrum Disorder — and occurs September through October.

Otherwise, be sure to enjoy the full splendor of fall foliage in LivCo. Letchworth State Park offers dramatic views, from towering waterfalls to deep gorges, rambling forests to rushing rivers that you won't want to miss.

CELEBRATE NEW YORK STATE PARK'S 100TH BIRTHDAY

If the Autism Nature Trail wasn't reason enough to visit Letchworth State Park, this year, the whole of New York State is celebrating 100 years of state parks. As such, there are plenty of family-friendly, fun activities all year long.

If you plan on seeing more than one state park during your travels, you can participate in the New York State Parks Centennial Challenge, which lists 100 activities you can enjoy throughout New York State this year. Don't worry, you don't have to complete all 100 in order to win cool prizes. Complete 24, and you'll get a prize and be entered to win a three-year Empire Pass, which grants you entry to New York state parks.

More and more travelers are catching on to the fun of enjoying agritourism in new destinations — visiting area farms and producers to learn more about local products and people, and partaking in one-of-a-kind experiences that range from feeding the livestock to picking your own produce.

In LivCo, just as is the case throughout much of the country, fall agritourism means harvest season, as well as seasonal staple activities such as apple and pumpkin picking. Add in the fall agricultural events that occur throughout the region, as well as the many farmer's markets that bring the fall festivities to you, and you could hardly ask for anything more. So, where can you go in LivCo to experience fall in all its Instagram-worthy glory? Here are a few of our favorite farms, markets and fall-related events.

GET OUT THERE AND FIND YOUR PUMPKIN IN THE WILD!

There's no question that harvest season is a fun few months in Western New York, as the abundant farmland in Livingston County provides family-friendly activities from apple picking and pumpkin patches to hayrides and corn mazes. During your fall adventures, make a stop at various farm markets and stands for your perfect Jack-O-Lantern pumpkin.

Stop at J & A Farm Market in Avon, a greenhouse and market that sells not just pumpkins throughout the fall, but all your favorite gourd varieties as well, and colorful, cheery mums. Many of the area farmers markets also sell a broader array of seasonal produce, as well as tasty, seasonal baked goods, to make your agritourism adventure even sweeter. Head to True North Farms, an organic farm that follows microfarm practices, for pumpkins, fresh vegetables, sunflowers, and more fall goods.

Stop by the Geneseo Farmer's Market on Center Street, on Thursdays from 3pm to 6:30pm, for quick seasonal shopping. If you're in the southern part of LivCo, try the Dansville Farmer's Market, open Fridays from 11am to 4pm, or the Springwater Farmers Market on Thursdays, 3pm to 7pm. The Nunda Area Farmer's Market runs every Saturday morning on the town government offices' front lawn. Or stop by the Lima Farmer's Market every Tuesday, 3pm to 6pm, outside the Lima Presbyterian Church.

CELEBRATE THE SEASON AT AG-FOCUSED EVENTS

NUNDA

NEW YORK ➔

PERFECT FALL DAY WHERE THE VALLEY MEETS THE HILLS.

AT THE SOUTHERN TIP OF LIVCO, NUNDA IS A small village with big energy and it's probably not pronounced how you think. With a name derived from the Seneca "Nunda-wa-ono," which translates to "where the valley meets the hills," Nunda is pronounced like "none-day." So, what is there to do, see and enjoy during a trip to Nunda? While the village might be most well-known for the easy access it provides to top LivCo attractions such as Letchworth State Park and Genesee Valley Greenway State Park, it's so, so much more than just these two outdoor fun hotspots. Here's how to spend a day in Nunda.

1. GRAB A CUPPA JOE FROM A LOCAL FAVORITE

Start your day with the right fuel, from Anchor's Coffee. The cozy, quaint stop offers a menu of seasonal, specialty coffees, plus baked goods like scones and cinnamon rolls, to satiate your early morning sweet tooth. If the weather isn't too nippy, grab a seat outside (if you do so, you can bring along your furry friend), or cozy up in one of the window-side seats in the bar. While there, stop into Raggedy Jan's Gifts, a collective gift shop where a rotation of local artisans can display and sell their unique, one-of-a-kind gifts.

2. TAKE TO THE OPEN TRAILS OR THE HIGH SKIES

Hiking is a must in LivCo, but if you've already been there, done that, we have other adventurous options in Nunda. Spend your morning one of two ways: horseback riding at Nunda Ranch or adventure tree climbing (yes, tree climbing!) at Camp Cherith.

Nunda Ranch offers a range of horseback riding trails along 50 gorgeous acres. If you're a first-timer, you can take to some newbie-friendly, easy trails. If you're an old pro, more intense terrain is available. Regardless of your experience level, consider booking a guide to show you around the property. If you want to channel your inner child, tree climbing at Camp Cherith might be more up your alley. The new activity allows both kiddos and adults to climb up into the treetops via a rope and pulley system. Reservations are required ahead on specific dates that are open to the public.

3. SNAP A PIC WITH A BLOSSOMING MURAL

Swing by one of the stops along Livingston County Inspirations Trail, which features beautiful, larger-than-life murals nestled in the heart of the region's fabulous small villages. Located at 60 North State Street, the mural dubbed Seed was painted by Chicago muralist, Matthew Mederer, as a nod to the historic, Nunda-founded company, Burt's Seeds. The company produced what are now well-known lithographic seed packets, the imagery from which can be spotted in an array of decorative items.

4. CHOW DOWN AT A SEASONAL HOTSPOT

If your fall visit brings you to LivCo before the end of September, stop for lunch at Kish-a-wa Creamery. This longstanding favorite offers grilled items like burgers and hot dogs, as well as ice cream. It's the perfect taste of the last remnants of late summer before the warm weather is gone for good.

5. EXPLORE THE OUTDOORS

Fill your afternoon with a long walk with plenty of spectacular scenery, or try catching a fly during a fly fishing excursion. If you opt for the former, head to Genesee Valley Greenway State Park. The Greenway takes the place of an old railway bed and offers a level walking path that's accessible to most travelers. Along the way, you'll enjoy views of the surrounding natural settings, as well as historically significant spots that harken back to the area's connections with the Genesee Valley Canal (1840–1878) and the Pennsylvania Railroad Rochester Branch (1882–1963).

If the latter is more your speed, though, go to Keshequa Creek, where you'll find plenty of opportunities to cast your line. If you didn't bring your tackle box, consider still seeing the sights along the Keshequa Creek Falls Trail, which provides hiking that's moderately rated and is just over four miles long.

6. SAMPLE LOCAL FLAVORS

For dinner, there's no better place to taste-test the local LivCo flavors than Woodlynn Hills Pub. The farm-focused eatery offers gastropub fare and ingredients are sourced as locally as possible. From paninis with homemade, local bread to pub burgers featuring beef from just miles away, it doesn't get fresher than this.

7. CATCH THE SUNSET OVER THE FALLS

End your day by moseying over to Letchworth State Park. Enter through the Portageville entrance which provides you with easy access to the park's three iconic waterfalls where you can catch the sunset, capping off your visit with a truly magical moment.

CELEBRATE CRAFT BEER

If you're visiting Nunda on October 19th, don't miss the Swain Beer Festival, held at Swain Ski Resort, just minutes from downtown Nunda. The annual fest brings together more than 25 local breweries, music, vendors and food trucks, for a can't-miss experience that includes free beer tastings and so much more.

WANT TO STAY LONGER?

If you'd like to enjoy Nunda at a slower pace, consider extending your stay overnight or even for a few days.

Letchworth Farm B&B

📍 NUNDA, NEW YORK

Letchworth Farm B&B provides the perfect place for you to rest your head. The 88-acre equestrian estate is just 500 yards from Letchworth State Park, and offers private guesthouses with views of the farm fields, plus amenities such as WiFi, wood-burning stoves and kitchenettes.

hello Spooky SEASON

Halloween – that spooky time of year when the ghosts come out to play, the pumpkins glow in the night, and the candy consumption reaches alarming levels. It's officially spooky season – and for those who look forward to Halloween all year long, LivCo offers plenty of spooks and scares to keep you on your toes. Whether you're a hardcore Halloween enthusiast or just in it for the free candy, navigating the haunting festivities can be a daunting task. From guided spirit walks to a beastly ball, here are some of the county's witchy and wild events worth traveling for.

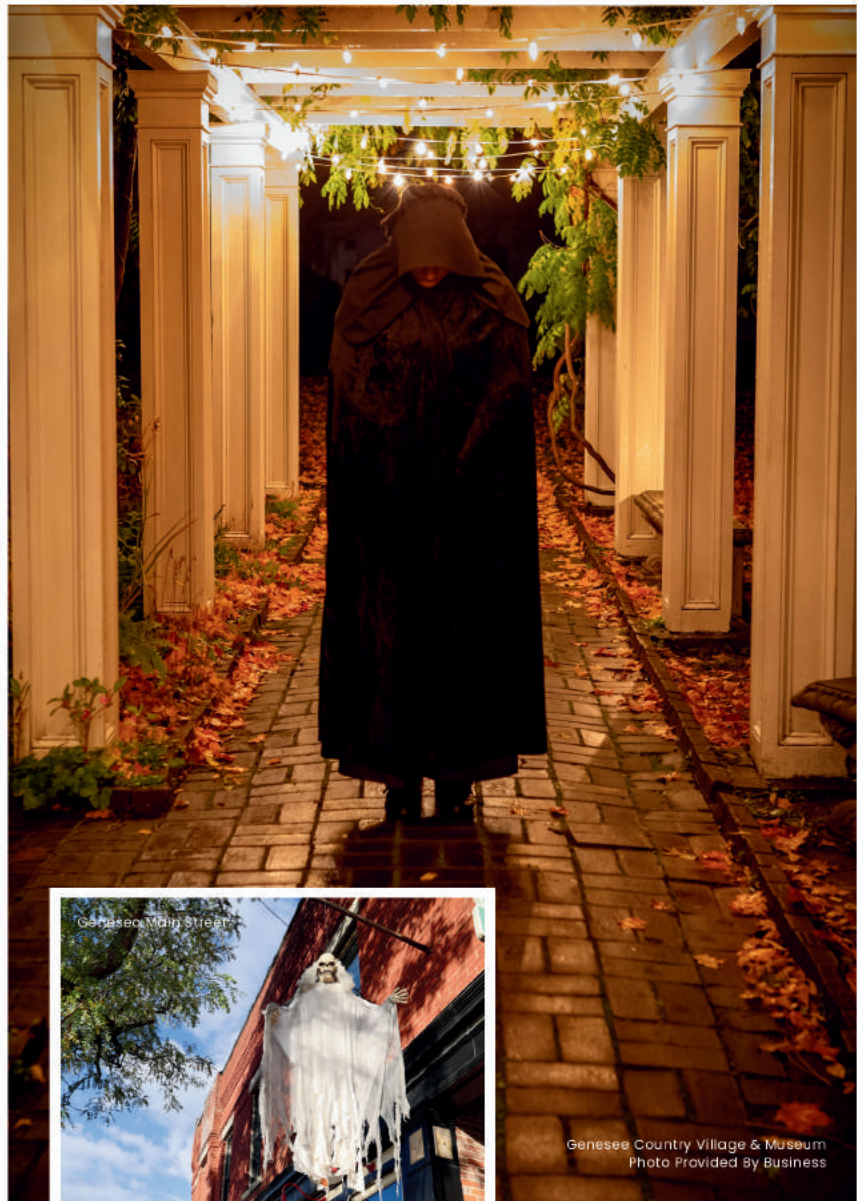

GET READY FOR ALL TYPES OF HAUNTED HAPPENINGS

If you like your horror on the historic side, make tracks for Genesee Country Village and Museum, a living history museum set on 600-plus expansive acres that depicts life in the 1800s. On October 12th, the museum welcomes visitors for Spooky Saturday. Pack your costume and get ready to snap some Instagram-worthy pics of the fall foliage contrasted against the historic buildings — a charming fall scene if we've ever seen one!

Be sure to stick around to check out the museum's newest exhibit as well, an apt addition for the season: Everybody's Going to Be There! The American Rural Cemetery Movement, where you can explore how 19th-century Americans managed public health concerns, developed an appreciation for green space and wildlife, and ensured memorialization in a newly established public space: the rural cemetery. A special talk will also be given on the history of rural cemeteries.

In the John L. Wehle Gallery at the museum, find local maker RocBlock Prints who will be selling a wide variety of spooky-themed hand pressed prints and seasonal items. Don't forget to wander through the Historic Village to enjoy the exuberant fall colors as you smell fires burning in historic hearths, watch the last of the summer harvest in the fields, and learn about how the change of seasons affected life in 19th-century New York. Make sure to stop by the Settlement Farm to see historical farmers constructing a scarecrow!

Won't be in town on October 12th? Throughout all of October, you can join guides at the Genesee Country Village and Museum for Spirits of the Past: A Walk in the Dark, a spooky experience that takes you throughout the historic village, where shocks and scares await around every corner. Tickets are available on the museum's website, gvc.org, and the guided walks take place the weekends of October 18th through 20th and October 25th through 27th.

For more historic haunts, head to Temple Hill Cemetery in Geneseo, founded in 1807 and a prime example of the rural cemetery movement. Learn more about the cemetery and its supposed spirits, during a one-night-only spirit walk that happens mid-October and is led by the Temple Hill Cemetery Association.

In Geneseo on October 11th? Celebrate the season at the Scarecrow Stroll and Bash. Explore local vendors, small businesses, and select eateries along Main Street while voting for your favorite scarecrow display. Continue the party on Chestnut Street next to the Wisdom mural with craft beverages, bites, and live music. As the sun starts to set on Halloween night, dress up in your best costume and wander down Main Street for the Annual Geneseo Halloween Parade.

In Mount Morris, Backyard Barnyard, a petting zoo and family fun center, offers two Halloween parties that you won't want to miss. A family-friendly party takes place on the last Saturday in October, with food, music, dancing, a costume contest and lots of kiddo-approved spooky activities. The last Friday in October, though, is for the adults, with a 21-and-up shindig called the Backyard Barnyard Beastly Ball. Food trucks, a DJ, breweries, wineries, and tons of fun activities like corn hole and tarot card readings are all on tap. Make sure to wear your best costume; the costume contest comes with cash prizes!

Prefer a classic Halloween experience? Don't miss the haunted hayrides from Livingston County Moonlit Acres, in Dansville. All throughout October, you can take a ride on the hay wagon and put your bravery to the test. Or make a visit to the restored Avon Park Theater on Genesee Street for Eric Carlin's Half Dead Halloween Bash, which returns for another year of fun on October 26th. Dance to the songs of the Grateful Dead, then during the set break, the band will host a costume contest with super cool Dead-themed prizes.

MORE HAUNTS

If you still need more scares to get your heart racing, embark on a journey along the Haunted History Trail of New York State. Visit hauntedhistorytrail.com for can't-miss hauntings throughout the Empire State.

SPOOKY SPOTS IN THE REGION

Whatever time of year you visit LivCo, if you're always up for a good scare and constantly tracking down haunted hotspots no matter where you travel, you'll want to book a stay at one of these paranormal places.

ALLEGIANCE BED & BREAKFAST

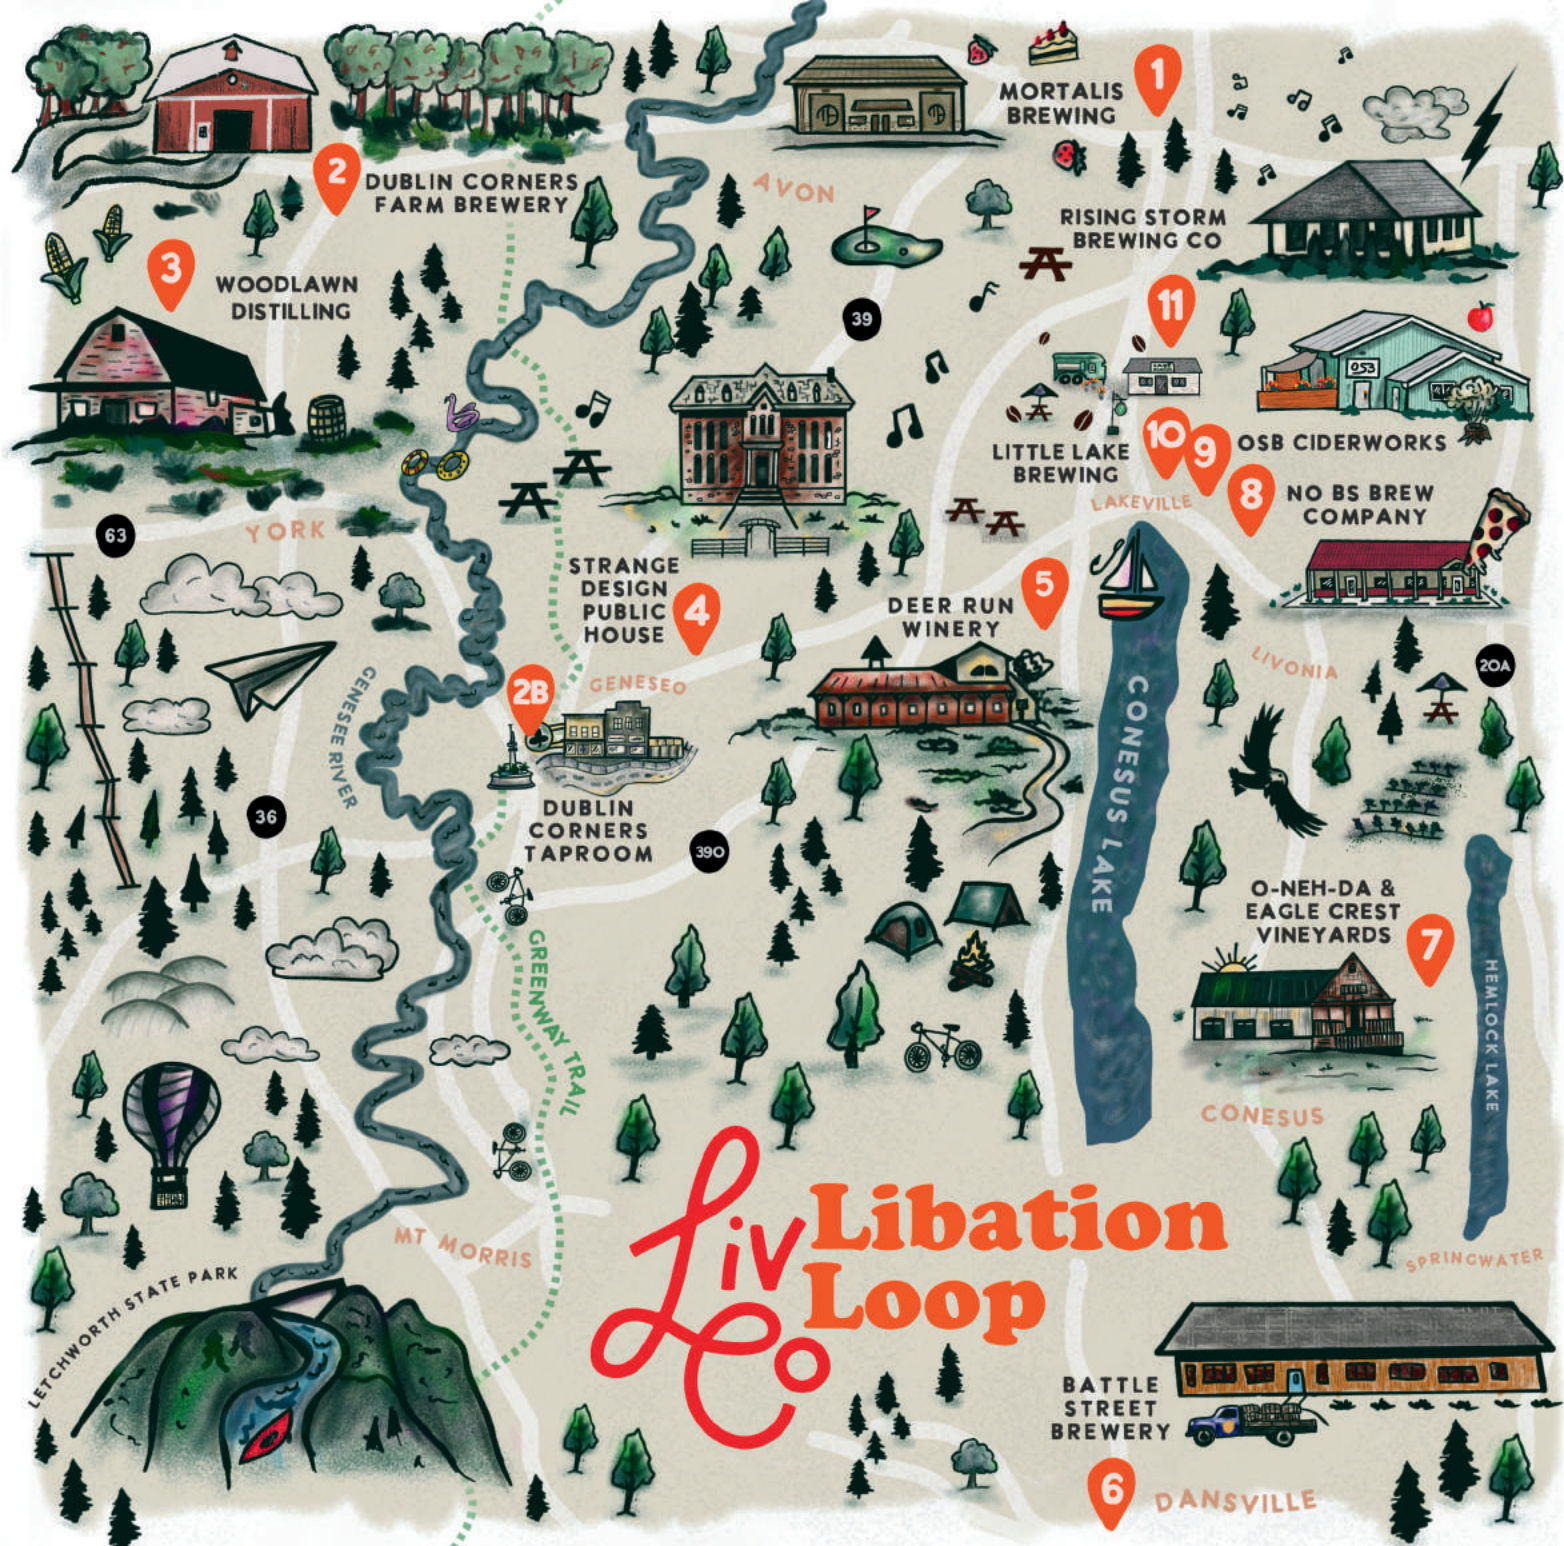

📍 MOUNT MORRIS, NEW YORK

Built in 1848, this historic, Greek revival-style bed and breakfast is home to two ghosts: Karen and Raymond. Both have been recorded by paranormal investigators, but never fear — both are friendly. You might spot Karen on the staircase, or even hear a word or two from Raymond. Keep your eyes peeled for a furry phantom during your stay as well. Ghost cat Sammy has been known to wind around guests' legs and even snuggle up for a nap.

AMERICAN HOTEL

📍 LIMA, NEW YORK

Similarly, the American Hotel in Lima is a historic property nearly 200 years old. However, while some might know the property for its fantastic dining (the kitchen churns out more than 400 varieties of soup, perfect for the season!), others know it for its ghosts, with guests reporting sightings ranging from friendly past residents, long-deceased, to specters floating through their rooms.

YOUR GUIDE TO CRAFT BEER, WINE, CIDER & SPIRITS IN LIVCO

GETAWAY TO LIVINGSTON COUNTY

Looking for fall fun, colorful foliage, seasonal eats, and plenty of opportunities to soak up that crisp fall air? The Genesee River Valley has you covered. Just a short drive from Syracuse, Rochester, and Buffalo, LivCo is close to big city amenities, but far enough removed from the region's larger hubs that you can avoid all the crowds and truly feel as if you're getting away. Here's how to spend an autumn weekend in LivCo, exploring some of the best of the best in all things local attractions, local restaurants and watering holes and, of course, local leaf-peeping.

DAY ONE

CHECK INTO A HISTORIC STAY

Steps from downtown Avon, the Avon Inn is a beautiful National Landmark, Greek revival property built in 1840. Its expansive history includes many notable names and historic "firsts." Not only was the property used as an acclaimed health center, it also served as the first bank and post office in LivCo. Likewise, it boasted the first central heating system in the region and the first elevator in Upstate New York. Over the years, the inn hosted famous faces such as Katharine Hepburn, Henry Ford and Thomas Edison. Now, you can join their ranks when you book a stay in one of the inn's renovated guest rooms.

RELAX ON A LEISURELY HIKE

Start your journey outside with a hike among some of the fall foliage. The Railroad Bed Trail in Avon is a relatively easy, multi-use trail for equestrians and hikers, about three miles in length. As the name suggests, the rail runs along an old railroad bed and, during the trek, you'll be treated to views of rural LivCo and the Genesee River Valley.

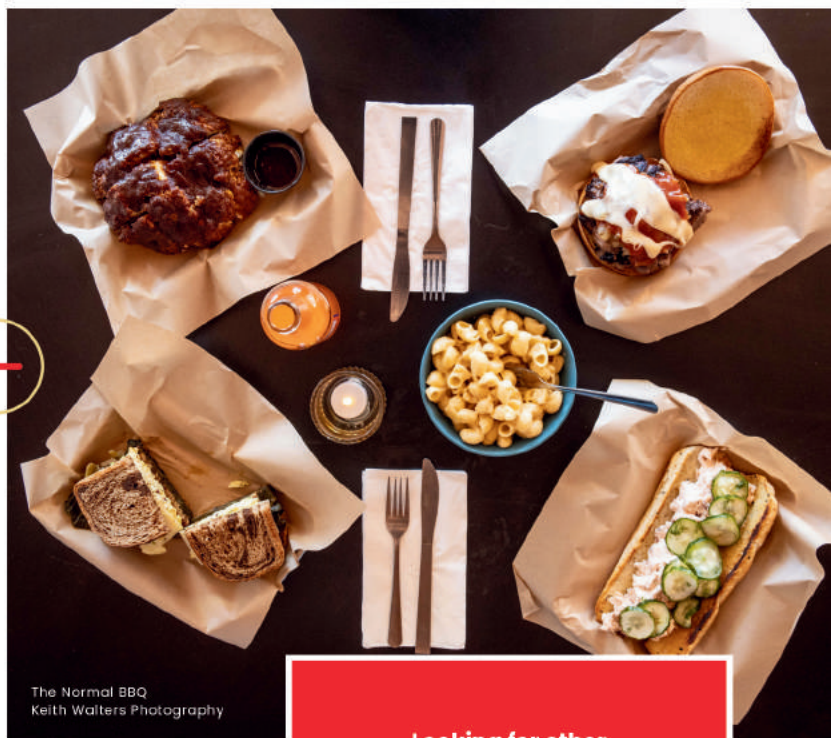

GRAB A LATE LUNCH THAT'S ANYTHING BUT AVERAGE

Sure, this restaurant might be dubbed The Normal, but it's certainly not your average restaurant. As the first tipless joint in LivCo, it serves up barbecue, wings, ribs and platters with fun twists, like the prime beef brisket sandwich that's topped with a lingonberry-based barbecue sauce and pickled onion.

Grab a cool cocktail like the Cosmic Helmet (tequila, lingonberry syrup, lime and triple sec) or the Fizzy Lifting Drink (bourbon, coffee liqueur, orgeat, cream and soda) and you'll have the perfect introduction to LivCo's dining scene.

BROWSE LIVCO'S BREW SCENE

Make a stop at Mortalis Brewing Company. This once small, startup brewery has expanded to multiple Upstate cities in a few short years and offers tons of unique beers that you'll be hard-pressed to find at just any brewery. Not exactly a beer connoisseur? The brewery also serves wine, cider and non-alcoholic beverages.

GRAB BREAKFAST ON THE GO

During your second day in town, you've got plenty to do, so head out for a quick early breakfast at The Coffee Cup in Dansville. Just because it's quick, doesn't mean you'll be sacrificing quality. This restaurant offers tons of diner favorites like omelets, French toast, pancake platters and the like — the perfect options to get your day off on the right foot.

TAKE IN THE VIEWS AT STONY BROOK

It's not just the fall foliage that'll make your jaw drop in LivCo during the autumn season. Combine those explosions of color with dramatic waterfalls and you'll see some truly gorgeous scenery. At Stony Brook State Park, minutes from downtown Dansville, you can hike three trails and see multiple waterfalls along the way.

WANDER YOUR WAY TO SOME LOCAL WARES

As you continue your day through Dansville, stop downtown, where you can peruse some of the charming local businesses. Dansville Granola Company sells an array of fresh, healthy and oh-so-tasty granola options that you'll definitely want to take home with you. Dogwood Trading Company offers gifts upon gifts, no matter who you're shopping for; from children's toys to kitchen items, candles to décor, there's a bit of everything. A newer (and whimsical) spot in town, Spindle & Knots is the place to go to plot out your next craft project and stock up on all the necessary gear.

DAY TWO

GET IN A ROUND OF GOLF — NO MATTER THE WEATHER

Try your hand at a round of golf, with no experience, good weather, or clubs necessary. At HD Sports Zone in Dansville, simulator technology makes a quick round possible, when you rent out a VIP lounge and take some swings with up to six other players. Fore!

END THE DAY WITH AN AUTHENTIC DINNER

You might not associate LivCo with authentic Italian cuisine, but that's exactly what you'll find at Questa Lasagna in Mount Morris. The cozy restaurant is as fresh as it gets, with no freezers and no fryers, but loads to love on the menu, from the lasagna to the gnocchi, ravioli to the carbonara.

ENJOY A TASTING AT DEER RUN WINERY

There's just something a little magical about a vineyard in the fall. Stop by Deer Run Winery, the westernmost winery of the Finger Lakes Region, to try sips of small-batch wines made from 100% Finger Lakes grapes. A tasting is an absolute must, but if you're lucky and there on the right day, you can enjoy some local live music and some bites at the Tankroom Cafe as well — the perfect excuse to linger awhile.

order a Western New York classic, beef on weck, as well as barbecue, but also casual faves like tacos and rice bowls.

END THE WEEKEND ON A MUSICAL NOTE

Before you collect your bags and head back home, end the weekend on a high note — literally. Catch some live music at the Avon Park Theater and tap your toes as you make plans for your next great LivCo vacation.

DAY THREE

SATIATE YOUR SWEET TOOTH

If you enjoy pastries for breakfast (and we wouldn't blame you, if that's the case!), then satiate your sweet tooth first thing in the morning with a stop by Six Sprouts Farm Market in Avon for a tantalizing breakfast pastry. Here you can also enjoy the market's locally roasted coffee. Be sure to check out the selection of other local products while you're there!

MAKE NEW FRIENDS

Head on over to Backyard Barnyard to make a few new friends. The petting zoo and family fun center offers not just furry faces to photograph and love on, but also bounce houses, axe throwing, sling shots, and family activities.

SAVOR YOUR LAST BITES OF LIVCO

End your explorations of the area's dining scene, with a stop at Lake BBQ in Livonia, where you can

THREE EXTRA AUTUMN ACTIVITIES IN OUR REGION

Even after spending a full three days here, you may feel like you've just scratched the surface. And it's true. The natural beauty we've grown accustomed to in the Genesee River Valley expands throughout the region, and Livingston County serves as the ideal base camp for seeing it all.

Explore museums across the region filled with historical intrigue and excitement, whether you're interested in learning about local culture, industries, artists, or the Indigenous People who have called this area home for thousands of years. Don't miss out on a visit to the Livingston County Historical Society & Museum and National Warplane Museum both in Geneseo, Big Springs Museum in Caledonia, and Genesee Country Village & Museum in Mumford.

Enjoy a sporty day cheering on the Knights at SUNY Geneseo where you can watch men's and women's soccer, field hockey, and cross country in the fall. If you're a big sports fan, stop into one of LivCo's breweries or bars to cheer on Western New York's NFL team, the Buffalo Bills. In addition to local brews, many spots serve up popular local bites including beef on weck, Buffalo chicken wings, and garbage plates.

Cast out a line and go fly fishing in LivCo. Stop at Oatka Creek, the third longest tributary of the Genesee River and inhabited primarily by brown trout. Every year, the Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC) stocks thousands of brown trout and rainbow trout in the Genesee River. Or make a trip to Springwater Creek, a popular spot among anglers that originates in northern Steuben County stocked with rainbow trout, smallmouth and largemouth bass.
