About the Loudoun VA250 Committee

In Virginia, the American Revolution was a war, and more than a war. Inspired Virginians brought to a fledgling nation the thoughtful words guiding leaders of the day to declare liberty as the right of Americans, and asserting with that liberty any pursuit is within reach. These revolutionary notions, conceived by outstanding Virginians and their colonial counterparts, are the ideals that set the foundation of our great nation. The American Revolution in Virginia was a long and hard-fought war, but it was much more than a war... it was a Revolution of Ideas.

The Loudoun VA250 Committee is established for the purpose of participating in the Commonwealth of Virginia's state-wide efforts to commemorate the 250th anniversary of Virginia's participation in American independence. The committee will plan and coordinate programs and events occurring within Loudoun County, resulting in an inclusive, positive legacy and long-term benefits for residents and visitors.
