

A Date with the First Lady

As the Antebellum Capital of Georgia, historic Milledgeville boasts of southern mansions and garden gates which have harbored governors, generals and ghosts. Come and make a date with destiny!

Morning:

Begin your day with a guided trolley tour of the Historic District. The tour includes rotating stops at Lockerly Hall, the Old State Capitol, St. Stephens Episcopal Church, and the Stetson-Sanford House. (Tour stops vary daily)

For lunch, walk through downtown Milledgeville and enjoy a meal at one of the local hotspots or take a box lunch out to Lockerly Arboretum.

Afternoon:

Following lunch, begin your tour of the Museum District. First head over to Georgia's Old Capital Museum where you will experience real Civil War history in the building where Georgia legislators voted to secede from the Union as well as learn about the Native Americans who lived in the area prior to European settlement.

After taking a walk back in time, stop at the Old Governor's Mansion. This National Historic Landmark was claimed by Sherman in the infamous "March to the Sea" and served as the home to Georgia's governors until 1868. Also take advantage of their "Labor Behind the Veil" tours that provide visitors a glimpse into the lives of the men and women who lived and worked on the mansion grounds.

End your day at Andalusia, the historic home of Southern writer Flannery O'Connor. It was in this house that O'Connor wrote two novels and many short stories that are well known today. For thirteen years her creativity thrived at this farm, where she wrote and raised peafowl until her death in 1964.

Milledgeville
Capitals, Columns & Culture

For more information:

200 West Hancock St.
P.O. Box 219
Milledgeville, GA 31061
800-653-1804

tourism@windstream.net
www.visitmilledgeville.org