On behalf of the City Council and our community, it is my pleasure to welcome you to Morro Bay.

While you are here, I invite you to live like a local. Whatever your passion, we have something to offer you. Hike a trail, surf a wave, paddle the bay, visit a gallery, taste fresh seafood, sip local wine, sample handcrafted brews, delight in abundant wildlife or simply relax in our splendid natural setting taking in one-of-a-kind views of sea, sand and surf.

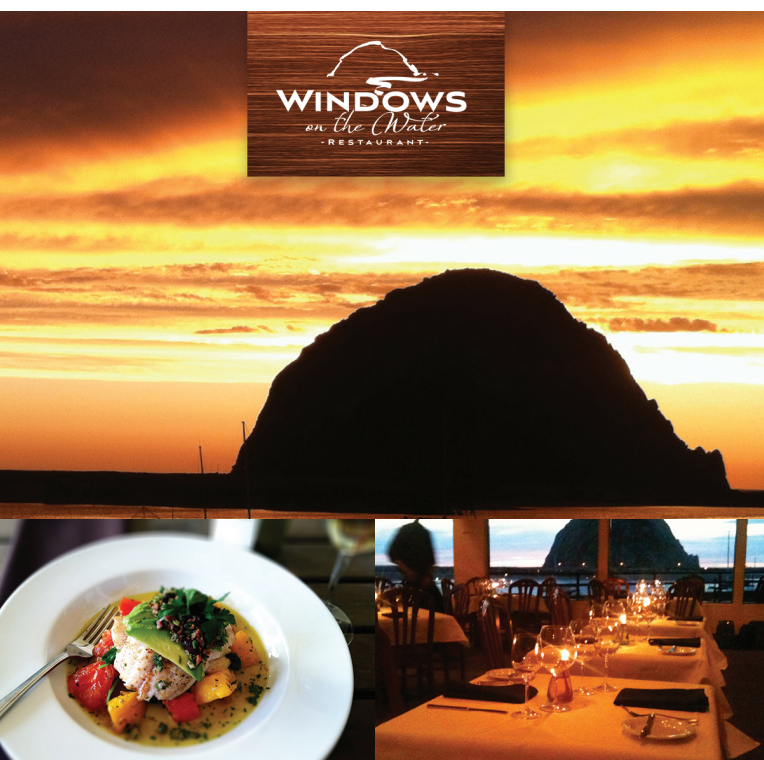

Our residents are welcoming so feel free to strike up a conversation with one of us. Feel free to ask us for a recommendation of the best place to view the sunset or watch the otters play. We'll gladly direct you to our favorite shops, restaurants and attractions. And, you will get a variety of opinions on where to stand to take the best selfie with Morro Rock!

Thank you for choosing to visit Morro Bay. We are happy to share our ecofriendly, historic and art-filled fishing village with you. By spending time in our city, you will experience why we love calling Morro Bay home. Enjoy your stay and we hope you will return again and again to visit us.

get on the WATER!

No Experience, No Problem

It's a no-brainer that you want to go kayaking or paddleboarding when you visit Morro Bay. But, like most of us, you may not be an expert. Here are some tips to help you get your feet wet:

Bring Binoculars

There is much to see when you're out on the water. Aside from the picturesque views of Morro Rock and the harbor, there's active marine life that live in and around the bay.

Our bay is home to harbor seals, sea otters and the occasional dolphin. You'll likely notice many of our marine mammals on your adventure, especially if you paddle by our floating dock in the middle of the bay. Harbor seals enjoy gathering there and sunbathing throughout the day.

If you're paddling toward Morro Rock, be sure to keep your eyes open as this is a common gathering spot for sea otters.

These animals are naturally peaceful and will keep their distance. A good rule of thumb is to stay far enough away that the animals don't notice your presence. Bring your binoculars for a better view.

High Tides Make For Easy Paddling

Although the bay is gorgeous at all hours, there are times that are easier than others to navigate the waters. Use the tides to your advantage, said Dennis Krueger, owner of Kayak Horizons. The higher the tide, the further you can paddle into the estuary.

Certain times of day also have better weather conditions. Mid-morning is the best time to go, said John Flaherty, tour guide and owner of Central Coast Outdoors. The wind tends to pick up come afternoon.

Our coastal sunshine comes around almost every day, however some winter breezes can be cold on the bay. Be sure to take a jacket with you just in case.

Maximize Your Experience With A Guide

It's possible to have a more-than successful solo trip, but taking a guide along will help you navigate through the bay. A guide can help you:

1. Locate bird species, marine mammals and other animals. Guides know our local critters' hang out spots. They can also help name species and answer your questions about the bay.
2. Find the best views and coolest spots. First time kayakers may not know their way around the bay. A guide will help you find the locations that you won't want to miss.
3. Avoid tricky situations. Lower tides are sometimes difficult to navigate. Our guides know the best way to pilot through tougher waters.

BIRD WATCHING in morro bay

Bird-Lover's Paradise

More than 200 diverse species of birds flourish in Morro Bay, making it one of Audubon Society's top birding locations in the nation. The town is home not only to thousands of birds year-round, but to also the annual Winter Bird Festival.

Every Martin Luther King weekend, Morro Bay is flooded with bird-seekers to attend the Bird Festival. This celebration is an opportunity to see, photograph, and learn about Morro Bay's native and migratory birds. The festival holds more than 140 different tours as well as a public vendor fair and a free kids' day.

"From short field-trips to all-day field trips, to lectures, to workshops, to activities for the kids... Everything about it is exciting," Rouvaishyana, state park liaison and festival planning committee member, said.

But, where are the birds?

Whether it's during the festival or on your own time, Morro Bay State Park, beaches, and the bay are always great birding resources. But, there are three key places in Morro Bay that are known for their abundance:

1. The Heron Rookery

Located right outside the grounds of the Natural History Museum on State Park Road is the Heron Rookery – appropriately named after the majestic great blue herons that prosper there. If you forgot your binoculars, this is the place to see many shore birds in close proximity. For those interested in watching from the car, the shoreline is directly in front of the parking lot. You can also get an up-close look of the bay in a kayak, boat or paddleboard.

2. Morro Rock

The Rock's vertical cliffs make for a habitat that protects birds from weather and predators. Famous for housing the peregrine falcon, it's also common to see pelicans, loons and more at the Rock. There are two nesting pairs of falcon at the Rock, a comeback from only two pairs in all of California during the 1970s. Come in the afternoon to catch a group of birders that meet at the Rock daily to watch these powerful and fast-flying falcons.

3. The Estuary

The gateway trail to Morro Bay's estuary is located in the Back Bay Marina. This 2,300-acre estuary is home to a diverse array of birds, from migratory brant geese to belted kingfishers, red-shouldered hawks, hummingbirds and many more. As the water level fluctuates in the estuary, so does the types of birds it attracts. Bring binoculars and a sack lunch. Enjoy the natural beauty and many marine mammals the estuary attracts on this remote walking trail.

Winter Bird Festival

Aside from these popular locations, there are several more vantage points throughout the town, both inland and along the shoreline. Come check out the Winter Bird Festival this year to learn more! January 12–15, 2018

in morro bay

Creative Souls

Morro Bay's eclectic spirit is nourished by the vibrant artwork around town. Home to world-renowned galleries, street art and art connoisseurs, Morro Bay is food for creative souls. There's much to see with more than 13 galleries, seasonal art festivals, and even a "mural mile" that weaves through downtown storefronts.

Murals

See any murals yet? They are all a part of Morro Bay's "mural mile," a collection of 23 murals that are viewable from your car or the sidewalk. This is an enjoyable way to tour the downtown and waterfront areas in less than an hour by foot. The murals depict Morro Bay's natural beauty, its history and the marine life that thrive in the bay's waters. Each piece is unique, some created by local professionals and some created by aspiring artists from local elementary schools.

Art In The Park Festival

If you're coming to town Fourth of July weekend,

Memorial Day weekend or Labor Day weekend, you will get to experience Morro Bay's tri-annual Art in the Park festival. Come celebrate 125 local artists showcasing their creations at Morro Bay's City Park for the weekend. From woodwork to blown glass and intricate sculptures, the many creations will leave you feeling inspired.

Galleries

Showcasing a variety of styles and mediums, there is something for everyone to enjoy at the galleries. You'll find surf photography, hand-crafted jewelry, post-modern pieces, gorgeous watercolor landscapes and many more unique works. Take a walk on the Embarcadero to stumble across some of our favorites. There are also several galleries downtown, including famous Baja-inspired artist John Ramos Gallery. Don't be surprised if you leave with a new addition to your home!

WHALES DOLPHINS OTTERS...oh my!

Morro Bay is lucky enough to host the largest animals on earth year-round. Impossible to be kept in captivity, the only way to see the majestic creatures is to venture around their natural habitat. These massive migrators are a treasure to behold.

Types of Whales & Other Animals

There are two different whale species that are abundant in Morro Bay. Magnificent humpback whales are seen outside of Estero Bay in April through October. And, in October through April, gray whales come to our waters. Aside from these visitors, it's also common to see dolphins, seals, otters, and occasionally orca and blue whales.

Whale Watching

There are several locations to watch for the whales. One option is to hop on-board of a whale watching charter. This is the best way to get an up-close look at the whales and capture once-in-a-lifetime pictures. Aside from taking a boat, there are also several vantage points from shore. Here are some of the best:

1. North Point

Located at the end of Toro Lane in North

Morro Bay is the locals' favorite viewing spot. This area is situated on bluffs over Morro Strand Beach with benches for viewing. Bring your sack lunch and come catch a glimpse of the hundreds of whales that travel through.

2. Morro Strand Beach

From Morro Rock to Cayucos Pier lies Morro Strand Beach; a gorgeous stretch of uncombed beach sprinkled with sand dollars. This is a great location to watch for breaching and water spouts. Climb on the sand dunes for a better view.

3. Estero Bay

The bay is home to much marine life beyond whales. It's common to spot harbor seals, herons, falcons and sea otters all in one day's visit. Take a stroll on the harbor walk across from the smokestacks to see the otters' favorite hang-out spot. They're likely swimming along the water's edge.

BEACHES in morro bay

Sand and Sunshine

Don't be surprised if you spend hours wandering our gorgeous uncombed beaches. Speckled with more sand dollars than you can count, hungry birds, hidden treasures, rolling waves and miles of flat sand perfect for a stroll, jog or walk – It's hard to top a day spent in the sunshine. Morro Bay offers you any and all types of waterfront experiences, including beaches, a bay and a harbor. Bring along your family and friends for a day of infinite possibilities at the water, whether it be surfing, beachcombing, diving, kayaking, walking, tanning, paddleboarding, biking and many more!
