JOIN OUR Myrtle Beach Family FOR THE HOLIDAYS

- 7 Myrtle Beach Attractions
- 10 Special Holiday Events
- 6 Holiday Shows

May your days in Myrtle Beach be merry and bright! With the sparkling lights and holiday spirit galore, your friends and family will make jolly memories to last a lifetime. There is an abundance of shopping, shows, and restaurants across the Grand Strand that will help you check everything off your list. Here at The Beach, we swap the snow for sand and icicles for seashells – and we couldn't be merrier about it!

'Tis the season for these great attractions

By Molly Phillips

There's much more than sea and sand to enjoy on a trip to Myrtle Beach. This perennially popular vacation destination has some of the most inventive and intriguing attractions and cultural institutions in the South. Groups visiting the beach can find an aquarium, a science museum, a historic plantation, a sculpture garden and more.

During the holidays, many of Myrtle Beach's best attractions plan special programming and events to help groups enjoy the season.

RIPLEY'S AQUARIUM

Ripley's Aquarium prides itself on providing animal experiences unlike any other. Featuring live shows, interactive activities and a thriving collection of marine animals, this 85,000-square-foot aquarium is South Carolina's most visited attraction.

During the holiday season, instead of a sleigh ride, guests can take a side-by-side swim with stingrays; the species joining them will include the spotted eagle ray and the cownose ray. In the Dangerous Reef Tunnel, families can have a sleepover with the sharks after a night full of dive shows and other after-hours activities. There's even an option to spend the night on New Year's Eve and have a midnight toast with newfound shark friends.

Ripley's Aquarium of Myrtle Beach wants you to "sea" things differently! Located in Broadway at the Beach—the city's premiere entertainment, dining, and shopping complex—the Aquarium offers hours of family fun 365 days a year! Through the end of the year, experience the magical sights and sounds of the holidays at the Aquarium's famous Festival of Trees—South Carolina's largest collection of Christmas trees, now bigger and brighter than ever with more than 50 decorated trees! Gather your loved ones and create a new tradition by visiting. We also invite children to bring their stamped letters to Santa to drop in our new Christmas mailbox at the Aquarium entrance.

During the holidays, the aquarium's annual Festival of Trees showcases more than 50 decorated Christmas trees.
Ripley's has several other attractions in Myrtle Beach. For a mind-bending activity, guests can get lost in Ripley's Marvelous Mirror Maze filled with illusory reflections, LED lights and tricky twists and turns. And at Ripley's 5-D Moving Theater, guests can "ride the movie," with interactive motion features and other special effects.

WonderWorks is a 50,000-square-foot amusement park with an imaginative self-proclaimed backstory. According to the myth, the park was once a top-secret laboratory that, because of a scientific experiment gone wrong, was whisked away to Broadway at the Beach in Myrtle Beach all the way from the Bermuda Triangle. This tale is supported by the park's physical structure, which resembles an upside-down building with dangling palm trees clinging to the previously grounded foundation. With over 100 handson activities, WonderWorks specializes in "edu-tainment," blending education with entertainment and exploring subjects such as space, art, light, sound, physics and weather. Some of the stimulating exhibits include natural disasters where visitors can play with 100,000 volts of electricity through a mesh, steel armor glove, and physical challenges where guests can lie on a bed of 3,500 nails and test the application of force. Future artists can let their creativity run wild in the Imagination Lab with the Wonder Brite activities and digital artistic stations.

WonderWorks offers additional thrilling physical activities, such as a glow-in-the-dark indoor ropes challenge course that features three stories, 28 obstacles and 36-foothigh bridges, swinging beams and lily pads. More of a team-based challenge, the laser tag combat zone encourages players to out-game their opponents using the black-lit maze as their interactive arena. Outdoors, visitors can soar through the air above water on the 50-foot-high zip line.

DUPLIN WINERY

At the Duplin Winery, guests can enjoy a sweeter holiday season by tasting wine from one of the oldest and largest wineries in the South. The Duplin Winery began making wine back in the early 1970s. At first, the winemakers used mainly muscadine grapes, which were considered a "wonder crop" at the time. Today, the winery sells over 500,000 cases of wine a year and has won several awards. Among their awardwinning wines are Hatteras Red, Scuppernong and Magnolia, which was recently highlighted in Martha Stewart Living. For the holiday season, the Duplin Winery offers special wine accessories and seasonal wines that make excellent gifts for friends and family. The store is also outfitted with festive decorations.

BROOKGREEN GARDENS

Founded in 1931 by Archer and Anna Hyatt Huntington, Brookgreen Gardens is a cultural hub for locals. This lush retreat offers a harmonious blend of art, nature and history. Visitors can discover wildlife and sculptures, native plants and botanical displays during their visit to Brookgreen.

In the botanical garden, guests will find 250-year-old oak trees and thriving flora and fauna, as well as a garden room, a kitchen garden and a terrace garden full of perennials, roses and more. Brookgreen Gardens also has the largest and most comprehensive collection of American figurative sculptures in the country, with more than 2,000 works, and indoor galleries displaying paintings, etchings, and other types of artwork.

Animal lovers won't want to miss out on the garden's Lowcountry Zoo, which features native animals living in the swamps, woods and waters of the area. One of the few establishments in South Carolina accredited by the Association of Zoos and Aquariums, Brookgreen Gardens takes pride in helping animals that would not have survived in the wild. Guests can explore the zoo, with the opportunity to watch the animals' natural behaviors and learn about them during a 50-minute tour. During the holidays, Brookgreen Gardens hosts Nights of 1,000 Candles, where guests can experience the garden coming to life with over 2,700 hand-lit candles and myriad dazzling lights. Visitors enjoy the festive sounds of holiday music and singing carolers while sipping warm drinks such as cocoa, cider and wine. Named "Best Christmas Lights in South Carolina" by Travel + Leisure Magazine, this event would be sure to make anyone's holiday season sparkle even brighter.

With craft bazaars, period reenactments, decor competitions and even a maritime Christmas parade, there is no shortage of entertaining diversions during a winter trip to the Grand Strand's shores. Several events are so unique and memorable that they deserve a spot in any group's Christmastime trip to Myrtle Beach. These festivities will enchant, delight and make visitors fall even more in love with the South's favorite beach town.

ORIGINAL BENJAMIN'S

CALABASH SEAFOOD GINGERBREAD LANE COMPETITION

The Original Benjamin's Calabash Seafood has been an icon in Myrtle Beach for more than 30 years, serving fresh-caught seafood from the Atlantic Ocean and the brackish inland waters of the Intracoastal Waterway. The restaurant features lighthouseinspired architecture and nautical decor and serves lightly battered, deep-fried seafood known regionally as "Calabash." The Original Benjamin's takes its art forms seriously. At the restaurant, one can find dozens of model ships on display that have been handcrafted or meticulously restored by the restaurant's master shipwright, Jimmy Frost. The collection includes sailboats. famous ocean liners and naval war ships.

During the holiday season, however, it's a different art form that draws crowds: gingerbread homes. The Original Benjamin's Gingerbread Lane competition is a spectacle not to be missed, and participants have come from states away to enter their creations in the lineup. Over the years, the contest has seen everything from houseboats to lighthouses to White House replicas and beyond. Some participants have been entering the competition year after year for over a decade. Groups that want to see the gingerbread houses can visit anytime from the Saturday before Thanksgiving to January 1st.

INTRACOASTAL CHRISTMAS REGATTA

On the Saturday following Thanksgiving, a colorful parade of holiday-decorated vessels ushers the season into the Carolinas' Grand Strand of beaches. Known as the Intracoastal Christmas Regatta, the spectacle begins parading at dusk from Tilghman's point to Dock Holiday's Marina and is best viewed from the deck of one of the area's riverside restaurants. Many have regatta-themed holiday specials available during the parade. Boat owners take great pride in decking out their vessels yearafter-year for the maritime march, often selecting themes to guide the decorations. Boats have appeared as tropical islands, Vegas show stages, Santa's sleighs and much more.

Typically, the event also features a charitable component, and attendees help raise support for a designated yearly cause, such as the local Humane Society or Christmas toys for underprivileged children.

DICKENS SHOW AND FESTIVALS

Part farmers market, part craft fair, part festival, the Dickens Christmas Show and festivals draw crowds of more than 20,000 from across the Southeast every year. Visitors come to shop, dine, take in the sights and catch a good whiff of Christmas spirit. This award-winning event takes over the Myrtle Beach Convention Center the second weekend in November every year, filling the 100,000-square-foot space with vendors clad in Victorian-era costumes and selling everything from gourmet popcorn to handcrafted jewelry and art. Adding to the Victorian ambiance are musicians who stroll throughout the crowds, a historical Santa Claus, tea leaf readers and more. Punctuating the bazaar of goods and goodies are various "festivals" that showcase the creativity of local artisans to benefit nonprofit groups. In 2022, expect the Festival of Trees, Tables, Wreaths, Worlds and — new since 2019 - Stockings. Each festival is a designated area of the market where elaborately decorated holiday items, such as trees, are displayed. Often decorated in themes, the items are available for purchase via silent auction. All proceeds go to the designated nonprofit sponsor of that festival. Tiny Tim, from the festival's namesake inspiration, Charles Dickens' "A Christmas Carol," would certainly approve.

HOLIDAY FANTASEA

Presented annually by the Coastal Network Cooperative in partnership with the Myrtle Beach Area Convention and Visitors Bureau, Holiday FantaSea is a complimentary production available for group tours that book trips to Myrtle Beach during the beginning of the holiday season.

This two-hour show, with awardwinning singers and dancers from the local area, is happening on the first two Wednesdays of November in order to inspire groups to get a head start on the winter travel season and book their tours to the area early. In addition to enjoying a riveting onstage performance, guests can get in on the fun through dozens of giveaways, including $250 Tanger Outlets gift cards. Though Holiday FantaSea was started as a way to give back to tour operators and groups, it has become an all-around win not only for the groups and the Convention and Visitors Bureau, but also for local businesses.

RIVERTOWN CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION

The Rivertown Christmas Celebration is like stepping through time into the scene of a classic Christmas movie. In the quaint town of Conway, local shop owners, city officials, musicians and restaurateurs come together to transform their downtown into a magical Christmas village during the first two weeks of December. Kicking off with a tree-lighting ceremony that culminates with Santa's arrival at City Hall, the event runs every night through the middle of December from 6:00pm to 8:00pm.

Visitors can take a horse-drawn carriage ride through the picturesque downtown, enjoy live music performed inside and outside local boutiques and art galleries, and try to spot one of the famed "living window displays" on the second Thursday of the month, when shop owners compete to see who can produce the most magnificently staged live window scene.

ARTS FESTIVALS

Myrtle Beach is filled with artistic expression. The Waccamaw Arts and Crafts Guild has been providing a platform for local artisans to sell their work for more than half a century. Guests that visit during the first half of November may be able to catch the 50th annual arts festival put on by the guild, called Art in the Park, held in the Valor Park area of Market Common. While the art fair showcases dozens of talented local artisans and makers, it also draws vendors from across the country that come to showcase their myriad talent and wares.

Find traditional oil-on-canvas paintings, wire sculptures, homemade jewelry, wood carvings and more. It's a good way to support the arts and small businesses while finding one-of-a-kind holiday gifts.

WINTER ARTS AND CRAFTS SHOW

Slightly later in the season, typically the first weekend of December, you can find similar artisan offerings against a more upscale backdrop. The Winter Arts and Craft Show is coming up on its 35th year in Myrtle Beach and is now hosted at the DoubleTree Resort by Hilton Myrtle Beach Oceanfront, a hotel well known by Myrtle Beach summer vacationers.

Visitors can browse through artisan goods and discover sweet treats and delicious eats, all just a few yards from the beach. Depending on the weather, a crisp walk outside on the shore after an afternoon of shopping and snacking might be the perfect end to a cheery holiday outing. The Double Tree Resort will announce dates and times on its website.

WINTER WINDERLAND AT THE BEACH

Winter Wonderland at the Beach brings the magic of the holiday season to life, right here in the heart of Myrtle Beach. The downtown and boardwalk areas will be transformed into a sparkling holiday dreamland, filled with twinkiling lights and festive fun. This all-new holiday spectacular will operate seven days a week throughout the holiday season and will feature a walkthrough lights display, an ice skating rink, and plenty of special events. The Wonderland is located at Burroughs & Chapin Pavilion Place, and hours are 3pm until 9pm on weekdays and noon until 10pm on the weekends.

BAREFOOT LANDING

At Barefoot Landing, guests can unwind from the stress of the holiday season in a beautiful waterfront setting. Stretched along the Intracoastal Waterway, this complex features 50-plus shops, 10 restaurants and eight exciting attractions, not to mention stunning views of a 27-acre lake. Shoppers can browse brands such as Chico's and Sand and Sun, or try local Southern cuisine from Blueberry's Grill or the River City Cafe. Starting at the end of November, Barefoot Landing hosts the annual Lighting of the Landing, with a tree-lighting ceremony, live music, a Santa visit and a spectacular fireworks display.

HOLIDAY Chows Q O

Myrtle Beach venues celebrate the season

By Molly Phillips

The holidays are a time when worn imaginations often find new life, whether through watching a Christmas pageant, reading a favorite childhood storybook, huddling up with hot chocolate to take in a classic holiday movie or just pausing to listen to carolers in a snow-covered street. It's that sliver of time at the end of a long year we look forward to, to be inspired, to be uplifted and, maybe just for a moment, to believe in magic again.

Myrtle Beach offers holiday travelers myriad opportunities to experience that moment of transcendence and wonder and to enter into the joy of Christmas through the art of music and theater.

The winter holiday season has become one of the cultural pinnacles of Myrtle Beach and the surrounding area. Performances from world-renowned actors, musicians, athletes and dancers, all set against elaborate holiday backdrops unrivaled by most other stages in the country, can be found at theaters across the region every night of the week.

Groups visiting Myrtle Beach during the holiday season can see Motown classics performed in a historic setting at the GTS Theatre. Travelers can catch their favorite tunes from the 60s & 70s in Hot Jersey Nights Christmas Special at Broadway Theatre. Enjoy the Grand Strand's longest running show at The Carolina Opry's Christmas Special and don't forget to visit Legends in Concert or Alabama Theatre's, The South's Grandest Christmas Show. Additionally, Legends in Concert and Pirate's Voyage Christmas shows are filled with holiday cheer and the true meaning of Christmas.

With accessible pricing, group rates and kid-approved shows, there's no reason not to infuse a winter trip to the shore with culture, cheer, glitter and sparkle — and just maybe, a little magic.

CAROLINA OPRY CHRISTMAS SPECIAL

The Carolina Opry Christmas Special, often called "The Christmas Show of the South," will open its 37th season of enchanting holiday performances on November 1st. Gilmore works for months to create an unforgettable holiday experience, with his usual signature flair for production. Each year, the Christmas special brings stunning changes, beautifully blended with time-honored tradition to create a family experience that is second to none as new talent mingles with acclaimed rotating artists and long-standing Opry favorites. The only show in Myrtle Beach to be touted as "the real thing," real talent, real production values, real entertainment—the "Top attraction in Myrtle Beach" according to CNBC, and a holiday tradition for over thirty years. The Carolina Opry Christmas Special brings the warm, wonderful, and fun spirit of Christmas to life with music, comedy and dance. Among the award-winning cast you'll see Delvin Choice, seen on NBC's The Voice, the renowned All That! clogging group, seen on NBC's American's Got Talent, Tangena Church, Christie Templeton, Chas Croft Sorrells, Nashville recording artist Brad Long, a bonus seasonal brass section, and 35 of the nation's most talented vocalists and musicians—all accompanied by the Calvin Gilmore orchestra, led by Kevin Hughes with the Margaret Rice dancers in the holiday-embellished Carolina Opry Theater. Kids love real horse-drawn sleigh and snow! Seats begin selling a year in advance, early reservations are strongly recommended. Christmas decor at The Carolina Opry Theater has been raised to a high art form—an attraction in and of itself. In a dramatic one-week shut-down, the transformation into a winter wonderland begins as the crew spends all night and the entire following week preparing over 35 Christmas trees, 75 wreaths, 5 miles of tree lighting wire, countless tree ornaments, and mounds of Christmas snow, all presided over by the stunning 30foot tree with more than 25,000 lights. House photographers are available for family photos in front of the splendid tree—many of them ending up on family Christmas cards. The Carolina Opry Christmas Special runs November 1st, 2022 through January 1st, 2023, with regular evening performances and selectively scheduled matinees.

LEGENDS IN CONCERT

Born at the Imperial Palace Hotel and Casino in 1983, Legends in Concert has become the global leader in tribute performances to iconic pop legends. The Myrtle Beach location, nestled among the fine dining and shopping of the Broadway at the Beach entertainment district, has become a staple in the city's theatrical scene over the years. Talented performers pay homage to everyone from Aretha Franklin to Brittany Spears, Johnny Cash and dozens of other American musical heroes. Each show features five different acts, showcasing a mix of musical performances for all generations. During the holidays, Legends in Concert pulls out all the stops, putting a festive spin on each performance and showcasing holiday tunes made famous by the likes of Elvis Presley, Bruce Springsteen and Dolly Parton, among others.

There is nothing like hearing your favorite holiday hits live in concert. What better way to introduce younger family members to talented giants gone by while still letting them rock out to today's anthems, all in one memorable evening. Discover why guests consistently give the performances five-star reviews.

ALABAMA THEATRE

Some of the best singers and dancers in the country, clad in dazzling costumes, perform in this montage of Christmas classics while live musicians provide a vivid score from the stage. Also featured in this year's show will be new Comedic Juggler "Slim Chance" who will put a new twist on the Christmas season. Be on the edge of your seats while he juggles a bowling ball, ping pong ball, rubber chicken or even saw blades!

The special effects, ambiance and music will transport you beyond your seat and into a Christmas wonderland of color and excitement.

GTS THEATRE

Billed as an "intimate cabaret theater," the GTS Theatre is known for first-class entertainment in a family-style setting, allowing for audience interaction with the onstage performers.

During the holiday season, the theater's regular programming of tributes to Southern greats such as Elvis, Whitney Houston, Motown bands and more gets a festive face-lift and extra dose of Christmas charm. The marquee productions of the holiday season include a Motown Christmas tribute. The Motown Christmas tribute brings guests on a musical journey through the legendary music created in Detroit in the '60s and '70s. A recounting of the bringing down of racial and social barriers in the post-segregation era, the Motown music story is one of hope, unity and inspiration, perfectly suited for the holiday season. Singing along while classic holiday hits made famous by the likes of Diana Ross, Marvin Gaye, Aretha Franklin and the Jackson 5 are performed onstage is highly encouraged. The twohour performance is suitable for families, and tickets for students and children are well under $20, making it a fun outing for school groups, multigenerational families and anyone else who appreciates classic hits and holiday cheer.

PIRATES VOYAGE -

Pirates may not be the first thing that comes to mind when thinking about Christmas, but anyone who has been to Myrtle Beach during the holidays knows that Pirates Voyage is a can't-miss attraction to fit into any November or December getaway to the Grand Strand.

This dinner-and-a-show venue hosts year-round productions of "swashbuckling" excitement, complete with real pirate ships, sea lions, tropical birds and a 15-foot-deep aquatic stage. During Christmastime, the tropical set transforms into a holiday wonderland, and audience members join Captain Scrooge on an adventure as he takes a Dickens-inspired journey to discover the true meaning of Christmas.

Every show is accompanied by a four-course meal that showcases Southern cuisine — complete with roasted chicken, barbecued pork and apple pie. Dinner is served throughout the course of the show by a cast of pirate characters that add to the feeling of immersion in the magical world of parrots and peg legs. Vegetarian and gluten-free meal options are available upon request.

Group rates are also available for "crews" of 20 or more people, and the venue can accommodate groups of as many as 940, making it a great option for church groups, school trips, corporate meetings and even family reunions.
