Welcome, Willkommen, Howdy!

Deep in the heart of the Texas Hill Country is where you'll find New Braunfels. Founded in 1845 by German settlers, our town is overflowing with old-world heritage. Whether you're greeted with "Willkommen" or "Howdy," you're always "Welcome" in New Braunfels.

Fun, Fun, and More Fun!

With German names on the street signs, summer bier gardens, and the annual Wursthfest, New Braunfels blends the character of its German namesake with the charm and beauty of the Texas Hill Country. Old World heritage is abundant in the Historic District of Gruene, featuring the ruins of the original Gristmill and live music at the Gruene Hall.

Meanwhile, Downtown New Braunfels offers an upbeat retail and entertainment environment for visitors and residents alike.

Delve into nearby Natural Bridge Caverns, the largest caverns in Texas, or Natural Bridge Wildlife Ranch for adventure above ground... and below it!

Natural Bridge Caverns Visitors to the state's biggest and best show cave can expect an otherworldly experience in the series of limestone formations. In addition to walking tours, the Adventure Cave Tour offers a more daring exploration of undeveloped portions of the caverns. The Mining Sluice offers kids a chance to pan for semi-precious stones they get to keep.

Dancehalls and honky-tonks like Gruene Hall, Freiheit Country Store, and Watering Hole Saloon, join Whitewater Amphitheater, a "Texas-sized" outdoor concert venue on the banks of the Guadalupe, in featuring traditional country, Texas music, Americana, and national performers. KNBT Radio, the top Americana station in the nation, airs Texas music throughout the region and on the Internet.

Schlitterbahn Travel Channel calls Schlitterbahn America's number one waterpark for a good reason. The park's high-tech attractions and natural Comal River setting have made it the most popular summertime waterpark in the country. Schlitterbahn, which loosely translates from German as "slippery road," features more than 40 attractions.

Guadalupe River Best known for attracting generations of "tubers" for a refreshing float to beat the summer heat, the Guadalupe also lures canoe and kayak enthusiasts to peaceful paddling and exciting whitewater rapids. Nature lovers and outdoor enthusiasts flock to camps and resorts along the tree-lined banks of the river.

Comal River The Comal enjoys a unique claim to fame: it is the shortest river in the United States. The 2.5-mile-long Comal starts at the largest natural springs in Texas and its broad, slow flow makes it ideal for a quiet tubing experience. The clear spring waters are perfect for snorkeling and diving.

Canyon Lake Spectacular views of the Texas Hill Country and 80 miles of coastline make this a great destination for campers, vacationers, and day trippers. Water activities range from quiet and reflective sailing and fishing to exciting water skiing and parasailing.

Texas Ski Ranch This extreme water recreation complex features water skiing and wakeboarding without a boat, plus paintball and axe throwing facilities.

Trout Fishing New Braunfels is one of the very few trout hot spots in the southern United States. The cold water of the Guadalupe makes it an ideal home for the trout, which are stocked in the river several times a year. This attracts fly fishing enthusiasts from across the nation.

Landa Park Landa Park offers picnic facilities under the shade of giant, ancient oak trees. Walk or jog on the park's unique trails, or ride a miniature train that chugs around the 51-acre park. An excursion on a paddle boat is one of the best ways to see the Comal Springs and Landa Lake. Take in a round of miniature golf, relax at the playground, or enjoy the flora and fauna on the Panther Canyon Nature Trail.

Stars & Stripes Drive-In Theatre
