

VANDERBILTS & THE VOTES FOR WOMEN TOUR

The 19th amendment was ratified by Congress on August 18, 1920. We are commemorating this American centennial with a day tour in Newport, a city that played a role in the women's suffrage movement.

TOUR DETAILS

First: Meet your step-on guide, Betty Czech, who will be dressed as a suffragette and will narrate the motorcoach tour of captivating Ocean Drive while highlighting the sights connected to the votes campaign and to remarkable women who lived or "summered" in Newport.

Next: Enjoy a self-guided audio tour of Marble House, Alva Vanderbilt Belmont's mansion which she called her "temple to the arts" featuring half a million cubic feet of marble. Alva was not only a fixture in the women's rights movement but a critical benefactor, holding rallies at her Newport property.

Then: Transfer to a local restaurant for a plated lunch. While you enjoy your first course, Betty will present a brief, engaging video about the history of U.S. suffrage. After dessert, Betty will lead an entertaining "women's right to vote rally" with guests.

Dining: Lunch venues include choice of Johnny's Restaurant at the Atlantic Resort, One Bellevue at the Hotel Viking or another preference. Tour can be customized.

OPTIONAL ADD-ONS

- Guided tour of Belcourt (the other Bellevue Avenue mansion formerly owned by Alva)
- Guided tour of Women of the Newport Art Association, at the Newport Art Museum. (Pulitzer prize-winning author, suffragette and Newport resident Maud Howe Elliott was a founding member of the Newport Art Association.)
