

Hotel Development in NYC

Famous Original New York City. Welcomes You. Always

As 2019 winds down, New York City is closing in on the tenth consecutive year of record performance with more visitors from domestic and international markets – an expected 66.9 million visitors. Supporting this important increase in visitors is the parallel growth in the city’s hotel supply offering more choices, in more places around the city. The increase in overnight visitation from both business and, leisure travelers has supported tourism development in boroughs across the city and in established and emerging neighborhoods from the Bronx to Brooklyn, across Queens to Staten Island’s North Shore developments. New properties and exciting conversions and renovations in Manhattan are adding to the record increase in supply. The hotel pipeline in New York City continues to stand out in the US growth picture. With a range of ground up new buildings, restorations of historic buildings, and expansions, the outlook for new inventory supports the city’s Welcome. Always. message to visitors offering accommodations to suit all traveler needs and preferences. Over the past decade the city has attracted new brands, international properties, authentic neighborhood independents, and a wide-ranging collection of select service brands, business class hotels, lifestyle and boutique properties, and new luxury destinations. This report covers more than 250 hotels and projects, including many new and updated entries. Together they represent an estimated 21,300 plus additional rooms to the city’s already diverse inventory. At the current pace, the city is expected to top 144,000 rooms in active inventory by the end of 2021.

So far this year, more than 20 new hotels have opened adding almost 3,900 new rooms to the active inventory. Highlights of the 2019 cycle include the 285-room Moxy East Village – the second property for this brand, 212 rooms at the first ever Equinox Hotel, the luxurious Hotel Hendricks (176 rooms) as well as a new Hotel Indigo in Williamsburg (187 rooms) and a TownePlace Suites (133 rooms) in art and culture rich Long Island City. These join the TWA Hotel at JFK airport, MCR’s restoration and expansion of the landmarked Eero Saarinen terminal building into a meeting, leisure and business hotel, which came online in May. Ace Hotels addition of the Sister City property to the hip Lower East Side, The Times Square EDITION brought 452 guest rooms and spectacular lounge space to midtown.

New properties are slated for all five boroughs, with half of the new development occurring outside Manhattan in Brooklyn, Queens, the Bronx and Staten Island (more than 70 new properties are outlined below). Looking ahead, the City’s hospitality industry is planning for the addition of an estimated 20,455 plus rooms in 113 new developments in all five boroughs. Key brands at all chain scales are opening across Manhattan and the boroughs and contemporary brands are making their home in New York including Pendry, Six Senses, Pestana, Staypineapple, NH, Virgin Hotels, Riu and an Aman Hotel. With development slated for neighborhoods and new districts development is happening in and beyond the midtown corridors. Notable neighborhoods for new hotels include Harlem, Roosevelt Island and Greenwich Village as well as the exciting Lower East Side. Queens hotel development is moving beyond the airports to Long Island City, Flushing, Rockaway, Jamaica and Fresh Meadows. In addition, there are exciting new developments on the visitor map in both the Bronx and Staten Island. The picture for 2020 and beyond is an unparalleled mix of brands, amenities and locations to make it easy to find your welcome across New York City.
