“Trees are Treasures”

Trees are boring, if you don't know them. The fun things you can do on trees are: climb them, sit next to them, read in them, make a treehouse. Then those things you can do with trees make them awesome. Things that include trees in Pismo Beach are: hiking, mountain biking the preserve, and sycamore springs hot tubs. You can also just enjoy the beauty of trees. For example, palm trees at the beach sway in the wind peacefully. We need to preserve the trees because we need them, and they give us oxygen.

Imagine you are at Sycamore Springs soaking in the warmth of one of the jacuzzis. You look at the beautiful tree scenery. That is just one of the fun and environmental things to do with trees. Imagine bombing down the trail on a mountain bike in the preserve when suddenly you smash into a sturdy oak. It's at this moment you realize the foundation of trees, all kinds of trees.

Trees are important in the environment because you don't want to disrupt the food chain of animals. Without trees there's no food or soil to soak up all the living water of California over this past winter. Hiking and mountain biking the preserve is one of the most exciting activities on the coast. Not to mention the relaxing vibes the oaks provide while soaking in natural springs. In conclusion, the trees of Pismo Beach are more precious treasures than gold.
