HIGH PACED ADVENTURE

Gliding down snowy peaks, navigating white-water rivers, or soaring over dramatic alpine landscapes, Queenstown and Wānaka set the stage for world-class adventure.

Queenstown is recognised as the birthplace of commercial adventure, pioneering world-firsts including bungy jumping, jet boating, tandem skydiving, and canyon swinging. Today, clients can still experience these icons alongside New Zealand's highest bungy, the world's biggest swing, and the world's steepest tree-to-tree zipline. Skydiving, heli-adventures and scenic flights add to the exhilaration, offering unmatched views of alpine peaks and deep valleys.

Wānaka complements this pioneering spirit with its own dramatic landscapes and boundary-pushing activities. Clients can climb sheer waterfall faces on via ferrata routes, carve fresh tracks heli-skiing across untouched slopes, or discover flowing mountain biking trails. Both destinations also offer 4WD expeditions into rugged backcountry stations and heli-accessed adventures revealing glaciers, alpine valleys and hidden wilderness.

SLOW PACED ADVENTURE

For clients seeking a gentler pace, Queenstown and Wānaka offer countless ways to slow down and connect with nature's beauty.

On the water, travellers can enjoy scenic lake cruises, paddle tranquil bays by kayak or stand-up paddleboard, or cast a line for trout in crystal-clear rivers.

Back on land, guided 4WD tours unlock hidden valleys, goldmining heritage, and high-country stations, offering soft adventure combined with rich storytelling. Scenic flights by helicopter or fixed-wing aircraft reveal glaciers, alpine passes, and remote wilderness from above, while heli-hiking provides an immersive way to step directly into untouched alpine landscapes and explore them on foot.

For family-friendly fun or rainy-day options, Queenstown delivers unique indoor experiences such as indoor skydiving, advanced VR, and live-action adventure games. Both destinations also feature climbing walls and active indoor pursuits that complement their outdoor offerings. Wānaka, with its laid-back pace and strong community feel, adds a range of engaging family-friendly experiences and lakeside activities suited to all ages.
